

COLOR SYMPHONIES

Did you ever notice after tinting a blouse that the buttons had absorbed some of the dye? It's usually a lovely effect. They take on the same color as the blouse but the plastic, bone or glass — whichever they happen to be — gives the buttons a special glow all their own. I've seen this happen time and time again, yet never thought anything of it. But somewhere in the back of my head those dyed buttons left their mark and became the germ of an amazing discovery.

One night last week we went next door for a game of Canasta and one of the girls was painting a pair of eyeglasses with nail polish. What with trying to keep the polish off the lens and twisting to reach all sides of the frame, she was having the troubles of Job. In addition, no matter how she set them down to dry, there'd always be spots that stuck and smudged. It was quite a messy situation and the boys promptly rose to the occasion and started a harangue about the silly trivialities that occupy the feminine mind. Challenged for what other way they'd have done it, our critics offered no alternative except painting one side; let it dry and then do the other side. We had to let them win with that. The next day I was tinting a nylon blouse and as usual the buttons absorbed some of the dye. Without any electric bolts out of the blue or any great fanfare for an inspiration I casually thought about those plastic eyeglass frames and lazily wondered if they couldn't be tinted. I wasn't very enthusiastic and certainly didn't feel inspired, but into the dye bath I plunged my conservative specs and in ten minutes their ginger ale color became a glamorous pearly pink.

There's no magic to it. Just be sure to use all-purpose dye because it takes effect on synthetics like rayon and nylon, to which I'll add, plastic. You should also be careful not to have your water too hot. Lukewarm to warm is enough. Anything hotter might melt the frames. Don't worry about the lens becoming colored because for some reason the glass doesn't absorb the dye; only the plastic frames do. Isn't this an amazing discovery?

I have all my friends doing it and they're all quite tickled and pleased. It's a pretty and easy way to see the world through rose colored glasses.

SOCIETY

Holloway Team Players Honored At Chicken Supper

A fried chicken supper, served buffet style, was given Friday night at the Back school house honoring the ball players of the Holloway Grocery team. The team won second place in the McLean softball league.

Pioneer Study Club Installs Officers For Coming Year

The Pioneer Study Club held its first meeting of the year Thursday morning in the form of a coffee at the Pine Foods Cafe. Mrs. Jim Back and Mrs. Clyde Marge were hostesses.

Mrs. Logan Cummings was in charge of the installation service. She stated that a pioneer and a wagon were hard to separate. As each officer was presented, she gave her pledge and displayed part of a wagon. When the installation was completed a miniature covered wagon and a pioneer had been named. The club then sang "Wagon Wheels."

Officers installed were Mrs. Bill Webb, vice president; Mrs. Bill

Day, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Forrest Hupp, reporter; Mrs. W. E. Bogan, parliamentarian. Mrs. Jim Back, president, was unable to attend because of illness.

Tables were beautifully decorated with pink and orchid phlox, the club flower. Pink umbrellas tied with orchid ribbons held the place cards. Attending were Mesdames J. D. Coleman, Jesse Coleman, H. W. Finley, C. R. Griffith, Carl Jones, C. J. Magee, Logan Cummings, Miro Pagan, Earl Stubblefield, Bob Thomas, Bill Webb, June Woods, Roger Powers, Amos Page, Forrest Hupp Bill Day, and W. E. Bogan.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Christian and son Duane of Abilene visited friends in McLean this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Chisum and daughter Adrena of Pampa visited in the Wheeler Carter home Friday night of last week.

D. C. Carpenter made a business trip to Oklahoma City Tuesday.

Taken from the Files of The McLean News, September, 1910

Lost—Personals—Advertisements
Lost—Black pig weighing about 40 or 50 pounds, both ears cropped. Return to M. J. Brooks.

Chas. Slavin, the Alanreed cowman, was a business visitor in the city the latter part of last week. Drop in tomorrow and get a look of that good—best—Pannandie flour. A new car load just in.

C. A. Cash & Sons.
J. S. Curwile and family left last Thursday for North Georgia, to spend about two weeks with their old home, to spend about 20 days with friends and relatives. We are in the market for your drug and sundry trade and assure you of prompt and courteous attention as well as careful work—Arthur Erwin.

R. D. Hudson left the latter part of last week for Mart where he went to visit with the family of his father. He expects to be away about two weeks.

What do you do with chickens and eggs? We want them if they are not working and we want them bad enough to pay the highest market price. Fetch 'em. McLean Mercantile Co.

C. F. Adare and family of Shamrock arrived in the city last week and will make this place their home, having opened up a first class bakery in the old Puchall building. We hope the venture will prove successful.

While we are selling strictly for cash, we wish to announce that we are also satisfying a long string of customers. It is easy to save money if you take the cash road to the McLean Mercantile Co.

Sam Davison was in the city Saturday with an exhibit of peaches that are silent witnesses to the fact that the McLean country cannot be beat for this class of agriculture. The gentleman had the fruit put up at the drug store and it will no doubt be in the prize winning class.

It has been our persistent effort to build up a solid business reputation in regard to the filling of prescriptions and we hope to be able to serve you in this capacity, assuring you of careful and prompt attention to your orders.—Arthur Erwin.

A personal letter from Mrs. Fred, who is visiting with her daughter, Miss Maud, at Sedan, K. M., conveys the intelligence that the general crop conditions are very satisfactory in that section, they having plenty of rain to make the feed and other late crops, and corn is looking very well.

We are informed that Clarence Taveek has contracted with the Heald people to teach that school during the 1910-11 term. The gentleman taught there last year and gave entire satisfaction and we are glad to note they have secured his services again.

We have the most complete line of fancy stationery in this part of the Panhandle. Anything from the cheapest to the best. See me for stationery. Will H. Langley. Charlie Faulkner and Fred Tra-week went over to Clarendon the latter part of last week to make arrangements for entering school for the incoming session.

We would like for you to see what we have to offer before buying your fall and winter clothing. E. H. Small & Co. J. G. Noel of Memphis has been spending the week here as the guest of his son, Mont Noel. The gentleman says the crop conditions in his section are very flattering, especially the cotton, which promises a big yield.

The concrete footings for the new school house have been completed and it is announced the brick work will commence at once. McLean will have one of the prettiest school buildings in the Panhandle for the latter part of the next term.

No Enlistments to Be Allowed After Receipt of Exam Notice

"Will I be able to enlist after I'm notified to report for physical examination by my draft board?"

This is a question which a lot of men are asking Selective Service local boards in Texas.

The answer is "no." Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state director of Selective Service, said. General Wakefield referred to Section 15 (d) of the Selective Service Act of 1948, which prohibits acceptance of a registrant for enlistment after he has received orders to report for induction.

The state director quoted from the following regulation (Local Board Memorandum No. 11) issued by Selective Service national headquarters:

"The prohibition contained in Section 15 (d) of the act against the acceptance of a registrant for enlistment after he has received orders to report for induction has been interpreted by the National Military Establishment to mean that no person shall be accepted for enlistment after he has been notified to re-unit will not accept him, it is a matter outside our control.

"But he cannot enlist for a tour of active duty in the army, air force, or other department of the National Military Establishment after he receives his order to report for physical examination," General Wakefield concluded.

No man can possibly improve in any company for which he has not respect enough to be under some degree of restraint.—Lord Chesterfield.

"Prices Are Born Here— Raised Elsewhere" Phone 6

at Shedrick Jewelry

Through the years, in good times and bad, few things have given so much for so little as your telephone.

Its value in some instances cannot even be estimated.

A single call may save a life . . . make a friend . . . save hours of time . . . close an important business deal.

Yet a telephone call continues to be one of the biggest bargains money can buy. The cost of telephone service has gone up far less than most other things in recent years. Day and night your telephone stands ready to make calls—and to receive them.

And, while providing a service of great value, your Telephone Company is also one of the larger employers, taxpayers and purchasers in the state—a good citizen of the communities it serves.

Few things give you so much for so little . . .

ADVERTISING SAVES—NOT COSTS

EVERY ONCE in a while we hear someone remark that a certain product is so priced because of its name; that the consumer is paying for the advertising; that half the cost of the item goes for advertising. We are glad to report that advertising lowers the cost of items which you and you buy, not raises them.

Let's take a look at the facts, not the fallacies: Suppose one man working with his bare hands and hand tools can make a certain gadget in one hour. The material he uses costs 20 cents. To package, ship, insure, and profit from it, he adds another 10 cents. The labor costs 70 cents.

There we have the gadget ready for marketing at $1 wholesale. Add to that the necessary expenses, such as wholesaler margin, transportation, and retailer margin, and the consumer price will be about $2 for the gadget.

However, the owner of the gadget company invents a machine which will enable each laborer to make 20 gadgets an hour instead of one. The labor then costs 70 cents; material, 20 cents each for 20 gadgets, or $4; other costs, 20 gadgets at 10 cents each, or $2. The total would then be $6.70 for 20 gadgets or 33½ cents instead of the $10 each without the machine. If the same margins and costs were applied, then the cost to the consumer would be twice 33½ cents, or 67 cents each instead of $2.

But it doesn't work exactly that way. There may be an immediate market for the one gadget, but not for the 20, so let's add two cents per gadget for advertising the gadget to build demand. Labor has now produced more than when working directly with hand tools, so the labor charge is doubled and the worker gets $1.40 per hour instead of 70 cents, bringing his wage up to the average in America.

Adding this all up, $1.40 for the labor, $4 for material, $2 for other charges, 40 cents for the advertising, and the gadget now costs 39 cents wholesale, and will reach of $2.

This lower cost, which increase the number of people who can buy, plus the advertising, which makes the sale possible, disposes of all 20 of the gadgets. It is true that the advertising cost was paid by the consumer. It cost him two cents. At the same time, it helped save him $1.22.

This same factual treatment applies to all types of products and all advertising. No one denies that the consumer pays for the advertising, but few will let themselves believe that advertising has saved each consumer many times more than the advertising cost.

There is no American-type advertising in Russia. There a man must work 141¼ minutes to buy a pound of sugar—in America the average man must work only 4½ minutes for that same amount of sugar; for a quart of milk in Russia he must work 59½ minutes, but in America only 9½ minutes. Advertising has played a vital role in all of this. Yet few realize the facts.

LES TALK BY LESTER

This article—the first part at least—concerns labor unions. You may or may not disagree with my views, but be that as it may, it seems to me that more should be said concerning the path which labor unions in general are following. Not all of them are following the same path, but the general pattern is the same.

Let it be understood before we go any further that I sincerely believe there is a great need for labor unions. There always has been, and always will be, a need for unions. But the present trend of their actions is dangerous, very dangerous.

A century ago, or even a half century ago, a rough and ready individualist was able to work hard and accumulate enough to give him a small amount of capital. By more hard work, and usually a great deal of good fortune, that individual was able to multiply that capital into enormous holdings.

That, of course, is the democratic way of life.

However, in many, many cases, these individuals—you can look back into history to get their names if you desire—worked their employees as if they were slaves. The employees were paid low wages, worked long hours, and were afforded no protection for safety from machinery, etc. Likewise, they were afforded no means of security in their old age. Once their usefulness was gone to the rough and ready individual who had managed to accumulate his holdings, the employees were fired and soon found themselves without work, without money, and usually without food.

Thus the labor unions were born into their present status. They were born to enable working men and women to get together and fight for their rights. They were born to enable working men and women to have some means of obtaining fair wages, safer working conditions, and some form of insurance against the time when they would no longer be able to work.

The unions have accomplished this task. They managed to band together to prevent the big man from overrunning them. In this they have been successful.

Now, however, the labor leaders apparently want to run the businesses which they do not own. They are now the dictators. They are telling the men who control the capital how they shall work, when they shall work, and what they shall be paid. They demand that the corporations—and practically all big businesses of today are corporations—"split the profit" with them. They demand wages so high that prices must be boosted to take care of the raise they want.

This is the very dangerous trend. You see, the corporations do not belong to the men who run them. True, most of the controlling executives are stockholders, but so are millions of other people. These other people are oftentimes the members of the labor unions themselves. They invest their savings in stock in the big corporations in the hope that they can receive dividends. The stockholders, then, are the owners of the corporations, not the executives whom they have hired to manage the businesses.

LEADS TICKET

PRICE DANIEL

In the recent Democratic primary Attorney General Price Daniel for the second time polled the highest vote in the state races. Daniel received 1,113,823 votes, 8,350 more than the nearest other unopposed candidate, according to the official returns released in Austin. In the first primary in 1948, in which more votes were cast, Daniel polled 1,231,881 votes, the largest number ever given a candidate in a Democratic primary in Texas.

But the labor leaders want the control of the corporations. And they are quickly gaining these controls. Years ago, it was the big executive who was running the lives of his employees. Now it is the labor union leaders who are gaining this power. The difference is that many more people are being affected. No longer are only the employees the persons affected, but so are the million of corporation stockholders, most of whom are just common people like you and me.

Even common people other than the stockholders are affected every time a wage hike is granted. Prices of many of the larger items are so high that people are unable to pay for them even after they make the down payments and make arrangements to pay them out. When this situation comes, there can be only one result, and economic system.

And if the economic system should collapse, the labor unions would suddenly find themselves thrown back years in the progress which they think they have made.

In other words, I believe the labor unions are working against themselves, and don't realize it. The members in general are not to blame, but their leaders are. The labor leaders apparently will sacrifice much to gain power, will even sacrifice their members who are making these steps to power possible.

The solution? We know of no simple solution. The labor leaders have already passed that point of no return. They must go on and on and attempt to gain more power, or else what they have made will be lost. The trend is already established, the danger point has already been reached.

Our economic system is being weighed in the balance. One side is going to have to give. We hope it is the right side.

P. S.—Football season begins Friday night when Herford plays McLean here. We'll see you there if the labor leaders don't get us.

Better Sight
BY THE CARTON
Lamps with empty sockets are about as handy as a ship without a sail! No matter how efficient . . . or how many lamps you have around the house . . . they're so much excess baggage if your supply of lamp-bulbs is down to the bottom of the carton.
Good light is so necessary to good sight. And a carton of bulbs always on hand is insurance against "bulb snatching" . . . being without . . . or inconvenient rushing to the store.
Yes, BULBS ARE MIGHTY IMPORTANT. . . cleanliness is, too! Your lamps and fixtures should be kept clean. Dust and dirt rob you of half the light you pay for. Reflector bowls can be washed with soap and water . . . bulbs wiped clean with a damp cloth. Shades may be dusted, washed or dry-cleaned . . . depending on the type fabric. Light-conditioning your home is economical, too . . . low cost, dependable electric service makes it so!
THERE'S A BULB FOR EVERY JOB . . .
40-60 watt—Strictly decorative . . . such as boudoir lamps, brackets, etc.
75-100 watt—Decorative and functional where the seeing task isn't too demanding.
150-300 watt—Reading, sewing . . . where good, strong light is needed for proper "see-ability."

County Home Demonstration Agent

State Meeting Attended by Four Gray County Women

The state meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association recently held at Big Spring was attended by the following Gray County Home Demonstration Club women: Mrs. W. R. Melton, vice president of District 1; Mrs. H. B. Taylor Jr., county chairman; Mrs. T. G. Groves, and Mrs. A. C. Crawford.

In reporting the state meeting to the Gray County Home Demonstration Council, Mrs. Melton said: "The Texas Home Demonstration Association is a federation of all the Home Demonstration Clubs in the state of Texas. Every Home Demonstration Club woman is a member of the Texas association. The state is composed of 14 districts. Each district has a vice president and there is a vice president at large. The state president, the vice president, and the chairman of the five standing committees make up the board of the association."

Mrs. Melton continued by saying, "This organization dates back to 1926. At a farmers' short course in 1926 a group of the Home Demonstration Club women met to organize the Texas Home Demonstration Association for the purpose of providing an educational fund for a deserving 4-H girl, to give the women preliminary training in parliamentary procedure, and to train the women so they might help with the short courses by presiding at meetings."

"In 1931, under the direction of Miss Maggie W. Barry, specialist in rural women's organization, the T. H. D. A. was reorganized. The objective of the organization was stated thus: 'To serve as a co-operative and coordinating agency for the state-wide activities of Home Demonstration Clubs.'"

"In 1935 the voting strength at the state meeting was 1,481. Realizing that with this number, it was impossible to transact business efficiently, the board recommended the delegate body be reduced to three voting members per county. This was adopted by the association and has been used since that date to the present."

"In 1941 the scholarship fund was named the Maggie W. Barry scholarship. In 1946 the office of county THDA chairman was created. In 1947 it was voted by the association to give $100.00 to each of the fourteen districts to use in the district for 4-H work. In 1949 the Maggie W. Barry scholarship was raised from $300.00 to $500.00. Another $500.00 scholarship, the Helen H. Swift, was established. Now the association is befriending two valuable 4-H girls each year. Twenty-three 4-H girls in Texas have been so honored by this organization."

Mrs. Melton concluded by saying, "In 1948 the Texas Home Demonstration Association joined the National Home Demonstration Council for the purpose of co-operating on a national and international level. It is through the voluntary 25 cents annual donation by most home demonstration club women and rural leadership that the association has grown and developed into the

CITATION BY PUBLICATION THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: Lowrey W. Miller, GREETING:

You are commanded to appear and answer the plaintiff's petition at or before 10 o'clock a. m. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this Citation, the same being Monday the 11th day of October, A. D., 1950, at or before 10 o'clock a. m. before the Honorable District Court of Gray County, at the Court House in Pampa, Texas.

Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 28th day of August, 1950.

The file number of said suit being No. 9823.

The names of the parties in said suit are: Stella B. Miller as Plaintiff, and Lowrey W. Miller as Defendant.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to wit: This is a suit for divorce, plaintiff alleging grounds of cruel treatment, non support, and that the defendant has been guilty of adultery, all of which renders their further living together insupportable. That plaintiff's maiden name was Stella B. Shepherd, and that such name should be restored. That there are no children or community property involved in this suit. Plaintiff prays for an absolute divorce, for restoration of maiden name, and for relief, both special and general, in law and in equity, to which she may be entitled, and for cost of suit.

If this Citation is not served within 90 days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

Issued this 28th day of August, A. D., 1950.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Pampa, Texas, this 28th day of August,

A famous theatrical agent appeared at his office one morning complaining of a violent headache. His staff gathered around him to sympathize, and a junior clerk volunteered:

"I had a terrible headache not long ago but it didn't last long. My wife pulled me over the sofa with her and gave me a great big kiss. Believe it or not the pain disappeared immediately!"

The sufferer reached for his hat. "I've tried everything else," he moaned. "Is your wife home now?"

Boy-Made Boats in Speed Tests

Outboard motorboat racing has taken a unique turn at Alcona, Mich., where waterfront used to echo with the roar of "Speed King" Gas Wood. High school students build their own trim little craft in a shop class as part of the curriculum, then race them on the St. Clair River in the summer. This year, 18 student-built boats "graduated" from school to the water and here the Dixie Rex makes a hairpin turn in front of a Chevrolet station wagon which his friends drove to the water's edge.

Fashion Plates Inspire Home Fabric

"Lady Goddy," using the timeless fashionplates as published in Goddy's Lady Book under the editorship of the famous Sarah Josephs Hale in the 1850's, gives this boudoir a feeling of tranquility and charm. Margaret Riley, Waverly stylist, used mauve and chartreuse for color tones. Plain chartreuse Glosheen is companion to the high-combed Glosheen print, which for bedspread and boudoir chair is in vermicelli quilting with pattern in trapunto. Pattern also available in wallpaper.

Schools to Be on Higher Level

Texas' already vastly improved public school system will be on an even higher level during the 1950-51 school year, it was predicted in Austin recently.

More classroom facilities and more and better trained teachers will be available, it was pointed out by L. F. Sturgeon, state associate commissioner of education.

Under the new Gilmer-Aikin laws which went into effect last fall, the teaching staff was increased by 2,000 and more than half of the school districts of the state added to their classroom facilities.

An additional 1,500 teachers will be hired for the next school year, Sturgeon said. A survey disclosed many more schools will increase their facilities, Sturgeon added.

Increase in pay for teachers has added to their morale and made the profession far more attractive to young people, Sturgeon pointed out. More young people are preparing for careers as teachers and these better trained instructors will next year to replace retiring instructors and those less adequately trained, according to Sturgeon.

School districts which met the requirements of state law in order to receive additional financial aid from the state had a teacher for every 25 pupils in average daily attendance during the last school year, but many districts were forced to put pupils on a half-time basis.

"This will be partly alleviated during the 1950-51 school year by the construction of more classrooms and the availability of more teachers," Sturgeon said.

"This will add to the great benefits derived by a great many of our school children in the last school term through their being in smaller classes, where they could get more personal attention."

"During the 1948-49 school year a survey conducted by the Texas State Teachers Association disclosed that more than half of the classrooms in the entire state were badly over-crowded."

Sturgeon also had high praise for the state's teachers.

"While the pay increases under the Gilmer-Aikin laws averaged only $500 for teachers, their morale is at the highest in the history of Texas," he said.

"I can see that in their interest in and their attendance of professional meetings I have attended throughout the entire state."

"Superintendents are almost unanimous in their reports of the willingness of teachers to accept additional assignments and to participate in extra-curricular activities."

"Teachers are satisfied and are proud of their profession. That means better education for our children in rooms presided over by well-trained instructors. It is only reasonable that happy, efficient teachers can do far more in imparting knowledge than dissatisfied, inefficient persons."

Increased enrollment in courses leading to degrees in education in the state's colleges was also pointed to by Sturgeon as an indication of the attractiveness of the teaching profession in Texas schools now, with its resulting benefits to the children.

Gene Kelly Supports Kids' Day

The popular young star of many Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer musicals, Gene Kelly, draws admiring glances from seven year old Charlotte George, of North Hollywood, Calif., as he takes the first 1950 National Kids' Day poster on his dressing room door.
 Spearheaded by the more than 3,150 Kiwanis clubs, throughout the United States and Canada, Kids' Day will be observed this year on Saturday, September 23. It is a joint project of Kiwanis International and The National Kids' Day Foundation, Inc., designed to focus additional attention upon the problems of underprivileged children. It is expected that fundraising events conducted on Kids' Day will benefit millions of children for money raised in a community remains in that community to be spent for youth under the vision of the local Kiwanis Club.

NEW APPROACH TO SAFETY TRAINING—Lovely Lee Melfert, a secretary in the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines' general offices in St. Louis, displays a poster opening an educational campaign among the more than 10,000 Katy employes throughout the Southwest to have a "No Accident, No Injuries" month in September. The poster is being prominently displayed around Katy facilities in the states of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Gossip—

 of good seats not yet sold.
 Cleo Meharg, former manager of the local public service company and now assistant district manager of the Hereford district of the company, will be on hand Friday night when the Whitefaces play the McLean Tigers. We hate for Cleo to come. After all, we hate to see him disappointed in the football team of his new home town.
 You're invited. That's the word from the Ladies Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church, and the invitation is to their Silver Tea and Annual Flower and Hobby Show. The affair will be held Tuesday, September 19, from 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock that night. On display will be antiques, flowers, hobbies, and curios. You'll enjoy seeing the many things, and the beautiful floral arrangements.
 We'd also like to mention the bake sale which the Liberty Home Demonstration Club is sponsoring. It's to be this Saturday, and you can choose food to suit your taste at the club's table in the Southwestern Public Service company building.
 Dale Glass, end on both defense and offense.
 As can be seen, Duncan expects many of those who won't start Friday night, and may not even play, to develop into more-or-less regulars before the season is over. Many of the boys coming out have never played before, but more practice may cause them to develop into good gridsters.
 Officials for the Hereford game will be Clark Jamigan and Hatcher Brown of Canyon, and Otto Mangold of Pampa.
 C. P. Callahan and son Cliff made a business trip to Pampa Tuesday.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ashby of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cenadit of Austin were Tuesday visitors in the home of Mrs. R. N. Ashby.

Uncle Sam Says

It usually takes a substantial bundle of money to start your own business. So, if you're looking forward to the great day when your name will be up there on a store front or on a shingle, now is the time to think about the cash you'll need. There is one sure way to be ready for that time, to take the plunge if you want to, and that is by investing regularly in U. S. Savings Bonds. Farm Bureau To Meet Soon In Wellington

Texas Farm Bureau Federation will conduct a series of sub-district meetings throughout the state during September, according to an announcement by J. Walter Hammond, federation president.
 A meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, September 12, at the Community Building, Wellington, and another in Amarillo Wednesday, September 13, at the Herring Hotel. C. H. Kuper of Dalhart, state farm bureau director, will preside. Meetings will start at 10 o'clock and will be concluded at 3 o'clock. State and national farm bureau officials will be in attendance, Hammond said.
 Farm bureau policies are developed by the membership, Hammond asserted, and the series of meetings has been scheduled so that state and national officials may have the benefit of the thinking of farmers and ranchers of the state, and at the same time for officials of the organization to give farm people more needed information on the program of the farm bureau, its aims and accomplishments.
 All farmers and ranchers of the area are urged to attend their nearest sub-district meeting.

Woodward Field Days Cancelled

The 14th annual range and crop improvement field days, scheduled by the U. S. Southern Great Plains Field Station, Woodward, Okla., for October 6 and 7, have been cancelled, according to an announcement by D. A. Savage, station superintendent. The field days were cancelled in the interest of war-time economy which is expected to result in a ten per cent cut in funds for all non-military government agencies.
 Plans are to hold the next major field day in the fall of 1951. In the meantime, the general public is reminded that they are always welcome to call at the station and study the research in progress. Advance notice of such visits will be helpful to station personnel in planning their work.
