DID YOU REMEMBER TO CHANGE THE CLOCK? . . . Most people experience confusion when it's time to change their clock from standard to daylight savings time. Miss Amy Lewis, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lewis, of Muleshoe, seems most confident. All the residents of the Muleshoe area are reminded that they should have set their clocks forward at 2:00 p.m. this morning. Little Miss Lewis set her clock forward Saturday night to assure her of being on time for Church.

Area Farmers Start 1976 Spring Planting

Farmers are active completing corn planting, which should be complete by the first of May. Land preparation continues on grain sorghum and cotton. Tanksley reported: "I anticipate that there will be a little cotton and grain sorghum planted around the first of May on irrigated land. Irrigated wheat is starting to boot and head in some fields. Yield potential this time looks good to excellent on irrigated wheat.

Alfalfa hay is making a very fast progress. Producers need to be checking for alfalfa weevils at this time. The first cuttings of alfalfa should be coming off around May 10.

Tanksley reports, "Speaking for dryland planting, they still need a rain of two to three inches before planting can begin."

gardens and fertilizing their yards. Onions and potatoes are progressing fine. Stan Barrett has planted 400 acres of potatoes. He will begin harvest about July 4 and will be completed by the first week in August. Potatoes take hot days, cool nights and need irrigated at least twice a week. Barrett plants around 400 acres annually.

Employer's Day Sponsored By DECA, April 29

DECA, in an innovative attempt to show their appreciation to the business community, for their cooperation with the Distributive Education Program, is sponsoring an Employer's Day at the XII Steak House.

Instead of being a member of the "Banquet Bunch", DECA thinks they can provide more of a service and convenience to the employer by providing a meal and a short program during either breakfast, lunch, or supper, depending on the public's schedule.

Whichever the people choose, they may come at their leisure for a free meal and a chance to browse through the materials DECA will have displayed: materials that may be used for store meetings; such as shoplifting filmstrips, tapes on business telephone techniques, and creative selling aids.

These materials are used in class to correspond with the job, projects that have been completed during the year, and a chance to talk with the students about the Distributive Education Program.

It will be held April 29. Breakfast is to be served from 6:30 to 8:30 a.m., lunch from 11:30 to 2:00 p.m. and supper, from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m.

Free coffee is to be served at the XII for the public all day long, also.

They gained entry by the front door by breaking the glass. Approximately $200.00 was taken.

TSTA Awards Presented At High School Banquet

The Texas State Teachers Association held their annual banquet Thursday, April 22, at 7:30 p.m., in the high school cafeteria.

Invocation was given by F.D. Rogers and benediction was by Tony Clines. The program was made in the replica of a Liberty Bell.

Mike Richardson introduced the speaker for the evening, Mrs. Grace Grimes. She was president-elect of TSTA of Marshall. Mrs. Grimes presented a Bicentennial Theme for her speech. She stressed the importance of the teacher-student relationship in schools. It never hurts to praise the student.

Mrs. Grace Grimes, President Elect Texas State Teachers Association, was the keynote speaker for Muleshoe Texas State Teachers Association banquet, Thursday night. Amid decorations depicting the Bicentennial, she briefly outlined the American Heritage by relating various historical events.

Mrs. Grimes told teachers that in order to have a strong and effective organization everyone must work together and join T.S.T.A. "Just because we don't like one or two things about our church, our club, our family or our country we don't pull out. We stay in there and work out our differences or find a compromise so both sides can benefit," replies Mrs. Grimes. She said Texas State Teachers Association will be working on many things to improve education next year. First on the list will be a better education for the children!

Mrs. Grimes noted the importance of the backing of the community which was certainly realized at this gathering with representatives from so many facets of the community in attendance.

Gary Duncan, President of the Jaycees, presented the Jaycee Outstanding Young Educator

Award to Mike Richardson. Richardson was born in Littlefield. He grew up in the Bula community and graduated from Bula High School. Richardson attended two years at South Plains College and graduated from Texas Tech. He had a 4.0 average all of the time he was in high school and in college.

Richardson presented Mrs. Grimes with a gift of appreciation after her speech was given. Mrs. Imogene Tiller was presented a gift for retirement. Mrs. Nellie Rannels, who was unable to attend, received a 39 year pin for teaching.

4-H Form State Leaders Group

COLLEGE STATION -- Texas 4-H leaders have pledged themselves to a more active role in promoting 4-H and in improving the quality of volunteer leadership by forming a state volunteer leaders association.

Called the Volunteer 4-H Leaders Association of Texas, the organization was formed April 9 during a state 4-H Leader Forum at the new Texas 4-H Center near Brownwood.

Heading the new association is Jack Fambro of Breckenridge. Other members of the executive committee are Mrs. Barbara Sandlin of Springtown, first vice president; Mrs. Joan Adams of Odem, second vice president; Mrs. Ruth Stanford of Woodville, secretary; and Kenneth Brosech of Lockney, treasurer.

Three special committees were also appointed to deal with the key areas of leadership development, resources and public relations. Chairing these committees are Mrs. Mary Howard of Devine, leadership development; Montie Cameron of Kirkland, resources; and Mrs. Teddie Belin of Conroe, public relations.

The board of directors of the state association is made up of two volunteer leaders from each of the 14 districts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of the 4-H program. The executive committee comes from within this board.

All of the state's volunteer leaders which total 14,533 will be members of the Volunteer 4-H Leaders Association of Texas, noted Dr. Warren Mauk, 4-H and youth specialist for the Extension Service.

"Purpose of the association is to promote the development of voluntary leadership in 4-H," he emphasized. "4-H is extremely dependent on the number and quality of volunteer leaders, and this newly formed organization is dedicated to this purpose."

Mauk pointed out that the

Will Rogers Jr. To Speak At Graduation

LUBBOCK -- Humorist Will Rogers Jr. has been selected commencement speaker for Texas Tech graduation ceremonies May 14.

According to Dr. James Archer, chairman of the commencement committee, all-university graduation ceremonies are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Jones Stadium. Academic colleges will hold separate graduation ceremonies, on Page 2, Col. 7.

Local interest and determination is the key to getting the project approved.

FAMILY CRUSADE . . . The Owens family is to be in Muleshoe April 26-30, at the Assembly of God Church, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Owen will present a Puppet Palace for the children.

Better Irrigation Needed In Potato Production

LUBBOCK -- Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientists say commercial potato growers on the Texas High Plains using conventional furrow-type irrigation systems may be applying up to 40 inches of water to their potatoes when only 12 to 16 inches are needed.

Dr. Charles Wendt, soil physicist at the Lubbock Experiment Station, and Dr. Creighton Miller, College Station-based vegetable breeder, say that the excessive water use can be cut by nearly two-thirds if growers convert to an irrigation system that places less water on their plants more frequently. This, they say, would eliminate much of the plant stress that they believe accounts for heavy losses in yields.

Wendt and Miller found that there is no difference in water use efficiency between the two popular potato varieties grown on the High Plains, the Norgold Russet and the Red LaSoda. In both varieties, yields were the same, based on a per acre-inch of water applied. They did discover, however, that the two respond differently to plant stress and that one variety's leaf development provided some yield advantage.

To obtain these conclusions Wendt and Miller had to accurately measure responses of potato plants to soil moisture levels at given depths and over specific growing periods.

According to Wendt, the objective in irrigating potatoes is to prevent soil moisture tension (called SMT) from rising above 30 centibars at the 12-inch depth. SMT is a measure in centibars of the resistance to the flow of water from the soil into the plant root. (A resistance of one bar is approximately equal to one atmosphere or 15.7 pounds per square inch.) When soil contains all the water it can hold, SMT will usually be 10 to 12 centibars.

To get these measurements, Wendt and Miller used a device called a soil tensiometer. It is a cylindrical tube with a porous element on one end and a vacuum gauge on the other, and is placed into the soil. By plugging the tensiometer into an automated trickle irrigation system and setting the vacuum gauge at 10, 20 and 30 centibars, the scientists were able to determine response of the Norgold Russet and Red LaSoda to various moisture levels.

They found that both varieties yielded 30.7 hundredweight per acre-inch of water applied, indicating that varietal efficiency is the same. But in total irrigation water required, the Red LaSoda used 16 inches, and the Norgold Russet used only 12.6 inches. In yield, the LaSoda produced 480 sacks compared to 380 for Russets.

Wendt said that yields were significantly influenced by moisture levels. Of the 10, 20 and 30 centibar levels, the 20 centibar treatment was generally better. While most yield increases came in the four to eight ounce tuber sizes, the Russets were not influenced by moisture levels above eight ounces and soil moisture tension could be permitted to rise to 30 centibars. The LaSodas were influenced at all sizes, especially in the four to eight ounce range. Consequently, a 20 centibar level led to increased yields in LaSodas. This means, said Wendt, if a grower applies 12 inches of water during the critical growth period from three weeks before bloom to two weeks after bloom, he could expect 336 sacks of eight-ounce or larger potatoes if he maintained a 20-centibar level, compared to 288 sacks at 30 centibars.

"With current furrow irrigation systems," Wendt said, "it is difficult to maintain a low soil moisture tension level, which leads to high water use. In fact, about three times more water is applied in many cases than is necessary. There is a place for irrigation system improvement."

"Some growers are having to apply three-fourths to one inch of water per day on the average for six to eight weeks or more to maintain high soil water potentials or low tensiometer readings," he added. "This, based on our studies, is about three times what the plants need for top yields."

Wendt said the only way to increase efficiency of irrigation systems appears to be with a new system.

"Solid-set trickle irrigation systems have been proven for other crops. With the high cost of energy for pumping water, it may be that trickle irrigation is now feasible for vegetables," he explained.

Not many people think that the dictionary is a good book to study.

Needless Paperworks Rooting Out Forms

The Commission on Federal Paperwork got off to a reasonably promising start not too long ago. Its important task is to seek ways of cutting down on the huge, multibillion dollar burden that needless government forms and red tape unload on the American public.

For years many people in government agreed it was a waste of time and money to require employers to file a tax form -- four times a year -- listing the name, pay and status of every employee. In fact, elimination of the form was recommended some years ago but nothing happened. Thanks to Congressional support mustered by the new Commission, Congress has agreed to phase out IRS Form 941-A, at a saving of approximately $20 million to the government and $250 million to business. The form will simply be filed once a year, which is adequate.

Great as this achievement is, it needs examining in terms of the overall objective. Rep. Frank Horton (R-N.Y.), chairman of the Commission, points out that "simply getting rid of forms is like pulling out weeds without getting the roots. The forms -- like the roots -- grow right back again."

He spoke with good reason. While Form 941-A may be on its way out, for example, the Senate Interior Committee is seriously considering creating a whole new agency just to collect more information from business, the National Energy Information Administration.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which has enlisted its nationwide membership in efforts to stamp out non-essential paperwork, was quick to point out the new agency and its paperwork are not needed. Many government agencies already are collecting such information and they already have a "superabundance" of such data.

"To the extent Federal coordination is needed," the Chamber said in its newsletter, Congressional Action, "an interagency committee is capable of providing it. Another data agency is not needed."

An example of the great expense the proposed agency would put on business can be seen in a retirement that energy-using companies furnish detailed weekly and monthly reports on energy consumption. And it is only one of numerous requests.

Who pays these paper costs? In the end, the consuming public.

Pulling out weeds, as Rep. Horton suggests, will not be enough. Apparently, it is going to take eternal vigilance as well, such as the Chamber's, to make sure new paperwork isn't created as fast as the old is eliminated. The basic underlying causes of the problem must be explored, and ways found to correct them.

You can BANK on It!

Bill Loyd, President Muleshoe State Bank

The financial crisis of New York last year drew world wide attention in financial circles. The possibility of any metropolis collapsing into bankruptcy, however, has serious implications for every municipality in the country.

Most cities raise money for capital improvements, such as streets, sewer systems and water systems by selling bonds. These can be either general revenue bonds, paid off by general taxes, or revenue bonds, which are paid off by the users - a water bill is a good example, since the revenue is used in part to pay off water bonds.

Banks are probably the largest single buyer of municipal bonds throughout the country. But, before banks, or any others buy bonds they must have confidence that the bonds will be paid off at the proper time and at the stated rate of interest.

While the city of New York may have brought on its financial crisis through profligate programs and spending - plus some highly questionable bookkeeping practices - its demise would throw all municipal bond users under a cloud. Ultimately, it could mean higher city taxes, because municipal bond money would be more expensive.

Committee reports were given on the ESA Bicentennial Pioneer Woman Award. Candidates resumes were read, and the Chapter voted to accept the committee's decision on the winner, when all the data had been researched and collected on the most deserving candidate for the Pioneer Woman Award.

Final plans were made for the Mother-Daughter Banquet May 8. Epsilon Chi members are to RSVP to Mrs. Dean Allen, by May 1, if they are planning to attend. Stan Black of the XII Steak House, here in Muleshoe, will cater the banquet.

Retiring President, Mrs. Ed Cox turned the meeting over to the new President, Mrs. John Blackwell. Mrs. Blackwell announced her theme for the new year will be "Love", and vice-president, Mrs. Ronnie Barrett's theme will be "Friendship".

With Love and Friendship at the helm, Mrs. Blackwell outlined her goals for the coming year: to increase membership, have the outstanding youth award, help families at Christmas, nominate the outstanding young woman, hold luau, purchase eye glasses for children in need, hold Easter Egg Hunt for ESA children, have parties for the special education children, support hospital (radio-thon) hold nursing home parties, and of course the ways and means projects.

Mrs. Blackwell appointed her committee chairmen for the 1976-77 new year: Jonquil Girl, Mrs. Ed Cox; Publicity Chairman, Mrs. Larry McMillan, Mrs. Jerry Gregory, Mrs. John Birdwell, Mrs. Al Martin, and Virginia Bowers; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Jim Crawford; Chaplain, Mrs. Richard Kimbrough; Yearbook, Mrs. Richard Kimbrough and Mrs. Wayne Tunnell; Awards, Mrs. Jerry Harrison; Scrapbook, Chairman, Mrs. Derrell Matthews, and Mrs. Dean Allen; Ways and Means, Chairman, Mrs. Hugh Young, Mrs. Andy Douglass, Mrs. Johnny St. Clair, and Mrs. Terry Parham; Philanthropic, Chairman, Mrs. Charles Moraw, Mrs. Jerry Gregory, Mrs. John Birdwell, and Virginia Bowers; Membership, Mrs. Ronnie Barrett; Social, Mrs. Mack Garrett, and Mrs. Al Martin; School Parties, Chairman, Mrs. Jim Crawford, Mrs. Terry Hillin, and Mrs. Johnny St. Clair; Historian, Mrs. Terry Hillin; Contact, Mrs. Jack Rennels; and Telephone, Chairman, Judy Lambert, Mrs. Johnny St. Clair, Mrs. Wayne Tunnell, Mrs. Charles Isaac, Mrs. Mack Garrett, and Mrs. Dean Allen.

Mrs. Carter Williams announced a camera had been purchased for the sorority and Jonquil Girl, Judy Lambert, presented a baby spoon to Mrs. Richard Kimbrough. It is an Epsilon Sigma Alpha tradition that new sparkle like new. Mrs. Seaman said she had tried this method and it worked perfectly.

ESA babies receive a spoon with the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Crest. In conclusion spring time refreshments were served to the following ESA sisters: Mrs. Dean Allen, Mrs. Ronnie Barrett, Mrs. John Blackwell, Mrs. Ed Cox, Mrs. Jim Crawford, Mrs. Richard Kimbrough, Mrs. Derrell Matthews, Mrs. Charles Moraw, Mrs. Al Martin, Mrs. Wayne Tunnell, Mrs. Terry Hillin, Mrs. Larry McMillan, Mrs. Terry Parham, Mrs. Johnny St. Clair, Judy Lambert and Mrs. Carter Williams.

"And here is another idea that, with a few minor improvements could be considered for today's living too," she added.

"A box two feet by two feet by 14 inches deep was purchased for each of my children's bedrooms. I fastened casters on the box and hinges on the lid and lined the box with newspaper -- but the outside was covered with paper to match the wall in their rooms. One of these boxes was placed in each room at the foot of the bed and it was impressed upon their minds that all soiled garments must be placed in that box, thereby saving their mother's steps and patience.

"When Monday morning came, a couple of the boys carried the basket from one room to the other and in a very few minutes the washing was all ready for the tub. These boxes are much nicer than laundry bags, as they can be used as a seat, and having casters, they can be easily moved."

Mrs. Seaman pointed out that if you have to make your box, of if you buy one, drill several small holes in it for ventilation. The inside could be painted or lined with washable adhesive paper.

The outside also can be painted, covered with adhesive paper, wallpaper and fabric. A cushion could be made on the top to make it more comfortable as a seat," she suggested.

Progress 4-H Met Tuesday

It was announced that the Bailey County 4-H Fair will be held September 18. It is considered an important date for all members of 4-H, who will at that time exhibit their accomplishments in different categories. There will be Pee Wee, Junior and Senior classes.

Nancy Ramm gave a report on the County Council meeting. Curtis Carpenter was elected chairman, Princess Parkman, vice-chairman and Nancy Ramm, Secretary.

Spencer Tanksley reported that Junior and Senior teams for judging of horse, dairy and riflery will be competing at Lubbock on April 24 and May 1. 4-H members will also be entered in "Share the Fun" events.

COLLEGE STATION -- "In my library is an old tattered book, minus its cover. The dedication is 'To those plucky housewives who master their work instead of allowing it to master them'."

Mrs. Patricia Seaman, a housing and home furnishings specialist, who was telling about her book, said that the date of the book is gone, but it is well worn with pages that are yellow and brittle, and it has a recipe in it dated February 28, 1888.

"In it also are the remains of some pressed flowers, numerous clippings, many notes and the very real essence of the woman who used it many times a day," she added.

Mrs. Seaman is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"With thoughts turning to bicentennial celebrations, and 'how things were long ago', I think books from the past can give a real insight into the women who helped build our country during the past 200 years.

Put on the Full
Armour

"Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God" . . .
In Paul's letter to the Ephesians, he makes a comparison of the children of God and warriors. He says that our loins should be girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness. He makes many more comparisons that exhort us to a proper life. Another thing that Paul urges is that we gather together and worship the Lord. No part of our armour is greater than regular church attendance. Much strength for the week is derived from worshiping with others.
Complete your suit of armour . . . attend church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
