

MR. AND MRS. WAYNE BYBEE

Sonie Heasley, Wayne Bybee Wed in Home Ceremony

Sonie Mae Heasley became the bride of Lewis Wayne Bybee Jan. 23 in a double-ring afternoon ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pierce in McLean. The Rev. Buell Wells of First Baptist Church of McLean performed the ceremony before about 40 members of the families and friends.

Given in marriage by her son Ronnie of Crain, the bride wore a gray suit. Her matron of honor was Ann Pierce. The groom's best man was his son Billy.

A wedding reception was held at the home following the ceremony. Guests were served from a two-tiered wedding cake, punch, mints and nuts.

Following a wedding trip to Las Vegas, N.M., the couple will reside in McLean where he is owner of B&B Turbine Engine Service Inc.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Ken and Bonnie Blake of Houston, Donna and Eddy Bartley of Beaver, Nedra Brooks and Ed Saith of Beaver, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Graham of Amarillo, Earlene and Misty Busbee of Perryton, Brenda Correll of Perryton, and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Graham and Brad of Tucumcari, N.M.

Baptist Women Meet Jan. 30

The Mary Martha Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met for a monthly social and meeting in the church Fellowship Hall on January 30. Mrs. Bea Lester was hostess for the social, and Mrs. Bonnie Bidwell was co-hostess.

The serving table was covered with a white brocade cloth, and centered with a peach-colored flower arrangement and the birthday cakes.

Bonnie Bidwell offered the opening prayer, and Loree Barker presided over the meeting. Class members voted to buy a new tablecloth for their serving table at the class socials. The devotional was brought by Loree Barker. Her topic was "How You Can Achieve the Utmost Success with Charity and Love," from 1 Corinthians 13:2.

Mary Lou Throckmorton was in charge of the Bible games. Bonnie Bidwell was the birthday girl.

Refreshments were served to Bonnie Bidwell, Loree Barker, Essie Howard, Lucille Cullison, Verna Hudgins, Dood Turner, Clara Maude Hupp, Mary Lou Throckmorton, Mildred Mantooh, Gladys Smith, Lilly Mae Williams, Levie Smith, and Bea Lester.

Nursing Center News

Mr. A.L. Welch and Oscar Kennedy are still in the hospital, we are looking forward to their return home.

Sunday, Bro. Wells from the Baptist Church was here for services.

Monday, our residents played Bingo. Buck Henley was the big winner for the month of January, however, Lona Jones had won four games that day. Our helpers were Lena Bailey and Vela Young. We are happy to announce that our local senior citizens have volunteered to take charge of Bingo on Mondays. Ladies we appreciate you.

Tuesday, the residents finished making their Pom Pom Valentine Bears. Heloing were Mary Lou Garrison and Billie Kingston.

Wednesday, the TNC Ladies Auxiliary met and Ginger Morilla was nominated to take charge of calling members to help serve at birthday parties and other social functions. President, Ruth Boucher volunteered to help recruit some ladies to help with crafts. Tentative plans were discussed on making our float for this coming June. Our next scheduled meeting will be February 24. Also, Wednesday members of the Baptist church were here for our Bible Study.

Thursday, the residents made boy and girl dolls out of handi wipe. Everyone is invited to come by the Activity Room and see what we've been making. The room is open Mon. through Friday from 8-4. Items may be purchased there. Many thanks to our helpers, Ruth Boucher, Lorene Brown, Bernie Steen, Donna Hawk, Linda Syfrett, and Billie Kingston. Thursday afternoon we all joined in a Sing-A-Long.

Friday, Martha Parker was here with those excellent movies.

Sherry Acie, a fifth grade teacher at the McLean Elementary School has adopted Bud Farmer as her grandfather.

Our Valentine Party is scheduled for Saturday, February 13 at 2:00. We would appreciate family members of the residents to help them sign valentines. See Betty Lopez if you need a list of resident names.

In The Kitchen

by Linda Haynes

Ask any man, and he'll tell you that the basics in foods are the best...steak, potatoes, gravy. But if you're like most cooks, you get tired of fixing the same old thing. The following two recipes should satisfy the men in your family, because both recipes are good old basics, but they are different enough to satisfy your creative urge! These are porportioned for just the two of you.

SWISS STEAK
1/2 lb. boneless round steak
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tablespoon vegetable oil
2 carrots, sliced
1 small onion, sliced
1 stalk celery, sliced
1 (8 oz.) can tomato sauce
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon margarine
1 beef-flavored bouillon cube
1 tsp. Kitchen Bouquet
Trim excess fat from steak, and cut steak into serving-size pieces.
Combine flour, salt and pepper; dredge steak in flour, and pound into steak. Brown steak in oil; place in shallow 2-quart casserole. Spoon vegetables over meat.
Combine remaining ingredients in skillet; cook over medium heat until bouillon is dissolved. Pour sauce over vegetables. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 1 hours and 10 minutes. Serves 2.

CHICKEN BREASTS IN SAUCE
1 whole chicken breast, split
1 tablespoon margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup milk
1/4 c. (10z.) shredded Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1 (4 oz.) can sliced mushrooms, drained
1/4 tsp. salt
dash of pepper
paprika
Cook chicken in boiling salted water about 20 minutes or until tender; discard skin. Place chicken on a serving dish, and keep warm.
Melt butter in a heavy saucepan over low heat; add flour, stirring until smooth. Cook 1 mintue, stirring constantly. Gradually add milk; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and bubbly. Add cheese, mushrooms, salt and pepper; cook, stirring constantly, until cheese melts and mushrooms are thoroughly heated.
Spoon sauce over chicken. Sprinkle with Serves 2.

Nausea and vomiting can occur by themselves but usually occur together. Nausea is the feeling of the imminent desire to vomit and vomiting is the expulsion of materials of the stomach and intestine through the mouth. Most of us have experienced both nausea and vomiting at several times in our lives.

But why does nausea and vomiting occur? Medical textbooks tell us that vomiting is controlled by two areas of the brain... the chemoreceptor trigger center and the vomiting center. Together, these areas of the brain respond to materials in the blood (including many drugs) and contents of the gastrointestinal tract. When sufficiently stimulated, nausea and then vomiting occurs.

Several medicines are available to reduce or eliminate nausea and vomiting. Antihistamines are especially valuable in helping to control nausea and vomiting that occur with motion sickness. Cyclizine and dimenhydrinate are available without prescription. The antihistamine hydroxyzine is available only on prescription for oral and injectable use.

Of prescription medicines, the barbiturates are sometimes effective. The phenothiazines of which Prochlorperazine is an example are highly effective and widely prescribed.

Gray County Gardening By Joe VanZandt

CHOOSE FRUIT TREES WITH CARE

The greatest investment any homeowner makes is the selection, planting and care of a fruit tree. Because a fruit tree is a long-term investment, it must be well adapted to the area. So it's best to purchase varieties recommended by the Texas Agriculture Extension Service. The County Extension Office has information on varieties that do well in Gray County.

Unfortunately, not all fruit tree varieties sold in local nurseries are adapted in that area. Remember that buyer demand generates seller supply. If buyers demand a fruit variety, even though it does not produce well locally, a seller stocks that variety to satisfy customers.

Tradition usually determines what people buy. When most people think of grapes, they think of Concord or, in Texas, Thompson Seedless. They think of Bartlett pears of Red Delicious Apples. And, everyone has eaten. Elberta peaches—or were they?

Many people fail to realize that there are hundreds of varieties of each kind of fruit. Texas Agriculture Extension Service and Texas Agriculture Experiment Station personnel are constantly testing the many varieties to evaluate their potential in your area. This is quite a job since each variety may perform differently in each location. Remember, Texas is a big state with several climates!

How can a change in climate affect something as tough as a fruit tree? Many fruit trees have what scientists call a "rest period." This is a natural season of inactivity for the plant due to internal causes, such as chemical or growth factors. During the rest period most plants will not grow regardless of weather conditions.

Have you ever purchased a peach tree with a short rest period and had it bloom in the winter? Unfortunately, if a homeowner in a cold area of Texas purchases such a tree, the rest requirement can be fulfilled early in the season, and the tree will start growing during warm spells in mid-winter. This results in reduced fruit production since the blooms are killed or the tree may even die.

The Elberta peach, with which most of us are familiar, requires around 1000 hours of temperature below 45 degrees F. before leaf buds will open. The fruit buds need only 750 to 800 hours below 45 degrees. This means that a homeowner who plants an Elberta peach in northern San Antonio might get some blooms in a cold year, but his tree soon would be weakened since the temperature would not be cold enough to break the dormancy of leaf buds. This same Elberta would grow and do well in Lubbock where it would receive enough cold. However, we have even better adapted varieties than the Elberta for our area.

Now is the time to start selecting fruit trees for your yard. A fruit tree can add beauty to your spring landscape, cooling shade in the summer, and a colorful dress of fall foliage while adding nutritious fruits to your dining table. Plant now to enjoy the fruits of your labor.

FOLIAGE PLANTS BRING NATURE INDOORS

Foliage plants in the home bring us closer to nature and satisfy our desires to live in a plant-existing environment.

Foliage plants are excellent indoors since they survive conditions unfavorable to many other plants.

Foliage plants are those grown primarily for leaf characteristics rather than flowers and are used in interior decorating and landscaping.

Using live foliage plants brings one closer to the outdoor environment, and the large varieties of plants provide a good selection of species that will add attraction to interior decor.

Growing foliage plants indoors is not difficult with a little effort if the right plant is used in the right location.

For spacious building interiors select large-leaved species such as dracaenas, rubber plants, monstera, dumbcane and philodendrons. Their large sizes makes good focal points in interior landscaping.

Smaller specimens serve the same purpose in the home while even smaller plants like peperomia, pothos and others are well-suited for dish gardens.

The most important factor to consider when selecting indoor plants is lighting.

Many foliage plants require moderate light, but full sun will injure those native to the tropics. Local nurserymen can advise you on the desired light levels of different plants.

Low light plants including aglaonema (Chinese Evergreen), cast-iron plant, bamboo and parrot palms, jade plant, English ivy and sansevierias do well eight to 10 feet from a window.

Zebra plants, Norfolk-island pines, crotons, coffee plants, ti plants, and African violets require high light areas within four feet or large south, east or west facing windows.

Medium-lighted areas four to eight feet from windows are good for ferns, dracaenas, pothos, nephthytis, areca palms, false aralias and wax plants.

Proper selection of foliage plants for different areas of the home provides colorful and functional additions to interior decor.

McLean Students Will Hear Energy Program Presented By Southwestern Public Service-Company

Streamline America, a dynamic school assembly program, blending entertainment and information about the nation's energy situation will be presented to McLean High School students Friday, February 5, 1982.

The program is sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company. It was produced by Rick Trow Productions, Willow Grove, Pennsylvania, in cooperation with the Department of Energy.

Streamline America combines the live performance of a professional actor with the excitement of a giant screen motion picture with high-fidelity sound. Woven into the presentation are fascinating concepts about energy, also, the students learn what they can do to use energy wisely.

Ms. Pat Durham, SPS McLean manager, said the electric company will present the Streamline America program to 36 high schools throughout the Texas Panhandle during the next two months.

Winner Of Van Cliburn Competition To Perform At Pampa

ANDRE MICHEL SCHUB is the concert artist who will appear in Pampa in the near future. (Photo Courtesy of the Pampa Fine Arts Association)

The winner of the 1981 Van Cliburn International competition, Andre-Michel Schub, will perform at M.K. Brown Auditorium in Pampa, Monday, February 15, 8 p.m. The piano concert a rare opportunity for Pampa residents, is sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association. Tickets of $5, adult, and $2, student may be purchased by mail orders sent to Mrs. E.L. Henderson, Box 316, Pampa, 79065, and phone orders to 669-2943.

Schub has made headlines since his win over 39 selected contestants from 17 countries and national televised performances at the Van Cliburn quadrennial contest in Fort Worth. His first recording for Vox Cu, Laude was released recently. His full schedule includes performances with symphony orchestras as well as solo concerts from coast to coast, Europe, and the Far East.

Highlights of this season are two performances at Carnegie Hall, one with the American Symphony Orchestra and the other, a recital in March. He will perform some of his Carnegie Hall selections at the Pampa concert.

Among the orchestra with which he has appeared are the Boston Symphony, the New York Philharmonic, the Cleveland Orchestra, the Indianapolis, Chicago, and Toronto Symphonies.

Schub was born in Paris but moved with his parents to New York City when 8 months old. His parents were French teachers, and he is fluent in that language. His pianist mother began teaching him when he was 4 years old, and she noticed his special sensitivity to music. "My parents made it possible for me to have every advantage in musical education," said Schub, "whether taking me to lessons and concerts or purchasing records for me."

Schub attended Princeton one year and was awarded a three-year scholarship at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia. There he heard VanCliburn often. "Cliburn has given me a lot of support and encouragement," said Schub. He states, "My Curtis teacher Rudolf Serkin taught me integrity and how to dig under the notes for a deeper message. I love music; it's the thing I can express myself with," said the 28-year old pianist.

Schub went on to win the Avery Fisher award and the Naumburg International Piano Competition. He spends several hours at the piano daily, but he also enjoys playing tennis and attending baseball games. Schub says of music, "It is a total expression of everything in a human being—the composer. But the composer can come to life only through the performer, and that is my job."

God save me from a bad neighbor and a beginner on the fiddle.
