McCreary Found Dead at Amarillo

J. E. McCreary, 63, was found dead in a rocky canyon two miles west of Amarillo, Friday afternoon of last week.

Mr. McCreary had been missing from his home here since Dec. 17. His body was found by two small boys here it had apparently fallen from the wall of a 20-foot precipice and had about 60 feet from the steep slope.

Mr. McCreary moved to McLean in 1913. He worked as a farmer until 1923, when he moved to town and worked as a teamster. In 1933 he joined the WPA forces here.

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist Church here Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Troy A. Amrall of the First Baptist Church, Lubbock, pastor.

Survivors include his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Roy Bird of Amarillo, Mrs. Jack Clay of Lubbock; a sister, Mrs. E. W. Bowen of McLean; and a brother, L. M. McCreary of Royce City.

Burial was made in Alameda cemetery beside a son and daughter who preceded him in death.

Candidate for reelection to the office of District Attorney.

CRAYER REELECTED STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEEMAN

C. A. Crayer superintendent of the McLean schools, was reelected to the state executive committee of the Northwest Texas Conference for Education, that met at Canyon last week.

Mr. Crayer had a part as a speaker on the two-day program.

County Superintendent W. B. Weathered was reelected as vice president of the conference.

STUDY CLUB MEETS AT ALANREED

Alanreed, March 12.—The Alanreed 20th Century Study Club met in the home of Mrs. F. Stubbs Wednesday of last week.

A book review, "The Tell of Time," was given by Mrs. Marvin Hall.

Refreshments of jello, coffee and cake were served to the following members: Mesdames T. E. Crisp, P. R. Crisp, J. A. Sanders, W. A. Glass, Marvin Hall, J. M. Tidwell, Martin Bilderback and F. Stubbs.

BRALY FOR DIST. ATTORNEY

Clifford Braly, district attorney, has authorized the News to announce his candidacy for reelection in the 31st judicial district comprising Gray, Wheeler, Roberts and Lipscomb counties.

District Attorney Braly is seeking a second term, his announcement states, solely on his capability and the record of having administered the duties of his office with fairness and integrity. He enters the race subject to the Democratic primary, July 27.

SMALL ADV. SELLS COWS

Harris King ordered a 25c adv. run in our classified column, offering a cow for sale. Mr. King says he sold three cows from the ad and could have sold many more. Some 25 people made inquiries from the advertisement.

Anyone can profit from these little advertisements. Why not sell that item that you do not need, for cash? Plenty of buyers are looking for your offer each week in The News.

REVIVAL CLOSES SUNDAY

The series of revival services in progress at the Church of the Nazarenes will close with the Sunday evening service.

Good crowds are attending and Rev. Roberts is pleasing his audience with his gospel messages.

Pastor Bond says that all have an urgent invitation to attend the closing each night this week.

FARMERS ENTERTAIN BUSINESS MEN THURSDAY

Gray and Roberts county farmers entertained business men at a banquet held at Pampa last Thursday evening.

Each farmer had a business man as guest, and the meeting was in charge of Ralph R. Thomas, Gray county agricultural agent, with F. Stubbs of Alanreed acting as toastmaster.

PRUNING DEMONSTRATION AT PALMER ORCHARD

J. F. Robbrough, Texas Extension Service horticulturist, gave a tree pruning and spraying demonstration at the Palmer orchard in the Eldridge community Monday afternoon under the auspices of County Agent Ralph R. Thomas.

The Palmer orchard is one of the largest in Gray county, and many farmers and others were present for the demonstration.

MARTIN FOR DIST. ATTORNEY

Announcement is made this week by Bud Martin, talented young Wheeler lawyer, as a candidate for the office of district attorney of the 31st judicial district, comprising Wheeler, Gray, Roberts and Lipscomb counties, subject to the action of the voters at the Democratic primary on July 27.

Upon completion of the prescribed studies some months ago, Martin received his degree from the University of Texas law school as an honor student. Immediately afterward he opened an office in Wheeler and has since been engaged in practice there.

Martin's entry into the political arena for the first time to seek a public office of any kind introduces a member of a prominent and well known family. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Martin, whose interests for many years have been identified with ranching. The senior Martin has also attained considerable eminence as a business man in other lines.

Through his family connections, Bud Martin has gained at first hand a broad understanding and keen sympathy with agricultural and livestock activities. At this time he resides on the Martin Ranch, formerly the Frye Ranch, nine miles east and two north of Wheeler.

"Of course," he declared in a conversation regarding his candidacy, "if elected district attorney, I shall establish residence where I will be instantly available at all times for any duty connected with the office."

That Martin considers the office of district attorney an important one is reflected in his serious comment regarding law enforcement and the expressed determination to vigorously prosecute offenders without fear or favor—yet never to persecute or abuse any man, knowingly or willfully. He declares it his intention, if elected, to carefully and thoroughly investigate every case within his jurisdiction and then proceed according to law as found in the statute books.

While Martin is a man young in years and legal practice, yet his youthful vigor and energy, coupled with native alertness and speed, lead friends to predict for him great success as a district attorney and a brilliant future in his chosen profession.

"I respectfully solicit the influence and support of voters of this district at the July primary," declared Martin, "and if honored with the office of attorney and its responsibilities, I pledge my utmost efforts to the discharge of every duty to the best of my ability."

EMBROIDERY CLUB MEETS

The Centennial Embroidery Club met last Friday with Mrs. T. J. Coffey as hostess.

The afternoon was spent in doing various kinds of needle work.

Members present were: Mesdames Byrd Guill, Amos Thacker, H. W. Finley, Pete Fulbright, Carl Jones, Jess Kemp, Enloe Crisp, J. B. Hembree, C. M. Carpenter, Ed Clifton, H. E. Franks, T. J. Coffey.

Plans were made for an Easter party, with the husbands of the members as guests. The party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Kemp.

SCHOOL FACULTY REELECTED

The entire faculty of the McLean schools was reelected at a recent meeting of the board of education.

High school: C. A. Crayer, Orville Cunningham, C. J. Magee, Faye Crossland, C. E. Christian, M. J. Newman, Jewell Cousins, J. P. Guinn, Dale Smith, Mary Lou McIlhenny, Lucille Beaty and Virgie Hall.

Ward school: Sam M. Branch, Dick Dunlap, Wilma Richardson, Elsie Lane, Helen Heath, Mammie Wilson, Mrs. Myrtle May, Ruth Ansley, Lorene Winton, Ruby Swim, Neal A. Wilkins and Myrtle Marion Shaw.

JOHN HARDING TO MARRY

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. David A. Childer of the coming marriage of their daughter, Lorene Carolyn, to Mr. John Elzie Harding, at the First Presbyterian Church in Lubbock, March 20.

Mr. Harding, who is teaching at Texas Tech, was at one time principal of the McLean high school.

There are 20 cases of undulant fever at Pampa and one at McLean, McLean Lions in session Tuesday were told.

County Agent Ralph R. Thomas spoke on the danger of the fever and said that government test of dairy herds cost the owner nothing, but must be made every 60 days to insure safety from infection.

That the fever is caught from cows is attested by the fact that 75% of the veterinarians in Texas have at one time or another contracted the disease.

In reference to the TB tests, Mr. Thomas said that in the past three years some 35,000 cows have been tested in Gray county and only one case found.

Discussion as to the undulant fever was general, with local physicians and others taking part. The fact was brought out that milk customers are too careless in ascertaining under what conditions the milk they drink is produced. The fact that one dairy may milk under the most sanitary conditions and another in an open, dusty lot, seems to make no difference to the milk buyer. There is little incentive to improve sanitary conditions as long as the buying public is entirely indifferent to the quality of the milk they buy.

Vaccination is not successful in preventing undulant fever, and as condemned animals can be sold for beef, there is not a total loss to the dairyman.

General sanitary conditions of the town were mentioned, one Lion stating that there are 11 horses, mules and cows in one lot at one place, a clear violation of the city ordinance governing the keeping of stock in the city limits. Some lots are knee deep in filth, according to an eye witness, a condition that will become grave as fly season approaches.

Several stated that it is evident that the general public does not realize the danger of such conditions, or there would be an agitation to have them remedied at once.

It was reported that a boy whose eye had been penetrated by a shot from a BB gun had been sent to Amarillo twice, and would probably have to be maintained in a hospital by the club, as the loss of sight is indicated unless his proper care.

It was voted to pay his hire for the McLean boy scout troop to visit the Kellerville troop Tuesday evening.

It was reported that the 12 children fitted with glasses by the club this season are making 25% better grades than before their glasses were bought.

County Commissioner C. M. Carpenter invited anyone interested to meet a delegation from Pampa at the McClellan lake Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to discuss ways of raising funds to purchase additional land below the dam for picnic purposes.

Wilt Springer and Guy Crawford made short talks as visitors, and the tall twister failed to function at all, for probably the first time in the club's history.

THIS AD GOT RESULTS

"Don't run our ad any more. We could have sold a half-dozen more," said E. J. Lander, general Rock Island Railroad agent, last week. Here is the little 25c advertisement that got the results:

"For Sale.—Three-quarter bed and springs. Good shape."

An advertisement in this paper will get the same results for you. Why not try a 25c ad next week?

WIFE ON WINNING TEAM

James Lee Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Rice of McLean, who is attending Texas A. and M. College, was on the judging team that placed first at the Fort Worth fat stock show this week.

Mrs. Lee Newman of Miami visited Mrs. J. S. McLaughlin one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arrington of Miami visited their daughter, Mrs. C. C. Hayter, and family one day last week.

Merger of Two Wars Feared If Allies Send Aid to Finland; Poles Drill Big Army in France

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union

U. S. and the Wars: After Six Months

Six months had passed since Germany invaded Poland, since President Roosevelt summoned congress to safeguard U. S. neutrality. Good intentions notwithstanding, the U. S. found itself deeply concerned with Europe's wars—politically, financially, economically, socially. Items in a week's news:

Agriculture

During senate hearings on the reciprocal trade act, Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace hinted the U. S. may seek means to help the farmer, whose exports have been reduced since the war started. Main reason for woe: Allies claim they need all their foreign exchange to buy munitions. One possible remedy is an excise tax on munitions exports which might be paid to farmers.

Trade

U. S. exports exceeded imports in January by $126,589,000, the largest margin in recent years. One unhappy trend: Gold and silver holdings of the U. S. piled higher and higher as foreign nations used this method to pay for their purchases.

Industry

Latest item in the $1,000,000,000 worth of allied war purchases in the U. S. was a $20,000,000 contract placed with Douglas Aircraft company for construction of bombers for Great Britain.

Civilians

A California youth, stopped at Rockford, Ill., admitted he and 20 other Americans had been recruited by one Col. Charles Sweeney (believed an American soldier of fortune) and ordered to report in Toronto for aviation training. The FBI went to work.

Maritime

The U. S. had two British blockade problems: (1) Britain sought Canadian co-operation in establishing a contraband control system in the Pacific to stop U. S. rubber and tin from reaching Siberian Russia, from whence it may be going to Germany; (2) Pan-American clippers, avoiding British mail seizures at Bermuda, decided to fly direct from the U. S. to the Azores and Lisbon.

Congress

Ironed out were senate-house differences in the measure to raise the Export-Import bank's lending power by $100,000,000, thus providing $20,000,000 for non-military purchases by Finland.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

'High-Hat Sambo' Shines His Shoes And Gets Elected

NEW YORK. — Sam Houston Jones, the comparatively young David who toppled the Huey Long Goliath in Louisiana, is a corporation lawyer, representing 43 corporations, and says he is proud of it. He never took his coat off while he was campaigning, never talked swag talk, kept his shoes shined, dishes good grammar and never tore his hair. Defeating Gov. Earl K. Long, brother of the Kingfish, in the run-off primary, he gets the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, which means election in Louisiana. However, he fought like a wildcat, made a half dozen speeches and two radio addresses a day, swarmed all over the state and developed a carefully organized state, parish and precinct organization. He is 42 years old, good looking, well-educated and convincing. He is a political newcomer, little known when the Kingfish called him "High-Hat Sambo." He replied that he had no high hat, but would not hesitate to get one if he needed it, and would dress as he pleased. So he did and he made them like it.

Born in a log cabin in the deep, piney woods of southwestern Louisiana, he worked in a sawmill until he was 17, with sketchy education. He entered the University of Louisiana, waited on table to help pay his way, went into the World War as a private, but never reached France, and returned to continue his education in a country law office. He has been on both sides of corporation law practice, winning the fight for the rice farmers against the millers, and has engaged in some stiff fights with public utilities. On several occasions he defended cases for labor organizations.

Popular Author Stages Crusade To Aid Children

TROUBLED observers of world disaster, seeing no light or hope, might do well to compare Dorothy Canfield Fisher's children's crusade with the two children's crusades of the Thirteenth century. In the latter about 50,000 children went from France and Germany to fight the Saracens. Many thousands died and many others were captured and sold into slavery at Alexandria. Something seems to have happened in the centuries between. Miss Fisher, the novelist, finds eager co-operation throughout the country as she launches a campaign to gather a penny a year from each of the 30,000,000 American school children for child refugees in all countries of the world, of all races and beliefs. The pledge will cover the entire life of the child. The fund, totaling $300,000 a year, will all go to the children, with private pledges covering the cost of administration.

Miss Fisher, author of about 25 books, including novels, educational and social studies, has been engaged in such humane enterprises all her adult life. During and after the World War, she spent three years in France in relief work. In 1934, she became chairman of the Advisory Conference of Jews and Christians to Oppose Race Prejudice and Religious Intolerance. Her unceasing battle has been against a standardized and materialized society.

A native of Lawrence, Kan., she could call herself Dr. Fisher, but never does. Her doctorate in philosophy came from Columbia university in 1904, after her graduation from Middlebury college, Dartmouth, the University of Vermont, Ohio State, Northwestern and Williams. Her home is in Arlington, Vt. Noting that her crusade is much more humane and sensible than that of Etienne, the shepherd boy of Cloyes, who led the ragged, hungry children to crush the Saracens, one might also note the upsurge of "Snow White" and "Pinocchio" as revealing a new adult entente with the child world. Miss Fisher might do well to make Walt Disney one of the generals of her new crusade.

Mr. Welles Goes Calling

Hastily concluding his preliminary discussions in Rome with Benito Mussolini, Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles hurried to Switzerland and thence to Berlin. What had been advertised as a pure-and-simple fact-finding expedition was developing (as everyone had expected) into a queer peace offensive. Premier Mussolini had evidently told Mr. Welles his terms, and it was widely advertised that Adolf Hitler would do likewise. Everyone, obviously, would talk tough.

Plain Twills, Checks, Plaids Are 'Top' Wools for Your Suit

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

AS A starter to the new spring wardrobe one can make no better move than to invest in a stunning suit tailored of the perfectly gorgeous wools that are bringing glory to the fabric realm this season. Not that the wool suit limits in any way, no indeed, not with the no-two-alike look that designers have contrived to achieve in the multiplicity of types that run the gamut all the way from the simple jacket-and-skirt classic to the new long-jacket effect with pleated skirts, the softly styled bolero models, the smart long-coat ensembles, the casual sports two-piece with its flaring skirt and interchangeable jacket of vivid wool stripes or plaids.

Whipcords, twills or wool crepe in navy blue is outstanding suit news for spring. Navies with white lingerie accents are having a stupendous success. Latest word is white hats with the navy outfits, some of which are trimmed with navy or the order may be reversed—navy hat with white trim. Chic, too, to wear with your navies are the hats carried out in red, white and blue color schemes.

Centered in the picture is one of those simple classy suits that women of discriminating taste dot on. Tailored of fashionable navy twill (it is also available in black) its sophisticated simplicity bespeaks style personified. Of course it takes on the inevitable white touches that fashion insists upon this season, which in this instance are expressed in terms of white pique cuffs and collar. To tune to dressier mood lace or befrilled organza will take the place of the pique. Then, too, for a pretty feminine gesture most likely a dainty lingerie blouse with a frothy jabot will grace this suit. Her white flower toque is not rushing the season for flower hats are coming out in endless parade, in answer to fashion's call.

A characteristic feature of tweeds this spring is that they present a finer, smoother texture and are lighter in weight. Their colorings take on new lure. The smart note this spring is the use of complement tweeds. The suit to the right interprets the idea. Here handsome tweed in gray and white herringbone weave is used for the suit. The topcoat is of gray and white plaid (huge plaid's the thing this spring) that gives it definite color relation to the suit.

This idea of wools in "families," so to speak, is being promoted throughout current suit styling. Suits of color-related and weave-related wools go so far as to give you a skirt done in tweed, topped with either a flannel or wool jersey blouse in vivid color contrast and for the long cape (cape suit is a last word fashion) or the topcoat that ensembles with the suit you are given your choice of a monotone luxurious wool or that which is strikingly new a wool in big, bold plaid that picks up the colors in blouse and skirt.

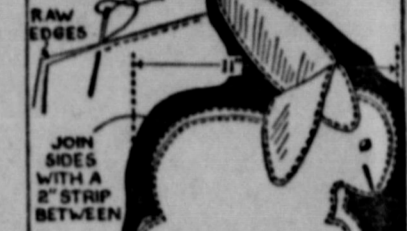

Illustrative of the new vogue for check used with plain, note the fetching suit to the left in the group. Here you see a bright checked button-up tweed bolero topping a black circular skirt with insets of the check introduced to give it the desired flare. This typically spring 1940 model comes in several color combinations. The hat of matching wool fabric is a smart item this season.

Easter Bunny Stays As White as Snow

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS
STUFFED toys of oil cloth or water-proof bath curtain material are something mothers have been dreaming about. Just wipe them off with a damp cloth to keep them fresh and clean.

The Easter bunny shown here is 11 inches long. He is white, hand-stitched in heavy pink thread and has pink bead or button eyes. Make your own pattern for him by following the diagram. Rule paper into 1-inch squares; number them; then draw the pattern outlines. Cut two body pieces; four ear pieces and a 2-inch strip to be used between the two sides of the body. Interline the ears to make them stand up. Join all raw edges, as shown, leaving an opening in the body for stuffing tightly with cotton or bits of soft cloth; then finish sewing.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears' Sewing Book No. 2 contains numerous gift and bazaar items, including a doll's wardrobe; men's ties; purses; baby's bassinet; 32 pages in all.

EUROPE: The Wars

Finnish Front.

Around Viipuri on the Karelian isthmus and near Petsamo in the far north, Finland's defenders continued retreating before Russian pressure. But the Finns held their ground at the "waistline," halfway up the border.

Western Front.

Increased patrol and artillery activity was acknowledged by both high commands. Heavy German troop movements were reported near Luxembourg, and the Nazis were said to be extending the Siegfried line along the Belgian and Dutch frontiers.

In the Air.

British reconnaissance planes flew over Berlin two successive nights, while Nazi planes were chased away from Paris.

At Sea.

Allied warships, massing in the Arctic sea to block Russian-German sea commerce, sank two Nazi merchantmen near the Finnish shore. An undenied report of naval activity off Petsamo was considered by observers as the first sign that Europe's two wars may merge.

Behind Scenes

Somewhere in France correspondents discovered Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski of Poland drilling almost 100,000 troops—peasant boys, students, miners and professional-men who escaped from Poland after Germany's blitzkrieg. With France's

AN EDITORIAL

How High Are You Going to Fly? By Julia Mae Morris. Does the emblem of the senior mean anything more to you than just an airplane? If you will take a few minutes of leisure...

The skillful mechanic puts the airplane together with much thought, its safety and power. Before they try its ability to fly they check every part to see if it is strong enough to withstand the hardships of the flight.

GIFTS FOR M. H. S.

We greatly appreciate the gifts that have come our way this year. Mrs. Roger Powers gave sheets for the bed in the girls' lounge; Miss Eunice Stratton sent four books to the library; Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Erwin gave a number of copies of The National Geographic and The Readers Digest to the library; and Chas. E. Cooke gave us a fire-proof safe at the beginning of the year...

NEW BAND MEMBERS

Our new members have recently joined the band. They are Lawrence Pruitt, oboe player; Phyllis Ann Duffell, flute; Ira Patty, clarinet; Joe Cocks, cornet; and Billy Cunningham, baritone. As some of the sections of the band were rather small these new members are appreciated.

BAND TO SHAMROCK MONDAY

M. J. Newman, our band director, has been working pretty hard to complete the plans for the band's performance at Shamrock during the St. Patrick Day celebration to be held there next Monday. The band has been working for two weeks on its marching and formations, and expects to put on a show which McLean can be proud of.

SNOOPER

Say, Eray, what were you doing in the home economics room so early Monday morning? We wonder whose gray car we saw parked on the hill north of town, Sunday afternoon. Why look so blue, Sonny? Is it because Bobby Campbell has taken your girl friend? We wonder why Juror has taken such an interest in the alto section of the A cappella choir lately. Mary Alice, don't you know J. M. won't like it if he hears about the Belgian boy? We hear that the only time Billy Carpenter will go to church at night is when he has a date with Mary Lee. It seems that the most popular song in M. H. S. is "Do I Love You, Do I." We wonder.

SENIORS PLAN CARLSBAD TRIP

On May 25, the senior class plans to take a trip to Carlsbad Caverns. There will be four or five room mothers C. A. Oryer, Jewell Cousins, Virginia Hall and about 40 seniors who plan to make the trip.

On the first night they will stay in Roswell, and on Monday they will visit the caverns.

HIGHLIGHTS IN THE WORLD OF FASHIONS

Bonnie Cumbie, making a fashion hit with the juniors, is what we often call a typical red-head. But as most other home ec girls do, she, too, makes the best of her red hair by wearing her clothes so as to fit her hair and complexion.

Opal Thacker, reigning as this week's fashion queen for the sophomores, wears a blue dress which brings out the blue of her eyes. Her dress is tailored with brown buttons down the front. She wears white crepe sole shoes with blue anklets.

Lo, through all these six months here in high school, we still seem to stick to the campus hit, skirts and sweaters. The girls we have picked have nothing whatsoever to do with a certain Saturday afternoon radio program, but just the same we shall call them "The Campus Cut-ups" because where you find one of these girls, you are sure to find laughter.

ANSWERS TO QUIZ KOLUMN

- 1. Louise's and Ophime's faces became very red when a certain boy, dressed as a girl, flashed by. 2. Perhaps Roy has the answer to Opal's embarrassment when the matches were struck on the bus the other night. 3. Fuzzy would like to know who swiped his letter from Maxine. 4. Junior Bonner seems to be the handsome brute whom Bernice was with Sunday. 5. Opal Tedder is to participate in the St. Patrick celebration as Miss McLean. 6. Randy has the natural instinct to open his mouth when a finger is pointed at him. 7. Marie Eudey seems to have fooled us. Her boy friend turned out to be a (dear) cousin. 8. Marguerite was embarrassed because of the appearance of Clint's suit.

MEET THE SENIORS

Robert Wilson. If you have ever been around when soccer cards are being handed out and get a glimpse of Robert Wilson, 17-year-old senior, you would understand why he could be called the most intelligent of the seniors of 1940. How many seniors besides Robert have a 94 average for four years in high school work? He was born in McLean and has attended only McLean schools. He has participated in band, F. P. A., and has been reporter for his class for several years. He was also a member of the cast in a speech class play.

Robert plans to continue his education at the University of Texas and plans to become a chemical engineer. He likes music, photography, football, track, Judy Garland, and "The Wizard of Oz." He dislikes bars and lying.

Beatrice Kalka

"Oh, you lazy people had better beware, 'cause Beatrice Kalka will get in your hair." Beatrice Kalka, 16-year-old senior, was born in McLean and has attended school in White Deer and McLean. Her ambition is to become a home demonstrator, and plans to attend school at W. T. S. C. She has been a member of the speech club and home ec club. Beatrice likes volleyball, seray books, Mickey Rooney, and "Puncho Villa."

SPARE TIME

For lack of something better to do in our spare time, we decided to see what the rest of M. H. S. do with their spare moments. Fuzzy Bonner sleeps, but not altogether in his spare time. Percy Kinard sleeps, improves his card technique, and plays a horn in a fashion after Guy Lombardo: listens to the radio, especially Pibber, and then gives his own version.

Opal Tedder, McLean's golden voice singer, "Locks" at picture magazines and sings. John Bond, the dashing football star, would like to meet new people during his spare time. He also sings. Just ask for his and Junior Windom's version of "Oh! Ma."

Monroe Combs loaf's and thinks when he'll have more spare moments. Bobby Crisp listens to the radio. Perhaps she is trying to capture the technique of radio celebrities. Junior Bonner draws, you know, pictures of long blond curls, tender rings, and such. Your reporter? Well, she dreams of moments when there won't be any Tiger Post articles.

KIWIZ KOLUMN

How many years has it been since royalty plays have been given in M. H. S.? 5. How many royalty plays have been given in M. H. S. this year? 6. How much was the royalty on "Here Comes Patricia"? 7. How many seniors plan to go to Carlsbad? 8. How many juniors have ordered their senior rings? 9. How many reporters are there on the Tiger Post?

THE STORY THUS FAR

Sheila Carscadden, blue-eyed, reddish-haired and 21, loses her job in New York by offering useful but unwelcome suggestions to her boss. Typically feminine, she chooses that time to show her "new" purse—which she bought at a second-hand store, to her cousin, Cecilia Moore. The purse revives memories of a boy she had met the previous summer—a boy whose first name, all she remembered, was Peter. At home that evening, waiting for her, are her mother, Joe, her brother, and Angela, her crippled sister. Joe, too, has lost his job. During the not-so-happy evening Angela finds fifty dollars in a secret pocket in Sheila's purse. They are both happy at the discovery, only to be disheartened when Mrs. Carscadden tells Sheila the money must be returned to the person whose initials and street number are on the purse. Sheila is going to return the money dressed in an ancient outfit. Then, she feels, the owner will reward her liberally. She looks upon the escapade as a lark. She feels different when she enters the magnificent home, for the occupants prove to be the McCann family, old friends, now wealthy, of Sheila's father. And there she sees Peter, her acquaintance of the previous summer! Sheila finds that Peter is Judge McCann's son. Both Peter, and his brother Frank, are soon to be married. Frank offers to take her home, and Peter, secretly, places a slip of paper in her hand. The paper is a message, asking her to meet Peter at the library the next day. Against her will, Sheila goes to the library where she meets Peter. They talk, and she finds that, after all, she does not care for Peter. Preparing to leave, they find the library door locked! The building is closed, and no one can hear their shouts. Escape seems impossible, but Peter jumps from a window.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

Sheila rushed to the window and screamed into the blackness, the whiteness, outside. Nothing could be seen. Talking to herself, muttering frantically, Sheila turned back into the room and extinguished the light.

This done, looking down, she could see the dim, white expanse of the roof below and see, against the grayish-white, something black prostrate.

"Oh, my God, he's killed himself!" Sheila whispered. "Oh, God, help him!" And leaning out, she shouted, "Peter!"

Her voice was muffled in the snow, but the wind was not so high now, flooring and could see the sign lights flaming and fading still through a high skylight.

"There must be—don't bump yourself there, Peter!—there, Peter!—there must be lamps—"

Sheila's groping wet gloves found one as she spoke; the room broke into dim light.

They were in a studio; Sheila had never seen one before, except in movies, but she knew it at once—recognized the easel and the unfinished canvases as well as the more familiar tables and couches and chairs. The room appeared to be quite empty.

"Look for a telephone, quick!" Peter directed, stuffing his cap and his gloves into a coat pocket, and fling-that was not healthy, there was menace in their very presence, and Peter knew, as Sheila had known for some time, that the night's perils were not over. His voice died away into silence and his face took on a strange pallor.

"This ain't your wife, then?" Ken asked.

"No, sir. That's what I was telling you," Peter said. "I'm to be married on Tuesday to—another girl. That's why I'd be so much obliged if you'd let me telephone."

The men glanced at each other.

"No rush," Ken observed mildly.

"I'm afraid my mother will be worried, it's getting on to eight o'clock!" Sheila exclaimed anxiously. And the sudden thought of that comforting and protecting mother, her love and tenderness, brought tears to the girl's eyes.

Ken shifted a cigar on his rather full underlip.

"Listen, Sister," he remarked, carelessly, "you've got no call to look so scared!"

It was not much, but it was exquisite balm to Sheila. She managed a rather white smile.

"Thank you!" she said.

"You give me your name," Ken directed, drawing a piece of paper toward him across the table and taking a fountain pen from his pocket, "and I'll let your folks know. But you'll be home pretty soon, so he added comfortably.

"Come on, let's get going," Ken said. He glanced at Peter and Shei-

Her frightened eyes moved behind him, as the door through which she and Ken had emerged opened again, and Inky and an unknown man came out, with Peter between. Peter appeared to be stumbling, heavy—perhaps his hurt leg was bothering him again.

They started. Sheila heard Peter snoring in the back seat. Snow fluttered down, down upon the black city streets and the shining wet tracks under the elevated road and the garbage cans aligned before the humble tenement doorways.

She knew it was Peter snoring, because Inky was perched upon one of the small seats, his breath, heavy with garlic and wine, at her ear.

"Now you and me have got to be talking," Ken said. "Because if anyone stops us, I'm taking you up to your mother in White Plains."

"In the Bronx," she corrected.

"Oh, you ain't going home yet," he said. "But don't you worry—you'll get there. Nothing's going to happen to you."

"Only not to pull nothing," Inky said persuasively, at her ear.

"I wouldn't know how to pull anything!" Sheila said simply.

"No, you just do like I ask you to," Ken observed encouragingly, "and you'll be all right."

"That was an awful smart thing you did, Ken, about that Boston stuff," Inky presently observed.

"It may work," he said briefly.

"Work! It's gotta work," the other man said. "Pipe the bulls there!" he added.

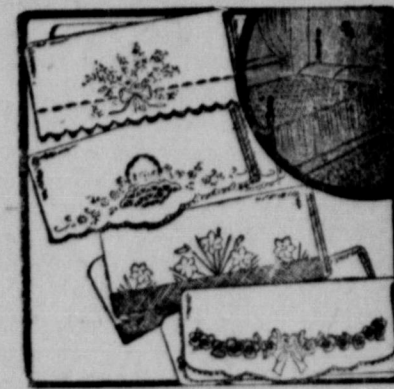

"Now listen," Ken said sharply to Sheila, in a quickened voice. "You don't know anything. You're going up to see your sick mother . . ."

They had left the city and were on one of the long lonely roads that skirt the eastern bank of the Hudson. Sheila, looking ahead, saw a police-box in the pink flutter of snow against lights, and two caped men standing there.

RACKETEERS

By O. L. D. Timer
Racketeers seldom reform. They are like a fence breaking cow or a chicken eating sow. Circumstances and environment may cause them to show up or cease their operations for a while, but when favorable conditions arise they break out anew like a smoldering fire fanned by a half breeze. For instance, after a repeal the bootlegger charged his color like a leopard does his spots instead of doing honest work. His philosophy of life is to do anything to get hold of money or power, regardless of the other fellow or society in general. Almost any law passed opens up loop holes through which the racketeer can shoot his victim. He gets lots of innocent victims but lots of his victims walk into his trap like a fly gets into a spider's web. We might consider the latter a party to the suit and guilty as an accessor, for no man works a racket without a victim. There are lots of voluntary victims such as the several hundred girls in Chicago who made application to an ex-booby lawyer who quit peddling liquor and went to peddling girls, for jobs and locations to sell themselves to racketeers and rounders the country over. Who ever thought the fat sex would ever permit themselves to be hauled around in trailers and sold like stock? The above information came from one of the most modern magazines. What is happening in Chicago is happening in all other corners of population and will come to small towns and rural districts.

It behooves every man who thinks anything of his country to not be a racketeer, to not be a victim, and to use all the means at his command to combat and stamp out such nefarious and infernal operations and quit whipping the devil around the stump but go over the stump and get him.

Hal Bullock has returned from Chicago, where he had been for medical treatment. Mrs. Bullock and children visited at Hinton, Okla., during his absence.

Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Finley and son, James Edwin, visited their son and brother, Charles, at Dallas over the week end.

Mrs. Ray Singletary and son of Hereford visited their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Newman, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Lander visited Mrs. C. C. Lander at a Pampa hospital Sunday.

Jim Sullivan of Amarillo visited his mother, Mrs. G. W. Sullivan, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Smith and baby of Clarendon visited relatives here Sunday.

There are many things that no law can compel anyone to do, but if a man is decent he will do them.

Several dairymen of McLean have complained that there is little incentive to work for a better product as long as the general public maintains an apathetic attitude toward the quality of the milk they drink. The only way to get quality milk, or anything else for that matter, is to demand it and patronize the man who can supply it.

Complaints are already being made about chickens running at large. Some people seem to think that it is all right to let their chickens run at large during the winter months, regardless of how much of their neighbor's property they destroy, but as gardening season approaches, patience ceases to be a virtue and the chickens should be confined on the owner's own property.

Now is a mighty good time to sound your favorite candidate about his views on tracking the law on publication of financial accounts by tax spending boards. The law requiring such publication carries no penalty, so taxpayers must of necessity depend upon the individual views of the officers in such matters. There is a growing interest in such things right here in McLean, as well as elsewhere, which is a healthful sign. As long as the general public takes no interest in the way their tax money is being spent, just so long may we look for more and more careless expenditures that make for more and higher taxes.

WORK GOES WELL AT AMARILLO CHURCH

Amarillo, Texas, March 9, 1940

Mr. T. A. Landers, Editor McLean News, McLean, Texas.

Dear Brother Landers:

I wish you would do me the favor of printing this account of the work at Line Avenue Baptist Church here in Amarillo:

The Lord is richly blessing the work at Line Avenue Baptist Church in Amarillo. In the last two months there have been over 80 baptisms. The church is still growing rapidly in number and spirit. Fifty have joined the church in regular services since Sept. 1, six months ago. The record now 37 in Sunday school a year ago with an offering of about $20. Last Sunday the attendance was 110, and the offering was over $53. We baptized an adult lady at the evening service last Sunday.

Rev. Troy A. Sumrall did a great work of lasting good here in a meeting last May, when over 30 united with the church. The most of these have come from Central Baptist Church, where Rev. T. D. Sumrall was recently pastor. They been of untold value to the work at this place.

Line Avenue Baptist Church is a place where people love the Bible and want it preached just as it is. We want no "soft-soaping" or "sugar-coated" gospel here. We do not desire any "putting on the soft pedal." We call a spade a spade, hewing to the line. The chips fall where they will. Those who cannot stand "hot grease get out of the kitchen." The crying need of today is for men who are not afraid to stand up and preach. Some would-be preachers who say they are called to preach in reality ought to go plow. May the day when every "soft," "easy-going," "sissy" preacher will clear out of the pulpit and let God's called men do a work of righteousness in his stead. We are in a woeful day when ungodly institutions that call themselves churches are having pool tables, dance halls and gambling devices installed as a part of a program they hasten to call Christian. God pity a spineless ministry that just lets the Devil take charge and run the churches at his will. Churches are so filled with worldliness and sin that instead of the churches winning the world, the world is winning the churches. The Lord help us at Line Avenue and elsewhere to pray down an OLD-FASHIONED revival.

Yours for Bible preaching,
 H. T. SULLIVAN.

Miss Reba Smith of Clarendon visited in McLean Sunday.

"SADIE HAWKINS DAY" PARTY

Dick Brown entertained the seniors of the Denworth church with a "Sadie Hawkins Day" party at his home Friday night.

Boys and girls came dressed as the characters in the Lil' Abner comic strip.

Games were played, and about 9 o'clock the "Sadie Hawkins" chase was held, the boys proving themselves to be really hard to catch.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies cocoa were served to some 33 seniors and their guests. All reported a good time.

EASTER PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN

Rev. John Cobb, pastor of the Denworth Baptist Church, will give an illustrated lecture on the resurrection of Christ, Saturday night, March 23.

The church plans an Easter program for Sunday afternoon, following a basket lunch at the church.

BAPTIST BROTHERHOOD

The Baptist Brotherhood met at the church Monday night with 25 in attendance. The men are proud of the work that is being carried on. Since the laymen have been meeting the past two months, they have grown in number with each meeting, starting with 12.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Newman, Mrs. Johnnie R. Back and children, accompanied by Mrs. Ray Singletery and son of Hereford, were guests Friday of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Thomas D'Spain, at Kellerville, for a turkey dinner.

Mrs. Willie Boyett and Mrs. Ella Cubine visited friends in Shamrock Sunday afternoon.

Oil

LOCATED in all sections of Texas, 141 refineries manufacture into finished petroleum products 80 per cent of the State's crude oil production.

In contrast, Texas processes only 3 per cent of its cotton production and none of its wool or mohair.

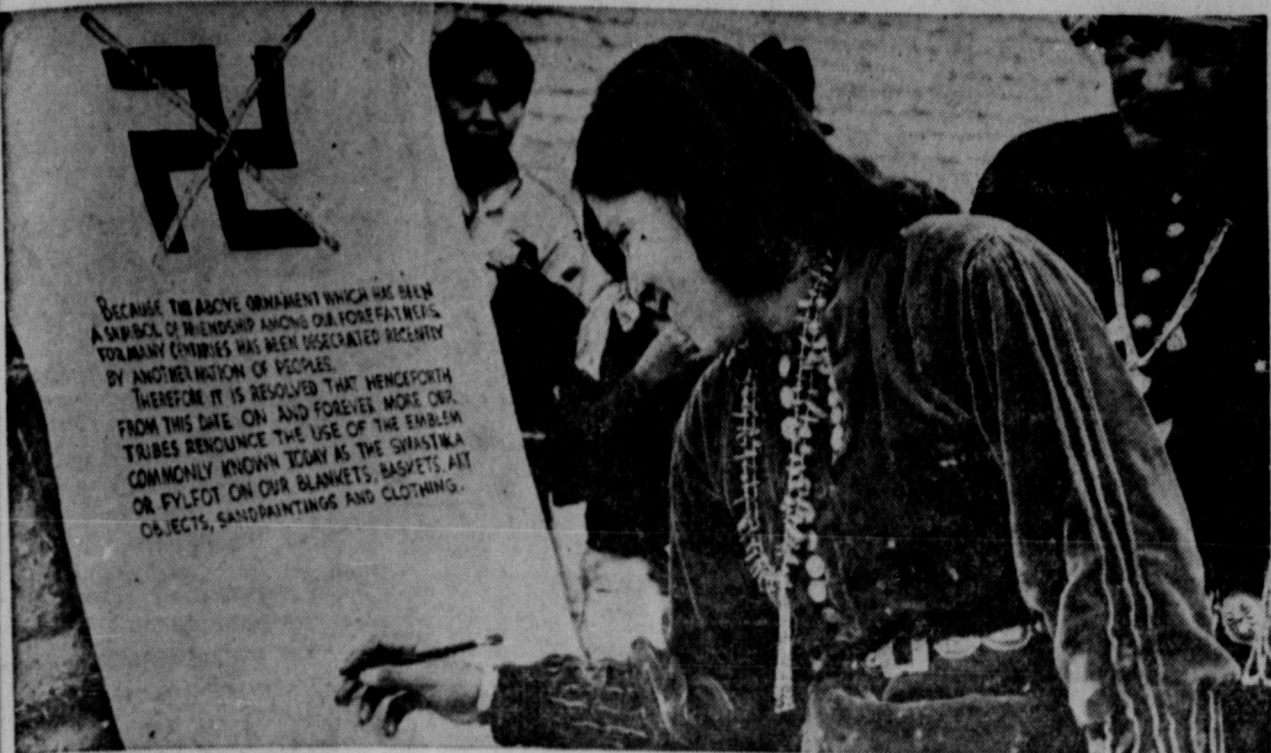

Petroleum refining now constitutes 41 per cent of the value of all Texas manufactures.

Of the 225,000 Texans regularly employed by the oil business of the State, 25,000 skilled workmen and 5,000 office employees (a $50,000,000 annual payroll) are employed in this one division of our oil industry.

All of the Texas oil refined in our State, whether used in Texas or shipped to other states, paid last year in taxes an average of 9.8 cents per barrel.

Arizona Indians Renounce 'Desecrated' Swastika

BECAUSE THE ABOVE ORNAMENT WHICH HAS BEEN A SYMBOL OF FRIENDSHIP AMONG OUR FOREFATHERS, YOUR ANCESTERS HAS BEEN DESECRATED RECENTLY BY ANOTHER NATION OF PEOPLE, THEREFORE IT IS RESOLVED THAT HENCEFORTH FROM THIS DATE ON AND FOREVER MORE OUR TRIBES RENOUNCE THE USE OF THE SWASTIKA COMMONLY KNOWN TODAY AS THE SWASTIKA OR FULFOT ON OUR BLANKETS, BASKETS, ART OBJECTS, PAINTINGS AND CLOTHING.

Four tribes of Arizona Indians, the Navajos, Papagos, Apaches, and Hopis, through their head men at the Indian conclave in Tucson, have banned use of the swastika from all designs in their basket weaving and blanket making. The use of the swastika by the Nazi party and the Indian's resentment against "acts of oppression" by the Nazi government was given as reason for their action. Florence Smiley, a Navajo girl, signs the parchment document drawn up by one of the Indian artists.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for March 17

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

CALVARY: TRIUMPH THROUGH SACRIFICE

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 27:33-50. GOLDEN TEXT—He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief.—Isaiah 53:3.

At Calvary, reverent and thoughtful readers of God's Word stand speechless, and confess themselves to be powerless to explain or to expound the awe-inspiring story, and yet just because it is such a story, because on that cross the divine Son of God gave Himself in sacrificial atonement for sin, we must do our utmost to understand it, to explain it, and certainly to declare it to all mankind. For when He who knew no sin became sin for us, it was for our sin that He died. Here alone do we find redemption.

We approach this scene therefore with reverence, and with the prayer that we may so present the dying Saviour to dying men that some may believe and be saved. We center our thoughts around three expressions taken from the text.

I. "They Crucified Him." All of the gospel stories are remarkably reticent when they speak of the cross. Details of surrounding events are given, but when they speak of the cross itself, they can only say that He was crucified. Let us look at the One who hung on that sacred tree, for He is the Saviour of the world. Refusing the stupefying potion (v. 34) and facing death fully conscious, we hear Him crying out of the darkness which covered all the land, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" That cry indicates the depth to which our Saviour went for us.

Does it not seem that the Father in that darkest moment of history turned His back upon the One who knowing no sin Himself had become sin for us? And yet we know that it was God who hung upon the tree, God the Son. Here is divine mystery, the meaning of which we cannot fathom, but we know that it was for us.

Then came the cry with the loud voice, "It is finished!" This was not the death of the languishing martyr. The Son of God, having wrought out redemption on the cross, cried out in powerful tones of victory, "It is finished!" and yielded up His spirit.

II. "They Watched Him." Soldiers, priests, the two thieves, the women—how different was the purpose and the spirit of their watching.

The soldiers had made sport of Him and mocked Him in the palace. They took a passing curious interest in the crucifixion. They gambled over His garments, and finally settled down to perform their duty as guards with stolid indifference. How much of humanity is just like that!

The priests who professed to know about God and His Word stand out in appalling wickedness and ignorance. Being members of the highest and noblest of callings, they fell when they sinned to the lowest depths.

Of the two thieves, one believed and the other railed at our Lord (Luke 23:39, 40). The cross has ever since been the dividing line, part of humanity turning there to life eternal, the rest going on its railing way to destruction.

The women waited. No doubt they were perplexed and troubled in heart, but they stood faithfully by until His precious body was in the grave. We read of no apostle who did as much, and we give all honor to the faithful women.

III. "He Trusted in God." This was the sarcastic taunt of the priests. "When the King was hanging upon the cross and the interpreters of religion, the priests, misinterpreted God, there was a great silence. God's noninterference is the first thing that impresses one as the story is read, but that is not all the story. It was not wholly noninterference. 'From the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land until the ninth hour.' That seems to have been the act of God. It would seem that in infinite tenderness God wrapped the land in darkness in the hour of His Son's supreme suffering" (G. Campbell Morgan). We also read in verse 51 that the veil of the temple was torn from top to bottom, opening the way for all men in Christ to enter the Holy of Holies.

"He trusted God." Yes, even to the sacrifice of Himself in death. Because He could not save Himself (v. 42) in thus doing the will of God the Father, He did save others. The scoffing priests told the truth in spite of their wicked purpose to falsify. "They crucified Him," "they watched Him," but "He trusted God" and became the Saviour of the world.

How Great and How Wondrous How great are his signs! and how mighty are his wonders! His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation.—Daniel 4:3.

Junk-Yard Music

The world's most astonishing organ has just been completed in Atlantic City by an amateur musician. It is made of discarded bottles, old vacuum-cleaner motors, pieces of inner tubing, and all sorts of rubbish collected from junk heaps. Notes are sounded by forcing air from cleaner motors across small holes in the caps of bottles tuned by partly filling them with water.

The junk-organ looks nothing like an orthodox instrument, but it produces music well enough. Attached to it are bells, saucerpan lids and whistles to give additional effects.
