Here Are Candidates For Offices of State

Eleven men have announced for U. S. Senate office now held by W. Lee O'Daniel, and eight for the position of governor of Texas—and chances are you never heard of half of them.

But politics, both over the state and locally, are now causing more interest. Here's the line-up for the state offices—many names you probably don't see until the primary for balloting comes:

State Superintendent L. A. Woods and Attorney General Price Daniel are unopposed for reelection.

For state representative, 122nd district: Grainger McElhany of Wheeler, and Carl Morris of Clarendon. Vincent Kersey of Pampa this week withdrew from the race.

McLean Nine Downs Briscoe By 13-4 Score

McLean's baseball club came through with another victory Sunday afternoon on the local diamond, downing Briscoe 13 to 4. The victory gives the local nine a three out of five average in the West Texas-Oklahoma league play.

Next league game will be with Sweetwater at Sweetwater Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Business Manager Floyd Guthrie said.

In the Briscoe game, two scores were made by Guthrie, by Bill Carpenter, and by Clyde Andrews. Tallying one each were Shirley Claborn, Bailey, Groves, H. Smith, Tindall, and P. Graham.

New '49 Fords Go on Display Here Friday

The 1949 Fords, embracing some of the most drastic changes ever made by an automobile manufacturer in one year, will be on display Friday at the Dysart Motor company in McLean.

Henry Ford II, in taking over the reign of control from his late grandfather, has done away with many of the features retained by the pioneer auto maker, and has added new and advantageous features to the '49 Fords.

One of the most drastic changes is, of course, in the body styling. The new Fords, following the trend established by several of the higher-priced postwar cars, has a massive hood, with "flow-through" fenders to the rear. More visibility is made possible with the installation of larger windows.

The new Ford, however, is lower in height than any previous model Ford, thus also following the postwar trend in auto-making.

Throughout the years, the makers of Fords have stuck to transverse springs, but the '49 models have left that tradition behind. The rear springs are now longitudinal leafs, and the front springs are coils, systems which were adopted by most other car manufacturers some time ago.

Two models, the six-cylinder and the eight, will be produced. Prices will range up to $125 higher than the 1948 models, Ford has announced.

Formal Opening of New Building Of Cicero Smith To Be Held

Formal opening of the new retail store of the Cicero Smith Lumber company will be held Friday and Saturday, Carl Jones, manager of the firm, announced this week.

The new building one of the most modern in McLean, is both longer and wider than the old structure. The old building was moved east, and a new addition constructed on the front. The building was also made about eight feet wider.

Interior of the building has been finished in natural wood colors. New and modern fixtures have also been installed to give more and better display features.

A number of new items have been added to the store's stock, including many additional hardware items and household appliances.

On display during the open house will be new model Kel-

McMurtry Wheat Averages Out 33 Bushels to Acre

This may not be a wheat country, but here is one example of a good yield.

J. L. McMurtry and son have just finished cutting 60 acres of wheat on their place 12 miles southeast of town, the place known as the old Stokely ranch headquarters, and the yield averaged 33 bushels to the acre.

The wheat tested out about 60 1/2 pounds, and was very dry, with the last load testing only 9.77 moisture content.

S. R. Jones, buyer for the Paul Allison company of Fort Worth, paid $2 per bushel for part of the grain, and the remainder is being stored.

Scholastics in Gray County Show Decrease

Three of the four school districts in Gray County—McLean, Lefors, and Alanreed—showed decreases in the number of scholastics for 1948, according to a report released last week-end by Huey Laycock, county school superintendent. Pampa was the only district to show an increase.

McLean's number of scholastics for 1948 is 475, as compared to 520 in 1947. Lefors dropped from 429 to 422, and Alanreed dropped from 84 to 76. Pampa showed a gain from 4,018 in 1947 to 4,100 this year.

Laycock stated that $297,065 was to be allotted to the county schools during the 1948-49 term. That allotment amounts to $55 per student.

The total number of children during the past school year was eight less than the previous. This year there were 5,401 children enrolled as compared to 5,409 last year.

Hauling Rates Now Standard

Miro Pakan, owner of the Miro Pakan Livestock Transportation company, was informed this week that all rates for commercial hauling between incorporated towns are now standardized.

Pakan stated that the rates are set by the Texas Railroad Commission, and violation by either the carrier or the one for whom the hauling is done makes both parties subject to penalty.

In an ad in this issue of The News, Pakan calls attention to the new rates, and states that the rates may be obtained upon request from the Railroad Commission or any carrier.

Recreation Board Plans Three Phases

Plans for this summer's recreation program are being made, but due to lack of funds available for the program this year, members of the recreation board feel that the work carried out will necessarily be small.

No funds will be available for the program to operate on until current taxes are collected next fall. Consequently the program will be greatly limited during the first year, it was explained.

Members of the recreation board appointed recently by the city council, are Logan Cummings, W. C. Meharg, W. S. Lentz, John Cooper, and J. M. Payne.

Present plans are to include three phases of activity—the opening of the wading pool at the City Park for small children, lighting of the tennis courts, and setting up of a "twilight" softball field on the east half of the City Park.

Board members stated that it is their hope that other features may be added soon, but the lack of funds with which to operate will curtail these activities. Lighting of the softball field is greatly desired, but this will be impossible at present unless some other means of financing the project is worked out.

Band Classes Announced by New Director

Schedule of band classes, with sessions for both beginners and advanced music students, was announced this week by William W. Miller, newly-employed band director for McLean schools.

The schedule is as follows: Mondays and Thursdays: 1:30 to 2:30, beginners classes; 2:30 to 3:30, advanced students.

More students can be accommodated, the new band director said. Any high school or grade school child wishing to take the lessons or enter the band work, which is conducted free of charge, should contact Miller at the band house.

All uniforms and music, and all school-owned instruments should be returned to the school as soon as possible, Superintendent Logan Cummings stated. The uniforms and instruments are needed now, so that they can be put in order by next fall.

Withdrawal by Kersey leaves the campaign for that office between Grainger McElhany of Wheeler, and Carl B. Morris of Clarendon. The deadline for filing for the office has already passed.

Top O' Texas Fishing Club Plans Fish Rodeo for Lake McClellan

A fishing rodeo, with fish tagged for prizes from merchants in McLean, Pampa, Groom, and other towns of the area, will be held at Lake McClellan beginning July 1 and continuing thru September 30.

The rodeo is being sponsored by the Top O' Texas Fishing Club, Bert Howell, who is in charge of the concessions at the lake, said.

George Graham of McLean is a member of the prizes committee, and will have charge of obtaining prizes here for the tagged fish, Howell stated. Any merchant wanting to give prizes should contact Graham, select the type of fish he wants tagged, and list the prize with the local committee. Prizes must be in by June 25.

$85,000 More To Be Needed For Structure

An election seeking the issuance of an additional $85,000 in bonds to be used in aiding in the construction of the Gray County hospital has been called for June 30 by the county commissioners court.

The decision to call the election was made Monday morning, when petitions bearing the signatures of more than 10 per cent of the qualified property tax-paying voters were presented to the court.

County Clerk Charlie Thut reported that he had ceased checking validity of the signatures when he found he had passed the required 10 per cent mark. The court was to continue Monday afternoon, however.

The petitions were circulated last week-end, not only in Pampa but also in McLean, Alanreed, and Lefors.

The county voters approved a $500,000 bond issue about two years ago. Since that time, federal aid for the construction of hospitals has been approved, the legislation enabling the federal government to spend one dollar to every two spent by the group building the hospital.

This gave Gray County slightly more than $800,000 to build its hospital, but no bids were submitted low enough for the commissioners court to meet. Therefore, several citizens over the county circulated the petitions to indicate that the citizens desire the 100-bed hospital rather than cutting it back to a 70-bed institution.

King Is Named Local Dealer For Oldsmobile

Harris King, owner of the King furniture store and distributor for Ford tractors and farm machinery, this week announced that he has been appointed as dealer for Oldsmobile cars in the McLean area.

The new automobile agency will be known as the King Motor company, and will be located in King's building at the corner of Main Street and Highway 66.

A new Oldsmobile will be on display there this week-end, King stated. The front end of the north half of the building will be used for the auto display room.

Work was being done this week on remodeling the interior of the building. A partition has been constructed to divide the display room from the furniture department, and an office is being built immediately behind the display room.

The furniture department will be in the rear part of the building. King is now utilizing space at the rear of the building formerly occupied by the Barr Automotive Service. O. L. Barr, owner of that firm, has moved his retail store to the building across the street from his former location.

Mealtime Magic

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

Always looking for a way to dress up ordinary vegetables and make them more colorful and flavorful? Then top your vegetables off with a sauce that's tops in taste-appeal. (It's fine for eggs and fish, too.)

- Hollandaise Sauce
- 3 egg yolks
 - 4 tablespoons boiling water
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice, gently warmed
 - 1/2 cup fortified margarine, melted
 - dash cayenne
 - salt to taste

Place small bowl over, not into, a pan of gently boiling water. Drop the egg yolks in bowl and beat with rotary beater until they begin to thicken. Continue to beat, adding the boiling water, a tablespoon at a time, until well beaten in. Beat in the warm lemon juice. Remove bowl from over the boiling water; continue to beat and gradually add the melted margarine. Add cayenne and salt to taste. Keep in warm, not hot, place until ready to serve. Letters From—READERS

I read of killing out grasshoppers with poison bran. I am relating a bit of my experience with the hoppers.

On getting a new place where the land was tight, I planted peach seeds, only as a test to learn if fruit trees would do well. I saw they did well, went through a drouth in good shape, so I ventured to plant an orchard and vineyard and had it thriving just fine.

The next summer the grass all dried up and the grasshoppers ate every bit of bark off the young fruit trees and vines. Just killed it all out and proceeded to eat the green leaves and peaches on the 17-year-old peach trees. Just leaving the peach seeds on the trees.

Turkeys would have eaten up the hoppers and saved the orchard in Donley County.

Some years later at my place in Dewey County, Okla., where I had a pasture of 120 acres and across the road one of 160 acres windmill, and around 6 and 8-foot water tanks two feet deep, I would be several years before there were many. I think if turkeys would get busy with turkeys, poison bran would not be needed. G. P. Graves

A man at my place one day said he was herding a bunch of turkeys. He was one of three men on the 160-acre place. They had but one team. He said there were only grasshoppers and there was not a hopper on the 160-acre place they rented. The turkeys had eaten every hopper on that place last year.

Drowned hoppers lined the surface water on the tanks. I skinned them off and threw a lot of them out. Hoppers were the worst I had ever seen. That family and two others ran turkeys on the pastures and they were soon all gone. There were no hoppers in the pastures any more.

Looks like when the turkeys clean them out, there will be no hoppers the next year, and it

VETERAN'S QUIZ ON HOSPITALIZATION

Q Will VA pay for hospitalization in a private hospital?
 A It will if the request has preadmission approval of VA and the treatment is for a service-connected disability.

Q Which veterans are entitled to hospitalization in a VA hospital?
 A Those with service-connected disabilities have top priority. Treatment may be given to nonservice cases if the veteran cannot afford treatment elsewhere and a bed is available.

Q How does a veteran apply for treatment in a VA hospital?
 A Application should be made, either in person or by letter, to the nearest VA office. In an emergency, a relative or friend may telephone a VA hospital or office and reverse the charges.

Q Are dependents of veterans disabled in service entitled to free hospital treatment?
 A No. Under existing laws, only veterans are eligible for VA hospital care.

Q Does the veteran have a choice of hospitals once treatment is approved?
 A Usually the patient is assigned to the VA hospital nearest his home. But he may be moved to a special center in another section of the country if his disability warrants.

For complete information contact your nearest Veterans Administration office.

a ranch Voyles recently bought. It was good land but drought-stricken. The cattle were skinny and the water holes dry. "You'll spend a fortune trying to hold on," a friend warned him.

A month after the ink was dry on the bill-of-sale a whopping five-inch rain came that filled the water holes and brought the grass out.

Voyles intends to cross-breed Angus and Brahman cattle.

"Brahmans," he says, "come air-conditioned. They sweat through their skin. The English breed sweats like dogs, through their tongues." If the Voyles luck holds out he'll have a breed of cattle that sweat on all fours.

Voyles was born in Parker County on December 10, 1902, and moved with his parents to McLean in the Panhandle at a very tender age. On his seventh birthday the family decided the younger should start his schooling.

The family lived about two blocks from the school house. A few days before the youngster was to start his classwork the school house burned.

The family's next move was to Ward County, where the elder Voyles had bought a ranch.

MARILLO

Claude Voyles, Once Resident Of McLean, Has Golden Touch

Editor's Note: Many of the old-timers of McLean and the surrounding area will probably recall Claude Wendel Voyles, who lived here with his parents shortly after the turn of the century. This article appeared in a recent issue of the Austin American-Statesman, and is reprinted here because Voyles was known to many old-timers here.

Claude Wendel Voyles is no Midas, but he has a golden touch. At the age of 46 he has done right well by himself and any number of associates. Such stablemen as Dan Moody, Joe Wheeler, and Jim Swearingen have been known to take a blind ride with this oil and cattle man because of his flair for making money.

Voyles bears up well under this burden of responsibility. Conscience and a desire to maintain his reputation cause Voyles to nearly always see that those who play ball with him at least get on base.

Once a few friends sank some money in an adventure that turned out to be a dry hole. Shortly thereafter and in another area Voyles struck pay dirt. He handed the losers some stock in this going concern although they had not invested a penny in the effort.

Voyles does not depreciate his own efforts. But he possesses a disarming frankness that certainly puts him out of the class of the West Texan who struck it rich in oil one day, after grubbing a bare living from the soil all his life. A few days after receiving his first big royalty check this West Texan rushed into print as the fountain of all wisdom.

It is not so with Voyles. He chases off after football games with the same vehemence that he tracks down possible oil acreage. He is the first to admit that it takes a lot of luck along with enterprise and shrewdness to get in the chips.

That is where the golden touch comes in.

Voyles' first fling in oil was in East Texas during the depression. He raised $25,000, which wasn't hay in those days, and took over a 25 acre tract. Several times he could have doubled or tripled his money. But he held on until 1936 and sold when the market was better.

With money to jingle Voyles heard there was a play for oil in Illinois. East Texas was gobbled up. The first well he sunk was a producer and opened up a new field. He still has his Illinois holdings.

Another piece of luck concerns

COUNTY HOSPITAL

ABOUT TWO YEARS ago, taxpayers of Gray County approved by a vote of approximately three to one the issuance of $550,000 in bonds, proceeds from which were to be used in constructing a county hospital.

Voters of McLean very strongly opposed the issuance of the bonds, but despite this opposition from the south part of the county the bond issue passed easily.

The county commissioners court recently received bids for a 100-bed hospital, to be paid for with the bond money and aid from the federal government. The federal government will put in one dollar for every two furnished by the county.

These bids which were received were all higher than the commissioners had money for. Some $85,000 more in county money is needed to construct a 100-bed hospital, or the commissioners will have to cut the size back to a 70-bed hospital to have sufficient money available.

Needless to say, a hospital in Pampa is a great necessity. That city has had two private institutions. One was supposed to have closed some time ago, and the operators of the other want to close it, too. The commissioners, as well as a lot of other people, feel that a 100-bed hospital is necessary, and that a 70-bed hospital would be inadequate.

How McLean citizens will stand on the bond issue is not known. They were very much against the original issuance, but the sentiment seems to have changed somewhat. Many feel that they might as well go along with Pampa, since the voters there can easily out-ballot McLean citizens anyway if they want the additional bond issue.

LES

BY LESTER

Last week Quentin Williams, district soil conservationist of Pampa, stopped me on the street and asked me to go with him to the "experimental" farm belonging to Peb Everest. The farm, as most of you know, is only a couple of miles north of town.

A couple of years ago, Peb, working with the district soil conservationist, planted the tract of worn-out land, about 50 acres in all, in African (or weeping) lovegrass. The first year the results were not too good, but the grass got a fair stand.

Last year, Peb harvested the grass for seed, and made a fair return since the seed sell for quite a high price. This year, Peb will do pretty well on the seed, and it's almost time to harvest the grass now.

The lovegrass is perennial—that is, it grows out from the roots year after year. It isn't like Johnson grass—plowing the lovegrass under will kill it out.

But the remarkable thing is how the grass is growing on such poor land. Quentin says the land was blown out, worn-out, and not much for anything a couple of years ago. They used some ammonium nitrate on it for fertilizer to begin with, although there were several spots where none of the fertilizer was used. On these spots, the grass is just as large and just as thick, but not quite as green. In a few more years, Quentin figures that the grass will have built the soil back up, where normal crop production in "money" crops can be realized.

On the south end of the plot Quentin has planted a few other species of grasses. He was calling them off so fast I couldn't get all the names, but there was King Ranch blue stem, native Texas blue grass, and others. These were planted this year, and due to the dry weather they have not come out much as yet. But they are on their way.

Peb owns another plot just across the road west of the lovegrass. This land, too, is blown out, and no topsoil remains.

Quentin and Peb have planted most of it in one kind of grass or another, and some of the weeds are beginning to be crowded out. Quentin figures by next year, this field will be beginning to show progress.

I talked at length with the district soil conservationist, and he says more and more farmers are becoming soil conservation minded. He stated that they are now realizing that only through proper and well-planned conservation practices can they hope to re-build their soil to the point where production will pay off. Too many farms now are producing such small amounts that the farmer is barely realizing enough for a living. Some are not even doing that well, he added.

The longer I live the more I realize that soil conservation must be one of the main projects of all people in the U. S. in the coming years. When you stop to think about it, you can easily see that practically all of the things we treasure so well are results of the soil—not only food but also many, many other things.

Mother Nature has been kind to us in America, in providing productive soil. But apparently Mother Nature would like to have something in return for all the rich and nutritious foodstuffs, etc., which we have been taking from her these many years.

Little news notes from the business section: J. A. Meador has his nice, neat, new cafe open. Carl Jones is staging open house at the remodeled and beautified Cicero Smith Lumber company building this week-end.

The Dysart Motor company will have the new '49 Fords, which have been drastically changed, on display tomorrow. Clevy Hancock at the Greyhound Drug has had his neon sign repainted and repaired. Concrete has been poured in the space between the sidewalk and the curb in front of the Shedrick Jewelry, Orchid Beauty Shop, and the McLean Electric Shop; and also in front of Cooper's Foods.

O. L. Barr has moved his Barr Automotive Service business across the street to the building he formerly used as a warehouse. Harris King is using the space formerly used by Barr as a display room for furniture, and will use the front end of the building for displaying new Oldsmobiles, for which he now has the agency.

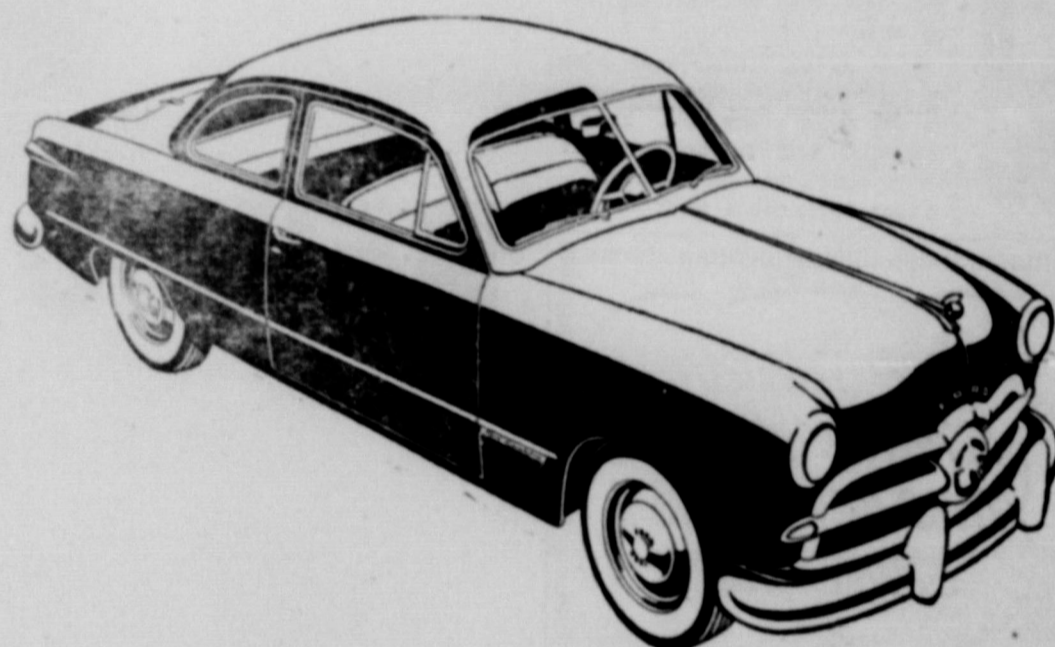

I probably missed a number of other little items, but maybe I'll think of them by next week.

Wall Paper Brightens Early American Settings

Provincial furnishings are more popular today than ever before, and there's no need for the cold bare surfaces which our forefathers put up with. This attractive dining alcove would be equally suitable in a living room or as one end of the kitchen. The walls are brightened considerably by the clear, fresh wall paper showing luscious ripe red strawberries and crisp green leaves. The paper covers the valance frame around the door. The floor is spattered in typical Early American fashion with black, grey, green, and red. The sawbuck table, built with attached benches, is painted white. The cushions, upholstered in vivid strawberry red sailcloth, add sparkle, and the student's lamps with green shades accent the whole. An old pine cupboard provides for displaying choice pieces of old china as well as being a good storage place.

In a world filled with so many lurid and disturbing events, it is somehow reassuring to turn to the contemplation of the life of a man like my friend, Wiley Akins. His isn't so much a spectacular career as a record of step-by-step progress because he was ready for each new and enlarged opportunity.

He was born on a farm in Hill County in 1903, one of a family of eight boys and five girls. After school he worked in a grocery store; during summers, he plowed, chopped cotton, picked cotton, milked, and the other tasks of farm life. After graduating from Bynum school and Hillsboro high Akins went to work for a wholesale grocery in the office but "part-time" on the road. He showed such an aptitude for selling that soon he was a full-time salesman.

For six years, Akins was territory salesman for one of the largest feed companies in the United States.

After running his own wholesale and retail feed store in Tyler for a year, he sold out to become East Texas sales representative for Burrus Feed Mills. A year later he was made the company's sales manager and, in 1935, just a year after that, he became general manager.

At that time, the company's traveling sales force consisted of only two men. Today, the sales force numbers 30 and the company's products are sold extensively in 12 states and a dozen foreign countries. In addition to the mills in Dallas, McKinney and San Benito, soon Akins will have the thrill of seeing Burrus' new mill, in Fort Worth, open—one of the biggest—and the most modern—feed mills in all the world.

Busy and successful business executive, Wiley Akins finds time for the duties of good citizenship. He is on the Baylor University board of trustees, was chairman of the board of deacons of his church for five years, makes frequent speeches on "the training of youth" through 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America, and is an honorary member of the FFA, an honor bestowed by the boys themselves in recognition of outstanding service.

Wiley Akins says, "A man can do little without friends."

If a writer swipes from another writer, that's plagiarism. But if he swipes from many writers, that's research. (I don't remember who I swiped that from!)

And Kin Hubbard declared the hardest thing to do is to disguise your feelings when you put a flock of relatives on the train going back home.

Mrs. Claude Ewing and grandsons Tom and Mike of Elk City, Okla., were visitors last week with Mrs. Ewing's mother, Mrs. Pearl Curry.

C. L. Ford of Colton, Calif., visited last week with his sister, Mrs. Pearl Curry.

Norma Jeanne Wode returned last week from Crete, Nebr., where she had been on a business trip.

NATIONAL POLIO RATE TAKES SHARP RISE

New York.—A sharp rise in the number of polio cases throughout the country in the last month was reported last week by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The institute announced it was preparing for possible widespread outbreaks in densely populated areas this summer.

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director, said 514 cases of polio had been reported in May, compared with 148 cases in May, 1947. The number of cases this year is 13 per cent above the same period last year, he said.

Recent cases, Van Riper added, already have exceeded the early rate of the 1946 epidemic. This year the most serious outbreaks have been in Texas, North Carolina, Iowa, South Dakota, and California.

Typoid Germ 'Hitch-Hiker'

A warning against the hitch-hiking germ of typhoid fever has been issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. They must catch a ride from an infected person to the well person; this is generally accomplished by water, milk, flies, fingers, or food. Every case is contracted by way of the mouth and digestive system.

A carrier is a person who has had typhoid fever at one time and who even after recovery carries the germs of the disease in the urine and discharge of the bowels. Carriers who are careless in their personal habits are likely to infect any food they handle with unwashed hands. Some of the most serious and far-reaching outbreaks of the disease have been caused by drinking milk or eating foods that have been handled by carriers. Persons may be carriers without knowing it.

Typhoid fever is unnecessary and preventable. Every case is due either to community negligence or to the ignorance or carelessness of some individual. Persons planning a vacation or trip where sanitation may not be rigidly enforced should protect themselves against this disease by being vaccinated. Inoculation with typhoid vaccine, a week apart, is all that is necessary to secure protection against this disease for two years. The purity of water, milk, or food cannot be judged by looking at it, so the best thing to do is to play safe and have your physician protect you.

Lester Dyart, Mr. and Mrs. Woody Wilkerson, and Donna Sue Graham returned Sunday from a trip to Pauls Valley, Okla. They accompanied Mrs. Dyart to her home here after a three weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Williams.

... came in and ordered a
... shake. "I gave the boy a
... and a look that meant this was my meat. I finally sold him 15 cents worth of trimmings."

The boy drank his soda and had two dimes on the counter.
Instead of laying a nickel in change down, Voyles put down a package of gum. "Thank you and come back again," said Voyles, who got busy as a bee because the customer was doing some hard thinking.
About an hour later the country boy came back and ordered a coke.
"Wouldn't you like a frosted coke?" said Voyles.
"No, just a coke," said the customer.
"How about a squirt of vanila?" said Voyles.
"I just want a plain coke," said the customer.
When the lad finished he fished the package of chewing gum from his pocket, laid it on the counter, and walked out.
When Voyles was 14 he went to a party and met Madeline Williams. "I asked to see her home," said Voyles, "but some old boy had beat me to it."
A few days later Claude rode by her home on his bicycle and said he would like to take her home from the next party they attended. He has been taking her home every since. They were married in 1927.
Claude took his wife to Catalina on their honeymoon. "You know Claude," Madeline Voyles says of this adventure. "He was on the boat first, and knew all the ropes when some friends showed up. There was a girl pretty enough to be a movie star singing alone—so Claude asked if we wouldn't all like to meet her."
In his most gracious and naive manner Voyles swept off his hat and said, "Haven't we met before?"
"We surely have, Claude," she said. This so took Claude aback that he hasn't to this good day figured out who she was.
In his hey-day Voyles frontal attack was to feign surprise, cock his head to one side, and start speaking in sharp, jumpy sentences that had neither noun nor verb. He could touch a dozen subjects without once bringing the matter under discussion into the picture.
After the victim was reduced to impotence Voyles would discuss the subject on his own grounds.
This was all in horseplay which he dearly loves. Even in those days when it came to business Voyles cut through all perflage and started off at bed-rock.
When he entered UT there was a job at the Co-Op awaiting him.
Claude's teachers in New Mexico had written laudatory letters which the management couldn't turn down. When the Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil company wanted him as bulk agent for their products, he stipulated that they spent some money on outlets first. They did.

Voyles is a stem-winder behind any drive, and has chaired his share. The Boy Scouts, Red Cross, YWCA, war bond shows, all benefited by the experience he got first at UT when turning in the most pledges on the stadium drive.
When Voyles graduated from the Clovis high school, he delivered the class oration called "Common Sense." A man named Carl Hatch was a judge, and was impressed enough to offer Voyles a spot in his law firm after graduation from UT.
This fitted the Voyles plan of returning to New Mexico and working up to governor of the state. Carl Hatch did become governor, and later a U. S. senator. Voyles settled in Austin, at 2102 Exposition Boulevard.
There are two children, Jack, 13, and Sharon, 10.
Madeline explains it this way:
"Claude simply came to Texas and fell in love with the state."
Nobody doubts that Claude Voyles could have been governor of New Mexico if he had set his head on it.
Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bragg and daughters spent the week-end in Paducah with Mr. and Mrs. John L. Liedtke and son Johnny David.
Mr. and Mrs. Dan Deen and daughter Carole Ann of Merkel arrived here Sunday for a few days visit with friends.
H. W. Griesby and Marvin and Dot Griesby visited their son and brother Norman in Amarillo Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Vester Dowell have returned from a vacation trip to Alice, Mertzon, and Corpus Christi. They were accompanied home by their granddaughters,
Deanna and Mickey Sue Mc-Donald.

BOBBY BURNS

JEANNE CARROLL

Clarendon Plans Annual Rodeo, Celebration for Fourth of July

Bobby Burns, the talented young trumpet player who has appeared with such name-bands as Charlie Spivak, Al Donahue, Bobby Sherwood, and Herbie Kaye, is bringing his own nine piece orchestra to the Clarendon Opera House for one night only on Friday, July 2.
Burns, like many other capable musicians, spent 12 years on the road but evidently tired of the strenuous road work involved while playing with big bands. He now makes his permanent home in Amarillo, and devotes his spare time to playing private parties, dances, and benefits around the Panhandle.
Included among those appearing there on July 2 will be lovely songstress Jeanne Carroll and bass player Bart Edwards. Many people will remember Jeanne Carroll as the girl who for three years sang with the Dick Morton band at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo. Bart Edwards, bass player with the Bobby Burns orchestra, is also a star in his own right. He was with the Bobby Sherwood orchestra for two years and also appeared on the New York stage in the Broadway musical, "Heat That Trumpet." Burns and Edwards can both be heard on current Capitol releases such as Bobby Sherwood's "Cotton Tail," "Snap Your Fingers," "Sherwood's Forest," and "Least That's My Opinion."
The band is being brought to Clarendon by the Roping Club and local ranchers for the Fourth of July celebration. William S. Greene, committeeman in charge of the dancing, says that dancing will start at 9 p. m. and last until 1 a. m. The admission charge will be $2.50 per couple and $2 for stags.
Dale Howard of Borger is visiting in the home of his uncle, Robert Howard, and other relatives.
Rev. Karl Ernst made a business trip to Pampa Monday.
