Forty pink and white balloons and crepe paper streamers served as decorations and favors.

Dorothea Back acted as teacher for the group. At the conclusion of the classes, Miss Barrett was called to the front of the class for misbehaving, and was presented with many gifts, some of which were hidden on a high stool beneath a dunce cap.

Twenty-Eight Students Attended First McLean School

Editor's Note: This is another of the articles written by members of Mrs. Jim Back's English class last spring as term projects. The McLean schools open for the fall term within a short time. It is believed that this article will be of particular interest at this time.

BY JOHN DEE COLEMAN AND EDWARD LEE DWYER

In the early part of 1901 there was a movement to start a town school in McLean, Texas. The town was to be known as McLean. Where there is a town there are people, and where there are people there are children, and where there are children there is a necessary institution called school.

We are going to give a report on the McLean school system. We begin in the forefront of the year 1907. That is when the first school house was built. This building was located south of the railroad tracks. The first term of school in the new building was successful one with 28 students enrolled and a teaching staff of three persons. Professor Henry Biggers.

The second term of school was just as successful as the first with 28 students enrolled, some of whom were: George Colebank, W. C. Courin, Willie Biggers, Nettie Courin, Andrew Floyd, Wayland Floyd, and Flavys Green. This term was running along smoothly when a windstorm completely demolished the frame building. For the remaining part of the term, classes were held in the back of the E. H. Small general merchandise store.

The following year there was a discussion about whether to erect a new school building on the bank or the south of the railroad tracks. It was finally decided to build it on the north side and it was erected on the same grounds that the present grade school stands. In 1909 disaster struck again when a small boy, infuriated by a punishment at school, decided to get revenge by burning down the house. He set the fire and, before anyone could get to the scene of the crime, the building was completely destroyed. The loss from this fire was estimated at about $5,000 but was completely covered by insurance. The rest of the term was held in the various churches and in the other organization halls of the town. Soon another building—the one in use today—was built at a cost of $25,000. This same year the students began to complain about headaches in the afternoon. The school board ordered six boxes of dustless crayon to eliminate the headaches. This was the first chalk of this kind to be used in the McLean schools.

Sometimes we think we are smart, but in 1910 Olive Haynes led the honor roll with an average of 99.49 and Lucille Horton was second with an average of 99.10. In 1911 little Johnny Haynes (newly-elected president of the McLean Board of Education) made 100% for the final examinations grades and had an average of 98% for the whole year. Scholastically, Alaneed was smart too, for they beat the McLean spelling team in a match between the two schools.

On May 1, 1914, graduation took place with Andrew Jordan as valedictorian and Grace Hamilton as salutatorian. Grace Hamilton, now Mrs. J. L. Upham, was the Baptist preacher's daughter. The following night they presented a play named "Diamonds and Hearts." Later in 1914 there was another play named "Red Acre Farm," which netted the class a little over $40. This money was given to the Mothers' Club to be used by them for the benefit of the class. The play was greatly enjoyed by everyone because it "held your interest and there was never a dull moment."

Professors Billie Biggers and Herman Glass (at present head of State Text Book Commission) met in 1916 to discuss an Athletic Association which would provide the boys with sports other than just baseball. It was supposed to provide equipment for football, basketball, track, etc. This association would provide sports for the people who were not especially good at baseball.

In 1916 another play, "The Colonel's Maid," was presented by the high school. The money from the successful play was given to the Mothers' Club which saved it for their parties and entertainment. The graduates were soon given an April Fool's party. They were met at the door by a sign saying "OUT OF ORDER???" so they went to the back door of the Cooke home. There were signs warning of "WET PAINT," so they were careful. Delicious looking punch was served, made of the juice of oranges, lemons, grapes, and horribly tainted by the addition of catsup, pepper sauce, and vinegar. About this same time a Literary Society was organized "in the interest of McLean and her children."

In 1918 all of the McLean school's affiliated credits were taken away because of the shortage of teachers and inadequate equipment. This hurt the McLean students because of the extreme difficulty of entering college. The students were given a test to see if they could come up to the average grades that were needed to enter college. This year there were eight per cent of the school students who failed their courses. Mr. F. P. Wilson wrote a column in the paper asking the parents to be sure to look at the grades on the cards. In this way he could find out how their children were making. Mr. Wilson blamed the townspeople for the loss of the school's affiliations—they were not interested enough to buy the much needed equipment. The inadequate supply of equipment and the poor teaching staff let the school fall below the standards of the state.

At the beginning of the year 1920 two of the teachers resigned. This left the school unable to operate until the work could be taken over by someone else. It opened one week later with F. P. Wilson and Mrs. Luther McCombs taking the place of the two teachers. School was forced to close early because of the influenza that was spread throughout the town. On January 30, they closed the doors for the last time that term. This year the superintendent went to Austin to try to get state aid. On September 3, 1920, the news came back that the state had promised to give them as much aid as possible. When the school was opened in 1920 there were 300 students enrolled the first day. The auditorium was filled with people who came to the opening ceremony. September 24, 1930, the school ordered $400 worth of scientific equipment and 36 new desks. After this equipment was received and installed the school again began to gain strength. In 1922 most of the affiliations were returned. In 1936 the rest of them were restored and some additional ones granted.

Already the McLean school was growing so large that there was no longer sufficient room in the one school building. Soon talk began about the need for a high school building, and finally the talk took shape in the form of a fifty thousand dollar bond issue. The total cost of the building was to be about seventy-four thousand dollars, fifty thousand dollars for the building and twenty-four thousand for the necessary equipment and heating facilities. The bond issue was passed by a majority of seventy-six to eight. E. H. Fads was retained as architect on the building.

Soon the McLean system was to have a new addition to the curriculum, there was to be a band organized. This called for a celebration; there was a pageant directed by Mrs. Jim Back, and a few days later there was an exhibit in agriculture, Latin English, home economics, and science.

This year we were on the winning side of everything. The F. F. A. boys won at state on dairy judging. The judges were Orville and Noah Cunningham, and Ben Howard, with Professor A. A. Tampke as instructor. At the livestock show in 1930 the F. F. A. boys took the championship with a Rhode Island Red rooster and hen. The agriculture class under Tampke was very active. They walked off with the top honors in almost every contest they entered. The judging teams have won at least once in almost every kind of judging contest formed. Last year (1948) the livestock judging team won the contest at state. This entitled them to an all-expense paid trip to the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City, Mo. This trip was provided by the Rock Island Railroad. The students on this team were Arvin Smith, Chester Gollightly, Dick Andrews, and alternate Edward Dwyer. The team was under the supervision of Mr. C. J. Magee. This year the F. F. A. boys won the blue ribbon in both the fat calf and the fat barrow division. J. W. Simmons exhibited the grand champion calf and Vernon Turner, the barrow that took top honors.

Another important factor in the school was the Parent-Teacher Association. This organization was active as early as 1910. They sponsored many plays and other forms of entertainment which netted money for school parties. One year the women in the P-TA sponsored a galloping breakfast which started about five o'clock in the morning. The women who attended these breakfasts were fined ten cents for each article of clothing they wore. The woman who was fined the least over a set period of time won a prize. The projects in English and home economics were outstanding. The most outstanding term project in 1935 was an English term theme entitled "Important Poets Laureate of English Literature," written by Margaret Mertel and illustrated with hand drawn portraits and printed letters.

1938 was the year of banquets; there was the F. F. A. father and son banquet, the basketball banquet, and the junior and senior banquet. This was the first junior and senior banquet that is recorded and was held in the hall of the high school building, which was decorated with sprays of bridalwreath and lilacs.

S. J. R. NO. 4

ON NOVEMBER 8, voters of the State of Texas will decide whether or not women should be allowed to serve on grand and petit juries in this state in the future.

The proposed amendment to the constitution reads as follows: "The Legislature shall prescribe by law the qualification of grand and petit jurors; provided that the qualification of no person for service on grand or petit juries shall be denied or abridged on account of sex, and no person shall be exempt from service on grand juries or petit juries on account of sex."

In other words, if the amendment is approved by voters, women will not be denied the privilege and duty of serving on juries as has been the law since the state was formed.

Many states have done away with the provision that women cannot serve on juries. Texas is merely behind them in trying to decide what to do about the situation.

The old law is out-dated. No one can deny that women throughout our state hold positions equal in responsibility to that of men. For a long time, women were even denied the great American privilege of voting, but a national amendment gave them that privilege.

Now it is up to the voters of the state to allow women to serve on juries. The News feels that the amendment should be passed by an overwhelming vote. If women are qualified to serve as executives, or work in any other position regardless of how low or how high that position might be, then women are qualified to serve as jurors.

We have denied women this privilege—and duty—long enough. We feel that the amendment should be approved.

LES TALK BY LESTER

Not too long ago I mentioned in this column that McLean could have a hospital if we wanted it bad enough. Now I notice that Turkey, a town not as large as McLean, has some citizens who decided the same thing—although they are doing something about it. The city of Turkey bought two surplus buildings, and the citizens of that area are kicking in with donations, many $100 donations, to equip and remodel the buildings. They raised $1,750 in short order, and are after more. They want a hospital, you see, and intend to get one. Incidentally, the business men there figure that about $5,000 per month goes out of the Turkey area to other hospitals. That isn't counting the amount spent by people visiting those in the hospitals, etc.

What I am trying to say is that it can be done.

Understand there was some dispute about the score between the Methodist and Baptist softball teams last week. Officially, the game was ended 15 to 14, although the total of scores in the score book said the actual score was 15-15. The error was discovered too late, so I am told. However, both teams finished in the top four, and are in the play-offs this week, so no contesting of the game was necessary. I didn't see it, but it must have been one of the better games of the season to be so close.

Speaking of sports, I made a tour of the new football stadium facilities last week. We will have a plant of which to be proud. The shower rooms—in the building at the south end of the field—are nice and roomy, and each has eight shower heads. A large boiler—426 gallon capacity—has been installed to provide plenty of hot water for the showers.

The building also houses a sizeable storeroom for equipment, and can be entered through only one door. There are no windows in the equipment storage room, so the equipment should be fairly safe as far as pilfering is concerned.

At the west end of the building is the concession room. Some way or other I had thought when I first saw it that this room was to be the ticket booth, but it isn't. The room is being equipped with hot and cold water, a nice long working counter, and a hot plate.

The stands are being given several coats of paint. Bad lumber has been removed and replaced. A nice little press box has been constructed atop the west stands, for which, of course, I am glad. Not only for me to sit in, but also to provide a nice place for visiting newsmen who in the past have taken quite a few unkindly slaps at us for not having a press box.

One thing—or rather two things are missing. No public rest rooms for visiting people who drive for an hour or more before getting here. Maybe the rest rooms are there, but I didn't find them.

The grass on the field is coming along nicely, too, and should be well sodded by the time of the opening game with Canadian September 2.

Yeah, man, football season is not far away.

Also speaking of sports, I will certainly be glad when work on the new gym-auditorium is started, and more glad when it is completed.

At the present time, bids are being taken on the construction of the building.

However, there seems to be some doubt as to the proper location, etc. So I will proceed to give my views.

As you know, when the project first came up, it was believed that the present City Hall building could be sold for about ten thousand dollars. With that money, the council members figured that the city offices, etc., could be built alongside the gym-auditorium.

torium part of the structure. Times have changed now, and the building would not bring that, even if a would-be buyer could be found. Real estate has gone down—not only in McLean but most everywhere.

So now if the council is to be able to construct the building on the available funds, it is likely that the office portion will have to be forgotten. The present city offices are adequate—at least I think so—and chances are will be adequate for a number of years to come. If, of course, they could be added to the new building without extra cost, I would be in favor of that. But they can't at the present time.

Therefore, I feel that the best policy would be to construct the gym-auditorium part as large as possible and forget the city offices. We need the gym now, but we don't need the new city offices.

There is also some question about the location. If the city offices are to be left off the building, I believe the best location is in the southeast corner of the east half of the park, across the street north of the Legion Hall and across the street west of the high school. In such a location, the building would be very handy for school use, and there would be adequate parking space near the building by using that portion of the high school grounds where parking is accessible.

As for the seating capacity of the gym, I believe it should be built to accommodate 1,500 people. The larger the building is, the more people it will attract, for they will then know for sure that they can find seats if they desire to attend some sort of activity. If the gym is built to accommodate only 600, or 700, or 800, we will be sorry. You see, there won't be another built for 10 or 15 years, or 25 years. This one has got to be large enough for possible future growth.

Furthermore, I am highly in favor of a stage at one end, so that it can be utilized for auditorium purposes when large crowds

That was 121 days ago, and work has not started on the building yet. It's time it was started. Don't you agree?

 because of a fatal injury to the star, the team was playing well when he hit his head and broke his neck. The sport was discontinued for several years. They started to play again and in a few years they had built a winning team. In 1932 under Coach Rush the team lost at Olney in a heartbreaking game, a game that was played in a blinding snowstorm. This was the first McLean game that was broadcast over the air. The members of the team were Louis Tolliver, Duell, Neville Back, Mackey Greer, C. Logan, Bill Robinson, Clyde C. Logan, Lavelle Christian, Eugene Green, Paul Dorell. In 1933 the team was classified as the school team in the district. This team was also under the supervision of Coach Rush. The members of this team were June Berhel McCarty, George Carter, Cable, Cleve Hancock, W. Boren, Buell Ellison, Clyde Green, Johnson, Bill Robinson, Stratton, Dorman, Louis C. Christian, A. Christian, Dorell, Sherman Crockett, Charles Ashby. The team was district champions in 1941 under the efforts of Coach Sewell.

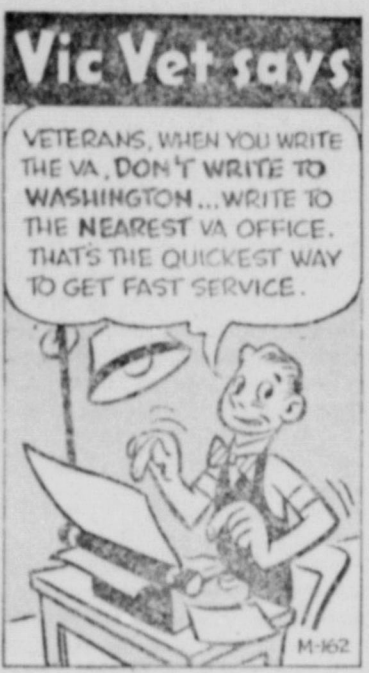

Cox. This team consisted of David Dwight, Kelly Lee, Kenneth Dyer, Joe Cooke, Bob Dwight, Robert Batson, Jack Lisman, Kenneth McMillen, Phillip Lisman, J. D. Roth, Gayle Montgomery, Joe Hill, Arthur Boyd, Jack Jones, W. C. Kennedy, Bill Hill, W. C. Simpson, Lloyd Batson, Willis Ledbetter, Bob Evans, Jack Glass, Ronald Cunningham, and Don Steadner.

The McLean teams were good, not only in football, but in basketball and baseball as well. The basketball teams have done exceedingly well since 1945, especially this year. The girls basketball team won district, and went to the quarter finals at the state meet in Hillsboro. The members of this team were as follows: Willis, L. Shadid, Gunn, Florey, Gudge, Grigsby, Lowary, Herndon, Windom, Carpenter, Stewart, Lively, Young, Jones, and D. Shadid, with Don Leach as coach. These girls won four trophies this year and the boys won two or three. The school won four trophies last year and one the year before. The boys have won between ten and fifteen trophies in baseball.

At one time or another most of the leading men of this town have been on the school board or have been indirectly connected with the school. The present school board consists of Wheeler Carter, Evey Cubine, Custer Lowary, Peb Everett, Clifford Allison

 The first oil well was drilled in 1859, ninety years ago. Drilling is still going on even under the ocean. Occasionally one of these wells bursts into flame and "up in smoke" goes much of the profits. Much the same thing happens when many of my nephews and nieces allow their money to burn holes in their pockets. Your government offers a safe, sure way of holding on to some of that pay check. That is through the Payroll Savings Plan for the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds.

 Our school is now operating efficiently and smoothly with strong ball teams, good teachers, and eager students. Perhaps some time we will get a new, modern grade school; this along with a City Hall-Auditorium will improve our school system greatly.

Letter Box
 Chicago, Ill.
 August 10, 1949
 Greetings once again from us at the Chicago Railroad Fair:
 One of the outstanding events is the Chicago Railroad Fair which will come to a close in October. It's along the shore of Lake Michigan on a part of the former site of the Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition.
 One hundred and one years ago the first railroad train departed from Chicago and the fair fittingly marks the progress that has taken place in the intervening years.
 The central figure is a dramatic pageant, presented four times daily on a 560 feet outdoor stage, illustrating the part played by the railroads in the history and development of our country. Participating is a cast of several hundred actors, together with historic and modern railroad trains.
 (By historic, I mean during the covered wagon days, Indians, Pilgrims, also Abraham Lincoln days, and how they had to travel.)
 Appropriate music, dancing, and colorful lighting effects play an important part in the stirring presentation. There are spectacular fireworks at night, which unfortunately we didn't see tonight as they go on very late and traveling any distance is tiresome late at night. Traffic is exceedingly heavy.
 Throughout the grounds many interesting exhibits, and diversified exhibits portray the customs and attractions of various parts of the country. Of especial interest is the joint Burlington, Great Northern, and Northern Pacific exhibit. It features a virtually continuous western rodeo performance, a functioning replica of Old Faithful Geyser, and a log chalet containing dioramas of the scenic beauties of the Colorado Rockies, Yellowstone, and Glacier National Parks, the Pacific Northwest, and Alaska.
 Two early-day narrow-gauge trains provide transportation within the grounds. Old-time railroad equipment and some of the finest and most up-to-date passenger trains are on display for all to see.
 Another wonderful and very beautiful feature is the ice skating ballet. I just can't describe the beauty of this. It's very entertaining, colorful, and the beautiful costumes the actors wear. Watching these actors ice skating makes one feel very cool even though you have to sit in the scorching hot sun.
 Then there are the miniature trains which the youngsters enjoy very much. Incidentally, our son Johnny has ridden in one and enjoyed it very much.
 We are still planning to visit the science and industry building, Fields museum, and the aquarium. Then we will be on our way back home. With this I conclude. Best wishes to our many friends in McLean.
 Sincerely,
 Mrs. Miro Pukan and son John.

Keep Well, But Don't Become Symptom Hunter

Among a certain and rather extensive group of self-centered persons symptom hunting unfortunately is rather popular. Because of a too detailed study of so-called health literature of the alarmist type or on account of a recent death in the family, introspection develops to a morbid degree. The result is an entirely unfounded fear of all sorts of disease possibilities. Many, becoming victims of this warped psychology, develop brain and nerve exhaustion and in extreme cases even become affected mentally, stated Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

Of course, it is entirely proper to have a normal regard for personal well-being. To maintain vitality and to prevent disease is a logical pursuit for everyone. But it most decidedly must be kept within bounds. When one becomes obsessed with the subject, concern for health has over-stepped the limits.

For all practical purposes, after giving reasonable attention to diet, personal sanitation, sleep and exercise, and assuming that one's bodily limitations as defined by the family physician are appreciated, the average person can dismiss the subject of health. This, plus the annual physical examination should adequately cover the situation.

On the other hand, conditions are bound to arise where actual disease symptoms manifest themselves. It will then be up to the doctor to decide what the trouble, if any, is and for the patient to abide by his judgment.

In short, symptom hunting as a hobby is a dangerous matter. One should stay away from it. It is neither safe nor healthy to do otherwise.

Roy Rogers to Be at Rodeo Of Boy's Ranch

Excitement has been running high at Boy's Ranch every since it was learned that Roy Rogers, the famous screen cowboy, would appear in person at the Boy's Ranch annual rodeo September 4. Dale Evans, Roy's leading lady on the screen and his wife of the screen, will accompany him and appear at the rodeo.

Both Dale and Roy said that they would be more than happy to come to Amarillo for this big event, and insisted on paying their own expenses. They are donating their transportation, expenses, and their time.

Because Roy's famous horse, Trigger, is on location, he will not appear with Roy. But Roy and Dale will be the feature attractions of the rodeo.

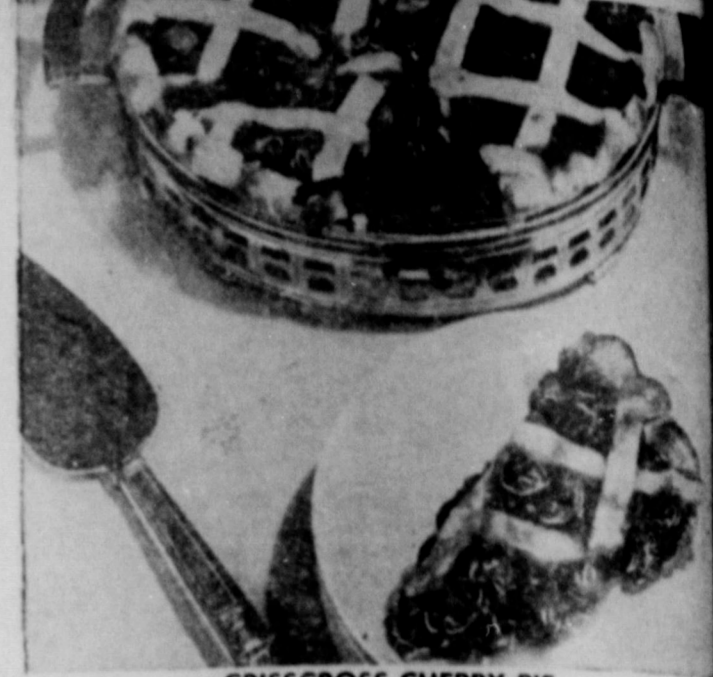

This year, all the boys at the ranch are going to participate, even the little fellows. The youngest ones will try their hand at calf riding on some small yearling calves. Even the 5-year-old son of the superintendent will straddle one of the calves.

The older boys will participate in bronc and steer riding, trick roping and trick riding, ribbon roping, and many other events. From the looks of the number of entries and the number of events, the rodeo this year will be the biggest and best yet.

The date of the Boy's Ranch rodeo is September 4, and it will be held at the Tri-State Fair grounds in Amarillo. There will be two performances—one in the afternoon and one in the evening. And Roy Rogers and Dale Evans will appear in both of them.

Tickets are on sale now for both performances. The entire proceeds of the rodeo will go to Boy's Ranch. Prize money will be given to the winners of the different events, and Roy Rogers has offered to donate some boots and metal figures of Trigger as additional prizes.

Mrs. Nora Loveland returned to Abilene last week after visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Petty. Mrs. Zora Kennedy, who has also been visiting in the Petty home, returned to Amarillo Sunday night.
