NEED A GUIDE

Traveling down life's rugged pathway
We so often need a guide.
Need that someone who can help us—
Can hold back the raging tide.
Someone that can take our burden—
Make us free to smile anew.
And no matter how the going
God can see us safely through.

A good listener is not only popular anywhere but before long he will know something.

Happy should be the fellow who can find his glasses before he forgets what he wanted them for.

Hear our prayer, O Gracious
God
Deliver us from sin.
Encourage us to sing Thy praise
From grateful heart within.

We praise Thee from the mountain top
And from the valleys low.
We praise Thee in our daytime hours
As to our work we go.

Dear God we need Thee more
and more
As days go swiftly by.
We need Thee as a friend and guide

To tell us when and why.
It's too bad that a shower of rain can't freshen up people as it does the flowers and grass.
We almost believe that a good shower right about now would cause a lot of smiles to say the least.

Before television no one knew what a headache looked like.

Prediction on our part
the much talked about Peyton Place will be replaced by this coming fall . . . Just a feeling on our part.

We should live our life for others
Make both our days worthwhile.
To take the sorrow from each heart.
Replace it with a smile

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"GAME OF CHANCE"
"Fifty cents per shot," said
the sign at a certain golf course.
"If you score a hole-in-one, you win $5,000."

Sure enough, a golfer eventually did come through with a hole-in-one. But the proprietor refused to pay the prize money.
Haled into court, he argued that the contest was a "game of chance"—hence not enforceable
by law.

However, the judge disagreed.
Ordering the money paid, the judge said there was simply too much skill involved in a golf shot to classify this as a game of chance.

In varying degree, gambling is regulated in every state. Often, under these regulations, it becomes necessary for a court to decide what is meant by the phrase "game of chance."

Sometimes the answer is relatively easy. Thus, the throwing of dice has consistently been held a game of chance. So has roulette. So has matching pennies.

On the other hand, chess and checkers and spelling bees have all been held not games of chance but games of skill.

What about bridge? Most courts have classified bridge, too,
as a game of skill.

"Although there is of course
an element of chance resulting from the deal of the cards," explained one judge, "there is a continually recurring necessity in the bidding and play to make decisions which will ordinarily be determinative of the outcome."

Does it "take the curse off"
a forbidden game of chance if the stakes are very small? As a matter of principle, no. Consider this case:

A restaurant owner was arrested on a charge of operating an illegal gambling device on his premises. Although he protested that the prizes were only a nickel, the court found him guilty anyhow.

What the law is concerned about, said the court, is any device "designed to intrigue the unwary and arouse the latent cupidity of human nature into the notion that it could get something for nothing."

Spot accessories around a room for interest and depth.
Create a mood with their character and grouping. Then interrupt the mood with a surprise or two,
suggests Extension home furnishings specialist Bonny Lay.

News From County HD Agent

JIMMIE LOU WAINSCOTT
 New innovations are lighting up the appliance market. Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent, reports that blenders, irons, alarm clocks and even pots and pans have taken an air of sophistication.

Pots and pans now come in strong colors: bright red, yellow, orange, deep blue, green, chocolate, avocado and paisley pattern. One company will supply cookware with a monogram baked on. Plastic dishes come in mix-and-match sets with contrasting designs on reversed colors.

One blender comes with 16 push-button speeds. Simpler ones are priced low to attract customers, but the top models remain expensive.

Coffee pots have new styles. One make promises the perfect cup of drip coffee because of a special water flow system that is said to allow the brew to steep just the right length of time reports Jimmie Lou Wainscott.

Irons are slimmed down and donned handy features. One has a special heel rest to prevent it from tipping. Another takes its own temperature and displays it on the top of its scorched proof!

There is a battery-powered bathroom scale that features a raised black screen on which over-sized numbers light up to show your weight. Many others come in different styles, including the latest butterfly shape.

A "his and hers" electric alarm clock with two faces and alarms lets him get up early and her sleep on until the second alarm. A lamp-clock-radio is new that wakes you in stages: first the light and radio, then the alarm.

What's in the future for appliances? Miss Wainscott reports on an array of items that are not due on the market for at least five years. Examples are: a thermo-electric steam iron, powdered by a re-chargeable fuel cell, will collect moisture from the air, provide instant heat and remove spots. An ultra sonic blender, also powered by a fuel cell, will be self-cleaning and silent in operation.

An automatic can-opener will cut metal with a laser beam. A computerized beverage center will dispense hot or cold drinks at the touch of a button—automatically adjusting the liquid to the height of your cup or glass.

Want to serve something different to your family. The easiest way is to use cheese. Cheese added to a white sauce makes creamed dishes extraordinary says Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent.

Cheese combined with salads, such as potato or aspic salad makes them more hearty and flavorful.

Cheese can add a taste-worthy difference to each course of the meal. Perhaps one reason for this is the large variety of cheese readily obtainable, says Miss Wainscott. The different types of cheese number several hundred. But there are only about 18 distinctive types or kinds of cheese. None of these are made exactly the same; the processes are varied to produce characteristics and qualities peculiar to each kind of cheese.

Cheese are classified as to consistency and as to method of ripening, if ripening has occurred. Parmesan, romano and sage are a few of the very hard, ripened cheeses which are grated for cooking use.

Cheddar, swiss and gruyere are some of the ripened hard cheeses.

Brick, muenster, port du salut, gorgonzola and blue are semi-soft ripened cheeses while bel phase, brie and camembert are softened ripened cheeses and cream cheeses are soft, unripened cheeses.

From a Handout to a Leg Up!

Villagers in Costa Rica at work with CARE tools.

The CARE package, which started out carrying food over seas to save needy people from starvation, has become a lot of other things:

A new school. A fresh water supply. A community center
 A health center. A road.
 Tools for farming. Tools for job training. And a whole string of etceteras.

In short, while the fight on hunger goes on unabated, the CARE package has advanced from a handout to a leg up to self-sufficiency. And recipients of the aid are now "partners" in the process of bringing whole communities to a higher level of development.

Here are some things that will result this year: in Honduras, 400 school classrooms; in Guatemala, pure water for 30 villages plagued by polluted water supplies; in Chile, elementary school graduates trained as cabinet makers in 90 new workshops.

For the people and nations helped, the partnership spurs initiative and further growth on their own. For CARE donors, their dollars provide maximum aid that breaks the tragic cycle of hunger, poverty, illiteracy and disease.
