Former Viet Nam POW Will Speak At Drug Information Meeting

A former prisoner of war in Viet Nam will speak in McLean Tuesday night at a drug awareness program. Brigadier General Robinson

Risner, held prisoner by the Viet Cong in Hanoi for seven and a half years, will present the keynote address during the program, which is sponsored by McLean's newly formed Family Drug Education Committee. The meeting, which is open to all McLean and area citizens, will begin at 7:30 p.m. April 7 in McLean High School Auditorium. No admission will be charged.

The purpose of the meeting is to inform families about drug abuse, to educate both youth and parents about drug abuse warning signs, and to discuss ways of dealing with local drug problems.

Also speaking during the meeting will be Shirley Crawford of Amarillo. Ms. Crawford is regional coordinator for Drug Abuse Research and Education Foundation (DARE). She will speak on developing parent awareness groups.

Gen Risner, who is an executive director of DARE, began, in 1943, an army career that was to last 33 years. Having served in three wars, he progressed to the rank of brigadier general in 1974. On two different occasions he received the Air Force Cross, one of the nation's highest honors.

During the Viet Nam war, Risner was captured and held prisoner for seven and a half years. It was during his captivity in the Hanoi prison that he decided to find a way to work with young people when he returned to the United States.

Upon his release from prison Risner wrote "The Passing of the Night", a book which relates to his experience as a POW. He dedicated the book to the youth of America.

Because of Risner's strong concern for America's youth growing up in a drug-oriented society, he captured the attention of Ross Perot, chairman and founder of Dallas-based Electronic Data Systems. Mr.

Perot, also chairman of the Texans' War on Drugs Committee, appointed Gen. Risner executive director of DARE, the action arm of the Texans' War on Drugs Committee.

Risner has begun an intensive campaign to educate young people about drug a-two different occasions he search substantiating the adverse effects of marijuana to the mind and body. He is also organizing parent awareness groups in every county throughout the state.

"It is our hope that all McLean citizens will attend the meeting," said Lisa Patman, spokesman for the McLean group. "We are fortunate to have such fine speakers for the program, and we feel there is a definite need for drug education in McLean. We have found that it is as important to educate parents about warning signs as it is to speak to young people about the adverse effects of drugs. We couldn't have secured any finer people to help us get the message across to both youth and adults."

The McLean committee has extended an invitation to all interested persons to attend the meeting.

Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

Volume 78 McLean, Gray County, Texas 79057 Thursday, April 2, 1981 Price 25¢ Number 13

March 30, 1981, almost became as infamous a day in history as November 22, 1963. With the assassination attempt Monday, Americans again were plunged into a feeling of horror and disbelief that this could happen in our country, but thank God, the assassin's bullets did not cause fatal injury to President Reagan.

As I sit writing this, Reagan's press secretary Jim Brady is still fighting for his life, and the outcome of the battle is uncertain. We join the rest of the country in praying for his recovery.

As I listened to the news reports on television Monday night, and watched the film of the shooting, I began to think about the days and weeks ahead and to realize that once more we Americans will be subjected to countless analyses of the sickness of the country. One Amarillo television station had a psychologist on the air Monday night to explain how the shooting was an outgrowth of American's preoccupation with violence.

For those of us who lived through the soul-searching and the guilt ridden days following President Kennedy's assassination and then the horror of the assassinations of Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King, one more national roll in guilt will just be too much.

It is not the character of Americans that is at fault...it is not some inborn trait that causes these things. It is simply that there are nuts all over the world, and America has its share.

When all the news analyses are over, when all the psychologists and sociologists have beaten their breasts over how horrible we Americans are, when we have finished wearing sackcloth and ashes for this horrible event, the truth will probably come out. And that truth will probably be that this young man has deep psychological problems, and that he was making a bid for attention, and that he is no more representative of America than Lee Harvey Oswald was.

This time, we were lucky. It See DISTAFF, Page 2

City And School Officials To Be Elected Saturday

McLean voters will go to the polls Saturday to choose three school board members, the city's mayor, and two city councilmen.

In the school election, eight candidates are vying for three openings on the board. Howard Gipson and David Haynes are running for a one-year term on the board. Tommy Cole, Sondra Heasley, James Hefley, Gwen Henley, Cynthia Simmons, and Tony Smitherman are candidates for two three year terms. The two candidates who receive the most votes will win the office.

Smitherman is the incumbent in the race.

Registered voters in the school district will cast their ballots in the McLean school cafeteria from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday.

In the city election, four candidates are competing for two places on the city council. The two councilmen will be chosen from incumbent Dale Glass, June Suggs, Charles Milam, and Ann Pierce. In the mayor's race, incumbent Sam Haynes is the only candidate.

City voters will cast their ballots in the room at the rear of the city hall building. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and will close at 7 p.m.

Motorcycle Collision Injures Two Amarillo Women

A head-on collision between two motorcycles at Lake McClellan shortly after noon Sunday left two Amarillo women injured. The McLean Ambulance service took Shelia Stone of Amarillo to Highland General Hospital in Pampa. The driver of the other motorcycle, also a woman from Amarillo, was identified. She was taken to the Pampa hospital in a private conveyance.

Ms. Stone had severe facial injuries, and lacerations on one arm. The other woman had a broken arm. Both women were later transferred to hospital in Amarillo.

Track Teams Run At Miami

The McLean boys placed seventh with 29 1/4 points and the McLean girls placed eleventh with 14 1/2 points at the Miami Relays in Miami Saturday. The girls participating in their last track meet before the district contest scheduled for Wednesday (yesterday) at Lefors. Results from that meet were too late for press time, and will be in The McLean News next week.

In the boys division, Tiger Tim Killham won second in the long jump with a leap of 19 feet, 3 inches, and third in the pole vault with a jump of 10 feet to be the only Tiger to score in the top three places at the meet.

James Mathney placed fifth in the 110 meter run with a time of 11.5. Theron Stubbs placed fourth in the discus and sixth in the shot. The boys mile relay team placed sixth.

In the girls division, Leslie Skipper placed fourth in the triple jump, with her season best jump of 32.5 1/2 in. She also placed fourth in the high jump with a leap of 4ft. 10in. Maria Eck placed fifth in the 100 meter run with a 13.3. The girls relay was fifth with a time of 3:56.

The boys relay team was sixth.

Census Shows County Population Down

The Panhandle of Texas did not grow as much as the rest of the state and Gray County actually lost population if the census figures recently released by the U. S. Department of Commerce are correct. The Panhandle population increased by 11.8 percent as compared to a 27.1 percent increase in the rest of Texas. Gray County lost 2.1 percent of its population, according to the statistics.

McLean city officials still have not received a final official count for the city. Preliminary figures showed a population of about 1150, down from the 1970 figure of 1187. Mayor Sam Haynes filed a protest with the U.S. Census Bureau since the report showed about 50 vacant houses in McLean. No final figures concerning the city have been received.

The population in Gray County in 1970 was 26,949, and the preliminary figures for 1980 is 26,394, a decrease of 555 people.

The statistics are now being reviewed by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission's Panhandle Health System Agency.

Overall, there was a gain of 38,937 for a final count of 369,253 for the 25 county area. The 1970 count showed a population of 333,016.

The major growth was in Randall County, from just under 54,000 in 1970 to 75,000 in 1980...an increase of almost 40 percent. On the other end of the scale, Sherman County lost over 13 percent of its 1970 population. They were down

220 in the head count from 3,657 in 1970. Other counties showing a loss include Briscoe, Collingsworth, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Ochiltree, and Parmer. Of that group, Parmer county experienced the slightest drop. Census information indicates a loss of one over the

Administrator Named At Pampa

An acting administrator has been named for Highland General Hospital this week, to allow adequate recovery time for HGH Administrator Norman Knox.

The interim position will be filled by Nick Kupferle, III, an assistant administrator for Pasadena Bayshore Hospital in Pasadena, Texas. He is expected to arrive later this week.

The HGH Administrator was hospitalized last week with a heart attack and will be on leave of absence until such time as he can return to work, according to Jim Dalton, Regional Vice President for Hospital Corporation of America.

Knox is still hospitalized in Amarillo, where he was reported to be "much improved". He was treated at Highland General Hospital at the time of his attack, and transferred to an Amarillo facility after it was learned Pampa's sole cardiologist (heart specialist) was out of town attending a cardiology conference. Dalton said the usual practice is to offer the temporary position to the next in command, Alan Cannon, controller for the HCA-owned facility. Due to the heavy work load involved with the completion of the all-new Coronado Community Hospital, Cannon elected to request assistance from another HCA facility.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN -- Once again, a certain group of people in Austin beating the same old dead horse. That horse, appropriately enough, is parimutuel betting.

We have received many letters opposing legalizing betting on horse races, but very few from our district in favor of it. This is not surprising, though, because people in our district have a lot of common sense and know that the lure of gambling is not worth the trouble it would bring.

We also have received letters from other parts of the state in favor of parimutuel betting, but our job is to listen to you, not people in Dallas and Houston.

This issue is a perennial-it blooms every session. The betting public gets a little more creative with their arguments each time, but there are some things they just can't talk their way out of.

One of them is the waste of resources that gambling generates. Money lost at the track is not used for more productive activity--like family expenses, education, or farm or ranch expenses.

Another is time lost from more productive pursuits--time lost from the job, from the churches, from the schools and from the fields.

But by far the biggest problem about gambling, at least from the point of view of a Legislator, is the kind of people that gambling attracts. Just compare the crime statistics, the number of people in financial disstress, and the general atmosphere of a city like Amarillo with a place like Las Vegas or New York City.

We live in a very special place and most of us want to keep it that way. We have a strong community spirit and a low rate of crime. Most of our streets are clean, and most people don't fear walking them.

The element that goes hand-in-hand with gambling could change all this. We don't think that is an acceptable risk.

Those who disagree point out that the state could make a lot of money from legalizing betting on horses. This argument is true on its face, but does not stand up to a close examination.

The money the state would make on betting only considers the money taken in at the track. It does not consider the increased cost of policing our streets, of picking up the litter, of paying court costs for bankruptcies, or the cost of time lost at work. Someone who is at the track is not working. Neither is the unhappy gambler who is forced to sell his car to pay gambling debts and has no way to get to work.

The few letters we have received supporting gambling mostly have been from other districts. But we still want to know what you think about this issue. Please write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

INTEREST RATE BILL

A 10-hour battle on the floor of the House ended in the final passage of House Bill 1228 on Thursday, March 26.

To give you some idea of all the confusion caused by the National Federal Reserve Policy of runaway interest rates, no two lending institutions have the same ceiling on the amount of interest they can charge. Corporate borrowers of over $5,000.00 can pay up to 18 percent. Federal Credit Unions can get up to 21 percent. A bank consumer loan has a 14.5 percent ceiling. A Productions Credit Association can legally charge up to 16.46 percent today, a State Chartered Credit Union can charge no more than 12 percent. As an individual, a person can charge no more than 10 percent. Many decades ago a 10 percent usury rate was written into the constitution, with the stipulation that the Legislature could raise the rate later. House Bill 1228 raises this ceiling on a formula based on what United States Treasury bills are selling for. Under existing conditions the present ceiling on interest would be 24 percent.

Because of the present declining rate of Treasury bills, it is predicted the rate ceiling will drop to 18 percent before summer.

House Bill 197 mandating compulsory liability insurance for certain vehicles easily passed the House last week.

We have had a lot of calls about the Governor's master teacher plan. This is a merit pay plan. I have been advised the plan has little chance of passage.

The past week has been the busiest of this session. One of our days started a 6:30 a.m. and ended shortly after midnight. We anticipate an increasing number of similar days as we progress into this session which will end June 1.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I recently read the article about what to do when a tornado is approaching.

I suppose it is a settled fact that when you open a window of your house on the opposite side from the tornado you lessen the chances of losing your house; however, in doing this you may receive water damage to the interior of the house, and once my insurance company refused to pay for the interior damage because I opened the window.

Since the public has been advised to do this, can you furnish some more information about it?

Thank you,
Archie Cooper

EDITOR'S REPLY: You have raised a very interesting point, and one that I had not thought of. I checked with Jane Simpson at the insurance agency here in McLean, and she said that you are correct. Most policies state that the window must be blown out by wind or hail for the policy to pay off.

Mrs. Simpson says that if you open a window you will very likely have water damage, perhaps even extensive damage. The odds against your house being in the direct path of a tornado are very great.

So the homeowner is left with a perplexing question. Open the windows or not? An open window will probably keep your house from imploding from pressure of a passing tornado, but it will not prevent your house from being damaged by a direct hit. The open window may also allow a great deal of rain in your house.

The individual homeowner will just have to judge each situation, and make his own decision, but it is good to know that the insurance companies will not pay off if the homeowner opens the window.

years ago it was voted wet, with beer and wine available at most grocery stores. Now there are also three private clubs in our area. The change in our small town has been significant. The wets argued that we would receive more tax money. This is true, but we have spent more for law enforcement to take care of the increased number of wrecks, burglaries, traffic tickets, etc. Also, alcoholic beverages are more available to the young people.

Being a "wet" community has changed our town. Please don't let that happen to McLean.

Sincerely,
Donna Vineyard

Governor Declares Texas Library Week

Governor William P. Clements has issued a proclamation encouraging all Texans to visit their libraries next week in observance of Library Week in Texas April 5 through April 11.

"From the child who is just learning to read to the experienced scholar, Texans of all ages, educational levels, and interests can enrich their lives by using the state's libraries," he said.

Martha Parker, librarian of McLean's Lovett Memorial Library, said that she was encouraging the teachers to bring their classes to the library, and that tours would be given all week.

This year's observance of Library Week is sponsored by the Texas Library Association. It is part of a national program to make people throughout the United States more aware of the resources in their libraries.

Honorary chairman for Texas in 1981 is former governor Price Daniels, current chairman of the Texas State Library and Archives Commission.

THE PRESIDENTS EDITORS OF THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

History students of all ages, as well as anyone who is proud to be an American, will find this new volume, presented by the Saturday Evening Post, invaluable for the wealth of information it presents, as well as extremely enjoyable because of the personal vignettes presented about our many colorful presidents.

A trip through this fine book, beautifully illustrated by such famous artists as Norman Rockwell, is actually a wonderful review of the history of our country, as it has been shaped by the personalities, strengths and weaknesses of the country's leaders.

The personal lives, families and great decisions of our heads-of-government such as "Big Bill," "Little Sam," "Old Hickory," "Old Man Elquent," and "Old Fuss and Feathers," are adequately and entertainingly covered in this volume, which I am sure you will find as delightful as it is informative.

"The Presidents," a picture book, story book, family photo album and American history book all rolled into one, is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

NEWS FROM ALANREED

The Alanreed Home-maker's Club met March 25 in the home of Louise Dickinson of McLean, with seven members and one visitor present. Nell Keese presided and read scripture from I John. The roll call was answered by "What I wish my mother named me," and was responded by Anita Bruce, Lena Carter, Mary Davis, Louise Dickinson, Lucy Goldston, Nell Keese, Sophie Hutchinson and the visitor Lillie McLain. Nell Keese brought a lesson on parliamentary procedures, after which our hostess and her visitor entertained us by showing several articles of handiwork they had done. Mrs. Dickinson proposed Mrs. McLain as a new member, and she was gladly accepted. Refreshments of "Dump Cake," cheese roll, crackers, coffee and punch were served.

Mrs. Betty Brents and Lisa and Ross Davis of Amarillo, and Mrs. Hattie Terbusch of Groom spent Saturday and Sunday with the W. H. Davis' and took them to Pampa to see Nettie Reed, and ate lunch with the Bill Smiths.

The Alanreed Community Improvement Committee observed a working day Saturday the 28th. Focusing on one principle spot, several members and their rakes, shovels, pickups, etc., made quite a showing. Our thanks especially to Glen Hallum, who brought his truck and front-end loader to help. Since judging is not until late April, there will be several more working days.

The Alanreed Community Program will meet Friday night the 3rd, instead of Saturday the 4th, as Saturday is school election day. A covered dish supper will be in order. Please come and make plans for our judging day, which is coming soon. Bring your work sheets if you have filled them out. Time for the meeting is 7 p.m.

Nora Dragoos spent several days in the Pampa Hospital last week for medical tests.

Hallum's Kountry Kitchen is closed for the time being because of illness. We hope it will be open again soon.

On the sick list this week was Nell Fulbright.

Hartley Davis has been hard at work making concrete markers for the graves at the cemetery which have not been identified.

Lloyd Fulbright has leveled and buried all the trash from the burned out site of the Magee house.

R. D. McLain has cleared off most of the old sheds and debris from their place (the old Wilson house) and it is really looking good.

Don Horn brought in several barrels and placed them around the park for trash receptacles. We hope to get some playground equipment for it. Anyone wishing to donate unused equipment will be welcomed.

In a seemingly short campaign, one question I am repeatedly asked is why would I possibly want to put myself in a thankless position such as a school board member. To discuss this fully would require more than this limited space. Quite simply, I feel it is one's duty to correct any injustice one may see in life, and to improperly prepare our young citizens' minds for the future is an injustice for which we will all pay. We have all witnessed the national decline of the educational system. Please give me the opportunity to help reverse this declining trend in our local school system.

Thank you for your support and vote.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe VanZandt

SHINOAK POISONING POTENTIAL:

Shinoak bud poisoning can be a serious problem in livestock each spring, and this spring the potential is especially great. Drouth, high summer temperatures and general poor pasture conditions have led to a situation of little or no range forage in our area. Shinoaks in our area present a poisoning problem in April as they begin to bud.

Oakbuds when eaten by livestock, especially cattle, cause poisoning. Toxic substances of oaks are thought to be tannins. These are most toxic when oaks are budding and leafing. When more than 50 percent of the diet is oak, animals become sick. More than a 75 percent diet of oak usually causes death.

Signs of poisoning are gaunt, tucked up appearance, constipation, frequently followed by profuse diarrhea, weakness, tendency to remain near water, reluctance to follow herd, emaciation, mucus in droppings, dark-colored urine, and collapse.

Move animals showing symptoms to an oak-free pasture and put them on adequate feed and water. Feeding a supplemental feed containing 10 percent hydroxide may help reduce losses.

Prevention is a better cure. Control shinoak in a pasture and save the pasture as a reserve for the oak-bud season. Use moderate stocking and a deferred-rotation grazing program to improve range forage production. Consult your veterinarian if you are unsure of the cause of livestock poisoning and losses.

SWINE SHORTCOURSE FO-

CUSES ON PROFIT-LOSS FACTORS:

Opportunities and techniques which could help pork producers make a profit instead of a loss in view of current feed prices, will be explored at the Extension Swine Shortcourse at the Hale County Agricultural Center on April 8 in Plainview, Texas.

The impact of various production factors on profit and loss; practical aspects of herd health, reproduction and maintenance; conversion of hog biomass to alternate fuels; opportunities for computerizing swine production records, and the potential for farrowing cooperatives in Texas are among the topics featured in the two-day program.

The swine shortcourse is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Pork Producers Association, and Texas Pork Producers Board.

The program starts at 8:30 a.m. and concludes at 4:15 p.m. There is a $10 registration fee which includes lunch.

LOVEGRASS MANAGEMENT: The spring growth of lovegrass is already started with small sprigs in the old crowns. Most lovegrass pastures do not have to worry about removing the old growth left from last year...simply because, there is no old growth left this spring.

A spring application of fertilizer is needed for the extra growth and quality it will add to the grass. A general recommendation in the McLean area is an application of about 30-15-0. This may not give the maximum amount of grass, but it should give the biggest return on the fertilizer dollar you spend. A soil test would give a more exact recommendation for your individual situation.

COMPUTERS IN AGRICULTURE:

A program on "Micro Computer Use In Agriculture" will be held Monday, April 6 at 7 p.m. in the meeting room of the Gray County Livestock Barn (Clyde Carruth Pavilion) in Pampa.

Dr. Ray Sammons, Area Extension Economist, Amarillo, will present the program. Ray is one of the leaders in the development of computer use in agriculture and we are fortunate to have him located in the Panhandle area.

Every farmer should come and see what a computer can tell you about your farming business. You may not be remotely interested at the present; however, five years from now, computers may be as common as pocket calculators are today. They are the coming thing and you just as well learn something about them in the early stage of their use. Computers have a language all their own...hardware, software, programs, disc, etc.

BUFFALOBUR CONTROL:

Buffalobur (Solanum nostratum) is frequently found on heavily grazed pastures and plays lake area. It is a thorny broadcast annual that is highly resistant to 2, 4-D, MCPA and 2, 4, 5-T. It can be controlled by using a preemergent application of Karmex at .5 to 1.5 pounds active ingredient per acre. A ground sprayer with about 30 pounds per square inch pressure delivering 25 to 40 gallons of water per acre is suggested. Karmex will also control most annual grassy and broadleaf weeds in permanent pastures if applied before they germinate. For winter annual weeds, a late application would be best while summer annual weeds such as crabgrass and buffalobur can be controlled better with a late winter application. There is a restriction on grazing or harvesting forage within 70 days of application.

"EXPERT SHOPPER" QUIZ:

"Expert shopping" skills don't come naturally. They take practice...using an entire variety of consumer tactics.

Here's a short quiz to help sharpen your "expertness" in the market-place.

1. An "expert shopper" is one who takes advantage of every bargain available. FALSE: Learn to shop around, even "at home", by keeping an eye on ads, knowing where certain sales occur and planning in advance. A bargain is not one if you don't need the item or ever use it.

2. To encourage you to come in to shop, a store advertises a "sale." TRUE: Watch for genuine sales and specials. Not everything advertised is at a better price today than it will be tomorrow. Play detective and hunt the real bargains. Stock up on things you need when prices are seasonally reduced, such as inventory-clearance sales.

3. The bargain term "formerly" (used in front of an older price) means the newer price on merchandise does not include advertising mark-up. FALSE: It simply means that the same merchandise was sold at a higher price before the sale began. Both prices still may include advertising mark-up.

4. When shopping, you are out of luck if the store is sold out of the advertised sale merchandise. FALSE: You can demand the advertised price even if the item must be specially ordered. Be aware of attempts to get you interested in non-brand or lower-quality goods by some stores once they're out of the sale items.

5. Clearance sales are held to reduce a store's inventory. TRUE: This can also mean that items are going out of style. Watch for damaged or soiled items.

HOW TO COPE WITH GLOOMINESS:

What causes gloom...the time of year, events in life, living conditions, work situations, fatigue, or boredom? All of these conditions contribute to low points in our lives.

Whenever low points lead to "the pits" two things must happen before change can occur: first, recognize the problem as a real one. Second, seek help.

Perhaps you're reading this article because you or a relative has gone into a slump. You've wondered about what was REALLY wrong, or what caused the depression. Maybe you've encouraged walks or a change of scenery and even invited others to visit in an attempt to fight the gloominess. In addition, when gloom hits, many people feel like it's their fault or it's repayment for some wrong done.

Discontent stirs any household. When one person in a home is moody or gloomy, impatience abounds, quarrels break out, an aura of unrest prevails, children become unmanageable and family members seem to slip into melancholia.

No one seems able to decide on a course of action. You're shaken and baffled—that's all you feel.

Depression or gloominess that signals it, is a mental thing. Even seriously depressed people can be treated, and many do get well. Depression cannot be blamed on modern times...it is an individual's response to events in his or her life. Depression affects a person's behavior, feelings of self-worth and well-being, a person's tones, thoughts and response to other people. The more vulnerable a person is, the more serious the depressed state may become.

The first indicator of depression is gloominess or the blues. When gloom cannot be shaken off and lingers, a person may be headed for depression or to a seriously depressed state, a nervous breakdown. Gloominess is the first signal that something in your life needs changing or altering...to ward off depression or overcome it.

Fairly easy...and positive...

Deadline Set For Insurance

April deadlines have been set for area farmers planning to participate in the Federal Crop Insurance program.

Protection is available on corn in Dallam, Carson, Gray, Hansford, Hartley, Moore and Sherman counties and applications must be filed by April 15.

Grain sorghum producers in Dallam, Carson, Gray, Hansford, Hartley, Hutchinson, Moore, Ochiltree, Sherman and Wheeler counties will be able to apply for protection until April 30, according to Brenda Karvas, district director of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Protection is also available on cotton in Wheeler County until April 30 and until April 24 in Gray County.

FCIC is a voluntary participation program administered by the United States Department of Agriculture. It is designed to protect a producer's annual crop investment from unavoidable hazards like drouth, wind, hail, and insects.

Information and applications are available from the FCIC office in Amarillo or from one of the local insurance agents now handling the program.

ways to get out of the doldrums include: CHANGES in living situations—such as more or less privacy; RENEWED interest in leisure activities; PHYSICAL WORK—even to the point of near exhaustion; BEING with different people; MORE SECURITY with comfortable situations—and not so much "new"; MORE AFFECTION, attention and support—and less competition.

Gloominess must be overcome by the person it is affecting. Living should not be lost by default.

Divorced Parents Should Know Tax Rules

Separated and divorced parents should be aware of special dependency requirements when claiming children as dependents on federal tax returns. A dependency exemption for a child may be claimed only on the tax return of one of the parents. Generally the parent having custody of the child for the greater part of the year is allowed the dependency deduction, according to the IRS.

Frequently, however, the terms of the divorce or custody decree or other written agreement define which parent may claim the dependent child.

Also, if the parent without custody of the child contributes most of the child's support, that parent may generally claim the deduction.

The IRS has two free publications which explain in more detail the guidelines for claiming dependents. Publication 504, "Tax Information for Divorced and Separated Individuals" and Publication 501, "Exemptions for Divorced and Separated Individuals" are available by mail using the order form in the tax package, or by calling the IRS Tax Forms Information number listed in the local telephone directory.

Many of the errors that delay tax return processing, slow refund checks, and inconvenience taxpayers are avoidable, the Internal Revenue Service said.

In 1980, 7.1% of all Form 1040's and 6.2% of all Form 1040A's contained at least one taxpayer math error of some type. Errors ranged from incorrect addition and subtraction to failure to compute the Earned Income Credit when eligible.

The most common math error on both forms last year was incorrectly reporting the tax from the tax table. Problems resulted from taxpayers using the wrong tax table for their filing status, following the line for the wrong income level, and looking under the incorrect column for number of exemptions for the taxpayer.

Other common errors on tax returns are not using the peel-off label and instead writing incorrect or illegible social security numbers, only one signature on a joint return, failure to attach W-2's, "Wage and Tax Statements," and failure to attach supporting forms and schedules.

The IRS advises taxpayers to double-check their returns prior to sending them in. Accurate returns and processed more quickly and resulting refunds received sooner.

Many IRS Errors Avoidable

Estimated Tax Payment Due Soon, IRS Says

The first installment of estimated 1981 Federal income tax payments by individuals who do not have enough federal tax withheld is due by April 15, 1981, the Internal Revenue Service says.

Generally, taxpayers having estimated tax of $100 or more and estimated gross income not subject to withholding exceeding $500 must file a Form 1040-ES, "Declaration of Estimated Tax For Individuals," according to the IRS.

Those taxpayers who filed estimated income tax last year will receive the Form 1040-ES by mail. The package includes a set of instructions, a tax worksheet and four declaration vouchers. The 1040-ES forms package is also stocked at most local IRS offices.

Information about estimating taxes appears in the free IRS publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," and can be ordered using the form in the tax package or by calling the IRS forms/tax information number listed in the telephone directory.

The more risk factors present or the greater the degree of abnormality, the greater the risk of heart attack. By adopting a healthy life style through exercise, proper nutrition and rest, a person can lessen the chances of suffering from heart attack.

ANSWER: Medical studies have identified several risk factors associated with heart attack and stroke. Among these factors are heredity, sex, age, race, cigarette smoking, high blood pressure, elevated blood cholesterol, diabetes, stress and lack of exercise.

QUESTION: What are the symptoms of heart attack?
ANSWER: The symptoms of a heart attack vary, but these are the usual warning signs: (1) prolonged, oppressive pain or unusual discomfort in the center of the chest, behind the breastbone. (2) pain that may radiate to the shoulder, arm, neck or jaw. (3) pain or discomfort often accompanied by sweating, nausea, vomiting and shortness of breath. Sometimes these symptoms may subside and then return.

QUESTION: What can be done to prevent heart attacks?
ANSWER: You hear a lot about atherosclerosis. Just what is this disease and what problems can it create?

ANSWER: Coronary arteries supply the heart with the nourishment it needs. But sometimes the arteries become narrowed, roughened and eventually blocked with fatty deposits and cholesterol. This is called atherosclerosis. A coronary artery disease that has been compared with the formation of lime deposits in a water pipe.

answers to your questions from the Texas Department of Health

Heart disease will be the number one killer in Texas during 1981, causing more deaths than cancer, accidents and homicides combined. The following column from the Texas Department of Health answers some frequently asked questions about heart disease.

QUESTION: You hear a lot about atherosclerosis. Just what is this disease and what problems can it create?

ANSWER: Coronary arteries supply the heart with the nourishment it needs. But sometimes the arteries become narrowed, roughened and eventually blocked with fatty deposits and cholesterol. This is called atherosclerosis. A coronary artery disease that has been compared with the formation of lime deposits in a water pipe.

When the arteries get too narrow, or a clot is formed, the blood flow to the heart is blocked off entirely and that part of the heart dies. Doctors call this condition a coronary thrombosis, coronary occlusion, or a myocardial infarction.

Taxpayers Have Automatic Extension On Windfall Profit Tax

The Internal Revenue Service today said that individuals claiming an overpayment on windfall profit tax on their 1980 income tax returns will have an automatic extension until June 15, 1981, to file their individual income tax return.

No penalty for late payments will be asserted if the balance due is paid by June 15, 1981; however, interest, at the rate of 12 percent a year, will be charged on any unpaid tax after April 15, 1981. Taxpayers who wish to avoid payment of interest on the local tax due should file Form 4868, Application for Extension of Time to File U.S. Individual Income Tax Return, by April 15, 1981, and pay the tax estimated to be due on the return when filed.

Although the late payment penalty is generally asserted even if an extension of time to file is granted when the total is not paid by April 15, the IRS, in view of its previous conflicting and ambiguous instructions, will not assert the late payment penalty in this instance, if the return is filed and any balance due is paid by June 15, 1981.

Vegetables which should always be seeded directly into gardens include all types of beans, beets, carrots, collards, sweet corn, cucumbers, cantaloupes, okra, peas, pumpkins, radishes, spinach, squash, turnips, and watermelons. Transplants of some of these vegetables may be available at local garden centers and nurseries, but they offer no real advantage over seeding directly in the garden.

When seeding time rolls around, the soil should be moist, but not too wet. To check, squeeze together a handful of your garden soil. If it crumbles readily rather than sticking together, it's ideal for seeding.

Most garden seed are planted by dropping the seed in shallow furrows or rows on raised beds. Make the seed furrow with a hoe handle, the corner of the hoe blade, your hand or a stick. Don't get your vegetable rows too close together. Most garden vegetables do best when planted in rows 18 in. to 36 in. apart.

Although it may seem wasteful, always plant more seed than needed in case some don't germinate and come up. One common mistake many gardeners make is to plant seed too deep. Proper planting depth will be, on the average, two to three times the widest measurement of the seed. Cover seed to the right depth and then firm the soil lightly over the seed. Ideally the soil moisture content should be sufficient for good seed germination and emergence. However, during extremely dry periods, it's a good idea to water to insure a good stand.

PLANTING YOUR GARDEN:

Now that you've decided what you are going to grow in your garden, worked up the soil and added the necessary fertilizer, the hard work of gardening is over. Planting the garden is the fun part enjoyed by most folks. Now it won't be long until at last you will have something actually growing in the garden.

Planting is generally done in two ways—by seeding or by transplanting. Good advice when seeding vegetables in the garden is to use fresh, high quality seed of recommended varieties purchased from local garden centers or nurseries or from reputable seed order catalogs.

Vegetables which should always be seeded directly into gardens include all types of beans, beets, carrots, collards, sweet corn, cucumbers, cantaloupes, okra, peas, pumpkins, radishes, spinach, squash, turnips, and watermelons. Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Robert Bernstein, M.D., Commissioner

Allergies come in many forms, and some persons in Texas—and the nation—may be developing an allergy to their homes.

What they may be affected by, says Jerry F. Lauderdale of the Texas Department of Health (TDH) is formaldehyde gas. "Formaldehyde is a colorless gas characterized by a pungent odor and eye and respiratory irritation," says Lauderdale, Administrator of the Occupational Health Branch of the Occupational Health and Radiation Control Division of TDH.

"In older homes," says Lauderdale, "urea formaldehyde (UF) has been put in walls where there was no insulation. It is pumped in at about the consistency of shaving cream and hardens to provide the insulation factor."

The ease of insulation, cost and insulation effectiveness have resulted in widespread use of the foam. Complaints occur in a small percent of installations and the cause for the formaldehyde release is not well understood.

Formaldehyde gas in indoor residential air is of immediate concern because of its acute irritant effects and the as yet unknown long term health effects. Acute effects reported by residents consist of one or more of the following: burning watery eyes, headaches, cough, wheezing, nausea, disturbed sleep, and dizziness. Some symptoms may appear immediately, but in some cases the adverse effects are not noted for some time.

In some instances, these adverse effects on the health of persons have been so severe that families have had to move out of their newly-insulated home or new mobile home.

Lauderdale said the Department has done about 130 surveys since January of last year. "It is a public health problem, and people should be informed about it," he said.

For more information, contact Jerry F. Lauderdale, Occupational Health and Radiation Control Division, Texas Department of Health, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756, telephone (512) 458-7254.

ment, and exposure to young children and persons with health problems is another complicating factor.

Lauderdale said formaldehyde is suspected of being a cancer-causing chemical, because of animal studies conducted by the Chemical Industry Institute of Toxicology (CIIT) which showed nasal cancer in rats and mice after formaldehyde exposure at six and 15 ppm for six hours per day, five days per week, over a two-year period.

In a risk assessment, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) estimated that up to 150 people may develop cancer among the population of 1.75 million persons exposed to formaldehyde in residences that have been insulated with UF foam insulation from 1975 to 1980. CPSC has recommended a ban on UF foam insulation as a result of concern for adverse health effects in residents.

"But the real question," said Lauderdale, "is what level of exposure is safe. Until the question of long term effects, including cancer, are resolved, no one wants to say what is a safe level."

He said calls to the Texas Department of Health have greatly increased recently. "We get calls from people who say they are planning to buy a home and want us to check it. We are presently limited to those residents where people have complained of ill effects. It's physically impossible for us to run tests in every possible exposure situation," says Lauderdale.

Lauderdale said the Department has done about 130 surveys since January of last year. "It is a public health problem, and people should be informed about it," he said.

For more information, contact Jerry F. Lauderdale, Occupational Health and Radiation Control Division, Texas Department of Health, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756, telephone (512) 458-7254.

In The Kitchen

by Linda Haynes

If you have a microwave oven, you have already discovered that this handy appliance can save you hours in the kitchen. But in addition to saving time on preparation of foods and saving time on clean up (no sticky metal pans to wash), the microwave can actually cook some classic dishes so that they taste better than the old way.

Try these:
CORN ON THE COB
Place ears of corn in a glass casserole which has lid. Dot each ear with margarine. Salt slightly. DO NOT ADD ANY WATER! Cover tightly, and set microwave for two minutes for each ear of corn. Turn on the oven, and remove when oven shuts off.

BAKED APPLES
4 medium baking apples
4 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine cinnamon

Wash and core apples; place in 2-quart baking dish or four individual coffee cups or cereal bowls. Place 1 tablespoon brown sugar and 1/2 spoon butter in center of each apple. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Cook, uncovered, in microwave for 5 minutes or until apples are just about tender. Let stand several minutes to finish cooking and cool enough to eat. Add chopped nuts, raisins, or mince-meat to filling center of each apple if desired and add about 1 minute additional cooking time.

ONE DISH MACARONI AND BEEF
1/2 lb. ground beef
1 cup uncooked macaroni
1 sm. onion, chopped or 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 cup tomato sauce
1 1/2 cans water
1/2 cup catsup
1 can (7 oz.) whole kernel corn, undrained
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. chili powder
In 2-quart casserole, combine all ingredients mixing well. Cook, covered with casserole cover, 15 minutes, or until macaroni is tender, stirring once. Stir before serving. Let stand several minutes to finish cooking. (you may need to skim fat off top if your ground beef has a lot of fat in it).

Loose Marbles

by Lisa Patman

Having cut my first fangs at a Saturday afternoon monster movie during infancy, it was only natural that I should grow up expecting the adult world to be filled with constant adventure. And I knew for a fact that a person grew up to be either a hero/heroine, a well-meaning law enforcement officer, or an aaarrgh.

I was of course, going to be a heroine. Heroes are always sensitive-but-manly scientists who happen to be passing through the particular monster-riddled town in which the heroine resides. Heroes are always named Chumley Spiff the fifth. They always survive the monster attack, the trusty heroine by their side.

The law enforcement officer is always named "Mad Dog" Bowser. He is gruff, but kindly and well-meaning, and he wears his gunbelt around an outsized belly. He does not survive the monster attack, but he does give it the old college try.

An aaarrgh is one of the nerds that gets killed during the first attack. They always say "aaarrgh!" as they are stomped, smashed, engulfed by blobs, or bitten by vampires. Aaarrghs are boring, forgettable, and they never survive an attack.

Well, my life hasn't turned out to be one adventure after another. And, except for an occasional wrestle with my checkbook, I have yet heroically to face a monster. I have not met up with Chumley, (in fact, the only sensitive-but-manly person I know is the tomboy down the street) nor have I found "Mad Dog". The closest I have come to the gruff but kindly law-enforcement officer was last week when I got stopped for speeding, and discovered a gruff but angry law enforcement officer. At least he grinned while he wrote out the ticket.

However, I didn't sit through fifteen showings of "The Blob" for nothing. I still have hope; I know I can whip that old monster when he does get here. And after all, that's what life is all about, isn't it--heroines full of hope and determination and--wait a minute, what's that creeping up through the typewriter keys. Ugh, it's all slimy and gooey and it's... "AAARRGH!"

DRUG QUIZ

by Curt Scarborough, Ph.D.
Used by permission; all rights reserved by DATE, St. Louis, Mo.

QUESTION - According to a UPI story written by Dr. Frederick R. Demies, 45% of teenagers now report having been drunk at least once, and 19% report getting drunk once a month. Forty-one percent of high school seniors reported drinking heavily at least occasionally, 7% said they drink daily, 32% said all or most of their friends get drunk at least once a week. Which "recreational" drug is used most by teenagers?

- a) Alcohol
- b) Cigarettes
- c) Marijuana
- d) These three are used about equally

ANSWER - Regular use of alcohol is at least twice that of marijuana or cigarettes. Federal studies reveal these further shocking facts: drunk driving is the number one killer of teenagers; an estimated 8,000 young people are killed each year in alcohol-related automobile accidents; 40,000 highway injuries among youth, annually, are linked to alcohol.

- Correct answer - a.
- QUESTION - What are Quaaludes or Sopers?
- a) Barbiturates
 - b) Amphetamines
 - c) Sedative-hypnotics
 - d) Hallucinogens

ANSWER - Quaaludes and Sopers are brand names for the non-barbiturate sedative hypnotic Methaqualone. The street name is "Intellectual Heroin." The drug is usually prescribed for patients who need help in sleeping but whose systems contradict barbiturates.

Physical and mental effects usually begin within 10 to 30 minutes and last from 6 to 8 hours. These effects range from sedation and muscle relaxation, slowed responses, and drowsiness to headache, amnesia, coma, and death. Twenty Sopers can kill a person; when taken with any other depressant - such as alcohol - Sopers become 2 to 10 times as dangerous.

The drug produces strong physical dependence (addiction), and withdrawal often is more difficult than from heroin or barbiturates.

Correct answer - c.

QUESTION - Approximately 2.3 million Americans died during this past year, and 25% of those deaths are related to drug use including more than 300,000 deaths related to smoking and more than 200,000 deaths related to alcohol. Not including these two drugs, which causes the most deaths in our nation?

- a) Prescription drugs
- b) Heroin
- c) Cocaine
- d) LSD

Correct answer - a.

DINNER FOR TWO

Going international may help bring your budget into line. Rice-based dishes from all over the world offer variety, verve and economy. For starters, try Steak Cantonese and Rice.

STEAK CANTONESE AND RICE

1/2 pound boneless beef round steak
2 teaspoons vegetable oil
1 small tomato, coarsely chopped
1/2 green pepper, cut in strips

1/8 teaspoon each garlic powder, ground black pepper and ground ginger

1 teaspoon cornstarch
1-1/2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 beef bouillon cube
2 cups hot cooked rice (cooked in beef broth or bouillon)

Slice meat into thin strips, cutting diagonally across the grain (partially frozen to make slicing easier). Brown steak in oil on all sides over high heat. Reduce heat. Stir in tomato, green pepper and seasonings. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Blend cornstarch and soy sauce. Stir into meat mixture. Add bouillon cube. Cook and stir until mixture thickens and bouillon cube dissolves. Serve over beds of fluffy rice. Makes 2 servings.

Gone Fishin

EASY STEPS TO HATCHING YOUR OWN CHICKENS:

1. An incubator keeps eggs warm. Do not call it a Brooder in public print. Your friends will call you up and say things like-"Hey, dummy!"

2. If you have something special to tell your husband-like-"Honey your hair is on fire!"-do it the first week while you're still speaking to him.

3. Turn the eggs twice a day. Tell him you turned them three times. He is still speaking to you. He will call you a dirty liar.

4. The washing machine will leak and ruin the kitchen carpet. It is time to change the bed sheets. They are in the cedar chest under the leveled brooder. The man from Sears will not come to fix it. He is going to Repair Shop in St. Louis. He doesn't care if you sleep on dirty sheets.

5. Your husband will mop the kitchen carpet for two days. He does not care if you sleep on dirty sheets.

6. You will fight with Sears over the telephone. You will sleep on dirty sheets. You will not care.

7. Candle the eggs. Cut a hole in a shoebox. If the hole is too big the egg will fall through it onto your foot. When you bend over to pick up the egg, you will drop the shoebox which you have set on fire with the lighted candle. It will poach the egg and burn your foot.

8. Send your husband to Bentley's Feed Store to buy 50 pounds of chicken feed. W.A. will give him 10 free baby chicks.

9. Send W. A. Bentley a thank you letter. He cannot have you arrested if you don't sign it! Don't sign it.

10. When your husband drops the box of baby chickens and they run under the couch--DON'T LAUGH! You are a dirty liar. Act like you feel bad.

11. After the chickens hatch you can change the bed sheets. Call your friend. Suggest that she come after her incubator. Tell her W. A. wants to borrow it.
