Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

Volume 78 McLean, Gray County, Texas 79057 Thursday, October 22, 1981 Price 25¢ Number 42

In a community the size of McLean, the school system becomes a focal point for many activities. Most people in our town, whether they have children in school or not, are concerned with the school in one way or another. Our school taxes and the money that comes in from the state and the federal governments all work together to make the school system the biggest employer in our town.

We all were affected when the lightning damaged the school Thursday night. It will take tax dollars on top of the insurance money to repair the damage, so we will be paying for it.

But I feel confident that the money will be spent wisely. If you have not attended a board meeting, or have not had a chance to meet superintendent Jim Rutherford, you may not understand what I'm talking about. But let me tell you, this is one board, and one superintendent that is darn picky about the way the taxpayer's money is spent, and I appreciate that in any public official. Rutherford, a soft-spoken unassuming man, is a steely-eyed supervisor when it comes to dollars and cents. He wants his (the taxpayer's) money's worth when the job is done, and he will watch the work in progress if necessary to make sure it is done right.

During the recent remodeling of the gymnasium, he has checked almost every detail to make sure that everything was done in a suitable manner, and he has reported to the board on those matters.

School business manager Shirley Johnson is another school official who knows where every penny is spent, and insists that the money be spent wisely. Both officials have probably offended various people because of their insistence of accuracy in reporting spending and planning budgets, but that's exactly what those in charge of public funds should do.

Our school system still has weaknesses, and there are still areas that could be improved, but don't waste any time worrying about how your school taxes are being spent. Every nickel is being squeezed!

Two weeks ago when we attended church in Lubbock I listened with interest as the preacher gave a short "Children's sermon" before he gave his regular sermon. This young, handsome preacher gathered the youngsters around him, and told them a brief story about the transformation of the ugly caterpillar into the beautiful butterfly to show what happens when a person becomes a Christian. The rapport between the children and their minister was so good that some of the younger children got a little carried away, and began giving them their comments on each part of the story. Finally the young preacher jokingly said, "Now, kids, I get to do the talking because I'm the biggest." One little girl, in all sincerity, immediately said "And the best!" Of course, the congregation broke up and that was almost the end of the children's hour.

Lightning Damages McLean High School Thursday Night

Thursday's cold, drizzly weather was capped off about nine o'clock that night with a booming thunder and lightning storm which wreaked heavy damage to the McLean High School building and blew out light bulbs, television sets, and did other minor damage to homes across the city.

The 55-year-old brick building sustained the heaviest damage from the lightning, however, when a bolt struck the three-story high chimney for the school's heating system. Debris from the chimney fell through the roof of the auditorium and damaged the stage area, pulling down conduit, lights, and back-drop curtains. According to principal Ron Cummings, all five air conditioners are out of service as was the telephone and the school's intercom system. Perhaps the most vexing damage, however, Cummings said, was to the school's plumbing system.

Cummings said that officials had not determined the damage if any, to the school's boiler which heats the building.

Commissioners Approve Budget

Gray County Commissioners in regular session last week approved the 1982 county budget amounting to $3,802,247, including the allocation of revenue sharing funds and salary increases.

The approved 1982 budget, based on an $874 million evaluation, has total estimated receipts amounting to $3,332,620.

The $469,627 budget deficit will be made up from the carry-over surplus in the county treasury. Over $1,466,000 will remain as the surplus after the deficit amount is subtracted.

The 1982 county budget also included a 10 percent increase for some county employees. One of the largest items budgeted for 1982 is $515,000 for improvements to Highway 70, Perryton Parkway, Revenue sharing funds coming to Gray County will amount to $135,628.

In other business, commissioners placed the 1,155 county vote on a candidate or candidates for the Central Appraisal Board.

"Due to the fact that all the See COUNTY, Page 2

All water lines are damaged, and there is possible damage to the gas lines and the steam lines in the school. Only two restrooms are functional, he said.

Board members inspected the damage to the structure Monday morning, but could set no dollar value, board president Jim Allison said. The board contacted Wiley Hicks Construction Company of Amarillo to repair the destruction on a cost plus basis. Allison said the school carries an 80 percent co-insurance policy which means that the insurance would pay 80 percent of the cost of repairs and the school would pay 20 percent.

Several McLean residents reported minor damage to their homes from the storm system that dumped over an inch of rain on the city and caused minor flooding in other parts of the county. A wooden support rail on the carport at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Fabian was damaged, according to Mrs. Fabian. Several people said they had light bulbs blow up, and television sets and other electrical appliances were damaged.

McLean Receives Tax Rebate

The City of McLean received $1,126.81 as its share of the one percent city sales tax for October. The payment was an 11.85 percent increase over the same period in 1980. The City has received a total of $20,207.37 this year from the sales tax.

McLean City Employee Salaries Raised By Council

Salaries for city employees were raised October 13, as McLean councilmen voted a five percent increase for city secretary Stella Lee, superintendent Bob Glenn, and Chester Bohler. Danny Price, who has been working on part-time wages, was given a dollar an hour raise. The increase will become effective January 1, 1982.

In explaining the increase, which was less than employees had requested, Mayor Sam Haynes said "We know that it may not be enough to cover even the cost of living increase, but because of the limited funds of the city, it was the best we felt we could do. We hope that by next year McLean's financial situation will improve enough that we can increase salaries by a more sizable amount."

Pay for night watchman Red Easton was not increased, however. "It was the general consensus of opinion in the council that McLean businesses are more liable for the night watchman than the city is," explained Haynes. "It was certainly nothing personal toward Red."

Aldermen also requested that city employees make a record of the hours and dates spent on specific jobs, not only so that an informal time study of specific jobs could be done, but also so that a timetable of necessary tasks be available in the event that an employee is absent.

Glenn asked the council to consider extending overtime hours and to increase vacation for longtime employees, as well as allowing accumulation of sick days. The council agreed to make a judgment on those matters at the regular meeting in November.

Mrs. Lee explained to council members that the city had received about $9000 in revenue sharing money, and it was decided to put $1000 in the park fund, and to deposit the remainder in the city's general fund, as has been the policy in past years.

Crisis Of Confidence

Ben Ezell of The Canadian Record....

WHAT EVER HAPPENED to the man...or his company...whose "word was as good as his bond?" Both are still around, of course...in small town America, certainly, and probably in the cities as well. But they're both more a rarity than they used to be, and sometimes, in some fields, a little hard to find.

For that matter, what ever happened to contracts, written or spoken, which could be depended upon without resort to a court of law? to warranties and guarantees which were honorable and honored without question by their makers? to "honest" debts and honest debtors who considered obligations something to be met when due, not avoided when possible?

Maybe what's wrong with American business these days is not the threat of inflation or recession, but a crisis in confidence...between businesses and their competitors, businesses, and their suppliers, and businesses and their customers. Auto makers are in trouble because their products have too often proved to be defective and their warranties too often ignored; airlines overbook flights, misplace luggage, alter confirmed reservations, and shrug off complaints; freight carriers damage merchandise and dodge damage claims; mail-order firms with big names and thick catalogs offer items at "special" prices to which they add hidden charges; retail customers make credit purchases and ignore monthly statements....the list is almost endless. Who among you has not experienced one or more of these indignities?

There are still businesses where customers can make purchases, big or small, with confidence that the merchandise they buy will be all that it is represented to be....that equipment or appliances they purchase will be serviced when needed and warranties will be honored by the seller without resort to some anonymous and distant manufacturers....and that the prices charged will be fair and reasonable. And there still are customers, with whom the owners of these businesses can deal on a basis of mutual trust and respect. And we who are fortunate enough to live in America's small towns know about them, because they are our friends and neighbors and there is still honor among us.

But there is a crisis in confidence in our country which threatens many of our cherished American ways of doing business, and it really doesn't originate with Big Government or Big Labor or Big Business, or in the Public Domain, but with the integrity of the individual in all these fields...in other words, with each of us.

What's the answer? First, to be scrupulously honest in our own business dealings. Second, to conduct our business and do our buying wherever possible with those we know and can trust. And third, to protest the rip-offs, as loudly and publicly as we can, whenever and wherever they occur.

We may not be able to get immediate remedy when we are short-changed or overcharged, but we can let the people who are doing it to us know that we're aware of what's happening...and if other customers are within hearing distance, that's all the better.

And once burned, stay away from the fire. Experience, some philosophers, is, what tells us when we have made the same mistake twice.

If a merchant rips you off or a customer deadbeats you once, that's his fault...but if it happens a second time at the same place, that's yours.

Disaster seemed to follow disaster during McLean's homecoming festivities last week. Thursday was so rainy that the MHS'ers were unable to gather wood for the traditional bonfire. The weather was so foggy that the JV game was cancelled. The gymnasium was not complete in time for the Homecoming pep rally, so the pep club and sponsor Jacques Riley worked many, many hours to make signs and banners to decorate the auditorium Thursday night in preparation for the pep rally Friday. Of course the lightning storm wrecked the stage and ruined all those decorations, so the pep rally was held in the downstairs hall of the high school Friday afternoon. Friday night's game was so foggy that spectators were just barely able to see the action on the field (which included the queen crowning). The fog was so thick that none of my football pictures turned out. And to cap the disasters, McLean lost the football game. I've heard football coaches talk about the Homecoming jinx, but last week was ridiculous.

Nature's Wonders

Hutchinson Island, Florida has long been considered by biologists as one of the best nesting beaches in the world for rare green and loggerhead sea turtles. No one knows why these giant sea creatures flock to the island to lay their eggs in the gleaming sand.

Conservationists think it has to do with the warming Gulf Stream just off shore. Others believe it's because man has left the turtles few other choices.

Over-development has destroyed many shorelines where turtles can safely nest. As these beaches disappear into concrete playgrounds, numbers of turtles have declined dramatically. Hutchinson Island, however, is an exception.

Watching Washington

You're probably familiar with recent stories in the press about a group of former employees of the Central Intelligence Agency who provided material and expertise to the Libyan regime of Colonel Khadafy—knowing it was to be used for terrorist activities.

Government investigators and prosecutors were stymied for some time in the case because some of the activities of the group are legal under current U.S. laws.

Given our vulnerability to the depredations of terrorists it is incredible to think that our government, through a loophole in the law, would condone activities that aid and abet international terrorism. Yet, that is exactly what is happening.

As things now stand it is legal for a U.S. citizen or group of citizens to manufacture or purchase explosive devices in this country and sell those devices to, say, the regime of Colonel Khadafy in Libya.

They could do this even if they knew that the Libyan government planned to use these devices to promote terrorism; to blow up bridges and buildings and airplanes, killing innocent people in the far corners of the globe.

Recently I introduced in the Senate legislation that would close the loophole in federal law which permits U.S. citizens to aid and abet international terrorism.

The Bentsen International Terrorism Crime Act of 1981 is intended to prevent citizens of this country from taking actions in this country to further the terrorist ambitions of governments like that of Libya.

My bill prohibits the sale of weaponry, explosive devices, munitions, plans and like items to a foreign state, or to an agent of a foreign state, for the purpose of aiding and abetting international terrorism.

Anyone convicted of violating the law would face a prison term of up to 10 years, a fine of up to $25,000, or both.

We live in an age of terrorism, as anyone who went through the decade of the 70's can testify: the massacre at the Munich Olympics in 1972, the siege at Entebbe, the seizure of embassies in Teheran and Bogota and London, the skyjackings, the bombings.

Americans in 1980 remained the primary targets of world-wide terrorist activity, as they have since we started keeping records in 1968. Ten Americans were killed last year and 94 wounded in attacks around the world. Nearly two out of every five incidents involved U.S. citizens or property.

The world is looking to the United States for leadership in efforts to wipe the last traces of terrorist activity from the face of the earth. We must rally civilized nations in an all-out war against terrorism. But, before we can succeed at that, we must insure that our own house is in order.

There is no riches above a sound body, and no joy above the joy of the heart. Ecclesiasticus

Reports

LIVESTOCK AND TAXES

AMENDMENT NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

AUSTIN — Because we produce such a large percentage of the livestock in the state of Texas in our part of the state, an amendment to exempt livestock and poultry from property taxes is certain to be controversial, and controversial it is.

The terms of the amendment are simple enough. If passed, the amendment would exempt livestock and poultry from property tax.

Those who favor the amendment say it is only fair that livestock be included in the list of farm products that are already exempt. For example, soybeans, wheat, cotton and rice are exempt, so livestock also should be exempt, they say.

Because 22 percent of the cattle slaughtered in U.S. are finished in Texas Panhandle area feedlots, feedlot owners and the cattle industry are at a disadvantage in this state, supporters say. Besides, feedlots pay only about one percent of the property taxes in Texas, so their loss would hardly be felt, supporters argue.

Also, livestock is sometimes hard to locate and count for tax purposes. Many times, it is expensive for the taxing units to assess the tax on livestock, which means the taxing unit would not lose as much from the exemption as some may believe.

Opponents of the amendment disagree, of course. They argue that the revenue generated by the tax on livestock is vital to the taxing communities. It raised about $6 million in 1979. Elimination of the tax would be a hardship on the local governments that rely on this tax, particularly those which contain a large number of feedlots or large ranches.

Opponents also argue that the amendment would favor one class of taxpayer over another. They say other businesses and homeowners pay the tax, so the businesspeople who operate feedlots or have livestock should pay the tax also.

This amendment is guaranteed to be controversial in a highly agricultural district like ours. But whatever your opinion is at the polls on November 3.

We will always want to hear what the people we represent think about taxes. We hope to hear from you about this amendment and about state taxes in general. Please write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

Carpenter ReElected To County Soil District Board

Milton Carpenter of McLean was recently re-elected to the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District board of directors on October 8, 1981. Carpenter represents Zone 3 of the district.

The purpose of the Gray County SWCD, with headquarters in Pampa, is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farm and ranch lands within the district and to serve as a voice for farmers and ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting private property rights of landowners.

The board of directors coordinates the conservation efforts of various local, state and federal agencies and other organizations and has authority to enter into working agreements with these governmental agencies and private concerns to carry out its purposes.

As one of the five individuals serving on the district board of directors, Carpenter will be responsible for district policies and procedures for carrying out the district program within the framework of the Texas soil conservation district law.

He was recognized for 20 years of dedicated service as District Director for the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District.

In Texas, there are 201 soil and water conservation districts. Each is a legal subdivision of state government organized by local agricultural landowners with the assistance of the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board. Unlike most other legal subdivisions of state government, SWCDs do not have the powers of taxation or eminent domain. All conservation programs managed by the districts are of a voluntary nature to the landowner or operator.

Keep Your Child From Choking

Halloween brings ghosts, goblins and, sometimes, real danger. The American Lung Association of Texas warns about the danger for children—the risk of choking on holiday treats such as candy corn, hard candy, and peanuts.

At Halloween, children go door-to-door "begging." Parents should insist youngsters bring the goodies home for inspection. For the youngest—two, three, or even four years old—some of the candy can be divided or mashed before eating.

The chewing and swallowing muscles of young children may not be sufficiently developed to cope with certain treats. Choking can result. Halloween goodies also may "go down the wrong way," and lodge in the lung instead of the stomach. This is called aspiration. A "foreign object" of any kind in the lung can cause life-long problems. At times, surgery for removal is required.

The best warning is: Be sure children are old enough to chew and swallow correctly before trusting them with small, hard bits of food. Parents should always be on guard against "small objects" getting into the hands of children. Particularly those young enough to want to put everything into their mouths.

Choking, blocked air passages, even aspiration of the lung can result.

Moreover, such items as eyes and buttons that might come loose from dolls, or wheels from toy cars. Set a good example. Don't put anything but food into your own mouth. Keep the coffee table clear of small objects a child might reach for...and ask your Lung Association for the leaflet: "Keep Your Child From Choking."

Write the American Lung Association of Texas, 7701 North Lamar Boulevard, Suite 104, Austin, Texas 78752 or call (512) 458-2206.

In The Kitchen

This crisp fall weather is the best "appetizer" that I know. As your thoughts turn to warm spicy food for the winter months, you might like to try these two snacks (if you're not a calory counter, that is!)

1 cup mixed salted nuts

Place butter in a large glass mixing bowl; microwave at high for 45 seconds to 1 minute or until butter melts. Stir in next 4 ingredients.

Add cereal, pretzel sticks, and nuts to butter mixture; toss gently. Microwave for 3 to 5 minutes or until thoroughly heated, stirring after two minutes. Let cool, and store in airtight container.

Free Arbor Day Kits Offered

To help teachers and organizations conduct more meaningful Arbor Day programs, the Texas Forest Service is offering free program kits.

Each kit includes a loblolly pine seed packet with planting instructions, program aids for a local Arbor Day observance, suggested classroom activities for teachers, and a copy of Governor Clements' proclamation.

Quantities are limited. Only one kit per teacher or organization will be distributed.

Arbor Day, to be observed January 15, 1982 in Texas, has been an annual celebration on the third Friday in January in Texas since 1889. The event is to promote a greater appreciation of the beauty and value of trees, forests and related natural resources.

Program chairpersons and teachers should address requests for Arbor Day kits to the Texas Forest Service, College Station, Texas 77843. Distribution, on a first-come, first-serve basis, will begin in mid-November.

The combination of one of the country's best nature writers (Hal Borland) and one of the world's finest nature photographers, (Les Line) results in a fantastic compilation of pictures and comments about 85 of the beautiful wildflowers found in New England and other parts of the United States.

All the wildflowers in this volume are grouped according to the habitat where Hal Borland found them on his Berkshire farm, but many of them are common to other parts of the United States, and will no doubt be recognized as old friends of many of us in the Texas Panhandle.

Electricity.

Knowing what it's worth is worth knowing.

One thing we've probably all learned is to have an appreciation of things that have worth and to know their value. How would you rate yourself on knowing the value of the electricity you use? Take this simple exercise.

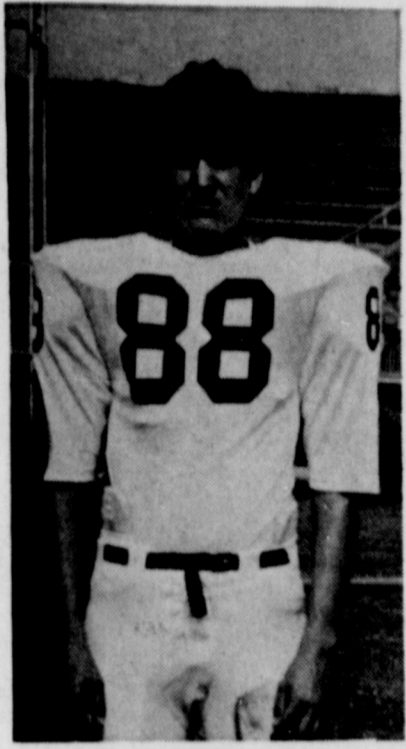

- How much was your electric bill last month? $ _____
- Divide 30 into your answer to Number 1. This was the approximate cost of your electricity per day. $ _____
- How many people are in your family? _____
- Divide Number 3 into Number 2. This was the cost of your electricity per day per family member. $ _____

Knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. Just look around.

FOLIAGE AND LANDSCAPE RESEARCH TOUR

Plans are being finalized for a Fall Foliage Tour to Woodward, Oklahoma, and a tour of landscape plantings at the USDA Southern Great Plains Research Center at Woodward.

Tentative plans for this event is Tuesday, October 27. We want to try and hit excellent color in the foliage so we may need to change if first frost comes early or later than expected.

The tour will gather at the Courthouse Annex, East Highway 60 in Pampa and leave at 8:30 a.m. We will arrive in Woodward at 11:00 a.m. The group will take a walking tour of the Research Center to inspect trees and shrubs. Lunch will be from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. to be followed by informal discussion on landscape recommendations by Donna Hull, Oklahoma State Forester, at Woodward. Plans include leaving Woodward at 3:00 p.m. and travel to Canadian and drive through some of the beautiful foliage locations in the late afternoon and arrive in Canadian around 5:00 p.m. Those who want to eat in Canadian or can drive back to Pampa on your own schedule. It is estimated that the tour would arrive back in Pampa around 6:30 or 7:00 p.m.

Travel will be by private auto and it is hoped travelers can pool so the number of cars will be reduced.

For planning purposes, we would like for those interested to call the Gray County Extension Office-669-7429. This will help in planning for arrangements. Everyone is welcome to come along for this day's activities and enjoy our beautiful Panhandle scenery. Also, you will see and learn about many adapted trees and shrubs to use in home landscaping. It should be an excellent educational experience for landscape enthusiasts.

If the date changes, we will get the word around. BEEF CATTLE REPRODUCTION MEETING

A symposium on beef cattle reproduction will be held, Thursday, October 22 in Amarillo at the Villa Inn. The meeting is sponsored by COBA/Select Sires, Inc. It is designed to provide an update on nutrition for reproductive efficiency, estrus synchronization, embryo transfer and other topics of concern to beef producers. There is a $10.00 registration fee. Interested producers should call COBA at their Tyler office to confirm registration (214-595-3781).

AG WEATHER CENTER

Texas farmers have an ally in the Agricultural Weather Service Center of the National Weather Service located at Texas A & M University. The Center issues daily agricultural advisors over radio stations and networks to help farmers and ranchers cope with weather-related matters. The advisories combine both agricultural and weather data to inform producers about various operations such as planting, fertilizing, spraying, irrigating, and harvesting. With the development of crop models using computer programs, the effects of weather on various crops will become more predictable in the future.

NEW INTEREST RATE CEILINGS

Recent Texas legislation (House Bill 1228) provides alternative interest rate ceilings that apply to almost all types of loans. The law allows creditors (lenders) to choose an interest rate allowed by a weekly, monthly, quarterly, or annual ceiling. This rate is calculated for each of the time periods on the basis of weekly auction rates of U.S. treasury bills. The state interest rate ceiling law does not affect federal preemptions for agricultural loans. Interest rate ceilings are published in the "Texas Register."

TAX PRACTITIONER WORKSHOP

The Texas Agricultural

Extension Service is cooperating with the Internal Revenue Service in offering 38 Tax Practitioner Workshops across the state. The nearest workshop to our area will be held in Amarillo on December 3 and 4. These two-day workshops are specifically designed for tax practitioners who work extensively with farmers and ranchers. Topics to be covered in the general workshops are: What's New; Capital Gains and Losses; Net Operating Losses; Credits-How to Report; Tax Principle Review-parttime activities, rental and personal use of property-travel and entertainment. This year advanced programs will be offered in Houston, San Antonio, Austin, Lubbock, and Dallas, stressing tax preparation for small businesses also.

Topics to be discussed in the advanced workshops are:

What's New-including Windfall Profits; 351 Transfers; Dividends; Calculating Earnings and Profits; Liquidations and Redemptions; Partnership, Distributive Shares;

Partnership Dissolutions and Withdrawals; Questions and Answers. This is one of the most successful Extension programs. Last year over 3,000 people participated in this state-wide series. These practitioners reported filing over 850,000 tax returns.

For additional information, please contact the Gray county Extension Office for a brochure explaining more about the program and registration information.

HOMEMAKER NEWS

The excitement of fall fashion is captured this year in the hottest accessory-the shawl. If you know how to wear it, the shawl can be the perfect item for updating a wardrobe, creating a whole new look or adding warmth.

For an elegant look, start with a big paisley or challis shawl, measuring about 54 inches square. Fold it narrow and drape it over the shoulder of a blazer with the ends tucked into a belt.

A second way to wear a shawl is to fold it in half diagonally, crossing two ends behind your neck. Bring the shawl to the front and fasten bandanna style with a scarf, ring or tie. This style can be worn over sweaters and shirts and it resembles a vest.

For a "Folkloric" look to spice up a plain dress, fling a brightly patterned shawl over one shoulder and tie the two ends at the waist. For chilly winter nights, wear the shawl around the shoulders to keep you warm and cozy. Knot the ends at the waist or slip them through a scarf ring.

All these ideas are really a snap. Just "tie it" and you'll see!

HOME BUSINESS CENTER
Plan a home business center as the first step towards a better family record system. The most important part of such a center is a specific place of convenient access. In other words, boxes in the attic or garage really do not qualify. Having a specific spot helps to insure that receipts, cancelled checks, forms or bills will find their way to the appropriate place.

Elaborate equipment is really unnecessary in establishing a home business center. Of first importance is a filing cabinet. In order for a filing cabinet to help, a useable filing system is essential.

Avoid filing everything under the heading "money" or "documents" or "miscellaneous." Also, avoid the extreme of separating categories for every item-such as one for Social Security, one for employment records, and one for gas bills. Try to develop more workable categories. For example, some categories may contain tax-deductible items-such as health expenses, contributions or interest payments. Other categories may include non-deductible items such as food, housing expenses, clothing and transportation costs.

Work at developing some filing system with meaningful categories appropriate for individual needs. Time invested toward effective financial records is well spent.

CHRISTMAS IN OCTOBER
Mark October 29 on your calendar and begin making plans to attend Christmas in October, sponsored by the Gray County Extension Home-maker Council. The program will be in the First Christian Church. A morning and afternoon program will be offered. Program topics include: Christmas Decorating For The Home; Winning Ways With Pigskin; and a Quilted Holiday. Extension clubs and some local merchants will have exhibits and door prizes will be given.

KEEPING YOUR REFRIGERATOR CLEAN

Routinely cleaning out the dust and grime that collects on the condenser coils or fins located on the back or at the bottom of the refrigerator will help it run more efficiently. The effort it takes to clean behind and under the refrigerator every month can pay off in dollars saved.

What Is Your Social Security Number?

What's your social security number? It is one of the first questions you'll be asked when you are applying for a job according to Larry Mayo, Branch Manager. Your social security number is yours alone. It singles out your record from some 200 million others.

Young people who are thinking of job hunting in the near future need to apply now for a number. Because of the thousands of requests received for numbers it can take up to six weeks to receive your social security number.

When you apply, you will need to take along your birth certificate to establish your age and citizenship. You will need another document such as drivers license, library card, or school record to establish your identity. Having these original documents with you can save you a delay in getting your number.

It takes approximately six weeks to get a new Social Security number. If you do not have one and plan on working, such as Christmas, you need to apply as soon as possible. Your social security number is the key to assuring that your earnings are accurately entered on your record throughout your working years. Apply for your number early. Mr. Mayo advises and take care to see that you employer has it right.

Loose Marbles
by Lisa Patman

One of the nicest things about my marriage is the understanding between me and old what's-his-name. We thoroughly understand that we will never understand each other. Take last night for instance. There I was, thumbing through some old snapshots of our early-marriage days, when I asked his opinion on a subject quite dear to my heart: "Do you think I look my age?" I asked coyly. "How old are you?" he said. "35" I giggled. "Well then, I guess you look 35." "What?" "I said I guess you look 35." "What do you mean by a crack like that?" "Just that you look your age." "And what's that supposed to mean?" "That you are 35 and you look it. Why did you ask me if you didn't want to know?" "I did want to know, I just didn't want you to know that. How dare you answer truthfully!" "Good grief! I'll never understand you." "Of course you won't-not if you spend all your time inspecting my wrinkles and looking for gray hairs. Why don't you do something constructive for a change-like noticing the youthful looking dimples on my thighs?" "That's cellulite." "See what I mean! You clod, you unbearable bore, you insensitive slob-how dare you insult me!" "I think I'll go to sleep now and pretend all this has been a terrible nightmare," he muttered as he covered his head with a blanket. "Sure, it's easy for you to sleep; you don't have to worry about looking ancient!" His head poked out from beneath the covers. "I don't? How old do you think I look, anyway?" "How old are you?" "35" "Well then, I guess you look 35." "What do you mean by a crack like that?" Like I said, at least we understand each other.

Audra Boyd sustained some pretty bad burns on his right arm and hand last Saturday, while filling the tank of an engine in the garage at Alanreed, when a spark from the engine set fire to the measure of gas he was pouring from. Boyd's presence of mind and quick work by others who were there averted a conflagration. His injuries are healing nicely, and he should recover completely in a short time.

Mrs. W.W. Breeding of the Enterprise Community was in town Saturday.

Thursday morning Jno. W. Kibler discarded a 34 x 4 Goodyear casing which he had used on his Buick car eight years. The tire looked to be in pretty bad shape, unfit for further service, but Mr. Kibler seemed to be in fairly good humor about the service he had gotten out of it. He says he intends to send it in to the manufacturers and see if he can't get some sort of adjustment on it, as a blow-out prevented him from wearing it completely through to the tube. A tire of the same size and make, bought at the same time this one was purchased, only lasted Mr. Kibler five years and seven months, and he was allowed a credit of $8.00 on a new one. He does not state how many cars he has worn out while running on these two tires.
