Larry Milew, 25, of Arlington, Texas passed through Groom last week on his trek from Big Spring, Texas to Washington, D.C. Milew draws attention from those he meets carrying a cross. Milew said the Lord has led him to reach the people on the street with the story of Christ. So he will be fulfilling that goal as he goes cross country to Washington.

Commissioners Studying Feasibility Of District Collecting County Taxes

Carson County officials met Monday with the chief appraiser and board of directors of the Carson County Appraisal District to discuss the option of having the district collect taxes for the county. Jim McCray told the commissioners' court that it would be more efficient to have the appraisal district collect all county taxes. Commissioner Smith added he felt that all consideration on the matter should include "the economy of the present time." Anything the court could do to save taxpayers money, said Smith, he would be in favor of.

mower in Precinct 2 were opened and read. Commissioner Smith moved to accept the low bid of Lane & Co. of Panhandle at a cost of $6,098.62.

The following were accepted by the county to serve on the Appraisal District board, Jim McCray, Frank Simms, Raymond Blodgett, Roman Friemel and Wayne Pogue.

Commissioners also voted to reject the Sheriff's request for funds to purchase a canine trained in detecting drugs.

Precinct 1 justice of the peace requested the secretarial position in his office be made full time with an annual salary of $10,563.90.

City To Furnish Water, Trash Service For DPS Offices

Groom City Council members met last Monday in regular session. A Public Hearing date was set for October 13 for work to begin on securing a Texas Department of Community Affairs grant to provide upgraded water service in Groom.

bility insurance was accepted from Brumley Insurance Agency at a cost of $8,642.

The new 911 emergency number system was discussed. Wayne Hughes of PRPC stated that the state legislature passed a bill making the 911 number be accessible in all areas of Texas for emergency situations. Hughes explained that it will take three to four years for the number to be made available in all rural areas because telephone service in the area is so diversified. When completed, the service will cost 50c per phone customer.

Transforming the Club House into offices for the DPS was also discussed. The city agreed to furnish water, sewer and trash service as well as maintaining the grounds.

A policy to cover the city with general and auto lia-

Judge Roselius advised that the county would study the feasibility of having collection of taxes by the district. He noted that according to the tax code, both the commissioners' court and the tax collector would have to agree to the arrangement of the district collecting the taxes before it could be executed. Chief Appraiser Dianne Lavake stated that no additional help would be needed for her office to collect the county taxes.

A county owned building in Groom was then discussed. The Club House which has been converted to offices for the Department of Public Safety officers located in Groom. The county assumed responsibility for phone bills, utilities and maintenance to the building. The City of Groom will furnish water, sewer service, trash collection and also keep up the grounds.

Tigers Fall In District Opener

Groom lost their district opener here Friday night in a hard fought battle with Vega. Coaches felt the Tigers came together in the second half of the game and if the team had played the first half the same, the 27-6 outcome could have easily gone in Groom's favor.

Groom's score came when Bruce Thornton was able to connect passes to Stoney Crump and Michael Rose of 16 and 12 yards. Thornton scored on a 9-yard keeper. The kick failed.

Groom threatened to score again late in the third quarter when Rose caught a Thornton pass at the Vega 14. On fourth down, no red jersey made it open in the end zone to receive an intended Thornton pass.

Scores for Vega were made by Klay Waters on a 68-yard punt return and 12-yard run. Bryan Wood scored on runs of 6 and 10 yards and Cody Walker was successful for 3 PATs.

The Tigers will be on the road to Happy this Friday. The game is set for 7:30 p.m.

Groom threatened to score twice in the first half, once in the opening quarter with Richard Koetting carrying the ball to the Vega 24 yard line and a second drive into Vega territory was stopped at the 10 yard line by interception of a Groom pass.

Groom came into the second half looking like the team that won the first four games of the season. The Tiger defense was responsible for three sacks early on.

Comptroller's Office Answering Record Number Of Tax Calls

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday said his office would stay open extra hours to handle a record number of telephone calls about the state's new tax law.

"We're just flat swamped," Bullock said, noting there has been an 85 percent increase in telephone calls in the past four weeks.

Bullock said the agency's switchboard and Texas toll-free number 1-800-252-5555 would be open from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekdays.

He said taxpayers who have been getting busy signals during peak times in the middle of the day should be able to get tax information by calling earlier or later in the day.

Bullock said the office recorded 151,517 taxpayer assistance calls in September of this year compared to about 81,000 calls in September of 1986.

"We've gotten more than 7,500 calls a day compared to our normal load of 3,800," Bullock said.

An increase in the state's sales tax rate to 6 percent took effect on October 1, as well as the extension of the tax to many services.

Tax specialists are answering an average of 132 calls a day, Bullock said, which is a 123 percent increase over the normal call load.

"Taxpayers are going to get a straight answer from us it just might take a little bit longer than usual," Bullock said.

Senator Bill Sarpaulis Reports

Texas voters may be overwhelmed this Nov. 3 when they go to the ballot boxes and find 27 propositions awaiting them.

Only once before have so many referenda been put to the voter at once. Texans will decide on 25 constitutional questions plus determine whether pari-mutuel wagering on horse races should be legal or whether the State Board of Education should be composed of appointed or elected members.

While the two non-constitutional questions likely will attract the most attention, the constitutional amendments have generated a little controversy themselves. Many Texans are wondering why we must vote so often to change our constitution. The constitution has been amended 287 times since 1876.

The next series of articles will deal with the amendments on the Nov. 3 ballot.

Propositions 4 and 6 are the result of the effort to create a better coordinated economic development policy for Texas. Both amendments were tied to the legislation creating the new Texas Department of Commerce.

Proposition 4 removes the constitutional prohibition against using public money for a private purpose, provided the tax money going to private business or persons is being used for the state's overall economic benefit. Proposition 6, then, would authorize the sale of bonds to finance such economic development. Included would be $10 million to incubate small business, $15 million to help businesses develop new products and $100 million to help agriculture producers diversify.

Those supporting the amendments say they are critical to the efforts to revitalize the state's sagging economy. They claim the money is necessary for the state successfully to attract new businesses and diversify an economy that is too dependent on energy and agriculture. Opponents say public money loaned for private purposes too often goes only to "friends" of those loaning money. They also say such programs in effect use a businessperson's tax money to finance that businessperson's competition.

Propositions 7 and 8 are part of the "Build Texas" program, a plan to finance needed government projects through bonds rather than direct appropriations of tax money. Proposition 7 would authorize the sale of $400 million to help finance local construction of projects such as airports, parks, libraries, convention centers and jails. Proposition 8 would allow the sale of $500 million in bonds to expand the state's prison and mental health and mental retardation facilities.

Almost everyone agrees the expanded prison and mental health facilities are needed. The Texas departments of Corrections and Mental Health and Mental Retardation both are under federal court orders to upgrade their services and facilities, and money simply was not available from tax sources to fund the expansion.

The local projects are slightly different since some would argue with the need to build more municipal facilities. But, even though our economy is shrinking, the fact remains that our state is growing and local communities are seeing an increased demand for their services.

In both instances, supporters say the projects the bonds would finance are desperately needed and that bonds represent the only economically sound way to fund the projects. Opponents would point out that Texas already has a tremendously high bond debt and that not paying for such important projects with direct appropriations violates the state's "pay-as-you-go" philosophy.

Finally, there is Proposition 23, which would authorize the sale of $400 million in water bonds to continue improving both the quantity and quality of water available to Texans. This amendment comes on the heels of the $1.2 billion bond package approved by Texas voters in 1985.

Virtually no one would argue against the need for a plentiful supply of quality water for Texas. Without such a supply, the state would have no future. There are those, though, who would again point to the state's high bond debt and suggest we hold off a couple of years on this proposition since it has been only two years since the last sale of water bonds were approved.

Next week, we'll take a look at a series of eight constitutional amendments that affect the powers of your state and local governments.

WW 1 Veteran Recalls Early Years

On Wednesday, November 11th, Americans will be given the opportunity to honor its fighting men who have proudly served in the United States Armed Services through the years. To help commemorate Veterans Day, during the next several weeks, The McLean News will be publishing profiles of men from our community who have answered their country's call in time of need. Many thanks to Bob Black for suggesting the idea of the column to us:

Born in 1895, in what was then Indian Territory, Walter Evans is the last of a breed. Not only is he the only World War I veteran left in McLean, he also was a real honest-to-goodness old-time cowboy.

Evans recalls a lot about life in the early 1900's in the plains. He said that he remembers seeing many Indian tribes around his home. He especially remembers Lone Wolf, the big chief of the Kiowa tribe, who had taken part in the attack on Adobe Walls in the late 1800's. Evans said, "Lone Wolf was memorable because he used to wear a Prince Albert coat and a big hat like a Congressman would wear."

Near Lake Altus, where he was raised, Evans said there were groves of pecan trees. "It was funny to watch the Indians steal pecans from the groves," he said. "Instead of just knocking down a tree branch or just picking the pecans, the Indians could cut the roots of the tree and the whole thing would fall to the ground. Then the Indians would get the pecans. Some of us thought it was funny but it sure made some of those farmers mad to see them kill those trees like that."

When he was fifteen, in 1910, Evans and his parents, Perry and Minnie, came to McLean. Finding employment as a cowboy, he took part in one of the last trail drives in the area. It was in 1913, and he and about a dozen other cowboys drove 1,000 head of cattle from Kress, across Palo Duro Canyon, to a ranch near Lefors. Besides the cattle, the cowboys had 64 saddle horses with them. "By the time we got through with that ride," Evans said, "We didn't have much hide or clothes left on us."

Another time, Evans and Mont Noel, the father of McLean resident Frances Kennedy, were driving 100 steers to Memphis to put them into a feed lot there. Evans said, "We got them into town alright but then a train came in and scared them. They bolted, broke down a fence and started running everywhere. A lot of cowboys helped us to round them up but as soon as they were penned, something else scared them and they bolted again. Well, we finally got them put up and someone asked Mont if we were trying to tear down the place. Mont just said, No, me and Walter just wanted to let you know we were in town."

Evans also spent time working at the old Bates ranch. One time, he said, when he was only 17 years old, he stayed there all by himself for three weeks to look after things. "I tended the cattle every day and rode around the place to make sure everything was alright," he said. "During that whole three weeks, I only saw one other person."

After the United States entered World War I, Evans gave up his life as a cowboy and entered the service in March, 1918. After going through basic training in San Antonio and Atlanta, Georgia, he ended up in the hospital because he had to undergo surgery. He got

School Board Considers Six-Man Football

The McLean School Board met Monday night at the School Business Office for its regular monthly session. In the main item of business, the board considered the possibility of beginning a program of six-man football in McLean.

According to Superintendent Jim Rutherford, several factors caused the board to discuss this issue. "First," he said, "several other schools, such as Groom and Follett, are also considering six-man football. If they do it, and if we do it, there would be enough teams in the area to form a district." Miami, Lefors and Higgins are the other teams in the area that already have gone to six-man squads.

"Second," added Rutherford, "teams like White Deer and Gruver may have to drop back down to Class A eleven-man football (the same division as McLean is currently in) because of declining enrollments. The state requires all schools with an enrollment of up to about 134 to be in Class A. If White Deer and Gruver become Class A teams, they would be at the top end of the enrollment limit and would have a lot of players. That means they would probably be able to field bigger, older, more experienced teams. If we stay with 11-man football, because of our smaller enrollment we would probably have to face them and we would have smaller, less experienced teams to put against them."

"Finally," he said, "I have made some projections. Right now, we have a total of 44 boys enrolled in high school. Projecting ahead, using our current enrollments as a basis, by 1993 we will have only about 31 boys enrolled in high

There will be a birthday lunch at the Senior Citizens building today at 12:00 noon. A business meeting will be held tonight at 8:00 p.m.

separated from his infantry unit and wound up in a Motor Transport Company whose duty it was to carry ammunition and supplies to units in combat.

In mid-1918, Evans went from Norfolk, Virginia to New York and ultimately on to France where he remained for one year and one month with the Allied forces. While there, he had a wide variety of experiences, some life-threatening, some funny, some sad. Next week, in part two of our article on Mr. Evans, we will cover his years overseas and his return home to McLean.

Bonnie Fabian, Ruth Magee and Mary Dwyer attended the annual meeting of the Northwest Texas Conference United Methodist Women last Tuesday through Thursday. Carolyn Marshall, President of the National United Methodist Women, was the guest speaker. The conference was well attended by representatives from the 7 districts in the Northwest Texas area.

City Asking For Opinions

McLean residents can expect an extra slip of paper with their city gas bills this month. The City Council is asking residents to give their opinions regarding the position of night watchman. The survey will ask residents to vote in one of three ways: 1. To hire a night watchman to fill the position recently vacated by Red Easton; 2. To hire a certified City law enforcement officer in place of the night watchman; 3. To do neither.

Anyone who does not receive a copy of the survey should go down to City Hall to vote on this issue.

school. That includes all the boys, not just the ones that will be able to play football."

Today is the deadline for schools to decide how district games will be assigned next year. Therefore, the school board was scheduled to have a special meeting this morning to decide how to proceed next year. If no decision is reached by today, McLean, if it opts for 6-man football, would have to play games at random with any team available. To be included in the regular district schedule, a decision would have to be reached today.

In other business, the board: -Nominated Sam Haynes as a candidate for the Gray County Appraisal District Board of Directors.

-Decided to contract with Lovett Library for $1,000 this year for use of library services. This money has been specifically designated to help the library maintain its membership in the Harrington library consortium.

-Discussed setting up an evening computer literacy course for interested adults. The course would basically be an introductory class in how to use a computer. Anyone interested in taking such a class is encouraged to call the School Business Office, which is conducting a survey on the feasibility of the class.

Cubs Beat Groom 42-0

The McLean Cubs really pulled out all the stops last Thursday night as they downed the Groom Junior High team by a score of 42-0.

Scoring rushing touchdowns during the evening were Tuffy Sanders, Destry Magee and Christian Looney. The pass was equally effective as two Cubs, Tanner Hess and Daniel Harris, hauled in receptions for six points.

Coach Joe Riley said his boys played an "excellent" game.

In the game of the previous week, the Cubs lost to Claude by a score of 26-6, the McLean score coming on a touchdown by Tuffy Sanders.

The Cubs now have a season record of 2-1. Tonight's game, which was to have been played against Clarendon, was cancelled by them. The next game will be next Thursday as the Cubs travel to Claude.

Tigers Downed by Wheeler 65-0

The Tigers played with spirit and pride against Wheeler Friday night but unfortunately came up on the wrong side of the score board. The final was 65-0 in favor of Wheeler.

Coach George Watson especially commended the defensive play of Tony Hambright, Willie Cross, Dale Barker, Sid Brass and Floyd Morris. He said, "They all did an outstanding job."

The award of last week's T-shirt for the Black and Blue Defense was awarded to Tony Hambright. The winner on Friday was not announced but will be released at tomorrow's pep rally.

The Tigers will travel to Booker tomorrow night for play. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Debbie Coffman-Russell Rogers
Wed September 27 In Okla. City

Debbie Suzanne Coffman, formerly of Groom, became the bride of Russell Rogers of Oklahoma City, now of Dallas, in an afternoon ceremony on September 27. The wedding was held at Chandlers Landing on Lake Ray Hubbard. The Rev. Danny Williams of Josephine officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. James W. Coffman of Elkhart and Mrs. Milton L. Johnson of Baytown. Parents of the groom are Mrs. Meade Graham of Edmond, Oklahoma and the late Mr. Ferrill H. Rogers.

Janet Coffman of Frankston was her sister's maid of honor. Kelly Stansell of Talco was bridesmaid. Flower girl was Kendall Stansell and ring bearer was cousin of the bride, Cody Check.

Attending the groom were John Spencer and Charlie Unger, both of Dallas. Ushers were Jeff Blackburn and Chris Carlson, cousins of the groom.

Neil Reynolds of Mt. Pleasant provided wedding music.

The bride wore a dress fashioned of white satin and lace, featuring a sweetheart neckline and a yoke of illusion. The puffed sleeves were caught with bows at mid-point and extended in illusion and lace to the wrists. Cascades of lace flowed to form a chapel-length train. Her veil of silk illusion was accented with lace and caught to a cap of lace and seed pearls.

The bride's attendants wore dresses of purple taffeta and lace.

The bride, a graduate of Mt. Pleasant High School and Texas Tech University is employed by National Bank of Canada. Mr. Rogers attended Oklahoma University and is associated with Prime Time satellite systems.

Following a wedding trip to California, the couple is at home in Dallas.

Helen Witt returned Sunday evening from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Peek, Shannon and Brent in English, Tex.

On Friday she and Lynell Peek drove to Alto, Texas, for homecoming activities.

Receive Funds For Low-Income Housing

If you have been planning to buy a home, now may be the time to give that purchase serious consideration. The Texas Housing Agency plans to offer first-time homebuyers more than $68 million in low-interest mortgage money in March of 1988. In order to be in a position to take advantage of the home loan program, the Texas Housing Agency recommends homebuyers begin saving for a downpayment and planning their home purchase today. "We decided to announce our plans to provide 1,212 low- to moderate- income Texans with affordable home mortgages early so that families who are on a limited budget have at least six months to set aside money for a downpayment," said Kenneth G. DeJarnett, newly-appointed chairman of the Texas Housing Agency.

"When we've had mortgage money available in the past, the funds have generally been depleted quite rapidly, and resulted in disappointment for some lower-income families who required additional time to save for a 3-5 percent downpayment," he said.

The Texas Housing Agency is also hoping the early announcement will result in additional mortgage lenders signing up to process the loan applications.

In order for a family to obtain a mortgage loan through this program, DeJarnett said there must be a lender in the community who is willing to process the loan application.

"We would also like to see homebuilders request a set aside of the funds for their subdivisions to encourage some of the families to buy new homes. Every new home that we finance creates two year-long jobs in construction and related trades, plus it enhances local government revenues through increased business and property taxes," DeJarnett noted.

Since the Agency first began administering housing programs in 1979, it has generated more than $1 billion in housing capital through the sale of tax-exempt bonds to private, out-of-state investors. These dollars have been used to provide housing for more than 20,000 Texas families.

Families who would like additional information on the homeownership program may call (512) 472-7500. Lenders and homebuilding who would like information on how to participate in the program may call (512) 474-2974.

Letter To Editor

Multiple Sclerosis is a disease that worries many people in the Texas Panhandle. The area has a very high incidence rate of M.S. Twenty-five cases per fifty thousand people is the average south of the Mason-Dixon line, and yet, in Dumas alone (Pop. 13,515), we have over 20 known patients!

We have begun a search to find every M.S. patient in the Panhandle. Why? Because for each new case we can verify with statistics, we improve our chances of attracting national M.S. researchers to search our area for the elusive cause and cure of this affliction that strikes down so many young adults in the prime of life.

On Oct. 30 and 31, Dr. Thor Hanson, National Multiple Sclerosis Society president and chief executive officer, will be in Amarillo. At that time, we would like to present him with our survey statistics as proof that this area warrants national attention.

Because registering with the M.S. Society is strictly voluntary and doctors are prohibited from releasing any patient information, there is no accurate way to determine the exact number of area cases, unless we have the public's help.

We are searching for (1) names and addresses of those with M.S. who lived in the Panhandle the first fifteen years of their lives (regardless of their present location); (2) Deceased M.S. patients who were reared in the area; (3) those with M.S. living in the Panhandle who are not registered with the Amarillo M.S. office; (4) anyone who lived in the Texas Panhandle for any substantial length of time and was diagnosed as having M.S.

If you have any information you feel would be helpful, please contact the Panhandle Chapter of the M.S. Society, 1416 West 8th, Amarillo, Texas 79101 (phone 806-372-4429), or write M.S. Search, Box 663, Dumas, Texas 79029. All information is confidential.

Thank you,
