Mussolini's Meteoric Career Let Us Live Like Lions' Recalled as He Makes Exit

How Italy's Master Rose to Power and Why He Collapsed for a crisis.

By ELLIOTT J. PINE

On July 25, 1943, Benito Mussolini, dictator of Italy for 21 years, tearfully resigned his offices, and turned his government over to King Victor Emmanuel. The immediate reason for the dictator's relinquishing of power is said to be his inability to obtain greater military aid from Germany. The Fascist council voted 19 to 7 against accepting his plan for abandoning more than half the country to the Allies, and of establishing a defense line in the north. When Mussolini realized that he could not enforce his will as he was accustomed, he stepped out, or according to other accounts, was forced out.

More basic than this dispute on war plans, however, was the increasing and bitter distrust of Mussolini, and the Fascist party he headed. The Italian people, most observers say, never wished to enter World War II. Defeats, losses and hardships have turned the people of Italy away from Fascism, and revolt was brewing ever hotter. When Mussolini went, Fascism ended too.

King Victor Emmanuel, who has always retained the shadow of authority, has given the official version of the situation in this statement: "His Majesty, the King-Emperor, has accepted the resignation from the offices of chief of government, prime minister, and secretary of state, which was tendered by His Excellency, signor Benito Mussolini, and has appointed as chief of government, prime minister, and secretary of state, His Excellency, Marshal of Italy, signor Pietro Ba-

At the time this statement was made public, it was pretended that Mussolini's ill health was the reason for his leaving office, but this rather weak excuse was soon

The new government thus estab-Hshed by the king and Marshal Badoglio is generally considered to signify the end of the Fascist party, The structure that held Italy tightly for two decades apparently has collapsed by the removal of one man. Actually the party has been crumbling from within for years, say informed correspondents

Fascism Began 24 Years Ago.

"Fascism" as a name dates from March 23, 1919, when Mussolini and 145 others organized the "Fasci encouraged, employment stimulated Italiano di Combattimento" mean- by public works, and a program of ing, "Italian fighting groups." The Roman symbol of authority, the bundle of scourging rods bound on the handle. It can be seen on the reverse of an American dime.

During the following two years. this little party increased rapidly. While Mussolini did not actually one of its earliest and strongest lead- of liberty. In 1925, Mussolini, or Il ers. He soon came out in front, a vigorous man of 38, with a compelling manner and oratorical persuasiveness.

He was born in 1884, the son of village blacksmith and country school teacher, in Predappio, Romagna province. When he completed grade school, he became a teach- post-war world, but the great deer in a neighboring village, and soon- pression fell heavily on the nation, took to stump speaking for the So- the more so because of its reliance cialist party. His political activities brought him into several clashes with the law. He became a writer, and rose to be editor of the Socialist organ, "Avanti."

During World War I, he served as a corporal, and he participated in the Fiume campaign of 1919. Soon after being discharged from service he met a few kindred spirits, and began the organization of the Faswealthy and conservative class feared the spread of commu-

their voices to the clamor. The na-tional assembly was divided into numerous bickering and log-rolling factions, and the premier, signer Facta, was not a strong enough man The March on Rome.

Assembling the Fascist militia, the party's private army, in Civitavecchia, on October 27, 1922, he began the famous "March on Rome." When he approached the capital with 250,000 armed men, Premier Facta, and Marshal (then General) Badoglio begged the king, the same Victor Emmanuel, to stop the marchers with machine gun fire and the bayonets of the regular army. The king, who hated bloodshed, refused to give the order. Three days later, he acceded to Mussolini's demands, and appointed him premier. From that day onward, Mussolini has been continuously in complete control of Italy, until the other day. Ironically, he turned his power over to Victor Emmanuel and Badoglio, who might have stopped him 21 years earlier.

As soon as Mussolini found himself firmly in the saddle, he set about making himself and his party absolute. All political parties were banned except the Fascist, and many social, cultural and religious societies were closed down under the force of these laws. Party members were placed in every position of authority in the civil and military administration. Business and professional men soon found it to their advantage to join the party, or to get on good terms with some important member.

For a time, the Fascist regime appeared to be a decided benefit to Italy. Domestic order was restored, business and finance stabilized and

DON'T BOTHER THE PILOT-A propaganda poster showing Mussolini at the controls of a big bombing plane (he is an amateur flier), warned Italians in 1939 "not to disturb the pilot, especially when he is engaged in tempestuous navigation; nor ask the way at every turn."

But the Italians soon discovered found it, perhaps, he at least was the price of these gains was the loss Duce, "the leader," as he liked to be called, had a law passed legalizing his position as prime minister, and rendering him responsible to no one but the king. This meant, in effect, that he could do as he pleased.

During the twenties Italy shared somewhat in the prosperity of the on international trade. Its artificial prosperity began to crumble, despite tight controls, and unrest and dissatisfaction began to fester here and there, under cover

Land Hunger.

Meanwhile Mussolini was thinking of expanding Italy territorially. The League of Nations had prevented him from undertaking any small wars of conquest, such as were common in the 19th century. In 1923, he had a "causus belli" against Greece, but he did not push the issue to open war. Nothing occupied his large army excepting patrol action in North Africa.

In 1933, Adolf Hitler rose to power as chancellor of Germany, as head of the National Socialists, or Nazis, more weightily than on other na- a party that had much in common with the Fascists of Italy. Mussolini soon welcomed his imitator, and began to plan international adventures.

Nevertheless, a year later, when Hitler began to threaten Austria, Il Duce offered to support that weak nism, and many churchmen added state. Next year Italy declared war

IN HIS SECOND YEAR of rule, 1923, Premier Mussolini was already showing his yearning to rattle the sword. He sent such a sharp diplomatic note to Greece on the murder of members of an Italian commission on the Greek-Albanian frontier, that world chancellories feared a war was near.

on Ethiopia, Mussolini's first openly imperialistic move, and a successful defiance of the League.

Italian and German policies were moving closer together through similarity of interests, and Hitler and Mussolini began concluding a series of treaties and agreements that culminated in the formation of the "Rome-Berlin Axis."

Both Italy and Germany sent troops into the Spanish civil war. The Italian troops showed even then their distaste for fighting, but the officers gained valuable experience with new weapons and tactics, especially airplanes and tanks.

Mussolini joined in signing the Munich Agreement that was supposed to assure "peace in our time" as Neclle Chamberlain put it. Knowing that a great war was around the corner Mussolini then turned his attention to bringing his army, navy, and especially his air force to full

'Stab in the Back.'

When France was staggering to defeat in the spring of 1940, Mussofini thought he saw the long sought opportunity for important territorial acquisitions without much loss or risk. He entered to war on the side of Germany, hoping to get a few French islands. President Roosevelt characterized this move as a "stab in the back." From then on, Italy was in World War II. All looked rosy as long as the German blitzkrieg continued to smash ahead, but in 1941 English troops defeated the Italians in two widely separated African campaigns, and the Italian navy lost heavily in several actions. Last year Italy went on the defensive. Mussolini sent some divisions to fight against Russia, others to North Africa, with the German "piloted" Italy into the war, then Africa corps. Both sustained defeat and severe losses. The Italia people began to grumble ever louder against Bascism and Mussolini. He pinned medals on bereaved mothers and wives, made his famous balcony speeches, and tried to whip up morale with posters, parades of the youth organizations, and every other trick in his bag. But it didn't work.

Then came the North African campaign, when the Italian soldiers surrendered in large masses, plainly revealing their war-weariness. The invasion of Sicily moved so swiftly, not only because of the weight of armaments, but because of feeble resistance at many points. Everywhere the people welcomed the Allied troops.

When Rome was bombed, Mussolini's long hypnotic spell was broken. If he could not even protect the capital, said the people, how could he hope for victory? The Italians were tired of war, tired of privations and restrictions. Il Duce got out, just in time, according to majority opinion, to avert a civil war.

FASCISM ON THE RUN-A photograph showing Mussolini setting the pace for his army officers during maneuvers in September, 1938, ironically symbolizes the hasty exit of Fascism in July, 1943. This time, too, the running was fittingly led by Il Duce.

A SUBDUED AND TIRED OLD man, Mussolini, nearing 60, met Hitler a few months ago in a war conference. The former dictator, who once regarded "der Feuhrer" with disdain as an upstart imitator, has been forced to recognize the German as his master. For the last four years. Italy has been practical-

Possible Nazi Triangular Defense Line

Italy's exit from the war, military experts believe, would force Germany to abandon Greece, Jugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria, thus losing 600,000 satellite troops and necessitating a 6,000-mile defense line with about 5,500,000 men. The line may run triangularly from Narvik, Norway, to Bordeaux, France, to Odessa in the Ukraine, then back north to Narvik. Neutral Sweden and Switzerland fall inside the triangle but Sweden has announced that such movements must end August 20.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, has issued the following statements and suggestions concerning the control and prevention of poliomyelitis which is assuming epidemic proportions in certain sections of the state.

Until recently it was generally believed that this infection was transmitted by means of discharges from the respiratory tract. It is now believed that poliomyelitis is primarily another of the several gastrointestinal infections. Therefore, control measures must emphasize clean-up campaigns and improvements in sanitation.

Strict sanitary measures must be observed in all communities. I read the papers every day, Stringent efforts should be made the banks. But undismayed, systems immediately. Safe wate

Divide Smut's Life a clear mathere is rejoicing in all the Allied capitals. Back at the turn of the century no Boer military leader fought the British more bitterly than did this now bald and grizzled warrior of 73. Often hungry, often shoeless, he waged guerrilla warfare of the toughest sort then. Since that fighting ended, however, he has battled steadfastly on the side of the Empire.

It was he who crushed a Boer uprising at the start of World War I and went on to conquer the Germans in East Africa and become a British general. He saved South Africa for the United Nations, too, in 1939, routing the pro-Nazi forces of the late Gen. J. B. M. Son of a poor and tough Dutch farmer, who trekked across the veldt with a Bible in one hand and a gun in the other, Smuts had reached his teens before he could read. Later he won high honors as a student at Cambridge university. But her hair is black, short-cut and crinkly; her cheeks pass inspection easily with only a powderpuff's help-and her eyes! Her smile is lively, when it comes. And from any compass point she is not bad, not bad at all.

On the day she was sworn in, her smile seemed a little ironic while beaming Secretary Knox administered the oath. Maybe, however, it was only held in check by her usual

Old Buildings Can Be Weatherproofed

Asphalt Roofing Paper Will Seal Up Chinks

Protection against the weather is vital to the health and productivity of livestock. Poultry houses, hog houses and barns should be proof against infiltrations of rain or chilly drafts. As lumber is critical material the farmer must try to make present structures do for the duration. One way to do this is to lay asphalt roll roofing right over the old walls of weather-beaten farm buildings. This material is non-critical and easily applied if a few basic rules are followed. To get real service from the new wall covering, however, it must be properly applied.

The choice of nails is very important. Only rustproof nails should be used and these should always be driven in straight to prevent their tearing the roofing material. Special care should be taken not to drive them into cracks or knot holes when working over old sheathing, or they will work loose. Large head roofing nails are best for nailing

GOD GIVES LAWS FOR HIS PEOPLE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 23:1-9; Galatians 3:23-28; 5:13-14.

GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.—Luke 10:27.

Our God is a God of order. To have order we must have law, hence God gave His people not only the fundamental law of humanity's moral sense of right and wrong, and the Ten Commandments which are the basis of all codes of law, but also those detailed regulations needed for the law's interpretation.

The law of God was not intended to establish a legalistic system of salvation by work, but, as revealed in the New Testament, it was to guide and bring us to Christ, in whom it finds its true fulfillment. These are matters of fundamental importance and suggest the need of a careful study of our three Scripture portions.

I. The Law Established (Exod

At Sinai the Israelites were brought into the presence of God in a dramatic and solemn assembly to hear the words of God from the mountain. These were later written as the Ten Commandments on the tables of stone. Here they learned in a new way of the majesty, the righteousness, and the love

The Ten Commandments are recognized as the foundation on which all legal codes, ancient and modern, are built. They cover man's relation to God and his relation to his fellow man. They are unsurpassed as a comprehensive and compact statement of the moral

This portion gives us an idea of the type of laws provided by God for His people and reveals "the moral flavor of the whole divine legisla-

The thing which impresses us as we read of the divine requirements of justice toward all, of love for one's enemies, of refraining from false witness, of refusing all bribery, is that God's standards are very high.

God's law is good, it is right, of pose than providing direction for We learn of that as we hear II. The Law Described (Gal. 3:23-

What was the purpose of the law? It was and is a servant of God to lead the needy sinner to Christ. > When one trusts Christ he comes into the place of a son. He enters upon a spiritual maturity which makes it no longer necessary to have a tutor directing and disciplining him. He has entered into a new relationship by faith, and is a child of God. Does this mean that the law has been set aside or abrogated? Not at all. Jesus Himself said, "Think not that I am come to destroy the law I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill" (Matt. 5:17). This is our third point. III. The Law Fulfilled (Gal. 5:13, 14) Paul had warned against the folly of legalism. In Christ men are free fect costume for general wear stretch it horizontally and allow it from a slavish bondage to the law. But men, desiring to substitute license for liberty, were using the grace of God as an excuse for selfindulgence and sin.

quirements of the Old Testament

Liberty to the Christian is not a freedom to do as he pleases, not "an occasion to the flesh" that it may live in selfishness and sin. We are free only to be bound by the blessed law of love.

The tablets of stone were (and still are) important. Their laws have never been set aside or withdrawn. But in Christ God has done what He spoke of through Jeremiah the prophet, He has put His law in the Christian's inner being,

THINGS IN AFRICA

(Excerpts from a letter from 1st Lieut. C. L. Boyd, brother of W. W. Boyd of McLean, published in the Henrietta Independent).

Dear Home Folks:

North Africa certainly is a revelation to me, the old Texas boy. who like to have never left his home State, and remembered just enough of his 7th grade geography to become confused and bewildered upon debarking from the boat.

Imagine my surprise when instead of sand dunes, oases, mirages etc., we found irrigated fields that vould bring nothing but exclanations of admiration from any-Of course, there are some poor sections of land, but surorisingly few. To see Buicks, Chevcolets and Ford cars (in limited numbers, of course) was a surrise. Architecture presented the greatest source of surprise; there seing no lumber necessitates the ise of stucco and stone. The vhite buildings with rounded cornrs often present a spectacle comparable to a section of the Texas Centennial. The most interesting house I have had the privilege of eeing during my rather extensiv ravels in North Africa (and it s the only residence I have been n) was, of all things, the meeting place of Mr. Churchill and our President. Electric equipment of many kinds serves the modern hospital. Busy doctors and nurses use it every day for diagnosis and treatment, without even pausing to think of the constant supply of electricity that keeps it operating.

But electric power isn't automatic. The experienced men and women of your electric company are the folks who have made it dependable.

They've made it plentiful, too-so that America's war plants have far more power than those of any other nation. And they've made it cheap-so that the average home enjoys more than twice as much electricity for the same money it paid a few years ago.

But our planet and ships that were supposed to some didn't appear, and Lieut. Kelly's beat and the one Lieut. Bulkeley was riding in were forced into hiding.

CHAPTER XIII

"They didn't get us then," said "At midnight our escape be-Kelly. The destroyer lost me with its light temporarily, so I did a ninety-degree turn so as to pass astern of her and lose her. I continued on that course five minutes, heading directly away from her, then to the left in another ninetydegree turn, and I started looking around the ship.

"I found Reynolds, my port gunper (he was also cook), had been shot through the throat and shoul-I got bim down below and had the chief torpedoman and the radioman give him first aid.

"I found our mast had been shot couldn't use our radio for sending. its guns were out of action.

"Our objective now was to get Reynolds to a doctor. We were going like a bat out of hell. I couldn't see the 41 boat-it was so dark I couldn't even see the shore. I just had to look at the compass and make mental estimates as to how far we had gone in various directions since I last had seen land I recognized, and then guess where we now were. I thought we were near the narrow channel between the islands; would another Jap destroyer be laying for me there?

"Suddenly, directly ahead, a searchlight came on, less than mile away-a Jap steaming full speed at me. I barely had time to give a hard left and a hard right and we went scooting past each other at a relative speed of sixty knots before he had a chance to fire a shot. He turned, holding me down with his light like a bug under a pin, and started chasing, blazing away with big guns-two splashes four hundred feet away, two more fifty feet away. I started zigging to squirm out of that lightwouldn't let my gunners fire a shot; I was getting away, all right, but he kept firing for im minutes, although his accuracy was going to hell. By 1:30 I could barely see his light, which was waving around, searching the water back of us.

"I kept on, wide-open, wondering how we'd ever get in, since we had no charts, it was black as pitch, and I knew coral reefs must be all around us. At four o'clock I slowed down and headed into where I hoped the beach was, taking soundings. The water suddenly shoaled off and bump! we were aground-a pinnacle of coral under her belly. Looking down with flashlights we could see the water was twenty feet deep with coral pinnacles all around us about every twenty feet, like a petrifled forest, rising to within five feet of the surface.

"Studying the shore line, I realized we were about ten miles too far up the coast. I sent Ensign Richardson ashore in a rowboat to send an army doctor and ambulance out from Cebu for Reynolds, and also s tug for us.

"For the next hour we sallied shiprocking it, trying to jiggle it off the pinnacle, backing with the engines and finally managed to roll it off.

"Reynolds was feeling fine now. I'd suddenly remembered a little present Peggy had given me on the Rock, went down to my locker and brought it up for him-a couple of todein-tablets and a sedative pill. Now he was sitting topside smoking. although he couldn't drink because water would leak out the hole h his throat. Then I gave her the gun and started trying to zigzag in that narrow four-hundred-footwide channel, meanwhile giving word to our machine guns to start firing.

"They bombed us for thirty minutes, and the farthest bomb was thirty feet away. We would wait for the bomb release, see it start falling, then I'd give hard rudder and it would miss by a few feet. All the while we had to keep in this narrow channel so we couldn't be beached helplessly on a coral reef. and work our way down it toward port, where presently some of the newly arrived American planes would see what was going on and come to help. We didn't doubt, of course, that they'd arrived. Four Jap seaplanes were after us, working in rotation—undoubtedly those from the second cruiser the army had reported as being around. "When their bombs were exhausted they began diving down just over our mast stub to strafe us. With their first salvo they killed Harris. the boat was sinking, so there was nothing to do but beach her, if we were to save the wounded men. I headed her over towards nearby Kawit Island, and there she beached hard and fast. There were about twelve hundred yards of shallow surf, four feet of water over an uneven bottom of coral and sand, and then the palms. The planes kept up their strafing as we lay there, but there was nothing to do now but dodge white we got the wounded ashore.

"I went down into the engine room and there was Hunter, my chief machinist's mate, with his arm practically blown off-a bullet had entered his elbow and gone out a three inch hole in his forearm, but he was still manning the engines. I gave the order to abandon ship. It turned out that there were only three of us unhit, so it was a job getting the wounded out while the Japanese dived to rake us. I wanted o, and also I wanted to find out what had happened to our big American Offensive we had been asked to be part of, and that air umbrella which should have protected us this morning.

"The general had been having a conference at the bar of the American Club, sitting with some other officers and some civilians who were now all having a drink. REPAIR SCHOOL BUSSES NOW School authorities and school bus operators have been warned by ODT against delaying the overhauling of school busses. Lastminute efforts to obtain necessary repairs may result in busses being laid up when schools open this fall. The shortage of skilled mechanics and the scarcity of repair parts may result in unexpected delays, and a check-up may revea that some busses cannot be re ties or school bus operators contact local ODT district maintenance advisory committees to help solve problems that may arise.
