Campaign to Start for New C.-C. Members

An active campaign is being waged by the chamber of commerce this week in an effort to meet the new problems arising through renewed activity in the oil fields and in the agricultural regions of the McLean trade territory. Secretary Biggers is canvassing the town in a membership campaign, and wishes to increase the membership roll to at least 100 active members before Saturday night.

Many new problems are facing McLean at the present time which are vital to the life and growth of the town, and it is the earnest desire of Secretary Biggers that the business men of the town unite in a determined effort to meet these problems in such a way that the business interests of both town and surrounding territory be adequately taken care of.

If you have not signed as an active member, see Mr. Biggers and let's all pull for a better town, better community, and better trade territory.

The following firms and individuals have enrolled to date: John B. Vanoy, Sitter Furniture Co., Cobb's Variety Store, American National Bank, City Drug Store, Piggly Wiggly, Erwin Drug Co., Puckett's Grocery, Stubblefield Dry Goods, Elite Barber Shop, Silver Grill, Dishman's Confectionery, Hindman Hotel, Ed Lander, Foxworth-Galbraith Lbr. Time Extended for Red Cross Official Vote

According to Red Cross Chairman C. O. Greene, many ballots have been turned in since the appeal in last week's issue of The News, but a number have asked how much time they have to vote, so we are printing another ballot this week that must be used by Wednesday of next week, Oct. 25, as no ballots will be counted after that time.

All ballots printed in The News are good and should be used, as everyone has a right to vote. If for any reason you do not have printed ballots enough for each member of the family who desires to vote, the names written on any kind of paper will be accepted, as the object of the ballot is to have as many as possible register a choice. You do not have to be a subscriber to the home paper, nor is there a requirement of any kind; just vote your preference. If the names on the ballot do not meet with your approval, write in names that do, or make your own ballot on a sheet of paper and hand it in.

COTTON SHOWS DECREASE

There were 366 bales of cotton ginned in Gray county from the 1933 crop, prior to October 1st, as compared to 566 bales last year, according to Homer Wilson, special representative for this county.

Mrs. Cecil G. Goff and little son left Tuesday for a visit with the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bossemeyer, at Fayetteville, Ark. They were accompanied by Rev. Goff to Oklahoma City, where they were met by Mr. Bossemeyer.

Two highways and see what kind our farmers have to use to get to these highways. You know a chain can be used only in proportion to its weakest link, and if a farmer has from one to five miles of sand to pull a load of cotton or feed through before he gets to the highways, what good is the highway in getting his products to market, unless the lateral roads are in fairly good condition? Why can't there be some plan worked out whereby some of these roads can be fixed so the farmers won't have to hitch all the livestock they have in order to get a bale of cotton or a ton of feed to town?

Tigers Win from Shamrock 52 to Nothing

A large number of local fans, including the high school band, accompanied the team to Shamrock.

The next conference game will be played Friday with the Clarendon Bronchos, who are expected to give a good account of themselves. However, Coach Rush has his men well trained for the fray, and a good game is predicted, with a large number of local citizens in attendance at the Clarendon field.

BADLY SICK

By O. L. D. Timer

Uncle Sam is a mighty sick man. He was a very healthy man until here of late, when a complication of circumstances put him almost out of commission. During the late world war Dr. Hoover's medicine seemed to get good results and finally he made Mr. Hoover his regular family physician, but after a while he refused to take Hoover's medicine, and he got him a new medicine man in the shape of Dr. Roosevelt. The first medicine he prescribed was 32 in unlimited quantities. Uncle Sam has not been taking 32 long enough to determine its effects, but from the bitter taste it has, it is liable to cause enlargement of the gall and affect him like the Kaiser of Germany was affected, and he may have the gall to think he can lick all the rest of the world.

But we hope this 32 will settle his stomach so he can take on the stimulants of NRA, RFC and all the codes and taxes he can swallow without giving him appendicitis. The above remedies are stimulants and not permanent by any means, and they are very expensive stimulants for him to pay for after he gets well, or for his folks to pay for after he is buried. But here's hoping he lives over this, for his heart action is still good and may it continue its regular beat for centuries to come.

Only his stomach and appendix seem to be out of order. We used to have use for the working man, but he has gotten to be like modern man's appendix, we don't seem to have any use for him and he is causing lots of pain in Uncle Sam's right side, and an operation is impossible, as there is no way to cut the working man out. We can't afford to be friendly, jovial, neptuni and optimistic, and he is far superior to a Hitler, a Lenin or a Mousillini. And we have grown under his care and supervision from a land of buffaloes, bears and Indians to the greatest nation on the globe. So we thought before the depression, and still think Hurrah for Uncle Sam! and may he convalesce and grow strong and purge his system of boot-leggers, gamblers, kidnapers, grafters and chiselers, and be a well rounded, symmetrical, well behaved old gentleman for all time to come.

MERTEL'S SALE OPENS TOMORROW MORNING

Mr. Mertel says we cannot build a community unless we patronize home folks, so The News printing department got the job of designing and printing the bills for the sale, giving a service impossible to obtain elsewhere.

FOOTBALL QUEEN CANDIDATES NOMINATED

A committee consisting of class presidents and secretaries and some faculty members met Monday and wrote the regulations governing the contest for football queen. They are given below:
1. Two queens may be selected from each class. At least one must be a member of the pep squad, with the exception of the freshman class.

SENIOR REPORT

The senior class met at noon Monday to elect their candidate for football queen. The ones selected were Dorothy Jean St. Clair and Avalee Back. The seniors feel that girls who can meet all requirements in a better way could not be found. The seniors are determined that their nominee shall win.

JUNIOR REPORT

The junior fire poster won first place in the fire poster contest sponsored by the fire boys. The junior class greatly appreciates the work of Sybil Young, Mary Emma Back, Nova Fern Piersal, Juanita Brooks, Charlie Marie Back and Clara Faye Carpenter. We also wish to thank Miss Cousins for the idea, and Mr. Harding for the paints.

SOPHOMORE REPORT

The sophomore class met at noon Monday, with President Averille Christian presiding, for the purpose of electing two candidates for football queen. Marie Landers and Gertrude Roush were nominated and elected. A committee of two were elected to plan a stunt for the kick-off on Oct. 27, when the McLean Tigers meet the Memphis Cyclone on Tiger field.

FRESHMAN REPORT

The freshmen elected their candidates for football queen Monday. There were four nominees, of whom Joyce Dale Crockett and Eula Faye Foster were chosen for the contest. The freshmen have resolved to work this year and not give up to the seniors until the last minute. Often the freshmen, themselves, think they haven't a chance against the upperclassmen, but just wait; we have a chance to show you our "stuff."

GLEE CLUB

Mrs. Cecil G. Goff, director of the Glee Club, is taking an extended visit to the Eastern States, and the Glee Club will not meet for at least three weeks. We are certainly glad that she is going and wish her an enjoyable trip, but we will miss her very much.

HOME ECONOMICS REPORT

Miss Joellene Vannoy attended a Home Economics Conference in Amarillo last week end. The district supervisors and thirty Panhandle teachers met there. The subject for discussion was "How to Best Meet the Present Economic Situation."

BESSIE MERTEL WINS PRIZE

Bessie Mertel, a member of the freshman class of last year, made a fire poster for the 1932 contest, which won the local prize for the freshman class, of which Miss Elizabeth Kennedy was the sponsor. The class sponsor sent the poster to Austin to be entered in the state contest. Below are given the results: Miss Bessie Mertel, McLean, Texas.

Careless fires and criminal fires each year waste a lot of money. We hope that your message of fire prevention will help to stop some of this waste.

FIRST GRADE—MRS SLIGAR

Our room has some new preprimers, of which we are very proud. They are of the Real Life Series of readers, and are very interesting.

Several of our pupils have been absent from school because of illness. We hope they can be back soon.

We weighed last week, and as usual in September, many children were underweight. Nine children in our room are up to standard, and received a gold star by their names on the weight chart. We are starting a milk-drinking project this week which we hope will bring others up to standard by November. Each child brings a half pint of milk to drink at 10 o'clock.

Charlestine Graham visited her grandfather at Crowell last week. Jesse Ledbetter, Jr. visited relatives in Wellington Sunday.

Harold—"Where are you going, mama?" Mother—"Papa and I are going to a surprise party."

Harold—"Can't I go too—and can't we take Bobby and Susie along too?" Mother—"No, you were not invited."

Harold—"Well, don't you think they'd be lots more surprised if you took us all?"

"I hear that the Spoonpikes have had a falling out. Is it one of those cases where the wife didn't understand the husband?" "No, it's one of those cases where she understood him so well that she wouldn't have anything to do with him."

Rev. V. B. Atteberry, district superintendent, made an official visit to the McLean Nazarene Church Friday.

MARKS OF A TRUE FRIEND

"By five things you may know a friend, and by six you may be sure of him," writes the wife of one of England's most eminent lawyers in the Daily Express. "If his face brightens at your coming and clouds at your departure; if his footsteps hasten to your doorstep and linger when they leave it; if he comes to you not from self-interest but from delight in your company; if he rejoices at your prosperity as much as at his own; if in adversity he will stick to you closer than a brother; and, above all, if he never bubbles your secrets to another. In friendship there must be no debit and credit account. He who has most to give will give without a grudge, aware that the greater privilege is his. He who has most to accept will accept without misgiving, conscious that no greater pleasure is his friend's."

Teacher—"Why, you dirty boy. Why don't you wash your face? I can see what you had for breakfast this morning."

Boy—"What was it?" Teacher—"Eggs." Boy—"You're wrong, teacher; that was yesterday."

Miss Johnnie Villa Haynes visited in Weatherford, Okla., last week.

Mrs. Martin Dwyer of Shamrock visited in McLean last Wednesday.

"Now, girls," said the restaurant manager. "I want you all to look your best today. Add a little extra dab of powder to your cheeks and take a bit more care with your hair."

TROUBLES OF HER OWN

The teacher was having her trials and finally wrote the mother: "Your son is the brightest boy in my class, but he is also the most mischievous. What shall I do?"

OUT OF THE FRYING PAN

Teacher—"Really, Johnny, your handwriting is terrible. You must learn to write better."

The professor was telling of evolution. "Here's an example," he said. "In the old days, if a man missed a stage coach, he was content to wait a few days for the next one. Now he swears like the devil if he misses one section of a revolving door."

Visiting Nurse—"And do your children use the tooth brush regularly?" Mother—"Indeed they do, ma'am. As soon as they're up in the morning it's a race to see who can get to it first."

The lawyer's client stormed angrily into his office. "Sir," he said, "the charge you made is outrageous!"

Hubby—"Well, darling, I've just had my life insured for $5,000."

Specialist—"You are suffering from nerve exhaustion. I can cure you for $1,000."

Patient—"And will my nerve be as good as yours then?" T. J. Coffey was in Shamrock Saturday.

DO THAT KIND DEED TODAY

"I expect to pass through this life but once, therefore, there be any kindness that I can show and any good thing I can do to any fellow-being, let me do it now, and not defer or neglect it, as I shall not pass this way again."

When Marsha was visiting in Oklahoma, she was giving some illustrations of the size of Texas. "You can board a train in the state of Texas at dawn," she said impressively, "and twenty-four hours later you'll still be in Texas."

New Circus Actress—"Well, boss, since you've given me a job in your circus, you had better tell me what to do to keep from making a mistake."

"Mary," said the mistress suspiciously, "did you clean the fish before you cooked it?"

Traffic Policeman—"Hey, you! Didn't you hear me yelling for you to stop?"

Policeman—"Did that car hit this woman?"

Robey—"Was your garden a success this year?"

Motor Fiend—"Oh! was that you yelling? I thought it was just someone I had run over."

WRONG TOUCH

"I told that man I was so dead broke that I had to sleep outdoors, but he said he was sleeping outdoors himself and had to pay the doctor for telling him to do it."

Mother—"Now, if you will be quiet and stay in bed like a good girl I will tell you a fairy story about the prince who killed a dragon and rescued a beautiful princess."

Mr. and Mrs. had just returned from the preaching services. Mrs. Brown had on today?

"I suppose your baby sister cries some?" asked one of the neighbors.

Doctor (meeting former patient on the street)—"Good morning, Mr. Binks, how are you feeling?"

J. E. Bryant returned to Brownfield last week after a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Bee Everett.

HE HAD ONE AT HOME

Charley—"Ever see one of them machines that can tell when a person is lying?"

Flapper Ann—"Goodbye, mother." Mother—"Just a minute, dear. Sign the visitor's book in the parlor before you go."

It is fairly easy for anybody to stand off and tell the rest of us how wrong we are.

The fall of the dollar would not hurt so badly; it is its disappearance that makes us worry.

The best way to find out if the NRA code is being observed by those who fly the blue eagle in McLean is to ask the workers.

We never did think much of the type of man they call a "Go-getter." He might get too much and some of it might belong to us.

Buy in McLean and you will help our employers to maintain the pay scale of the NRA. Buy elsewhere and some other clerk will get the difference. This will apply to every line, from groceries to printing.

Gen. Johnson recommends advertising to speed up sales under the NRA. Advertising is the force that has always been ever. The sooner this advice is heeded, the sooner will we see business increase.

The Blue Eagle is clamping down on violators of the provisions of the NRA, and several places over the United States have lost their right to display the emblem. A complaint to the local compliance board in any town gets quick action on any violator.

Well, anyway, we who find difficulty in raising money to pay our taxes can console ourselves that the Legislature failed, at the called session, to pass any centennial legislation, if the majority of the voters did give them permission to do so. However, our joy may be short-lived, as the measure will probably come up again in the next session.

The News has received a request from a Medical Association to advertise a meeting of the association, with the plea that anything that makes better doctors is good for the community, a sentiment that we subscribe to fully. It is also stated that newspapers over the country are especially nice to doctors and their associations, another thing that we concur in 100%.

However, newspapers can exist only through selling advertising, and the doctors' so-called code of advertising ethics forbids them using anything but a professional card, and many of them do not do this much. Medical associations all over the country are seeking publicity, something to be desired, and they are to be commended for forsaking an out-moded custom, but at the same time they should be willing to tote fair with the newspapers and spend their money where they demand their publicity. They will always find the newspapers willing to meet them more than half way in matters of community interest.

WHAT IS THE CURE?

It is possible that we may yet discover that the surest way for us as a nation to be restored to something like our old time economic condition must be by the strictest adherence to the fundamental principle of spending less than we receive. In other words, there is no sure promise of national security as long as we are paying out millions more than are coming in.

Pay day comes some day, sure as fate. No one can fail to be concerned about this matter when he thinks it through. Bold strokes in favor of artificial rejuvenation of trade agriculture, industries, business in all forms must have a coordinate reaction that will be harmoniously stimulating and tend quickly to make us a going concern in the matter of finances.

We cannot go on forever and ever running behind in our budget. That we know. We must quit spending soon and go to paying off. As for general conditions, they may be improved by remedial measures—it is certainly to be hoped they will be—but the most solid improvement will come through the natural processes that work through our economic organism just as such processes work through all other organisms.

Nature tends to balance things in an orderly manner. Business, industry, agriculture, labor conditions tend to balance themselves if given time. If sugar is too low in price for the producer he quits producing and the price rallies. The same can be said of all other products; they demand that the cost of traffic be paid, and if it is not paid the traffic ceases. Natural law controls those processes in a very large degree, and it is a dependable law, with few slips in it.

But there is distress attending these adjustments even when nature carries the load. We seek then, sometimes, temporary relief; help for the disabled. There is where the experimental enters the picture; the doctors in economics come on to the scene, and there are many different doctors with many different degrees and many different medicines, so we are lost to know which doctor to employ, which medicine to take.

That's where we are today, and we all hope that our doctors and the new specifics will prove to be "remedies that tend to naturally assist nature in a permanent cure.—Evening Journal, Washington, Iowa.

Your Advertisement Is Read!

There is no getting away from the fact that if you want your message read by the people in this community with the money to buy, it must be in the columns of the home paper.

Many people are reading each copy of The McLean News—substantial people, the people who buy, are readers of the home paper.

You do not find copies of The McLean News in the postoffice wastebasket—you can't say this of other forms of advertising. The News is always taken home and read by every member of the family old enough to read. In many cases, the paper is loaned out to the neighbors. A survey made several years ago by a large organization revealed the fact that each copy of each issue of the average American country weekly newspaper is read by seven people, five of them adults. Therefore, your advertisement in The News should be read by about 7,000 people, 5,000 of them adults.

What other way can you get your message to the buying public so efficiently or so economically?

main land. They traveled up the river Cestrus seven miles to the city of Perga, the principal city of the province of Pamphylia. From here John Mark turned back to Jerusalem. There are many reasons given by Bible students, but they are all conjecture. The reason was not satisfactory to Paul. The missionaries seemed to have done no work in this city on this visit. At least if they did there is no record of it.

From Perga they went on to Antioch of Pisidia. This Antioch was an important city, a Roman colony. There were many Romans, Greeks and Jews there. The missionaries went first to the Jewish synagogue. They were asked to return the following Sabbath, which they did. Many people heard them. The Jews became jealous and contradicted Paul in blasphemous language. The missionaries turned then to the Gentiles. But the Jews finally succeeded in arousing the leading women of the city, and some of the rulers, against the missionaries, and they were expelled from the city.

From Antioch of Pisidia the missionaries went to Iconium. It was an important commercial city. They spent a long time there and many Jews and Greeks believed. But finally the unbelieving Jews became so aroused that they were going to harm, and possibly stone Paul and Barnabas. The news came to them and they left and went to Lystra, in Laconia.

There was no synagogue in Lystra. The preaching was done on the streets. There was there a common beggar who was known by the whole city, and who had never walked. He had faith and Paul healed him. The entire city supposed that the two were gods, and would have worshiped them. After they had kept the people from sacrificing to them, the city was stirred by some Jews who had followed them from Antioch and Iconium. The missionaries were stoned, and Paul was drug out of the city for dead. When his friends gathered around him he came to himself and returned to the city, and the missionaries left the next morning. How many days they remained in the city, we do not know.

From Lystra they went to Derbe. Here they taught without interference. Many were converted. It is thought that Gaus, who was with Paul on his last visit to Jerusalem, was one converted at this time.

Following the mission at Derbe, the two missionaries went back through each of the cities they had touched. They strengthened those who had been converted. Where churches had been organized they ordained elders or preachers. When this was completed they returned to Antioch of Syria from whence they started. Thus was completed the missionary journey of Paul and Barnabas.

THE PRIMARY FUNCTION

The primary function of newspapers is to communicate to the human race what its members do, feel and think. Journalism, therefore, demands of its practitioners the widest range of intelligence, of knowledge, and of experience, as well as natural and trained powers of observation and reasoning. To its opportunities as a chronicle are indissolubly linked its obligations as teacher and interpreter.—Canons of Journalism, American Society of Newspaper Editors.

The teacher of a certain school had sent a note home with a pupil asking her parents to buy her a grammar, and received the following answer: "Missus Teecher: 'I do not desire that Jennie shall engage in grammar, as I prefer her to engage in more useful studies, and I can learn her to speak grammar myself. I went through two grammars, and can't say as they done me no good anyhow.'"

AS THE SHADOWS FALL

As we grow older, and the shadows begin to lengthen, and the leaves which seemed so thick in youth above our heads, grow thin and show the sky beyond, and those in the ranks in front drop away and we come in sight, as we all must, of the eternal rifle-pits beyond, a man begins to feel that among the really precious things of life, more lasting and more substantial than many of the objects of ambition here, is the love of those he loves and the friendship of those whose friendship he prizes.—Henry Cabot Lodge.

COURTESY

Courtesy is a science of the highest importance, it is like grace and beauty in the body, which charm at first sight, and lead on to further intimacy and friendship, opening a door that we may derive instruction from the example of others, and at the same time enabling us to benefit them by our example, if there be imitation.—Montaigne.

The higher men climb, the longer their working day. And any young man with a streak of idleness in him may better make up his mind at the beginning that mediocrity will be his lot. Without immense, sustained effort, he will not climb high. And even though fortune or chance were to lift him high, he would not stay there. For to keep at the top is harder almost than to get there.—Cardinal Gibbons.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rinin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't take for liver pills, ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name N. R. SCHOOL SPORTS

By the Railbird

The McLean Tigers added another scalp to their belts last Friday night in Shamrock under the floodlights, as they blanked the Irishmen of that city 52-0. The Tigers took the lead in the opening minutes of play and continued the scoring in every quarter. Dowell, half, led the parade with four touches. Crockett, half, made three and kicked three extra points. Ellison, left tackle, made one touchdown on a pass and added two extra points with place kicks.

The Tiger running attack clicked with precision and the passing was better than it has been this season. Tolliver played a fine all around game and his passing and defensive work is continuing to improve. "Cricket" Christian called a heady game at his quarterback post, and although he did not score, he paved the way for the tallies with several nice broken field runs and his fine blocking. All in all, the team worked fine and only showed a marked weakness on pass defense.

The score by periods: McLean 26-12-7-52 Shamrock 0-0-0-0

A BIRD'S EYE-VIEW.—In spite of all the bouquets, the Tigers are due to be ordinary fellows, and go into the Clarendon game tomorrow without too much confidence. The boys have been constantly improving from week to week and they have been rated better than an even chance to repeat for the district title. However, the publicity has not bothered the squad and they realize that each game must receive its share of serious consideration.

The fans enjoyed another beautiful demonstration during the half at the Shamrock game. The McLean pep squad in their uniforms of black, white and gold were escorted on the field by the McLean band and presented several "stunts" accompanied by yells, songs and music. After the McLean group retired, the Shamrock minutes.

THE LOW-DOWN.—The McLean Tiger teams of late years have never conquered the Clarendon Bronchos. Tomorrow, the Tigers are going into that game with something more than a championship on their minds. There are some personal scores to settle. "Cricket" Christian made his high school football debut four years ago this fall as a 118 pound halfback and suffered a loss of 52-6. A year or so later he quarterbacked his first game against the Bronchos and lost it also. Ellison, Crockett and Cable are others who have suffered defeat at the hands of the high flying Bronchos.

The Clarendon Bronchos are a heavy husky bunch and are adept at crashing the line. They are undefeated this season, and have gone out of the state to find competition. The Bronchos have a pair of fine ends in Watson and Martin. Watson is always a scoring threat on the receiving end of a famed aerial attack. The average weight of the Clarendon aggregation will exceed the Tiger line-up several pounds.

DOPE.—The McLean Tigers are favored to win over the Clarendon Bronchos. However, the betting is on even basis and no doubt it will be a contest.

ESSENTIALS IN SPEECH-MAKING

There are three rules for making a successful speech. The first is "GET UP." The second is "SPEAK UP." The third is "SHUT UP."

Daughter—"Father, I think we ought to buy an auto, before they go up. You can buy one for a song now." Dad—"Yes, and I know the song—it'll be 'Over the Hills to the Poorhouse.'"

Eloping Bride—"Here's a telegram from Dad." Bridegroom (eagerly)—"What does he say?" Bride—"Do not come home and all will be forgiven."

"Are you in favor of government ownership of industries?" somebody asked of a prominent Senator. "Yes," replied the Senator, with a knowing wink, "if my party could be in power when it was done."

Business comes to the man who has established himself and gained a reputation for square dealing. But his business can be doubled and trebled by consistent advertising. The majority of advertising is done by means of printing, and the man who fails to employ printing in some form to advertise his business is simply letting trade slip through his fingers. Every line of printing you use in your business speaks for you to your customers and prospects; even your letterheads and envelopes. Use good printing, and use it constantly and consistently. It will prove to be your best friend in any business, be it large or small. And your printing dollar spent in McLean helps build McLean.
