Chasing Phantoms

By O. L. D. Timer

Two men rode into town in the same conveyance. They got out, went into a grocery store, where one of them purchased a bottle of snuff for 30c, and then they crossed the street and saw a crate full of ax handles. The other man said, "Jim, buy you a new ax handle and put it in your ax and bring my ax home, as I need it badly." The other man said, "I would, but I haven't got the money." Another man went into a grocery store and said, "What is your meat worth?" The grocer said, "Twenty-five cents per pound." The prospective customer said, "You are too darned high, but what is your snuff worth?" "Thirty cents," said the grocer. The customer said, "Give me a bottle of that."

Another man walked out of the meat market with a large roast and started down the sidewalk toward home. Two men saw him and one of them said to the other, "Look at that crazy sap carrying home a piece of meat and he hasn't even got an automobile." Still another man came to town with a bright silver dollar which his wife had made picking cotton and gave it to him and said, "Jack, bring home a sack of flour." He went down to the pool hall and started to playing and when he came out his pocket was exactly like Mother Hubbard's cupboard. Punching a large hole in the bottom of his pocket, he went home and bawled out his wife for not keeping the holes in his pockets sewed up.

I overheard another man say, "I am going to take a drink whenever I want to, utterly regardless of what anybody says." And I know for a fact that his poor wife had suffered the tortures of the damned on account of his drunken spree. In a neighboring town I heard a man arguing the wet side of the prohibition question. "I will quote his words verbatim. 'I am going to drink whiskey as long as I can buy it, and when it gets so I can't buy it, I will make it myself and drink all I want to.'"

In less than a month a drunken car driver ran over his son and put him in the hospital, and now there is a lawsuit as a result. A family came in from a ride in a brand new car, turned on the electric light, the fans and the expensive radio, and sat down to a feast fit for the gods. While a widow across the street divided out a meager supply of stale bread and skimmed milk to a bunch of half clothed children by the light.

Who was it that said "This is a Christian nation," and "Nero fiddled while Rome burned"? On with the dance!

Mr. Van London states that the attorney general's department has filed condemnation proceedings on disputed right-of-way and an engineer is now on the field securing the rest of the right-of-way for the road.

Cow Census Needed for Cheese Factory

According to D. A. Davis, chairman of the cheese factory committee of the chamber of commerce, a census is now being taken of the milk cows in this trade territory.

Lists may be found at the American National Bank and the City Drug Store, and farmers are requested to call and list the number of cows owned.

Also a committee will be on the streets Saturday to ascertain how many cows farmers own and how many they will be willing to buy to support a cheese factory.

After the census is completed, it is planned to organize a stock company, financed by R. F. C. funds, and put in a factory before the winter season.

A committee will meet the county board of R. F. C. funds Friday, for preliminary plans.

A chamber of commerce meeting will be called soon, with an out-of-town speaker who is familiar with cheese making to speak on the subject. All farmers and others interested will be invited to attend.

BRIEFS

By A. P. ANGELLO

Jimmie Mattern has had a bad break and is far behind time. Better luck to him next time.

The World Economic Conference is going through the valleys of shadows. We hope it gets on some mountain top.

Britain expects to make satisfactory arrangements about her coming debt payment. Of course, France hasn't thought of doing such a thing.

The National Congress wants to adjourn, but the veterans are in their hair. The boys will probably stay there, too, until some sort of partial payment is agreed upon.

Uncle Sam proposes to make bank deposits safe under certain circumstances. Bless his heart, why couldn't he have thought of that three years ago? That would have pulled most all the teeth Old Man Depression ever had.

The big industrial and banking bills have been passed. These are the two cars with which President Roosevelt expects to row us out of this slough of despond.

There is just one hitch in all of this "rowing out by spending." We will be spending money which we do not have. Bonds, credit, and inflation always have to be made up some time. The Good Teacher said, "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." And I guess we will be doing well if we take care of the evil of this depression now, and tackle the next one when it shows up.

Mrs. Ferguson has gone on a vacation spree. In some instances she used her head, or at least someone did.

COTTON STATISTICS COLLECTOR WANTED

According to advices from the United States Civil Service Commission, a vacancy exists in Gray county for a collector of cotton statistics, and an examination will be held at Pampa to fill the office. Information may be secured from any postmaster.

The office pays $126 per year in Gray county and the duties are nominal.

$5.00 Fine for Allowing Animals Hillcrest Cemetery

Signs have been erected at Hillcrest cemetery by city officials, stating that a fine of $5.00 will be assessed against owners of cows staked or otherwise trespassing on cemetery property.

Some little damage has been done this year by loose stock at the cemetery, and efforts are being made to stamp out the practice of staking and herding animals on this property.

Trespassing of this nature at the city park is also frowned upon, and in addition to the fine, the pound keeper may collect fees and feed bills for all stock taken up.

It is against a city ordinance to stake animals of any kind where they can trespass in streets or alleys of the town.

It is also against a city ordinance to keep over four head of stock of any, or all kinds, at any one residence.

Stock pens must also be kept in a sanitary condition and in no cases must they be allowed to become a nuisance to others.

Poultry of whatever age or nature must be kept confined on the owner's premises the year around.

Dogs must have license paid for the current year and not allowed to commit depredations on others property.

BANKER COOK PRAISED BY FIELD INSPECTOR

According to Ralph R. Thomas, county agent, the field inspector for this district states that Banker Reuben R. R. Cook handled the crop production loans for Gray county in perfect shape. Anything passed upon by Mr. Cook was considered just as it should be by the department and few, if any loans were reduced or turned down that passed through Mr. Cook's hands.

Mr. Cook was chairman of the committee for this county, working with Mr. Thomas in loans on row crops.

Mr. Cook resigned as county chairman May 1, under protest from the Dallas office. But as subsequent loans for the balance of the year were for wheat farmers, Mr. Cook thought that the chairman should be in the wheat section of the county.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF TEXAS

S. J. R. No. 3 BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article IX of the Constitution of Texas be amended by adding thereto a section to be Section 3, which shall provide:

Section 3. (1) Holding the belief that the highest degree of local government which is consistent with the efficient conduct of those affairs by necessity lodged in the Nation and the State will prove most responsive to the will of the people and result to reward their sagacity and intelligence by greater economy and efficiency in their local governmental affairs, it hereby is ordained:

(2) Any county having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more according to the then last Federal Census may adopt a County Home Rule Charter, to embrace those powers appropriate hereto within the specified limitations hereinafter provided. It further is provided that the Legislature, by a favorable vote of two-thirds of the total membership of both the Senate and the House of Representatives, may authorize any county, having a population less than that above specified, to proceed hereunder for the adoption of a Charter; however, as herein provided, no such authorization is required that notice of the intent to seek Legislative authority hereunder must be published in one or more newspapers to give general circulation in the county affected, not less than once per week for four (4) consecutive weeks, and the first of such publications shall appear not less than thirty (30) days next prior to the time an Act making proposal hereunder may be introduced in the Legislature. No County Home Rule Charter may be adopted by any county having a population less than that specified in this section unless the total membership of each House of the Legislature the votes cast by the qualified electors residing within the limits of all the incorporated cities and towns of the county shall be separately kept and separately counted and the votes of the qualified electors of the county who do not reside within the limits of any incorporated city or town likewise shall be separately kept and separately counted and unless there be a favorable majority of the votes cast within and a favorable majority of the votes cast without such collective cities and towns, the Charter shall not be adopted. It is expressly forbidden that any such Charter may inconspicuously affect the operation of the General Laws of the State relating to the judicial, tax, fiscal, educational, police, highway and health systems, or any other department of the State's superior government. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to authorize the adoption of a Charter provision inimical to or inconsistent with the sovereignty and established public policies of this State, and no provision having such vice shall have validity as to the State. The Charter provision may operate to impair the exemption of homesteads as established by this Constitution and the Statutes relating thereto.

(3) A Charter hereunder may provide: the continuance of a County Commissioners Court, as now constituted, to serve as the governing body of a county to operate hereunder; or may provide for a governing body otherwise constituted, which shall be elective, and service therein shall be upon such qualifications, for such terms, under such plan of representation, and upon such conditions of tenure and compensation as may be fixed by any such Charter. The terms of service in such governing body may exceed two (2) years, but shall not exceed six (6) years. In any event, in addition to the powers and duties provided by any such Charter, such governing body shall exercise all powers, and discharge all duties which, in the absence of the provisions hereof, would devolve by law on County Commissioners or County Commissioners Courts. Further, any such Charter may provide for the reorganization, reorganization, establishment and administration of the government of the county, including the control and regulation of the performance of and the compensation for all duties required in the conduct of the county affairs, subject to the limitations herein provided.

(4) A Charter hereunder may provide that Judges of County Courts (including that County Court designated in this Constitution), and Justices of the Peace be compensated upon a salary basis in lieu of fees. The jurisdiction of the County Court designated in this Constitution, and the office of the Justices of the Peace, may be made either elective or appointive. Other than as herein provided, no such Charter shall provide for altering the jurisdiction or procedure of any Court. The duties of the District Attorney and / or County Attorney may be confined to representing the State in civil cases to which the State is a party and to enforcement of the State's Penal Code, and the compensation of said attorneys may be fixed on a salary basis in lieu of fees.

(5) Save as hereinabove and hereinafter otherwise provided, such Charter, within the limits expressed therein, may invest the governing body to be established for any county electing to operate hereunder with the power to create, consolidate or abolish any office or department, within the limitations or other provisions of the Constitution or by Statute, define the duties thereof, fix the compensation therefor, and make the same elective or appointive, and prescribe the time, qualifications and conditions of tenure in any such office; save that no such Charter other than as hereinbefore authorized, shall provide to regulate the status, service, duties or compensation of members of the Legislature, Judges of the Courts, District Attorneys, County Attorneys, or any office whatever by the law of the State required to be filled by an election embracing more than one county. Excepting herefrom nominations, elections or appointments to offices, the terms whereof may not have expired prior to the adoption of this Amendment to the Constitution, at such time as a Charter provision adopted hereunder may be in effect (save as to those offices which must continue to be elective, as herein elsewhere specified), all terms of county officers and all contracts for the giving of service by deputies under such offices, may be subject to termination by the administrative body of the county, under an adopted Charter so providing, and there shall be no liability by reason thereof.

(6) Any county electing to operate hereunder shall have the power, by Charter provision, to levy, assess and collect taxes, and to fix the maximum rate for ad valorem taxes to be levied for specific purposes in accordance with the Constitution and laws of this State, provided, however, that the limit of the aggregate taxes which may be levied, assessed and collected hereunder shall not exceed the limit or total fixed or hereafter to be fixed, by this Constitution to control counties, and the annual assessment upon property, both real, personal and mixed, shall be a first superior and prior lien thereon.

(7) In addition to the powers herein provided, and in addition to powers included in County Home Rule Charters, any county may, by a majority vote of the qualified electors of said county, amend its Charter to include other powers, functions, duties and rights which now or hereafter may be provided by this Constitution and the statutes of the State for counties.

(8) Any county operating hereunder shall have the power to borrow money for all purposes lawful under its Charter, to include the refunding of a lawful debt, in a manner conforming to the General Laws of the State, and may issue therefor its obligations. Such obligations, other than those to refund a lawful debt, shall not be valid unless authorized by a majority of all votes cast by those resident qualified voters of the area affected by the taxes required to retire such obligations, who may vote thereon. In case of county obligations, maturing after a period of five (5) years, the same shall be issued to mature serially, fixing the first maturity of principal at a time not to exceed two (2) years next after the date of the issuance of such obligations. Such obligations may pledge the full faith and credit of the county; but in no event shall the aggregate obligations so issued, or principal amount outstanding at any one time, exceed the then existing Constitutional limits for such obligations and such indebtedness and its supporting tax shall constitute a first and superior lien upon the property taxable in such county. No obligation issued hereunder shall be valid unless prior to the time of the issuance thereof there is levied a tax sufficient to retire the same as it matures, which tax shall not exceed the then existing Constitutional limits.

(9) Such Charter may authorize the governing body of a county operating hereunder to prescribe the schedule of fees to be charged by the officers of the county for specified services, to be in lieu of the schedule for such fees prescribed by the General Laws of the State, and to appropriate such fees to such funds as the Charter may prescribe; provided, however, no fee for a specified service shall exceed in amount the fee fixed by General Law for that same service. Such Charters as to all judicial officers, other than District Judges, may prescribe the qualifications for services, provided the standards therefor be not lower than those fixed by the General Laws of the State.

(10) Subject to the express limitations upon the exercise of the powers by this subdivision to be authorized such Charters may provide for or omit to provide that the governmental and / or proprietary functions of any city, town, district or other defined political subdivision (which is within the boundaries of the county) be transferred, either as to some or all of the functions thereof, and be placed under the control of the administrative body of the county. No such transfer or yielding of functions may be effected, unless the proposal is submitted to a vote of the people, and, unless otherwise provided by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of each House of the Legislature, such a proposal shall be submitted as a separate issue, and the vote within and without any such city, town, district, or other defined governmental entity, shall be separately cast and counted, and unless two-thirds of the qualified votes cast within the yielding defined governmental entity, and a majority of the qualified votes cast in the remainder of the county, favor the proposed merger, it shall not be effected. In case of the mergers hereby authorized, without express Charter provision therefor, in so far as may be required to make effective the object of the proposed merger, the county shall succeed to all the appropriate lawful powers, duties, rights, procedures, restrictions and limitations which prior to the merger were imposed, or imposed upon, the yielding governmental agency. Particularly, it is provided that the power to create funded indebtedness, and to levy taxes in support thereof may be exercised only by such procedures, and within such limits, as now are, or hereafter may be, provided by law to control such appropriate obligations, if such agencies were they to be independently administered. Such mergers may be effected under proposed contracts between the county and any such yielding governmental agency, to be approved at an election as hereinafter provided for. In order to increase governmental efficiency and effect economy the county may contract with the principal city of the county to perform one or more of its functions, provided such contracts shall not be valid for more than two (2) years.

(11) In cases of partial or complete merger of the government of a city operating under a Home Rule Charter with the government of a county operating hereunder, those city Charter provisions affecting thereby shall cease to control, and the county Charter provisions shall control.

(12) When any embraced incorporated city or town elects to merge its government with those of the county under the provisions hereof, such Charter may provide for defining or redefining the boundaries of such cities and towns, provided, however, in redefining or redefining the boundaries of such cities and towns, such boundaries may be extended only to include those areas contiguous to such cities as are urban in character, and as to such cities or towns and for the benefit of the county, in addition to the primary city and county tax herein authorized and any other lawful district tax, may levy and collect taxes upon the property taxable within such city or town as defined or redefined, within the limits authorized by Sections 4 and 5 of Article XI of this Constitution, (or any Amendment thereto) for incorporated cities according to the population that existed at the time of such merger or for any added purpose shall be imposed upon any such city or town unless authorized by a majority of all votes cast by the resident qualified voters of such city or town.

(13) Areas urban in character though not incorporated, under appropriate Charter provision may be defined as such by the governing body of the county, provided, however, that no portion of the county shall be defined as an urban area unless it has sufficient population to entitle it to incorporate under the then existing laws of the State, and no such urban area, when created, shall be vested with any taxing or bonding powers which it would not possess if it were operating as a separate incorporated unit under the then existing Constitutional and Statutory provisions of this State; and providing further that the governing body of the county for the government of such areas shall have and exercise all powers and authority granted by law to the governing bodies of similar areas when separately incorporated as a city or town, and such areas shall be subject to additional taxation within the same Constitutional limits as control taxation for a city or a town of like population. Likewise such Charter may provide for the governing board of the county subject to existing Constitutional and statutory provisions to define, create and administer districts, and have and exercise the powers and authority granted by the Constitution and laws relative to the same.

(14) No provision of this Constitution inconsistent with the provisions of this Section 3 of Article IX shall be held to control the provisions of a Charter adopted hereunder, and conforming herewith. Charters adopted hereunder shall make appropriate provision for the abandonment, revocation, amendment thereof, subject only to the requirements that there must be a favorable majority of the vote cast upon such a proposal, by the qualified resident electors of the county; and no Charter may forbid amendments thereof for a time greater than two (2) years. The provisions hereof shall be self-executing, subject to the duty of the Legislature to pass all laws (consistent herewith) which may be necessary to carry out the intent and purpose hereof. Further, the Legislature shall prescribe a procedure for submitting to decision, by a majority vote of the electors voting thereon, proposed alternate and elective Charter provisions.

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the fourth Saturday in August, 1933, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"For the Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of Texas, adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more, to effect more sufficient and economical government within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties as may from time to time be authorized by vote of the people therein."

"Against the Amendment to Article X of the Constitution of Texas, adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more, to effect more sufficient and economical government within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties as may from time to time be authorized by vote of the people therein."

Section 3. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation ordering an election in conformity herewith to determine whether or not the proposed Constitutional Amendment set forth herein shall be adopted, and the Governor shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State. W. W. HEATH, Secretary of State. (A Correct Copy) 21-4c

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price. Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple: — a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

- 1. Volume Production 2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car. Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.

"My mother!" he exclaimed. "But, Alice, she's miles away."

He looked stern. "I see. But where does the insult come in?"
Alice wept all the more. Then she answered. "It said: 'Dear Alice, don't forget to give this letter to George.'"

ROTATION ESSENTIAL

By P. G. Holden
Rotation of crops means diversified farming and diversified farming is safe. Crop rotation lessens the chance of failure; increases the sources of income.
It is not exact to make a profit farming by growing only one crop and devoting two-thirds of our land to it.

Rotation distributes farm work over the entire year. It means employment—more efficient and profitable.

Rotation, including the growing of clovers or other legumes, improves the soil.

Whenever we have crop rotation we have crop rotation. The two are inseparable. They improve the condition of the soil.

Insect pests and plant diseases whenever we follow a rotation. Rotation keeps down weeds, starves out many destructive insects and helps to eliminate diseases.

Rotation gives us a variety of feed; it raises the price of livestock more; gives us something to sell every week in the year.

In sections where the one-crop system predominates, there is no home life, few children and empty schools. There may be old, but the soil is "sick"—inactive. Erosion of the soil is rapid; there are no big red barns, no modern homes. Neglect and poverty are evident everywhere.

Idleness means poverty—poverty for ourselves but for our children and our children's children. They hold the land in trust for those who come after us. We must give it to them in as good condition as we found it.

The welfare of our community and our state—the future of our country—depends upon our being good farmers.

There were 94 in attendance at school at Liberty last Sunday. Cecil G. Goff, pastor of the Methodist church, preached. The school will begin at 2 p. m. Sunday, followed by preaching by the Cooper of McLean.

A man, aged four, was fishing with his father, who was wearing his fish-rod on the back of his hat. After a great deal of luck, he caught the following suggestions: Turn your hat around so you can see your license."

In all programs of economy, we all want the other fellow to do the economizing. There can be no successful economy practiced until we are all willing to let the program apply to ourselves.

August 26 is the date to remember this summer. On that date we will have a chance to say whether we want the forces of evil again in the saddle in Texas, with booze in power, or whether we will keep our record clean in this regard.

Helen Wills, tennis champion, in her story now running in a current magazine, states that there is no way to mix business with the game and make a success of both. Each demands too much of one's time to permit any mixing and amount to much in either.

This is a little different talk to what we have heard for the past few years about the need of outside games for the business man; however, a little thinking will reveal that champions in any line give all their time to the one line.

The News is carrying the newly adopted city budget in the news columns this week as a courtesy to city subscribers. The amount allowed in the budget for printing and publishing will barely provide the necessary blanks for the operation of city business, with nothing left for publishing reports, as provided in the statutes.

City Secretary W. E. Bogan keeps figures and balance sheets showing the current business of the city, that are open to any taxpayer, and we suggest that interested citizens spend some worth while time in looking over the figures.

Bankruptcies for Texas dropped 30% last month over the corresponding period a year ago with 15 dry goods stores, 8 manufactures, 5 each of drugs, combination groceries and meat markets, and 4 each of general stores and plumbing or electrical shops.

The total book value of the assets available for creditors amounted to 34 cents on the dollar; however, during April only 23 cents on the dollar was reported by bankrupts.

It is thought that figures will get better from now on, as times change. Most merchants who are still holding on have hopes of weathering the times with the advent of higher prices now in sight.

"In hard times, people quit feeding the cow, and then wonder why she does not give milk." This may be compared to advertising. The merchant needs the help of advertising more in hard times than in good ones, and there is no question as to who will get the cream of the business when times get better. The business that was kept before the public the past few years will be the first to reap the benefits of better times.

Many manufacturers have tried to get by with less advertising, with the result that their business has left them; while, on the other hand, those who have been consistent advertisers right along are still paying dividends.

It is much easier and cheaper for a business to advertise now than formerly, for the little fellows are scared off, and it is possible to get a message across with much less expenditure of money.

A LAWYER AND HIS CLIENT

By John B. Vannoy

James Victo Morgan, attorney at law, in every indictment would find a flaw. Or else the jury he would beguile—His clients went free—displaying a smile.

Josephus Jackson, while strolling around, innocently picked up a rope he found. Fast to the other end a horse was tied;

Josephus decided to take a ride. To parts unknown he made a wild dash.

Then sold the horse for a big lot of cash.

The sheriff, at once, picked up the trail.

And quickly landed Josephus in jail. James Victo Morgan, attorney at law, was hired by Josephus to find a flaw.

Falling in this—by some sort of wile—A verdict of innocence he must beguile.

When the trial was over, Josephus went free.

Then Morgan, the lawyer, just wanted to see

If the negro would now his guilt confess.

Since the law no longer had hope of redress.

"Josephus Jackson," the lawyer said, "Now tell me the truth, and don't be afraid:

The case is all over and you are clear, And there is no longer a cause for fear."

"Honestly, now, I will tell you, good boss,

I always did think that I stole that hoss;

But the evidence you so twisted about Has left my mind in considerable doubt."

Many years went by, then Josephus died

And promptly went o'er that mythical tide;

Then headed straight on for the golden gate.

To learn of Saint Peter his final fate.

Saint Peter told him, "Your record is bad;

You did some mean things when only a lad,

And as you grew older you got more bold;

So you cannot pass these portals of gold."

Back down the road: sadhearted and slow,

Josephus started for that place below.

Far on his way the road made a bend:

There, face to face, he met his old friend,

James Victo Morgan, attorney at law, Who spent all of his life picking a flaw.

He said to Josephus, "You sure look sad,

What has happened to you, that seems so bad?"

Josephus let out a heart-breaking wail,

And told the lawyer his sorrowful tale.

Lewy thought held the lawyer for quite a while,

Then ripped his face with a cynical smile.

"Look here! Josephus, I will plainly state

That arguing with Saint Peter will have no weight:

But strategy well played and a shield of brass

Might swing that gate open, so you can pass."

Then, straightway, in detail he did unfold

A plan that seemed both practical and bold.

"You, Josephus, must serve as a mule,

For this plan, by chance, Saint Peter may fool."

Josephus got down on his hands and knees:

The lawyer then, straddled his back with ease:

Straight toward Heaven they plied their way,

While both men wondered what Peter would say.

At last they arrived at the golden gate,

Where Morgan dismounted with manners sedate,

And asked for privilege to graze his mule

In the cycian fields, near a crystal pool.

Saint Peter was pleased with the lawyer's request,

For the mule looked weary and needed some rest.

An angel was called to take him in charge,

Then lead him to pastures amazingly large.

There, showered with glory, and some renown,

Mr. Morgan's mule was given a crown.

James Victo Morgan, attorney at law, Was told that his record contained a flaw.

Day's Lesson

FROM THE DEAD

Cecil G. Goff

Mark 16:1-20. Golden

was a very horrible form of agony attached to it. The victim would linger in a daze for two and some times three days. But the added burden of the world was so heavy that many died within six hours of their crucifixion. He died because of the thieves. After Jesus had been buried, the soldiers were allowed to go to the graves in order to see their death. When they saw that Jesus was alive, they were amazed, and only pierced His side. It had been prophesied—of His bones should be broken. It was left to the Romans, the soldiers of the Sanhedrin, and the hands to perform that duty. One, Joseph of Arimathea, buried the body. Joseph was a member of the Sanhedrin, and was a rich man. There were 70 members of that religious court of Jews. Of that number, these, and some very few others, did give their consent to the death of Jesus. The number was so small in comparison that they were overruled by the majority. In fact, a small number may not have even been noticed in the frenzied wrath of the ruling rulers. Joseph went to Pilate and pled for the body. He was granted the privilege. He bought fine linen in which to wrap the body, and Nicodemus furnished the spices which would tend to preserve the body.

Wise and Otherwise

A man whose son was an applicant for a position in the Civil Service, but who had been repeatedly turned down, said: "It's hard luck, but Bill has missed that Civil Service again. It looks like they just won't have him, that's all."

Friend—"What was the trouble?" Man—"Well, he was kinder poor at spellin' and geography, an' he didn't do too well in arithmetic."

Friend—"What's he going to do about it?"

Man—"I don't know. Times are not so good for us, an' I reckon he'll have to go back to school teachin'."

It is said that surplus milk has been poured on the ground on many a Palo Pinto county farm this spring, and that perfectly good butter made well-nigh worthless by low prices has been made into soap on some farms. These practices have stopped on 800 farms where the home demonstration agent reports the housewives successfully making cheese out of surplus milk.

The scrap-iron merchant was trundling his heavily laden barrow along a very narrow road when he was overtaken by a somewhat elderly motor car, the impatient driver of which was hooting and tooting in his anxiety to get past.

The merchant looked around at the owner. "All right, gov'nor," he said, "I'll call for that tomorrow."

"What in the world did you people send that lop-eared, lunk-headed nincompoop to the legislature for?" asked a visitor as a notorious politician was pointed out.

"Why," explained the landlord of the hotel, "he hadn't done nothing and wasn't any good—where else could we send him?"

It was 11:45 and conversation in the parlor was lagging. She remarked: "A penny for your thoughts."

He replied: "Why, I was just thinking of going home."

And her father yelled from the top of the stairs: "Give him a dollar, Mary, it's a bargain."

Neighbor (just returned from an afternoon of golf)—"Good heavens! You don't mean to say you've been working in the garden ever since seven o'clock this morning! I wouldn't think of such a thing."

Victim—"I wouldn't, either; it was my wife who thought of it."

"Why, Jimmie," exclaimed a mother to her five-year-old hopeful, "aren't you ashamed to call your Auntie a dumb-bell? Go to her at once and tell her you are sorry."

"Auntie," said the little man, "I'm awfully sorry you're a dumb-bell."

Vernon—"Grandma, if I was invited out to dinner somewhere, should I eat my pie with a fork?"

Grandma—"Certainly, Vernon."

Vernon—"You haven't got a piece of pie around the house that I could practice on, have you, Gran'ma?"

They had just eloped. Alighting from the taxi in front of the minister's home, the boy generously asked the taxi-man how much, and remember the depression. "Oh, that's all right, her dad paid the fare before you left," the driver said.

On a recent church bulletin the pastor's theme for the following Sunday was announced as "What is the Worst Thing in the World?" Underneath this appeared the words: "Singing by Our Quartet Morning and Evening."

He—"May I call on you this evening dear?"

She—"Yes but don't forget that father turns out the lights at 10 o'clock."

He—"That's just splendid of him. I'll be there promptly at 10."

Mother—"Oh, Freddie, I thought we had agreed to economize, and here I find you eating bread with both jam and butter on it."

Freddie—"Why, of course, Mother; one slice of bread does for both."

"Nature is wonderful."

"How do you know?"

"A million years ago she did not know we were going to wear spectacles, yet look at the way she placed our ears."

Grandma—"Oh, Jimmy, darling, I am surprised. Aren't you going to give your brother part of your apple?" Jimmy—"No, Granny, Eve did that and she's been criticized ever since."

"The girl I am married to has a twin sister."

"Gee; how do you tell them apart?"

"I don't try; it's up to the other one to look out for herself."

Mrs. Mary Elkman of Goodlett is visiting friends in McLean this week.

TERRACING PAID

Protection from one rain in preventing washing of land and destruction of crop stands would easily pay the 50 cents per acre it cost to terrace 25 acres on the farm of Harvey Brewer, Oak Grove community, Wood county, according to the man who farms the land. One rain last July washed some of the middles out knee deep, he states. The terraces were built under County Agent J. W. McGown's direction by plowing them up three times, 24 feet wide, with a 12-inch turning plow. It took one man and six teams to do the work.

NOT SO DUMB

One of the psychology students visiting at Howard Asylum, noticed one of the inmates wheeling a wheelbarrow upside down.

"That's not the way to push that thing," the visitor said, "you've got it upside down."

"Oh have I?" answered the lunatic. "Well, I used to push it the other way and they put bricks in it."

HIS CHRISTIAN NAME

"Speaking of signs," says a contributor, "I remember once standing in front of a grocery store and noticing the sign:

"A SWINDLER" on the window. Entering, I asked the proprietor if it wouldn't look better if, instead of 'A,' he printed his full Christian name. "No," he said, "it would look worse. My first name is Adam."

ANOTHER SCOTCH JOKE

A Scotchman had fallen into a well and was calling for help. His wife came running and asked, "Shall I call the servants from the field to help pull you out?"

"What time is it?" he asked. "Eleven-thirty," said his wife. "Well, never mind," said he, "I'll swim around till dinner time."

Customer—"You made a mistake in that prescription I gave my mother-in-law. Instead of quinine you used strychnine."

Druggist—"You don't say? Then you owe me twenty cents more."

MICKIE SAYS—

PICK YOUR COLOR

Two business executives were talking over their employees. "Well," said one proudly, "old Johnson has grown gray-haired in our service."

"That's nothing," replied the other. "We have a girl in our office who has grown yellow-haired, brown-haired, and red-haired in our service."

He—"Who spilled mustard on this waffle, dear?"

She—"Oh, John, how could you? This is lemon pie."

ALL BEACH

Small Mary, sitting on her father's lap, was watching her mother finger-wave her hair. After a while, Mary rubbed her hand over her father's bald head and said: "No waves for you, daddy; it's all beach."

"Just what is wisdom?" asked the teacher. "I know," exclaimed a boy whose older brother had just finished a course in medicine, "it's inflammation of the brain."

LeRoy A. Landers of Canyon visited relatives here Saturday and Sunday.
