Floyd, Grandmother Rogers, McLean.

STATEWIDE ELECTION SATURDAY

A statewide election will be held Saturday, with seven amendments to the state constitution to be voted upon. McLean voting boxes will be found at the usual places.

Wm. H. Hemphill of Brownwood, sales manager of the Southwest Telephone company, and L. M. Chaffin of Erick, Okla., district manager, were News office visitors last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Upham visited the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Overstreet, at White Deer Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Bidwell of Tucumcari, N. M., visited the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sparks, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Biedoe of Granbury are visiting in the T. A. Landers home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman White and son of Pampa visited relatives here last week end.

J. E. Williams, former McLean resident, now of Tuscola, is visiting Andy Nelson and family.

Mrs. Percy Kinard and children visited relatives in Wheeler last week.

4-H CLUB CANS FOR AMARILLO FAIR

By Club Reporter
Miss Ruby M. Adams gave a demonstration on canning to the McLean 4-H girls club last Thursday at the home of Bennie Mae Wade.

The girls canned nine different fruits and vegetables throughout the day, most of which will go to the fair.

Those present were: Ve'ma Mann, Dorothy Sue Young, Bennie Mae Wade, Betty Jo Andrews, Susan Mae Baker, Evonne Floyd, Marie Eudey, Miss Adams, Miss Juanita Wade and Mrs. Wade.

Any new members will be welcomed to the club.

McINTYRE OUT THIS WEEK

Our weekly feature by O. O. McIntyre failed to reach us from New York in time for this week's issue of the home paper, but we are assured that in the future this will not happen.

Will Rogers had a number of articles written before his death, and one from him appears on another page. We feel sure that our readers, in common with thousands of others, will miss Mr. Rogers' timely comment on current affairs; however, we will soon have another feature secured for this space.

Mrs. D. M. Thomas was taken to an Amarillo hospital Friday night. She was accompanied by her son, Virgil and Mrs. W. B. Upham.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morgan and daughter, Miss Nora Lee, visited at Lubbock, Breckenridge and Mineral Wells last week.

J. W. Prock and Olin Richardson of Hollis, Okla., were in McLean Sunday.

C. S. Rice and daughter, Mrs. Ruby Hall, attended an undertakers convention in Dallas the first of the week.

Rev. L. H. Shockley preached at the First Baptist Church Sunday in the absence of the pastor.

Carl Greenwood of Wichita Falls visited in the S. R. Kennedy and Ben Jackson homes Sunday.

E. L. Sitter and family visited relatives at Lubbock over the week end.

K. L. Meeks of Walters, Okla., was in McLean Sunday.

Misses Margaret and Ruth Heas were in Wellington Saturday.

Garden Prizes to Be Awarded at Early Date

Prizes in the better yards and gardens contest will be awarded at an early date; just as soon as competent judges can be secured, which is expected to be within the next ten days.

Several new entries have been received within the past few days and practically all of the prizes have been arranged for. There will be two sets of prizes; first, second and third in each division entered.

Prizes will be plants, shrubs and garden equipment of good value.

All entrants will be notified in plenty of time for the judging date and it is expected that the Garden Club tour will be made on the same day, when all yards are at their prettiest.

Judging will follow the national rules and out of town judges will be secured.

The contest is sponsored by the local Lions Club, working with the Garden Club.

MRS. RICE ENTERTAINS

Mrs. S. W. Rice entertained a number of friends at luncheon Tuesday noon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Appling and family, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Mitchell of Plainview, visited at Wheeler Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Norman of Pampa visited the lady's aunt, Mrs. J. A. Sparks, Sunday. They were accompanied by the former's mother.

Mrs. T. J. Coffey and son, accompanied by the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Alexander, are visiting in Lampasas.

C. S. Rice attended an undertakers convention at Abilene last week.

Mrs. H. P. Crumm is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, at Dallas.

Ralph Gardner of Oklahoma City transacted business here Saturday.

S. J. Dyer transacted business in Dallas last week.

Leonard Huff was in Pampa one day last week.

Misses Margaret and Ruth Heas visited in Lubbock last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Overton of Canyon visited relatives here Sunday.

Lions Hear Methodist Singer at Weekly Lunch

McLean Lions heard Prof. Robt. L. Cooper of the First Methodist Church evangelistic party, in a number of songs and readings, at the regular weekly luncheon Tuesday.

Prof. Cooper played his own accompaniment at the piano and each number was heartily encored.

Revs. Jameson, Stout and Erwin all spoke, inviting Lions to take part in the revival services.

Howard Neeth of Pampa was also presented as a club visitor.

T. A. Landers discussed the various amendments to be voted upon Saturday, upon request of the program committee.

Boss Lion Bogan announced that the better yards and gardens contest would be managed by the civic improvements committee, composed of T. A. Landers, chairman, W. W. Boyd and Paul M. Bruce.

In the absence of the Lion tamer, C. A. Cryer presented the visitors.

Cryers in Car Accident; Tire Blowout Cause

A blowout on a rear tire caused the car in which Supt. and Mrs. C. A. Cryer and baby were riding to turn over on the highway near Hereford last Friday.

Mr. Cryer suffered a sprained ankle and a cut on the head. Mrs. Cryer was injured by broken glass, and the baby was badly shaken up.

The injured are doing nicely and Mr. Cryer expects to be well again by the opening of school.

Answering the good-natured kidding of his friends as to how fast he was driving, Mr. Cryer says that a look at his car would convince anyone that he was not driving too slow.

MISS HARLAN ENTERTAINS WITH CHICKEN ROAST

Miss Texola Harlan entertained a number of friends with a chicken roast at Sandspur lake last Thursday evening.

Supper was served at the Cooke-Shelburne-Beall lakeside cottage and entertainment features consisted of boating, fishing, swimming, music and games.

METHODIST REVIVAL

Interest is growing in the revival services now in progress at the First Methodist Church. Rev. C. E. Jameson is bringing some strong messages and Singer Robt. L. Cooper has a big chorus choir full of peppy singers each night; a feature being an invitation to all singers of the town to join the choir.

Pastor N. U. Stout extends an invitation to everyone to cooperate in the services that are held each morning and evening.

The services are expected to continue all next week.

A BIG PEACH

The News editor is indebted to W. W. Wilson for a fine peach of the Cameo variety, 11 inches around and weighing one pound.

Mr. Wilson has had lots of fine peaches this year, most of them being sold in advance of ripening.

MISS KIRBY TO WHEELER

Miss Lois Kirby has accepted a position as teacher in the science department of Wheeler high school for the coming term. She will also coach basketball in that school.

Mrs. W. T. Wilson, Mrs. Chas. E. Cooke, Mrs. Roy Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hefner, accompanied by Perry Hefner of Skellytown, visited relatives at Frederick, Okla., Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Grogan of Ramsdell visited the lady's sisters, Mrs. J. A. Meador and Mrs. Cleo Edwards, Saturday.

Mrs. Bee Everett and father, Mr. Bryant, are visiting relatives at Brownfield.

T. H. Andrews and family and Mrs. D. L. Abbott returned yesterday from a visit in Louisiana.

Old-timers in Reunion, City Park, Tuesday

What is planned to be an annual affair was begun Tuesday evening when old-timers in McLean met for a six o'clock dinner at the city park in honor of Mrs. Frank Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cash, former McLean residents who were on a visit here from California.

A long table was spread with eatables, and T. A. Landers was asked to give the invocation, after which full justice was done to the fine food furnished by the ladies present.

Visiting and talking of old times was indulged in until a late hour.

The following list of those present and when they came to McLean is not complete. It is courtesy of Mrs. John B. Vannoy, who secured as many names as could be seen before the dinner hour. Many others were present who arrived too late to be included: Mrs. John B. Vannoy, June, 1906; Mrs. J. T. Smith, Jan., 1911; Mrs. Lizzie Easterwood Cunningham, June, 1902; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kunkel, Sept. 1915; Mrs. S. L. Cox, May, 1905; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cheney, Jan., 1911; Helen Simmons, May, 1911; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Jordan, Feb. 1901; Mrs. J. W. Kibler, Feb. 1907; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Johnston, Dec. 1905; Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Davis, Feb. 1912; Mrs. Frank Cooke and Mrs. Viola Cooke Cash Apr. 1904, left for California, 1925; Clyde Cash, Nov. 1900, left for California, 1925; Mrs. Leroy Freeman, Dec. 1900, left in 1913; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cash, May, 1900, left for Amarillo 1923; Mr. and Mrs. Rish Phillips, Jan. 1906; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. —AND SUDDEN DEATH

By F. C. Furnas, in Readers Digest
Publicizing the total of motoring injuries—almost a million last year, with 36,000 deaths—never gets to first base in jarring the motorist into a realization of the appalling risks of motoring.

Figures exclude the pain and horror of savage mutilation—which means they leave out the point. They need to be brought closer home. A passing look at a bad smash or the news that a fellow you had lunch with last week is in a hospital with a broken back will make any driver but a born fool slow down at least temporarily.

Anything can happen in the split second of crash, even those lucky escapes you hear about. People have dived through windshields and come out with only superficial scratches. They have run cars together head on, reducing both to twisted junk, and been found unhurt and arguing bitterly two minutes afterward.

That picture would have to include motion-picture and sound effects, too—the flopping, pointless efforts of the injured to stand up; the queer, grunting noises; the steady, panting groaning of a human being with pain creeping up on him as the shock wears off.

Those are all standard, everyday sequels to the modern passion for going places in a hurry and taking a chance or two by the way. If ghosts could be put to a useful purpose, every bad stretch of road in the United States would greet the oncoming motorist with groans and screams and the educational spectacle of ten or a dozen corpses, all sizes, sexes and ages, lying horribly still on the bloody grass.

Last year a state trooper of my acquaintance stopped a big red Hispano for speeding. Papa was obviously a responsible person, obviously set for a pleasant week end with his family—so the officer cut into papa's well-bred expostulations: "I'll let you off this time, but if you keep on this way you won't last long. Get going—but take it easier."

Maybe it will make you sick at your stomach, too. But unless you're a heavy-footed incurable, a good look at the picture the artist wouldn't dare paint, a first-hand acquaintance with the results of mixing gasoline with speed and bad judgment ought to be well worth your while. I can't help it if the facts are revolting. If you have the nerve to drive fast and take chances, you ought to have the nerve to take the appropriate cure. You can't ride an ambulance or watch the doctor working on the victim in the hospital, but you can read.

The automobile is treacherous, just as a cat is. It is tragically difficult to realize that it can become the deadliest missile. As enthusiasts tell you, it makes 65 feel like nothing at all. But 65 an hour is 100 feet a second, a speed which puts a viciously unjustified responsibility on brakes and human reflexes, and can instantly turn this docile luxury into a mad bull elephant.

Collision, turnover or sideswipe, each type of accident produces either a shattering dead stop or a crashing change of direction—and, since the occupant—meaning you—continues in the old direction at the original speed, every surface and angle of the car's interior immediately becomes a battering, tearing projectile, aimed squarely at you—inescapable. There is no bracing yourself against these imperative laws of momentum.

It's like going over Niagara Falls in a steel barrel full of railroad spikes. The best thing that can happen to you—and one of the rarer things—is to be thrown out as the doors spring open, so you have only the ground to reckon with. True, you strike with as much force as if you had been thrown from the Twentieth Century at top speed. But at least you are spared the lethal array of gleaming metal knobs and edges and glass inside the car.

Anything can happen in the split second of crash, even those lucky escapes you hear about. People have dived through windshields and come out with only superficial scratches. They have run cars together head on, reducing both to twisted junk, and been found unhurt and arguing bitterly two minutes afterward.

On that same curve a month later, a light touring car crashed a tree. In the middle of the front seat they found a nine-months-old baby surrounded by broken glass and yet absolutely unhurt. A fine practical joke on death—but spoiled by the baby's parents, still sitting on each side of him, instantly killed by shattering their skulls on the dashboard.

If you customarily pass without clear vision a long way ahead, make sure that every member of the party carries identification papers—it's difficult to identify a body with its whole face bashed in or torn off. The driver is death's favorite target. If he steering wheel holds together it ruptures his liver or spleen so he bleeds to death internally. Or, if the steering wheel break off, the matter is settled instantly by the steering column's plunging through his abdomen.

By no means do all head-on collisions occur on curves. The modern death-trap is likely to be a straight stretch of road with three lanes of traffic—like the notorious Astor Flats on the Albany Post Road where there have been as many as 27 fatalities in one summer month. This sudden vision of broad, straight road tempts many an ordinarily sensible driver into passing the man ahead. Simultaneously a driver coming the other way swings out at high speed. At the last moment each tries to get in the again, but the gaps are closed as the cars in line are forced into the ditch to capsize or crash fences, the passers meet, almost head on, in a swirling, grinding smash that sends them caroming obliquely into the others.

A trooper described such an accident—five cars in one mess, seven killed on the spot, two more dead on the way to the hospital, two more dead in the long run. He remembered it far more vividly than he wanted to—the quick way the doctor turned away from a dead man to check up on a woman with a broken back; the three bodies out of one car so soaked with oil from the crankcase that they looked like wet brown cigars not human at all; a man, walking around and babbling to himself, oblivious of the danger-like liver of steel that stuck out of his streaming wrist; a pretty girl with her forehead laid open, trying hopelessly to crawl out of a ditch in spite of her smashed hip. A first-class massacre of that sort is only a question of scale and numbers—seven corpses are no deader than one. Each shattered man, woman or child who went to make up the 36,000 corpses chalked up last year had a die a personal death.

A car careening and rolling down a bank, battering and smashing its occupants every inch of the way, can wrap itself so thoroughly around a tree that front and rear bumpers interlock, requiring an acetylene torch to cut them apart. In a recent case of that sort they found the old lady, who had been sitting in back, lying across the lap of her daughter, who was in front, each soaked in her own and the other's blood indistinguishably, each so shattered and broken that there was no point whatever in an autopsy to determine whether it was broken neck or ruptured heart that caused death.

Overturning cars specialize in certain injuries. Cracked pelvis, for instance, guaranteeing agonizing months in bed, motionless, perhaps crippled for life—broken spine resulting from sheer sidewise twist—the minor details of smashed knees and splintered shoulder blades caused by crashing into the side of the car as she goes over with the swirl of an insane roller coaster—and the lethal consequences of broken ribs, which puncture hearts and lungs with their raw ends. The consequent internal hemorrhage is no less dangerous because it is the pleural instead of the abdominal cavity that is filling with blood.

Flying glass—safety glass is by no means universal yet—contributes much more than its share to the spectacular side of accidents. It doesn't merely cut—the fragments are driven in as if a cannon loaded with broken bottles had been fired in your face and a sliver in the eye, traveling with such force, means certain blindness. A leg or arm stuck through the windshield will cut clean to the bone through vein, artery and muscle like a piece of beef under the butcher's knife, and it takes little time to lose a fatal amount of blood under such circumstances. Even safety glass may not be wholly safe when the car crashes something at high speed. You hear picturesque tales of how a flying human body will make a neat hole in the stuff with its read—the shoulders stick—the glass holds—and the raw, keen edge of the hole decapitates the body as neatly as a guillotine.

Or, to continue with the decapitation motif, going off the road into a post-and-rail fence can put you beyond worrying about other injuries immediately when a rail comes through the windshield and tears off your head with its splintery end—not as neat a job but thoroughly efficient. Bodies are often found with their shoes off and their feet all broken out of shape. The shoes are back on the floor of the car, empty and with their laces still neatly tied. That is the kind of impact produced by modern speeds.

Take a look at yourself as the man in the white jacket shakes his head over you, tells the boys with the stretcher not to bother and turns away to somebody else who isn't quite dead yet. And then take it easy.

this spring—thrown clear—but each broke a windshield post with his head in passing, and the whole top of each skull, down to the eyebrows, was missing. Or, snap off a nine-inch tree and get yourself impaled by a ragged branch.

None of all this is scare-fiction; it is just the horrible raw material of the year's statistics as seen in the ordinary course of duty by policemen and doctors, picked at random. The surprising thing is that there is so little dissimilarity in the stories they tell.

It's hard to find a surviving accident victim who can bear to talk. After you come to, the gnawing, searing pain throughout your body is accounted for by learning that you have both collarbones smashed, both shoulder blades splintered, your right arm broken in three places and three ribs cracked, with every chance of bad internal ruptures. But the pain can't distract you as the shock begins to wear off, from realizing that you are probably on your way out. You can't forget that, not even when they shift you from the ground to the stretcher and your broken ribs bite into your lungs and the sharp ends of your collarbones slide over to stab deep into each side of your screaming throat. When you've stopped screaming, it all comes back—you're dying and you hate yourself for it. That isn't fiction either, it's what it actually feels like to be one of that 36,000.

And every time you pass on a blind curve, every time you hit it up on a slippery road, every time you step on it harder than your reflexes will safely take, every time you drive with your reactions slowed down by a drink or two, every time you follow the man ahead too closely, you're gambling a few seconds against this kind of blood and agony and sudden death.

Take a look at yourself as the man in the white jacket shakes his head over you, tells the boys with the stretcher not to bother and turns away to somebody else who isn't quite dead yet. And then take it easy.

NOT SO BAD AT THAT

A government agent was making inquiries as to the crops, so as to make his report to Washington. This is what he asked Farmer Al Falfa:

"Have you got a good crop of wheat this year?"

"Fine," said Al.

"Oats doing well, I presume?"

"A trifle rusty from the rains, but they'll make a good crop, I believe," replied Al.

"I suppose you have curtailed your hog production?"

"Sure," answered Al.

"What crop are you depending on this year for your cash crop?"

"Succotash, mainly," said Al. The man put it down.

HOW TO KEEP COOL

If you were to go to your doctor and ask him how you could keep coolest during the hot summer months he would likely advise you in this way: Avoid all alcoholics. Eat less food than usual, preferably a vegetable and fruit diet. Drink plenty of water and take frequent baths. Don't worry about the heat or how hot you are. If possible, perform only the lighter labors during the worst heat spells. Try to get plenty of restful sleep every night.

Mrs. Smythe-Browne was making the final arrangements for her elaborate reception.

"Bridget," she said to her old servant, "for the first thirty minutes after six o'clock I want you to stand at the drawing-room door and call the guests' names as they arrive."

"Bridget's face lit up.

"Very well, ma'am," she replied. "I've been wantin' to do that to some of your friends for years."

LIQUOR QUEST

"Now that you are here, what are you going to do about his relatives asked."

"I shall study medicine," came a great surgeon, "I shall study medicine."

"The medical profession is crowded already, isn't it?" the relative.

"Can't help that," said the youth. "I shall study and those who are already in the profession will have to make their chances, that's all!"

Hoaxer—"I underwent an operation yesterday."

Easymark—"I hadn't heard of you."

Hoaxer—"Yes, I had. I had moved from my head."

Easymark—"And today you are around and looking can't understand it."

Hoaxer—"I merely had a cold."

Lissen—"Ain't people afraid of you?"

Hurja—"Yes. If you tell them that there are 270,673,328 people in the universe he'll believe it."

"But if a sign says 'Fresh Blood' the same man has to make an investigation."

SPORTS FANS FOLLOW THE AMERICAN BOY

Boys and young men of this city who wish to improve their tennis service, their basket-shooting eyes, their forward passing talent, or their crosse stroke, can enlist the aid of the nation's foremost coaches and players by subscribing to THE AMERICAN BOY magazine...

"When I was in high school," says a famous decathlon champion, "I read a track article in THE AMERICAN BOY that gave me my first clear-cut idea of the western style of high jumping. At practice I laid the open magazine on the grass and studied it as I worked out. That afternoon I increased the height of my jump three inches."

"This year," states Griffith Ogden Ellis, editor, "our staff writers have gone to the two greatest football teams of the country—Minnesota and Pittsburgh—for first-hand tips on strategy, blocking, tackling, passing, and the fine points of play. They have interviewed Jack Medina, the world's fastest swimmer, and his coach, Ray Daughters. Gone to Eastern high school of Washington, D. C., Eastern Interscholastic basketball champions. In the past they have followed the Grapefruit Circuit of the major leagues in Florida, sat on the bench at the Rose Bowl, sought out the famous runners, divers, All-American ends, tackles and backfield men, to bring their story of how to play the game to the young men of America."

"In addition to our fiction, adventure, exploration, hobby counsel, and vocational help, we shall continue to encourage young men to improve their game in every line of sport." BARNABAS

SECRETED MAN OF MEANS

Text Acts 4:36, 37; 11:19-30.
Text: "He was a good man, full of faith and of the Holy Ghost and faith."

Life of Barnabas is seldom mentioned in the Bible. He was mentioned in a passing manner while studying in Antioch. It is refreshing for Sunday school classes to have the opportunity to study this truly great man. The name of Barnabas was given to him by the apostles. In his work as a follower of Christ he came to be called Barnabas. He was a Levite, the only one of that name given in the New Testament. In the beginning of the church the Levites had charge of the property. In the day of Christ they were no more or less of a police force than the Levites of old. His home was in Cyprus and in the northeast Mediterranean sea. It was 110 miles long, and from 30 to 50 miles wide. Cyprus was an island of some wealth because of its copper mines and timber.

Barnabas must have had a good education because he was a Levite. People were likely well to do in his day, and his aunt, the sister of John Mark, was a well-to-do Jerusalem resident. In the Jerusalem of the tribes of Israel the Levites were not given any political office. However, after the restoration of the old law was not strictly observed in this matter. At any rate the property he had, out of private savings.

Barnabas must have been a man of physical characteristics. When Paul was preaching in Lystra the people thought they were the gods. Barnabas was the one who recognized the power of the God who had called him to the New Testament. It may even be possible that he was in Jerusalem before Jesus was crucified and witnessed His sufferings as a follower, since twice (Acts 1:6, 14) he is referred to as an Antiochian. We know that very early in the life of the New Testament church in Antioch Barnabas took a leading part in its financial activities. There were many poor, and Barnabas was one of the first to sell his extensive holdings and to turn the price over to the disciples to be distributed to the needy members of the church. Whether he sold all that he had or not, we do not know, but at least we find him going with Paul to work to help make their way. Following the death of Stephen the members of Christ were scattered. Barnabas went throughout the entire civilized world preaching the Gospel. Churches were organized in many places. Among these was the church in Antioch of Syria, a city of more than one-half million population. The word of this came to Jerusalem and the church there sent Barnabas to see what was going on. In Jerusalem Christians did not believe in preaching the Gospel to the Gentiles. But when Barnabas saw the results, instead of going back to the brethren in Jerusalem, he began preaching himself and stayed in Antioch for a year and a half. It was during this time that more workers were needed and Barnabas felt led to go after Paul. He went to Tarsus and brought the great preacher back. It was here that this time that the followers of Christ were first called Christians. During this revival in Antioch there was a famine in Jerusalem. Barnabas looked up a collection for the relief of the brethren in his native church, and he went with Paul and went with him to Jerusalem. In Jerusalem Paul and Barnabas had a hard time if it had not been for Barnabas. He vouched for Paul so that the disciples received him. The work of the great apostle had thus placed in full recognition among all of the Christians and in all the world.

Barnabas soon again returned with Paul to Antioch. There the Holy Spirit called the two and directed the church at Antioch to send them out through the country as foreign missionaries. This was a very distinct message. The two went on an extended journey. When they returned and began to consider their second journey, they could not agree, and divided; each setting another partner. Barnabas chose his cousin, John Mark. There is no record of their journeys, and yet it seems that there can be no doubt that God blessed them and they won great multitudes to Christ.

Senators Back Down on "Soaking" Small Incomes

NOBODY liked the new tax bill that congress was working on, and the senate finance committee had hard work making up its mind as to the form it would recommend. First it altered almost every provision of the bill passed by the house and changed it from a "soak the rich" measure to one which would soak practically every one. This was done by lowering personal income tax exemptions and starting the surtax increases at $3,000 instead of $50,000. The latter feature was proposed by Senator La Follette and was adopted to keep him in line. Also, the inheritance taxes which President Roosevelt had asked for were eliminated.

Protests against increasing the taxes on little incomes came immediately from senators, representatives and the country at large. Senators Borah of Idaho and Norris of Nebraska were among the "independents" who expressed their disapproval. Mr. Borah especially was vocal in opposition. He could not see the justice or the wisdom of the proposition.

Families with these small incomes are now paying more than their proportionate share of taxes and at the same time are facing higher prices for food, clothes, fuel and rents," he said. So the committee suddenly reversed itself abruptly, rejected the La Follette plan by a vote of 8 to 7, and for the time being at least saved the little incomes and perhaps a lot of house members who hope to be re-elected.

The bill which the committee voted to report contains new provisions to compensate for those eliminated from the house bill and the estimated revenue is only $1,000,000 less. This is divided in the senate bill as follows:

Graduated corporation income tax	$ 60,000,000
Corporation excess profits and capital stock taxes	65,000,000
Inter-corporate dividend taxes	39,000,000
Increased estate taxes with related gift taxes	100,000,000
Increased surtaxes on incomes in excess of $1,000,000	5,000,000
Total	$269,000,000

The bill thus more closely follows the demands of President Roosevelt than the house measure, with the exception of inheritance taxes, which the senate committee eliminated. Even this action was offset by the increase in the existing estate and gift tax rates, expected to bring in $100,000,000.

This action by the senate committee probably means the adjournment of congress will be speeded up. The house is cleaning up its "must" legislation, the ways and means committee having voted to report favorably the Guffey coal bill which would set up a "little NRA" for the bituminous industry. It is generally believed this measure will not stand a test in the Supreme court, but the administration had demanded its enactment nevertheless.

How Social Security Pension System Works

WHEN the President's social security bill was finally enacted into law, the senate adopting the conference report already agreed to by the house, probably many thousands of men and women all over the country began figuring on the pensions they would receive under its terms. It is unlikely that one in a thousand has any clear idea of how the new program's pension system will work, so we reprint here a neat summary prepared by the Associated Press showing its operation as applied to "Bill Jones":

"Suppose young Bill is twenty when the law goes into effect and makes an average monthly salary of $100 until he is sixty-five. He will get a monthly pension, until his death, of $53.75."

"In detail, here is what will happen to him: "In the calendar years 1937, 1938, and 1939 he will pay a salary tax of 1 per cent, or a total of $36 for the three years. In 1940, 1941, 1942 he will pay 1 1/2 per cent, or $54. In 1943, 1944, and 1945 the tax will be 2 per cent, or $72. In 1946, 1947, and 1948 the tax will be 2 1/2 per cent, or $90. From 1949 to 1981, inclusive, the tax will be 3 per cent, or a total of $1,188 for those 33 years."

"Thus, in 45 years, Bill Jones will have paid in $1,440. All the time his employer will have been matching his tax payments, so the total paid to the federal treasury will be $2,880."

"At sixty-five Bill Jones can expect to live perhaps 10 years more. If he does, he will get back $6,450."

"When Bill Jones dies this is what will happen: "His average annual salary will be multiplied by the number of years he paid taxes. In other words, if he dies after he has paid taxes for 45 years, $1,200 will be multiplied by 45—giving a total of $54,000. Arbitrarily, the bill stipulates that Bill Jones' estate shall be entitled to 3 1/2 per cent of that, or $1,890—less any amount he received in pensions before he died."

"If Jones dies before he gets back $1,890 in pensions, what he actually received is deducted from $1,890 and the remainder paid to his heirs. If he lives until he gets back all of the $1,890 and more, his heirs get nothing."

"If Jones should die before he reaches sixty-five, his heirs would be entitled to a payment of 3 1/2 per cent of the total wages on which taxes had been paid."

"For instance, if he died after ten years, he would have paid taxes on $12,000. His heirs would be entitled to 3 1/2 per cent of that, or $420." Senator Clark of Missouri made a brave attempt to save private pension systems, but gave up when the promise was made that house and senate committees will try during the recess to work out a method of preserving such of these as are found worthy. The measure as passed provides for old age security; unemployment insurance, and for financial aid to dependent children, the blind, the crippled, and to public health agencies. It carries appropriations totaling $94,491,000 for the fiscal year 1936 as the government's share of the program. This sum does not include an authorized grant of $4,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936, and $49,000,000 for each subsequent fiscal year to defray the cost of administering one project in the bill.

Farmers Organize Council to Protect Their Rights

FARMERS who believe that their individual rights are being encroached upon by the administration's agricultural policies are offered a chance to get together by the organization and incorporation in Chicago of the Farmers' Independent Council of America. Dan D. Casement, a farmer of Manhattan, Kan., is president of the body. Stanley F. Morse, South Carolina farmer and consulting agriculturist, is executive vice president and Chris J. Abbott, Nebraska stockman and farmer, and Clyde O. Patterson, Illinois Jersey breeder, were incorporators. Dr. Charles W. Burkett, agricultural authority of New York and formerly director of the Kansas agricultural experiment station, and L. G. Tolles, farmer and past master of the Connecticut State Grange, are other vice presidents of the council, and Dr. E. V. Wilcox, representative of the Country Gentleman, District of Columbia, is secretary-treasurer; Fred L. Crawford, Michigan congressman and farm owner; E. E. Dorsett, farmer and past master Pennsylvania State Grange, and Kurt Greenwald, farm manager and agricultural engineer, New York, are directors.

"To me there is but one issue, whether we are going to have a constitutional government or have a dictatorial regime," said Charles E. Collins, Colorado cattleman and president of the American National Live Stock association, regional vice president of the new organization.

G. O. P. Defeats New Dealers in Rhode Island Election

REPUBLICAN leaders throughout the country were immensely heartened—probably too much so—by the result of the by-election in the First district of Rhode Island. Charles F. Risk, Republican, and determined opponent of the New Deal, defeated Antonio Prince, Democrat, by nearly 13,000 votes, capturing the seat in congress which Francis B. Condon, Democrat, resigned to go on the State Supreme court. The reversal was so decisive that the Republicans hailed it as a clear indication that President Roosevelt would be defeated for re-election. Representative B. H. Snell of New York, minority leader, made a speech about it in the house in which he said: "This is the first time the people of any part of the country have had an opportunity to pass on the reckless and extravagant expenditures of the administration. They have passed upon it in a very decisive manner. The election shows the people are beginning to think. The handwriting is on the wall. From now on we will witness similar rejections by the citizenry of the New Deal program."

Hoover Demands Showdown From the Administration FORMER PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER, traveling from California to New York, stopped in Chicago long enough to issue a challenge to the Roosevelt administration and a call on the President for a showdown as to his policy on changing the Constitution. He declared the American people have a right to know what alterations in the basic law the administration proposes to make.

"The time has come," he said, "when these full purposes should be disclosed. The people should now be told openly the specific words of the exact amendment that these gentlemen want so that the people can consider and themselves determine it. That is their right."

Fall Styles Highspot Silk Suits

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

HERE'S news as is real style news—silk suits for autumn "firsts." According to the Concours d'Elegance, in the morning and the Prix des Drags in the afternoon (the two most elegant displays of clothes in the grand fortnight of Paris racing) the emphasis is on silks of every description.

The couture is dividing attention between rich heavy types of silk and the light sheers which are so happily wearable during the milder mid-season days. Among the silks which have attained prominence in the early showings silk serge is outstanding. A heavily crinkled silk taffeta is also launched. Then there are such interesting silks as satin-faced silk alpaca for street dresses and silk gabardine, and that which is most interesting, a collection of silks which look almost as if they were wool but which are in reality "pure silk." It is needless to say that these heavier silks tailor superbly and are ideal for the autumn suit. The fall feeling is stimulated with details of luxurious furs and a wealth of costume jewelry together with touches of exquisite lace, all of which forecasts the coming season as one of elegance in dress.

Just to give some idea of the smart and active doling going on in the realm of silks we are grouping in our illustration reproductions of a few snapshots taken at random of models recently displayed in the French couture showing held by the International silk guild.

To the left, a charming afternoon suit made of sherritone silk with a mat surface, has a three-quarter jacket. Flowers lined with brown leather are at the neck. Petal pieces at the hemline of both coat and skirt carry out the floral motif. Fitch-dyed sable makes the collar and cuffs. A second view of this smart outfit is given below to the left.

The model centered below assures us that silk taffeta will continue to rustle this fall. This stunning outfit is of black taffeta in a faconne dot. It boasts a sealskin capelet collar. The jacket and skirt feature inverted pleats at the back.

Novelty silk crepe in a rich green, cushions the suit to the right above. Points of interest are the collarless jacket and the graceful three-quarter sleeves. Just below, this same suit is pictured with different hat and gloves. The fact that mildly is wearing long suede gloves is survival as a fore-runner of their survival this fall.

In the new silks the rich colors of the Italian renaissance are given prominence. Vivid clear reds, deep purples, hunter and olive greens, warm browns, all are represented. The use of black is also encouraged, in most instances with a vivid contrast touch to enliven it.

In three-piece suits loose jackets and pleated skirts, also the many gored skirt with contrasting blouses, are in the lead. Afternoon dresses feature long slender lines with lavish use of dressmaker detail. Evening gowns that are draped in Hindu or Greek fashion, with slenderness somehow preserved, are the favorites and the new supple crepes and silks yield admirably to this treatment. Just now all white with gold accessories reflecting Greek classic influence is a favorite theme with smart Parisiennes for evening. A very striking feature in connection with evening gowns is the wide brilliant sashes that are being worn.

MORE TAFFETA

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

With the rustling of fall leaves comes the rustle of more taffeta. Which is to say that taffeta is listed high among vogueish silks for the new season. To vouchsafe the message of taffeta for fall comes this striking evening ensemble from Paris, to enter in a showing here in America to a select clientele. It is of steel gray silk taffeta. An intricately worked skirt fullness develops into an imposing train. Rows and rows of stitching border the cape edge, the full collar and form the belt. The cape and dress both have neckline ruffles of green silk taffeta. Matching capes are going to be more in fashion than ever.

WOOL-LIKE SILKS POPULAR FOR FALL

Silks resembling wools are important. This is the first year that the texture of these fabrics has been perfected, giving them the depth and heavy "hand" of wools and at the same time the lightness and luxury characteristics of quality silks. They lend themselves beautifully to tailoring and the dressmaker detail of the prevailing mode and are ideal choices for early autumn costumes where a "fall" look but cool texture is still desired. Later they may be worn in steam-heated rooms with the perfect comfort demanded by the American woman.

The outstanding types are in very high twist, novelty constructions, both sides of the silk dull. Many are in heavy sheer constructions. Some have very flat finishes, continuing the surface influence of the taffetas and chiffons.

Wool-like silks are being shown in the early American design collections for jacket suits and tailored dresses and some evening gowns. They are being made up in evening gowns and fur-trimmed suits.

Silk Alpaca Is Revived in First Autumn Collections

Among the fabric revivals deserving of favorable comment is silk alpaca, a fabric so old it is new again. It is appearing in the first autumn collections now being shown and gives lively promise. It seems particularly ideal for the two-piece dress—whether jacket or skirt—and is just the sort of silken calls for a "going away gown" or is a solo expedition.

From behind the scenes in showrooms it seems there is the possibility of the contrastless costume. It has been such a long time since women chose to wear monotonous that it seems about time to stop playing with color schemes.

BRISBANE THIS WEEK

Nobody Was Frozen One Strike Subsides The Emperor Has Lions 1,000,000 Tiny Pigs

Several have written to this column offering to let themselves be "frozen stiff and then returned to life" in the interest of science, as suggested by a Los Angeles chemist, R. S. Willard. They will be sorry to hear that the American Medical Association calls Mr. Willard's alleged freezing "a vicious hoax."

It accuses Willard of freezing a dead monkey and then substituting a live one, supposed to have been frozen and thawed out.

Doctor Fishbeln, editor of the American Medical Association journal, says anybody frozen stiff would surely die. It was an interesting yarn while it lasted.

New York's strike of union men against President Roosevelt, General Johnson and the WAP ("Works Progress Administration") seems temporarily to have collapsed. Mr. Meany, New York labor leader, said all union men would go out and stay out and nonunion men would follow. The news is that the nonunion men did not follow, and the union men went back to work.

Robert Moses of the park department, who employs 25,000 workers on park projects, reports only 110 deserters.

An interesting photograph from Addis Ababa shows two servants of the Ethiopian emperor, riding on lions. One female, one male, in the palace garden. The emperor's lions are trained in this fashion for use as "watch dogs." You can easily believe that intruders "keep out."

For war purposes, however, lions are not particularly valuable. Tear gas and deadly poisonous gas would discourage the lions, as they would men, and lions cannot jump as high as an airplane.

In Chicago's stockyards half the hog pens are closed, prices are soaring, men have lost jobs, all for lack of hogs to push around and butcher. The yards are suffering.

And only a little while ago an earnest government, determined to help the farmer and promote prosperity, was butchering tens of thousands of "farrow sows" to get rid of them before their little pigs could be born. "Too many little pigs will make too many big pigs," said the government. You can imagine the ghosts of a million pigs floating over the stockyards, squeaking in their baby voices, "We told you so."

War talk continues. Mussolini announces a new air weapon "overwhelmingly powerful," but does not say what it is. Plain TNT and poison gas are powerful enough.

Hiller, announcing that his country is "ready to meet any outside peril," adds: "No power on earth can attack us." That seems a little overconfident.

A prosaic financial telegram suggests that the public debt of Germany has been increased by 20,000,000,000 marks. That might represent an interior enemy of considerable proportions.

Uncle Sam, with all his spending, makes a little something for himself. His money-issuing privileges, paper dollars worth about 50 cents, and silver coins containing less than half their value in silver, have given the treasury a profit of about $3,000,000,000.

And at this moment it does not appear to have hurt anybody. Who understands money?

Stocks are better, prices higher, in London and in Wall Street. The London Daily Mail says: "A stock exchange boom seems to do more for world trade than anything. The reason is that it gives confidence everywhere."

Strange and powerful is "confidence." You cannot see it, feel it, weigh it, but you can easily destroy it.

Lovely woman, led by Paris fashion designers, is still trying to find out what she really wants. Universal Service dispatches from Paris describe "dresses as transparent as lace curtains from the knee down; skin-tight evening gowns with cut-out designs as big as elm leaves from under the arms to the hip-line. Cape coats of white fur, slit wide open on both sides." One brand.

When will women settle down finally to some one style, as men have done?

Interesting items in taxation news. For instance, government will collect income tax on "public relief." If your generous Uncle Sam gives you $94 a month, the amount that unions now spurn, he will take back $13.12 in income tax.

That seems like giving your little boy a stick of candy and biting off the end of it.

UNIQUE HOBBIES BEING PURSUED BY COLLECTORS

When an old man died in his large boxes full of tram tickets from nearly every tram line in the world. For 20 years he collected every variety of tram ticket he could find, and these he sorted in alphabetical groups according to the cities they came from. That old man and his board tram tickets is by no means the case on record of strange hobbies invented by ingenious people to their leisure hours.

In the case of a well-known K railway tickets are the great attraction—he is reputed to possess more than 20,000. First numbers of newspapers and magazines form a valuable collection that he prizes highly. Incidentally, a number of people make it a practice to keep copies of papers in which momentous events are given.

A London man who was an amateur theatergoer had a whole library of theater programs—souvenirs. Each had been seen. Each had remarks carefully noted in the margin. His collection was so complete that if you mentioned the name of an actress he could tell you in a minute all the plays she had appeared in since her rise to fame.

Stranger still was the hobby of a sailor. During a storm in the Pacific some flying fish struck the deck of the ship and fell upon the deck. The sailor, who was slight and cook, had the idea of starting an aquarium on board, and every time he washed up or caught alive he put into a big tank.

Unfortunately for him, fish caught in the Pacific ocean stand little chance in a European winter, and a week of snow in the Thames killed them all.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria! Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tannic quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been a relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any drug store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2 1/2 times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

Quick, Pleasant Successful Elimination

Let's be frank—there's only one way for your body to rid itself of the waste material that causes acidity, gas, headaches, bloated feelings and a dozen other discomforts. Your intestines must function and the way to make them move quickly, pleasantly, successfully, without gripping or harsh irritants is to chew a Milsesin Wafer thoroughly. In accordance with directions on the bottle or tin, then swallow.

Milsesin Wafers, pure milk of magnesia in tablet form, each equivalent to a tablespoon of liquid milk of magnesia, correct acidity, bad breath, flatulence, at their source, and enable you to have the quick, pleasant, successful elimination so necessary to abundant health.

Milsesin Wafers come in bottles at 50c and 60c or in convenient tins at 20c. Recommended by thousands of physicians. All good druggists carry them. Start using these pleasant tasting effective wafers today.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as nature intended—fail to remove impurities but poison the system when they do.

Then you may suffer from nagging back-ache, dizziness, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen limbs, feel nervous, miserable—all upset.

Don't delay! Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are especially for poorly functioning kidneys. They are recommended by grateful users of the country over. Get them from any druggist.

SEEN IN HOLLYWOOD

Adjusting an Artificial Eyelash.

Says WILL ROGERS

BEVERLY HILLS.—Well, all I know is just what I read in the papers. And plenty in the paper the other day. There is a paper got out in Detroit, Michigan. Its called the "Legal Record". It says its a paper dedicated to the interests of the legal profession. That dedication thats printed on its front page in big type shows that its a paper that has nothing to do with news, or facts, and I like the honesty of it. It tells you right off to take nothing but the lawyer's side. (For there aint any other side.)

Well the headline as follows to wit, habus corpus, nolle prose, change of venue as follows: "The legal profession as a humorist sees it". Written by a man who signs his name as O. Z. Ide. Now I am not a sort of a lawyer detecting things, but one man writes all thats in a paper, and this only had three pages outside of legal notices, why naturally he has got to make it look like he had quite a staff, so he does like these big holding companies did when they were sending wires to help them keep on holding, why they signed any name they could think of. Now there aint no man named O. Z. Ide. He is as synthetic as the article.

Here is what Ozie said: "While the American Bar Association was in session in L. A. last week some of our opinion moulding dailies carried a syndicated article by Will Rogers." Yes some of em did, 650 of em did. But lets get on: "Before the criminal is tried the defense consul should stand trial to see if there was anything against him." Mr. Rogers indicated further that this was the big question before the convention, and that everything else paled into insignificance before this tremendous issue.

Well now lets take up the issues one by one. In the first place if there had been no truth at all in the statement I made there would never have been any yell about it. Now as to it being the dominant question, Mr. Rogers didnt say that it was the dominant question, he said that it should be the dominant question. In other words the lawyers would give their eye to have the thing cleaned up, and they will admit that it would be of more benefit to their profession to have the crooks driven out than to have done any other thing.

Now here is a thing, I am in the movies. When there was so much talk of cleaning up the movies, there wasent a lawyer, or any other profession but what said, "Why dont they clean those things up? My wife and children cant go to see em."

Now you offered an opinion in my business, but the minute a comedian offers an opinion in your business, I am out of place. Your business is sacred and no one should mention it only in the highest terms. The movies cleaned up and they didnt write editorials against the lawyers for saying they should. If all lawyers are not honest how are clients to tell when they might go to a had one more than a movie fan might go to a bad movie?

Get this: "We have always appreciated Mr. Rogers but because of his droll ill-advised remarks we find our enthusiasm begging to yell."

In other words, I was funny when the joke was on the other fellow, but any about me is ill-advised, and dont yell at all.

Get this one: "There was a time a few years back when a dig at the lawyers at the Bijou Theatre was a sure fire laugh, but now even the so-called humorists have sensed the distaste in the mouths of the public for such efforts at humor."

Well I wish he could have read a "so-called humorist's" mail. Never did I have so much approving mail on one article, and not a half dozen dissenting ones, and they were from lawyers. Every laymen approved. It batted about 98 percent. I wish I could think of something else as true and as good. Some of my very best friends are lawyers, and are yet, but they dont think their fraternality is some almighty deity. The big gest part of the lawyers are regular guys the same as most of them are honest and high type in their profession, but they know there is undesirable among them, and they are not going to faint when its mentioned.

My little movies have been fairly clean, but when the well-chosen roar against pictures come, I didnt get sore, and rise on my hind legs and write any editorials. I knew it was coming to us and took it in good faith for I knew in the long run it would do good, and if this old boy dont think that the audience will still laugh at the lawyer at the Bijou Theatre just let him book me for a lecture on lawyers at the Bijou, and come and sit and listen at the Bijou, and the banker, the lawyer, and to em roar. The banker, the lawyer, and the politician are still our best bets for a laugh. Audiences havent changed at all, and neither has the three above professions.

DIETARY HABITS NEED FOSTERING EARLY IN CHILD

Nothing is quite so important to health as food. The wellbeing of a child depends on it, and his future stamina will reflect nutritive discrepancies in babyhood.

The mother who thinks that there is time enough ahead for corrective diet is laboring under a traditional delusion that up until two years of age and sometimes longer, milk is the sum total of everything.

Milk is the warp and the woof of what it takes to get through life, and especially at its beginning. But it needs supplementing, because its chemistry is low in a few needed essentials and the child, set in his all-milk diet, resists other foods.

Doctors Prescribe Varied Foods.

Doctors long ago recognized the value of adding other foods to the diet of milk, early in babyhood, in order to offset future finicky appetites. Thus the infant of six weeks gets his cod-liver oil and orange juice or tomato juice; a little later a spoonful or two of prepared vegetable juice or even the strained vegetable itself. At a period that in the past would have been considered murderous he gets his bit of cereal, part of the yolk of an egg, a snack of baked potato and mashed stewed fruit.

Whatever today's baby is given, should, of course, be absolutely under the doctor's direction. There is a difference in babies.

But the great truth that many mothers do not know is that children with touchy appetites at six or eight or ten years of age, are the results of fixed preference in babyhood.

Caution Must Be Exercised.

Another thing that should be remembered is that as milk must be the alpha and omega of his meal, therefore the amounts of other food given must not be so great that the willingness to take milk is decreased.

The doctor will give you lists and schedules for feeding. My suggestions here are only for one purpose. That is to show "why" and "how" aversions to needed foods are started. Food habits, which mean flavor habits, have to be cultivated early.

Let It Pass
Best remedy for worry is forgetfulness. Cultivate it.

Women Are Less Liked by Men Than in Former Years

We are in the middle years of a woman's generation which was vigorous with hopes and intentions of accomplishments, electric with desire to be worth something to the world, ambitious to have women of equal stature with the men who were their husbands and companions.

The original plan, we must remember, was never to incur the resentment of men. Women felt very sure that such resentment and antagonism as they encountered in their first efforts was the result of shock and would be transient; they expected that a few years of accomplishment would do away with it.

There has been much accomplishment, the best of it unfortunately concentrated in the hands of a comparatively few women, and more than a few years have passed. But the resentment of men has not disappeared. Quietly it has grown and deepened. They are no longer angry as they were in the beginning when women did unaccustomed or conspicuous things. Men love individual women as passionately as they ever have, but in the aggregate they seem to like women less. Young girls, married women, working women and the widows all come in for a share of this general criticism.—Margaret Culkin Banning in Harper's Magazine.

All Understand
You can't dismiss the human race simply by calling it slow in understanding.

MOTORCYCLE PAINTS MARKER

Painting traffic markers as it moves along the street or highway, a motorcycle with a sidecar is being used for painting and renewing the white road lines in an English city. Inside the sidecar is a tank from which a canvas-covered wheel takes up the paint. The wheel is lowered on the road and rotated by the movement of the cycle, thus spreading a white line. A revolving brush sweeps away dust and dirt.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—W.S.W. Service.
Hollywood had only 300 people and not even a "nickelodeon," pioneering actors rented an old barn there and beamed a film "The Squaw Man." Armed with rifles, they dashed through dusty streets, "Start the rain!"
In another scene, horses hauled a sleigh across a "snow field" made of half-baked cornflakes. Being yellow, they photographed white. At the same time a battery of 20 huge motor-propellers at one side of the field blew the air thick with cornflakes, making a "blizzard." During a pause in the work one horse got at a big bag of extra cornflakes, overate, was found, and a movie veterinarian had to give first aid. Just then an actor, bundled up to face the "cold," got a sunstroke!
Among strange sights here is an Eskimo village with igloos, ice fields, and all. Five hundred men used tons of white plaster to make this set. It saves the cost of sending actors up North.
Realism of "Berlin."
"Berlin" was only about 150 feet from "Mexico" on the Universal lot. "Rain" poured down in Berlin street, where actors in "Little Man, What Now?" walked along in raincoats, carrying umbrellas; cab horses pawed the water, and boys pedaled along on glistening wet bicycles. From out in the dry a director called his orders.
For verisimilitude an exact model of a Berlin street car, all painted with bona fide names and numbers, clattered along under its own power. About a kiosk, or newsstand, draped with illustrated German weeklies, a group of old German types recruited from Los Angeles lodging houses talked in German about German politics.
Barely a stone's throw away, on another "set," a cowboy actor, the idol of small boys the world over, was struggling through Mexican border brush a few jumps ahead of a Texas sheriff.
Any kind of scenery desired, from Alpine to Sahara, can be found or easily manufactured somewhere in southern California.
To film an Australian drama, some rolling plains were wanted like the terrain near Melbourne, where the principal action of the story took place. They were found in Los Angeles county.
Sometimes, however, nature plays a joke. One scene interrupted the shooting of some rain where were used big leafless gum trees. Two weeks later, when the actors went back to complete that scene, the trees had leafed out. In order to match the old setting, the trees had to be picked like chickens, which made a two days' job for 20 men.
From snow scenes in mountains back of Hollywood to seaside set-ups is only a three hours' drive. "Covered Way on" was filmed on a ranch near Burbank, now seldom used because two air lines fly over it and the roar of planes spoils sound effects.
Near Santa Monica is an almost perfect bit of Cuba.
About Oxnard is a made-to-order Sahara. The "Alps" are in San Bernardino county, and the fisherman's village on the Los Angeles harbor has long been pictured as "Southern Italy," often being pictured as "Southern Italy."
Orders for the Property Man.
One company has its own hand-made jungle in which wild-animal scenes are filmed. Under jungle trees life nets are used in case of accidental falls by "wild men" and others who leap from tree to tree.
An odd order for one picture called for "5,000 moths and 200 cockroaches." In "Stingaree," a tale of Australia in 1870, the background included bull carts, dingoes, and even a kookaburra bird, or "laughing jackass," all brought from Australia to give faithful local color.
The "dud" enacted his own comedy role by sitting in a tree and insulting the players with his raucous "raspberry" cry.
In making an American "tackie" of life in 1800, more than 6,000 separate items, with hoopskirts, ruffled pant-lettees, bustles, wall paper, and top booties of that period, had to be duplicated after painstaking research. More than 4,000 people, drawn from almost every profession, craft, and trade in America, were employed before this picture was finished.

Household Hints

By Betty Webster

Before school actually begins is the time to look over the school wardrobe and remodel and replenish when necessary. Probably the best way to do this is to start with the underclothing. The light weight things will be worn for the first month or so anyway. The various pieces will surely need new buttons, ribbons or snaps, and a few stitches here and there, for it seems that vacation time is unusually hard on the most carefully tended clothes.
 It is a good plan to sort the things and arrange them in piles according to the type of mending needed. If any new things are to be purchased start a list to which you can add as necessary. Stockings, dresses and suits can be handled in the same way as the undergarments. The shoes, too, ought to be examined and repaired and a hat or two provided for cool days to come.
 By thus systematizing this task it is surprising how simple the work becomes.

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

1. The secret of crisp succulent salads lies in having the salad materials fresh and cold?
2. Dressing should never be combined with the salad mixture until just before serving as it tends to wilt the vegetable and salad greens?
3. A lump of soda dissolved in the bluing water will prevent the bluing from marking the clothes?
4. If the measuring cup is dipped in hot water before measuring mollasses or thick syrups they will pour more easily?
5. In making berry pie, if the lower crust is buttered before putting in the berries you will not be troubled with a soaked crust?
6. Lettuce can be crisped by washing in cold water, wrapping in a cloth and placing in the refrigerator for a couple of hours before using?
7. Soup is an element of supreme

Texas voters have the repu-

 a rule, and this year it looks as if it might be a safe rule to follow with the ones submitted

Happiness can be made largely a matter of habit. Abe Lincoln once said: "I have noticed that folks are generally about as happy as they have made up their minds to be."
 Most of us need a little preaching of this kind occasionally.

No mere "soak the rich" program of taxation will ever collect enough money to meet the present rate of public expenditures. Every person will have to be taxed the limit above bare subsistence if we keep on spending money. Some have predicted that within the next five years the United States will enjoy the distinction of being one of the most heavily taxed nations of the world.

Sam M. Braswell, former editor of the Clarendon News, has bought the Longmont Ledger,
 in Boulder county, Colorado.

Longmont is the old home of the McLean News editor and the Ledger is one of the oldest papers of that section, having been established in 1879. Longmont is a city of some 7,000 people, near Estes Park.

We hope Sam likes it out there, but we guess he will miss the people of the Panhandle for the rest of his life, if he tries to stay up there.

According to census figures,
 there are 1,930 families in Gray county who are living in homes they own or are trying to pay out. There are 424 persons in the county who are over the age of 65, most of whom would not care to become wards of the government under a pension plan, if it would have to be paid by others who are trying to own their homes, yet this is what an excessive pension plan would mean.

Not one of us but would like to see some adequate way of taking care of the aged, but the idea of riches at the expense of others cannot be endorsed by many of us.

It is said that Charles Lamb,
 while walking with a friend, pointed to a man on the other side of the street and said: "See that man? Well, I hate him."
 The friend was shocked, for Lamb was a gentle soul. "Why do you hate him?" he asked.
 "Because I do not know him.
 You cannot hate anyone you know," was the answer.

How many times have we proven this true in our own lives? How much better it would be for all of us, if in place of going on in our dislikes we would try to get better acquainted with the fellow we do not like. When we come to know his problems better we generally find that he is very human after all.

BET AND CUCUMBER SALAD

Dice cold cooked beets and cucumber and marinate in French dressing until ready to serve. Drain and serve on a bed of crisp lettuce leaves topped with a spoonful of mayonnaise.

CHICKEN CREOLE

Half fill a buttered baking dish with diced chicken in a highly seasoned cream sauce. Spread an inch thick layer of cooked hominy over this and arrange tiny cooked pork sausages on top. Set in a hot oven for a few minutes. Garnish with sliced stuffed olives and serve.

CHICKEN HYERES

Place two thin slices of bacon crosswise on rounds of hot buttered toast.
 Arrange on each a serving of fried chicken and top with thin slices of tomato dipped in French dressing.
 Garnish with rounds of fried hominy and little piles of asparagus. Pour melted butter around.

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY IS GENERALLY THE WORKSHOP OF THE NATIVE

THIS EASY-TO-MAKE DESIGN IS POPULAR

PATTERN 2327

Anne Adams 2327

Ordinarily it is much more difficult for the heavier figure to present the same graciously feminine appearance as her slim sister achieves! But not when our stylist sets out to design a thoroughly feminine but neatly tailored afternoon frock! Witness the result. First see how trim the neck and skirt details are. Then, how simply feminine softness is gathered into the yoke. Now note the extremely simple cut of the yoke and cape and the graceful, flattering fall of the cape itself. If capes haven't come to your rescue before, you can make no better start than here and now! Sheer cotton or silk—as you like!

Pattern 2327 is available in sizes 16, 18, 20, 24, 30, 36, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 takes 3 3/4 yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

SEND FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to the Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

THE COST OF SICKNESS

According to reliable insurance statistics 3% of the population of the United States are sick at any and all times. The average time spent in bed, as a result of illness, by every person in the country, is ten days. Multiplying this by the number of people in the United States, we have the enormous total of 1,200,000,000 days spent in pain and discomfort, with nothing produced and double expenses.

In other words, during each year an aggregate of 4,000,000 years of incapacity are distributed among our people. If one person had to bear the entire sickness burden of the nation he would be obliged to live 4,000,000 years, every day spent in illness.

The average annual cost of illness for each family in the United States is $80. If this cost were borne by one individual his doctor bill for the year would be $2,000,000,000. Fortunately, this sum, like the days spent in sickness, is distributed among the 25,000,000 families in the country.

Would Need an Army of Doctors
Assuming that one man did live and bear all the suffering, and assuming that the average professional life of a doctor is forty years, he would require the services of 100,000 doctors. Some of these latter figures are, of course, absurdly impossible, but they do serve to show more pointedly the enormous toll collected by illness. Conversely, it becomes apparent what a wonderful world this would be if sickness could be entirely eliminated. The saving in time and money, which could then be diverted into useful channels, would bring about a millennial transformation in human life.

Some day this ideal will be reached. The time will come when human beings will have learned to live in a manner that will be a guarantee of 200 years of life spent in uniformly good health. It will mean the banishment of all bacterial forms of life. It will make necessary a mode of living almost diametrically opposed to that which we indulge in this day and age. Hereditary influences and environment factors must be readjusted. That will take thousands of years to accomplish but it will be done.

THE TWO GLASSES— WINE AND WATER

There sat two glasses filled to the brim
On a rich man's table, rim to rim.
One was red and red as blood,
The other as clear as a crystal flood.
Said the glass of wine to his paler brother:
"Let's tell tales of the past to each other.
I can tell of a banquet of revel and mirth
Where I was king, for I ruled in mirth;
From the heads of kings I have torn the crown,
From the heights of fame I have hurled men down.
I have blasted many an honored name,
I have taken virtue and given shame,
I have tempted the youth with a sip, a taste,
That has made his future a barred waste.
Far greater than any king am I,
Or than any army beneath the sky.
I have made the arm of the driver

fail,
That sent the train from the iron rail;
I have made good ships go down at sea
And the shrieks of the lost were sweet to me.
Fame, Strength, Wealth, Genius, before me fall;
My might and power are over all.
Ho, ho, pale brother," said the wine,
"Can you boast of deeds as great as mine?"
Said the glass of water: "I cannot boast
Of a king dethroned, or murdered host,
But I can tell of hearts that were sad
By my crystal drops made bright and glad;
O, thirsts I have quenched and brows I have bathed,
Of hands I have cooled and souls I have saved.
I have leaped thru the valley, dashed down the mountain;
I sleep in the sunshine and drip from the fountain;
I burst my clead fetters and dropped from the sky
And everywhere gladdened the prospect and eye.

I have made the parched meadows grow fertile with grain,
I can tell of the powerful wheel at the mill
That ground out the flour and turned at my will.
I can tell of manhood debased by you
That I have uplifted and crowned anew.
I cheer, I help, I strengthen and aid,
I gladden the heart of man and maid;
I have set the wine chamber captive free,
And all are better for knowing me."
These are the tales they told each other,
The glass of wine and his paler brother,
As they sat together filled to the brim
On a rich man's table, rim to rim.

BAPTIST MEN TO TWITTY
By Reep Landers, Publicity Chm.
The monthly meeting of the laymen of the North Fork Baptist Association will be held at Twitty Tuesday, night, Aug. 27th.
An interesting program of talks and special music has been arranged.

The Vicar—"And so your daughter is about to marry. Do you really feel that she is ready for the battle of life?"
Mrs. Jones—"She should be. She's been in four engagements already."
Employer—"Ephram, you deserve a better salary."
Ephram—"Oh, thank you, sir."
Employer—"So I'm giving you a week off to go out and get somebody else to give it to you, for I can't."

Insky—"Never count your chickens before they are hatched."
Outsky—"Yes. You are one of those fellows who would take the chief pleasure out of the poultry business."
Eggs are about 65% water.

WHEN BLISS IS BLISTER

"If ignorance is bliss," said she. To him, "well, then, my boy, 'd better get your life insured—You're apt to die of joy."

Mrs. Jawish—"Does your husband wear his hair short?"
Mrs. Peck—"Yes — the miserable coward!"

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Crisp, Mr. and Mrs. Enloe Crisp and their families of Alameda visited in New Mexico last week.

We're the smartest when there is some doubt in our minds as to whether we are so at all.

Professor (after a very bad recitation)—"Class is dismissed. Don't flap your ears as you go out."

The greatest discovery a man can make in life is his own limitations.
Clay Cooper of Canyon visited his mother, John, Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Cooke of California is visiting relatives and friends here.

Father—"Sonny, why don't you get the habit of going to the dictionary when you want to know how to spell a word?"
Sonny—"I do sometimes—but somehow the dictionary always has it wrong."

Uncle Eli says some people's meddlesome efforts are like those of a dog chasing his tail. It gets them dizzy, but gets them nowhere.

Srb—"I never argue with my wife."
Drdla—"Same here. I always plead guilty and take a light sentence."

NO FEDERAL DOLE AFTER FALL

Federal doles until fall and then all destitute persons not mentally or physically capable of accepting work under the government work-relief program will be forgotten by the federal government.

Many of the states seem to be just about as firmly resolved that they shall not assume the responsibility as Hopkins is that they shall. They display their empty coffers and quote President Roosevelt's campaign promise that "no one shall starve."

MEN MAKE WOMEN HYSTERICAL

Dr. Glehm, of the Zepernick Sanatorium in Germany, claims he has discovered what makes women hysterical. The cause of their hysteria, he says, is "henpecked husbands."

CHEMISTRY OF A GIRL'S FACE

When men are charmed by the beautiful features of a pretty girl's face few of them realize as does the chemist that they are being enthralled by a mere 61 grams of water, 0.7 of albumin and globulin, 0.16 of mucoid, 0.34 of elastin, 33.2 of collagen, 0.032 of phosphates, 0.761 of fats, 0.45 of common salt, 0.04 of potassium chloride, 0.01 of lime, and minute quantities of magnesium oxide, iron oxide, aluminum oxide and sulphur.

Government Investigator—"So you are married. Why I ask you how old your wife is?"

Victim—"Certainly you may ask me. You may as her, too—but I don't want to be around when you do it. I never could stand the sight of blood."

Fresh fruit juice, coffee or tea stains can be removed by placing the stained portion of the material over a receptacle and pouring boiling water through it from a height. Then wash in warm suds, rinse and dry in sun.

Political Orator—"And now, is there anyone in the audience who would like to ask a question?"

Voice—"Yes, sir. How soon is the band going to play?"

Traffic Cop—"Use your noodle, lady! Use your noodle!"

Lady—"My goodness! Where is it? I've pushed and pulled everything in the car."

Burners on gas ranges should be washed at least once a month with boiling water and soda.

A teaspoonful of ammonia added to a quart of water will remove all grease and dirt from combs and brushes.

Curtains are things which are hung in a window to keep the neighbors from seeing you watch them.

More than 216 persons lost their lives in Fourth of July accidents this year.

"The automobile approached the coroner at 60 miles an hour—"

SHRUBS ADD TO APPEARANCE

A great deal of attractiveness is added to the home and other buildings if they are "tied to the ground" by planting shrubbery about the foundations. These not only hide the often unsightly foundations but give the house a cozy and natural appearance.

QUICKSAND DOESN'T PULL

It is commonly believed that a person trapped in quicksand is sucked downward to his doom. However, there is no force other than gravity and his own efforts to escape that cause him to sink and suffocate.

Post Office Department officials kick because proud parents of new-born babies usually paste one-cent instead of the required three-cent stamps on birth announcement cards.

No one can realize what eternity really is; but the fellow who pays a dollar down and a dollar a week has a pretty fair idea.

"I wonder why so many marriages are failures?"

"It must be because so many inexperienced people go into it."

The longer we live the longer we hope to live, and the more we learn the less we know we know.

The joke is on the neighbor's chickens when you fail to plant a garden.
