TO THE EDITOR

The McLean public schools owe a debt of gratitude to the editor of The McLean News for the space which he donates to school news each week and for the time spent in printing these columns. Both the staff and sponsor of The Tiger Post wish to express their appreciation to The McLean News staff. Also, the sponsor greatly enjoyed and appreciated the copies of the paper which have been sent gratis to her during all of the past two years. With cooperation of the school staff and the News staff, a good school column should result. According to agreement of those in charge, there will be no repetition of news in the paper, no themes of students published, unless they are published as prizes in contests; and as much time and space saved as it is possible to save. The aim of the staff for this year is to print only news that will be of interest to the public.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

The spirit of friendly cooperation and enjoyment of school work that is prevalent in the McLean high school was in evidence during all of the opening week of school. Both faculty and students are refreshed after the vacation period and are ready for nine months of intensive work with the aim to make this term the best in the history of the school. The atmosphere of work was apparent in the building at all times. The student body and faculty members who have been in the system before are rapidly becoming acquainted with the new faculty members and students and mutual pleasure in these new acquaintances is quite apparent. McLean high has declared war on depression and has vowed to make this a great school year.

IN MEMORY

Supt. Cryer paid a fine tribute to the former superintendent of this school on Monday morning. Mr. G. C. Poswell became acting dean of McMurry College in Abilene this week. We rejoice in the professional success of this friend of McLean high school and hope that he may be happy in his new field of work. Recently Mr. Boswell received from Simmons University the Master of Arts degree. Those who have been accustomed to this man missed him at the first exercises of the school, but as Principal Harding announced, "We are through with Boswellism and have taken up Cryerism, and both students and teachers are going to stand behind the new leader as strongly or more strongly than they did Mr. Boswell."

CLASS ORGANIZATIONS

Classes were organized on Monday of last week. Organizations were conducted by Supt. Cryer, and classes were allowed to elect their sponsors, the seniors organizing first and other classes in order, through the freshman, as follows:

Senior: Sponsor, Elizabeth Kennedy; assistant, G. B. Rush; president, Christal Christian; secretary, AvaLee Back; room mothers, Mesdames A. A. Christian, N. A. Greer, M. E. Flowers. Junior: Sponsor, Jewell Cousins; assistant, John Harding; president, June Wodos; secretary, Charlie Marie Back; room mothers, Mesdames T. A. Mastay, D. C. Carpenter, Jim Back. Sophomore: Sponsor, Aline McCarty; president, Averill Christian; secretary, Marie Landers; room mothers, Mesdames T. A. Landers, W. W. Wilson. Freshman: Sponsor, Joellene Vannoy; president, James Lee Rice; secretary, Eula Faye Foster; room mothers, Mesdames Wheeler Foster, S. W. Rice, Patterson.

EX-STUDENTS OFF TO COLLEGE

It is most gratifying to see the large number of ex-students of this high school who are attending college this year. Below are the names of those who have reported to the office. These are students who have been graduated from this high school during the past three years:

W. T. S. T. C.—Fern Landers, Mackie Greer, Lois Kirby, Clyde Andrews, Bonnie Bell, Juanita Ball, Burnese Blakney, Erwin Browning, Edv McCoy, Duard Lynch, Maxine Fowler, Earl Breeding, Nora Ashby, Clay Cooper.

Texas Technological College—Allison Cash, Woodrow Wilkerson, Margaret and Ruth Hess, Sybil Graham, Haze Waters.

McMurry College—Lavelle Christian, Lavern Pettit, Fahoma Ladd, Beth Ward.

Abilene Christian College—Kelly Newman. Wayland Baptist College—Bobbe Appling. Clarendon Junior College—Willie Kennedy. Texas Woman's College—Lola Ruth Stanfield. Amarillo Junior College—Frances and Louise Wilson. Oklahoma University—Lucile Morse and Kathryn Hales. Simmons University—Cagle Hunt and Y. E. McAdams (possibly).

THE TIGER GROWS

The McLean Tigers have been working hard for several weeks getting ready to play real football. Coach Rush has conducted intensive drills both on and off the field and the boys are ready to beat the Wheeler Mustangs on Tiger field Friday afternoon.

Below are the names of the boys who are working out each day: Ashby, Bable, Bogan, A. Christian, C. Christian, Crockett, Dowell, Ellison, G. McCarty, H. McCarty, Greer, Stratton, Tolliver, Robinson, Johnson, Harris, Andrews, Simmons, Butler, Everett, Winley, Hancock, Woods, Mertel. M. H. S. is behind the Tigers!

SCHOOL PARTIES

The administration of the school has decided that the classes will have the following entertainments during the year: Senior, six; junior, five; sophomore, four; freshman, three. These are exclusive of banquets and special cases. This was done in order to avoid confusion in planning of activities and in order to keep students from having too many outside attractions.

Class parties are sponsored by the school, and attended by faculty members, who are glad and willing to help the students enjoy themselves. It is the hope that the school can foster the wise use of leisure time without making "Jack a dull boy" by giving him too much play.

THE LIBRARY

Miss Lillian Abbott is to have charge of the library for this term. A competent corps of girls has been selected and this group will endeavor to serve the student body efficiently and improve the library. Orders for publications have been sent, but the lack of funds prevents the securing of as many as could be used. If anyone has copies of reputable magazines which have been finished in the homes, the library would appreciate donations. Such magazines as Good Housekeeping, American Boy, or American would be especially beneficial.

ASSEMBLY

The assembly exercises at the high school will be held once each week, on Tuesday. The periods will be rotated in order to prevent students from missing the same classes each week.

On Tuesday of this week a most interesting program was presented by the NRA Council. Supt. Cryer presented Mr. C. O. Greene, who is the NRA chairman in McLean, and he brought some important facts to the minds of his hearers. Boyd Meador, president of the C. of C., and Rev. W. A. Erwin also spoke to the student body. The theme of each speech was cooperation and vision. Rev. Erwin stated that those who do not cooperate in this NRA with the government are slackers, the same as those who would not help during the world war. Mr. Greene stated that the future of high school students may be governed largely by the success of the NRA.

Consumers cards were given to students. These were to be taken home, signed, and returned.

Willie Louelle Cobb delighted the audience with her talented playing of two piano solos, as did Maurine Tampke with a humorous reading, "Questions."

Assembly exercises will be held at 9:45 next Tuesday, and will be in charge of the Methodist Church.

Below are the programs of the chapel exercises from Sept. 26 thru December 19:

- Sept. 26-10:30, P. T. A., Rev. Andrews. Oct. 3-11:15, Baptist, pep squad. Oct. 10-1:00, Lions, band. Oct. 17-1:45, Church of Christ. Oct. 24-9:00, Chamber of commerce. Oct. 31-9:45, Presbyterian Church. Nov. 7-10:30, Senior class. Nov. 14-11:15, Methodist Church. Nov. 21-1:00, Junior class. Nov. 27-1:45, Baptist Church. Dec. 5-9:00, Sophomore class. Dec. 12-9:45, Church of Christ. Dec. 19-10:30, Freshman class.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

The first year class in home economics is studying clothing planning and construction. There were so many girls who enrolled in the class that it became necessary to divide the class into two sections. The classes organized with Gertrude Roush as hostess of one section and Grace Reneau of the other. The present project is personal grooming and hygiene.

Charlie Marie Back and Marie Landers are hostesses of the second year class, which is studying the preparation and serving of foods. This class is interested in home canning and they have canned 12 quarts of peas. The class will can vegetables for people on the halves, or they will greatly appreciate any donation of surplus food to the department so that it may be canned and retained for future use.

PEP SQUAD ORGANIZED

The pep squad organization was completed on Tuesday. The method of organization was different from other years in that a selected group was made in order to insure a more efficient and better organized squad. Names of those students who desired to be in the squad were handed in to class sponsors, and a committee consisting of class presidents and secretaries and faculty members passed on the name of each person. This committee of fifteen made impartial and fair choice considering the following qualities: scholarship, ability to yell, ability to buy inexpensive costumes, ability to attend games, conduct, both at school and away from school.

The following students were selected: Eula Faye Foster, Marie Landers, Charlie Marie Back, Mary Emma Back, Clara Faye Carpenter, Sybil Young, Mozelle Glenn, Juanita Brooks, Juanita Carpenter, Marietta Young, Emma Jean Ayer, Neva Flowers, AvaLee Back, Oleta Holloway, Geraldine Bowen, Annie Bell Kinard, Winifred Ayer, Gwynne Carpenter, Oleta Back, Lorraine Turman, Pauline McCracken, Erma Koen, Della Williams, Ethelene

Williamson and Helen Follis. Sponsor, Elizabeth Kennedy; leaders, to be chosen next Tuesday.

AGGIELAND

Several vocational agriculture boys accompanied Mr. Tampke to Panhandle, where he judged the dairy show. The boys were interested in the fine show cattle, and helped in judging them. After the judging they were admitted to the races free. The boys who accompanied Mr. Tampke were: Charles Finley, James Lee Rice, Cecil Jones, Millard Windom and Wilburn Lynch.

Forty-nine boys were enrolled in the vocational agriculture class this year. Among this number are several talented musicians who are helping to entertain at the P. T. A. meeting Thursday afternoon.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the bowels don't move, don't swallow a lot of mineral water, oil, laxative candy or other pills. The reason for your discomfort is your liver. It should pour out 100 pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, you're down to your knees. It just stays in the bowels and a more movement down the bowels is your liver. It should pour out 100 pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get the bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wheat, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, and when it comes to making the bile flow, they're the best. Ask for the Little Liver Pills. Look for the name (Carter's) Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of imitations. See at drug stores. © 1933 C. M. C.

"Proud and glad to do our part"

WITH President Roosevelt's acceptance of the NRA Automobile Code, Chevrolet, the world's largest builder of motor cars, officially begins operations in accordance with the administration's recovery program. Although the official code was signed only a few days ago, it will be of interest to Chevrolet's many friends to learn that the Chevrolet Motor Company started to carry out the spirit of today's recovery program over three years ago! At that time, we put into operation a "share-the-work" plan, whereby our workmen cooperated in spreading the work to give more men jobs. By means of this plan, as well as by regulating hours of work per week to meet retail demand, and by building up parts stocks in lean seasons, it was possible to carry 33,000 men on our payroll through the depression. For eleven months of each year since 1929, we have kept our employment within 10 per cent of this average. We are justly proud of that record. We are also proud to say that Chevrolet workmen did not, at any time during the depression, become a burden on public welfare departments.

On August 1st of this year, Chevrolet announced a blanket wage increase as well as the adoption of a 7½-hour, 5-day week and the employment of 12,000 additional men. This wage increase was the second in the last 4 months, Chevrolet having been among the first to put a blanket wage increase into effect. We feel that the President's recovery program deserves the whole-hearted support of every citizen and manufacturer in America. It is a bold, swift, courageous plan to start the ball rolling toward economic recovery. Its sincerity is unquestioned. Its objectives are admirable. And the direct, forceful steps the President and his associates are taking to make it a success, should stir the pride and admiration of every American. We are proud and glad to do our part. And we are deeply grateful to the American people for the patronage that has enabled us to anticipate the present recovery program and to play our part today. After all, the immense number of men employed by Chevrolet is a direct result of the continued preference America has shown for Chevrolet.

A SAFE RULE NEEDED

No newspaper publisher ever was in business very long until he was forced to deal with the problem of having out of the news an item about this one or that one who had gotten into trouble. A good many rules for dealing with it have been laid down, but all have been broken. It would be a grand thing if some genius would come along who could tell us how to handle the question—and be willing to let us apply the rule to him or his friends if occasion arose.—La Habra (Calif.) Star.

A LITTLE TWISTED, WHAT?

"Dearest Annabelle," wrote Oswald, who was hopelessly in love. "I would swim the mighty ocean for one glance from your dear eyes. I would walk through a wall of flame for one touch of your little hands. I would leap the widest stream in the world for a word from your lovely lips. As always, Oswald. "P. S. I'll be over Saturday night, if it doesn't rain."

HAS STOOD THE GAFF

The community paper is emerging from the economic depression with a stronger claim to leadership than it had before. It has stood the gaff. It has shown itself capable of weathering storms. It's in a better position than ever to talk turkey on problems of community activity. Many erstwhile leaders, now proved unseaworthy, will have to retire to the background.—Wisconsin Press.

Goofus—"Did you tell it all around town that my head was 'made of solid ivory'?" Rufus—"No, indeed. I never used such language."

Goofus—"Then what did you say about me?"

Rufus—"I merely stated that you carried more osseous matter above your shoulders than any other man I had ever met."

Goofus—"Oh, that's different."

"Paw, what's an advertisement?" asked little Willie.

"An advertisement," explained the father, "is the picture of a pretty girl eating, cooking, chewing, smelling, gargling, smoking, rubbing, wearing, or driving something which the advertisers are anxious to sell."

With all its draw backs, life is still a splendid adventure.

A VERSATILE MAN

The cheerful agent walked into the business man's private office and set his grip on the floor. "I have here," said he, "a patent glass cutter for 25 cents. It is known as—" "Don't need any glass cutter," answered the business man. "Ah, you don't need a glass cutter. Well, then, I have here a vacuum cleaner that sells for $4. It is now in use by thousands of homes. It is—" "I don't need a vacuum cleaner." "Well, perhaps not, but then I have something else that will certainly interest you. It is a phonograph that retails for the small sum of $11. There isn't another phonograph in the world that—" "I wouldn't buy a phonograph on a bet," growled the business man, getting red in the face. "Well, I am surprised. But then, I have a panorama camera which sells for $27. It will take the widest scope—" "No camera today!" yelled the business man. "Well, then I have a $423 automobile which combines all the necessary features of the higher priced machines and—" "For the love of Mike!" screamed the business man. "I'll take the glass cutter. Here's your quarter. Now get out!" "Thank you," said the agent. "That's all I had to sell in the first place."

AN EDITOR SPEAKS

There is a belief in many quarters that newspaper men are a little bit careless about facts; that they would rather print something interesting than something strictly true. Don't you think so, widely known New York World man, has this to say on the subject, and he speaks our sentiments exactly: "The constant aim on the part of editors is for accuracy—it is their only protection if there should be a come-back of any sort. They really want to print the facts; if they do not they have been lied to by some more or less interested party whom they credited. The reader would be surprised to know how many lies are handed to reporters and editors in the course of a day's work. I have observed that it is the very people who give out tales that do not square with the facts who are always saying: 'You can't believe anything you see in the papers nowadays.'—Coronado (Calif.) Journal.

NEWS EDITOR HAS ENOUGH FAIR

A card from the News editor, written Tuesday, stated that they had seen enough of the world's fair for a lifetime, and would likely start home Wednesday.

WHY DISCARD BRAINS?

W. O'Neil, head of the General Tire and Rubber Company, recently expressed his conviction that industry is not entirely a young man's job. Experience and mature judgment have their place in the manufacture and distribution of the nation's commodities as well as youthful initiative, enterprise, and energy, he believes. "In this fast-moving age, there has developed a theory that men more than 40 should be thrown into the discard, but, in our organization, we have a number of men more than 60 who are doing real jobs," Mr. O'Neil says. "While we do not make a practice of hiring old men, we certainly have no age limit on keeping them. 'Bricks and mortar do not make a plant—neither do chemistry and engineering—it takes men to make a plant. Men must feel safe in their jobs, sure of their jobs. If the only future they could look forward to was that, when they reached a certain age, they would be thrown into the discard, they would not do their best work. We must recognize the capabilities and advantages of age and experience." Industry is neither a young man's job nor an old man's job. Both have their places and each needs the other.—Nation's Business.

WRONG AGAIN

Her father accidentally met her young man on the street. "I say, young fellow," he said, "you have been calling on my daughter for well nigh a month. What are your intentions?" The suitor gulped. "Well, sir," he replied, regaining his confidence, "I hope to become an addition to your family." Father was well prepared. "Oh, no!" he said with a vigorous shake of his head. "You'll have to subtract, not add, young man."—Answers.

The only way to economize is to spend less.

It is not necessary to nurse a grouch very carefully to make it grow.

You can go to church any Sunday without hurting anybody.

If peddlers have ever done anything to help build McLean, we have never heard of it.

A satisfied customer is the best advertisement, but he is attracted to your store and held by newspaper advertising.

One man who keeps an attractive home accomplishes more for the town than a dozen who find fault with everything.

It is no trouble to get along with the man who is willing to allow you the privilege he takes for himself.

Social position is relative. It all depends upon living in a community where there are people less important than yourself.

The man who is worth most to the community is the one who uses his feet to walk in the path of progress, and not for kicking purposes.

A good rule to follow is to never explain anything. Your friends do not need an explanation, and your enemies won't believe you anyway.

A woman working six hours a day for wages is "gainfully employed," but one working 16 hours a day keeping house is listed as "no occupation." Maybe so!

When people tell an editor they want him to print the truth, they mean the truth about the other fellow. The principal drawback to printing the truth is that when it is done somebody's toes get stepped on.

School paper sponsors and others are informed that all advertising must be kept out of their columns. We have only one rule as to items turned in by any one. If you would charge us for the thing you want publicity on, we must charge you for the publicity. Other things are news and are gladly printed, but do not ask us to advertise anything in special columns that properly comes under the head of advertising.

When merchants in the smaller towns come to realize that advertising expenditure must be reckoned upon the same degree of efficiency as all other expenses of the business, then advertising will get the attention it deserves, and the future of the small town will cease to be a matter of concern.

Advertising should be bought and sold on results, and nothing has been found to equal the home newspaper with its years of service to the community.

The News has always tried to help the home merchant and develop the home community. We have never tried to make money out of our patrons, but make money with them. We have not tried to tear down other towns, or merchants in other towns, but simply have tried to help develop our own resources, so that we may all enjoy living in our own community. We can only solicit the good will of those who believe as we do in matters, with the hope that the future may be kind to all of us, and that a neighborly spirit may be developed, without which life is not worth much anywhere.

GOLF

Golf is a form of work made expensive enough for a rich man to enjoy. Made attractive by the fact that you have to dress for it in a $200,000 club house.

Twenty-five years ago there was but one golf club to a community. Today there is one to a block. This shows what can be done with a sport, once you create the idea that two black-balls will be sufficient to keep any man out of it.

It is probably the only known game a man can play as long as a quarter of a century and then discover that it is too deep for him in the first place.

The game is played on carefully selected grass with little white balls and as many clubs as the player can afford. These balls cost from 75 cents to $2.50, and it is possible to support a family of ten people (all adults) for five months on the money represented by the balls lost by some golfers in a single afternoon.

A golf course has eighteen holes, seventeen of which are unnecessary and put in to make the game harder. A "hole" is a tin cup in the center of a "green." A "green" is a small parcel of grass costing about $1.98 a blade and usually situated between a brook, a couple of apple trees and a lot of unfinished excavations.

The idea is to get the golf ball from a given point to each of the eighteen cups in the fewest possible strokes and the greatest number of words. The silly thing about it is that after you have been all afternoon poking the ball around the lot you find that the eighteenth hole is right in front of the club house from which you started.

The ball must not be thrown, pushed or carried. It must be propelled entirely by about $200 worth of curious looking implements, especially designed to provoke the owner.

After the final or eighteenth hole, the golfer adds up his score and stops when he has reached eighty-seven. He then has a swim, a pint of gin, sings "Sweet Adeline" with six or eight other liars and calls it the end of a perfect day.—Clift.

CHRONIC GRIPERS

Chronic grippers are like the poor—they are with us always. Nothing ever pleases a gripper. It is either too hot or too cold; too wet or too dry; too high or too low; too big or too little; too weak or too strong; too bad or too good; and so on indefinitely. Once the habit of griping has been acquired, it is as hard to break as the tobacco habit.

We have been expecting some broad-minded soul to write a book on this subject for years, but it seems as if no one has gotten around to it. By all means, such a book should be in the book-stalls, or stands, or whatever. There are many kinds of grippers. There is, for instance, the intellectual gripper, who gripes in terms so obtuse and uninteresting, that his substance is wasted on the proverbial desert air.

There is the scientific gripper, the economic gripper, the reform gripper, and finally, just the plain, old unvarnished type that sees bad in everything and good in nothing.

It is true there is nothing we can do about grippers except tolerate them, but we are looking forward hopefully to that day, when a land large enough to hold them will be set apart by the governments of the world and they can have a colony all their own where they may gripe to their heart's content, and sour on themselves and their fellows to such an extent that no fertilizer factory would be necessary.

The only trouble about finding such a place would be in establishing communication with one of the larger planets.—Memphis Democrat.

PAT GOT THE JOB

An Irishman, an Englishman and a Scotchman were out of work. They traveled together in search of employment and came to a farmer's house and applied. The farmer said whoever could tell the biggest lie could have the job. The Englishman said he went to the North Pole in a tub. The Scotchman said he swam to the South Pole. The farmer then asked Pat: "Well, Pat, what's your lie?" "Begorra, sir," said Pat, "I climbed the North Pole and the South Pole and planted the Stars and Stripes on top of 'em both." Pat got the job.

RATS SPREAD DISEASE

Texas sustained a fifteen million dollar loss last year, on account of rats, declared Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. This figure is a very low estimate based upon the probable number of rats in the State, two for each person. No doubt many suffer losses that would pay their taxes, and this does not take into consideration the losses from disease, time and money, caused by the rat.

Typus fever is on the increase in Texas and the rat is the cause of its spread. Old World typhus fever has a high death rate, while the type we have in Texas, sometimes called Brill's disease, has a low death rate. It occurs among persons who work or live in rat infested buildings. It was the observation of this fact that led to the discovery that rats are carriers or transmitters of the disease. It appears that the rat suffers attacks of this form of typhus fever and that the fleas harbored by the sick rat bite man and thus human infection results.

Although this disease is not commonly fatal, it cannot be considered lightly. The intense headache, the high fever, and the great mental depression are its most unpleasant features. Like in sea sickness, the patient's greatest fear is that he is not going to die. The illness generally lasts about two weeks.

The control of typhus is very difficult and it depends upon the extermination of rats, and this is no easy matter. Trapping and poisoning help, but the best results are obtained by starving the rats. This is done by having all buildings where food is stored ratproofed. The State Department of Health and the U. S. Department of Agriculture will be glad to assist communities in their program for the extermination of this pest.

FROM HAMLET TO OMELETTE

A very bad actor once ventured to appear in the part of Hamlet, but even the village audience he tried it on would not tolerate it, and he was pelted with rotten eggs. The next day two men were discussing the performance. "By the way," said one, "I never laughed so much in my life as when Jones came on as Hamlet." "Well," retorted the other, "I never laughed so much in my life as when he went off as omelette!"

DEFINED

Little Mary Jane and her next-door neighbor, Billy, were engaged in an absorbing conversation. "What are anarchists?" asked Mary Jane. Billy swelled up with wisdom. "They want everything other folks has got, and they never wash themselves," he replied. "Oh, yes," cried Mary Jane with enthusiasm. "I see—they are just little boys grown up."

Pretty Nurse—"Every time I take the patient's pulse, it gets faster. What shall I do?" Doctor—"Blindfold him."

REMEDY NO GOOD

The bus stopped at the corner after considerable trouble. The conductor succeeded in getting the lady on.

As she flopped into a seat she sighed deeply. "Oh, dear," she remarked to an elderly man opposite her, "it's all this rheumatism. As I used to say to my good husband, I'm a perfect nuisance to it."

"Dear lady," he answered, "pathetically, did you ever try electricity? I used to suffer from rheumatism a good deal myself, but short time it completely cured me."

"Electricity!" said the old lady in a doubtful manner. "A lot of good would do. Why, I was struck lightning a year ago, and it didn't do me a bit of good!"

Sunday's Lesson

SOLOMON

By Cecil G. Goff
 II. Golden text, Psalm

Lesson we pass to the last of the United Kingdom of Israel. After a reign of 40 years, David died, and left his kingdom to his son Solomon, who was to rule over all Israel. During his reign, David had built up a powerful and wealthy kingdom. He was a man of many talents, and he had added many nations to his kingdom. So enormous were his conquests that great amounts of gold and silver were brought regularly into the kingdom.

During this time David had engaged in many things. God would not permit him to build Him temple, but he had gathered most of the material for it. Consequently, during his reign he gathered material for the temple, including gold, silver, stones, the hardest and finest, in abundance. The material has been estimated to have been as much as seven billion dollars as we know it now.

When we find Solomon as a king, we find him as a man of wisdom, and his kingdom prospered. His father had left him a kingdom broad in territory, and he had received a large tribute income such as no other king before or since, and an army well trained. In fact, he had inherited all that would tend to make him the greatest of the kings of Israel, because, added to all the things mentioned, his father had left him with a correct conception of God, His power, His commandments, and His ability to bless. No king before him had such an excellent selection of wisdom as that of Solomon as he had. He had received the gift of wisdom from his father, and he had received the gift of wisdom from God. He had received the gift of wisdom from his father, and he had received the gift of wisdom from God.

At the beginning of his reign Solomon began to build the temple. That was his first great work. He had received the gift of wisdom from his father, and he had received the gift of wisdom from God. He had received the gift of wisdom from his father, and he had received the gift of wisdom from God. He had received the gift of wisdom from his father, and he had received the gift of wisdom from God.

The temple was completed in the early reign of Solomon, and there the Children of Israel worshiped. When the kingdom was divided the people of all but two of the tribes left the temple worship for the calf shrines at Dan and Bethel. The temple was stripped of treasure in late years by Shishak of Egypt, Jehoahaz of Israel, to hire Ben-hadad of Syria, to hire to the Assyrian army, desecrated by Abim who changed the worship, by Athaliah who used the vessels for Baal worship, by Uzziah who offered incense illegally. Its treasures were carried away by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 B. C. At the close of the captivity, Zerubbabel began to rebuild it. He was halted, but under Haggai and Zechariah it was completed in 516 B. C. The new temple was inferior in every respect to the temple Solomon built, even the Ark had been lost.

This temple was transformed into a temple of Jupiter by Antiochus Epiphanes in 167 B. C. It was again restored to the worship of Jehovah in 63 B. C. by Judas Maccabaeus. In 66 B. C. Pompey, the Roman, entered the temple, but left it untouched. Soon after Crassus plundered the sacred courts. Herod the Great desired to pacify the Jews to his reign, and offered to build a new temple. After all of the material was on the ground for the new building he was permitted to tear the old one down and to build the new. It was begun in 19 B. C. and completed in 64 A. D. It was opened for use in 1 B. C. This building was one of rare beauty. It covered a space of 35 acres. It was built of white marble, where that of Solomon had been built of white sandstone. It was adorned in the front with plates of gold. It contained spacious courts for men and women, Jews and Gentiles. There was a large royal porch on the south, and Solomon's porch on the east. The Gate Beautiful was 75 feet high and 60 feet wide. It was made of Corinthian brass, and was a gift of an Alexandrian Jew. In 70 A. D. this magnificent temple was so completely destroyed by the army of Titus that not one stone remained upon another.

For 50 years the ruins remained untouched. In 136 A. D. Hadrian, a Roman emperor, had the spot plowed, sowed with salt, and built a temple there to Jupiter, named the city Aelia, and forbade the Jews to approach within three miles of it on pain of death. In 534 Justinian erected a Christian house of worship on the temple spot. A hundred years later it was torn down and a Mohammedan mosque built there. In 1099 the crusaders occupied the city and made a Christian sanctuary out of the mosque. In 1189 Saladin added the city to the Mohammedan domain and again exchanged the cross for the crescent. In that state it has remained since. The Jews now have a portion of the old Walling Wall that they may call their own.

Shivering with Chills
Burning with Fever
Sure Relief for Malaria!
 Don't try homemade treatments or newfangled remedies! Take that good old Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Soon you will be yourself again, for Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic not only relieves the symptoms of Malaria, but destroys the infection itself.
 The tasteless quinine in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic kills the Malarial infection in the blood while the iron it contains builds up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and fortify against further attack. The twofold effect is absolutely necessary to the overcoming of Malaria. Besides being a dependable remedy for Malaria, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is also an excellent tonic of general use. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle today at any store.
