

"One-Punch Special" Wins Soap Box Match

The All-American Soap Box Derby, which annually brings champions from 150 American cities to race for a $5,000 college scholarship and the national title at Akron, O., was embellished this year by a match race between Jimmy Stewart, film star; Jack Dempsey, former prize ring champion, and Wilbur Shaw, three-time Indianapolis "500" winner. Dempsey in his "One-Punch Special" brought the crowd of 60,000 to their feet when he whizzed over the finish line the winner, as Hopalong Cassidy waved the checkered flag of victory. Inset: W. E. Fish, general sales manager of Chevrolet (right) presents the trophy to Dempsey. Harold Williamson of Charleston, W. Va., drove his home-built racing car to victory in the bi-race which followed the special match.

County Home Demonstration Agent

Mrs. Groves Reports
Mrs. T. G. Groves, recreation leader for the Merten Home Demonstration Club who attended the association meeting in Big Spring, reported to her club Tuesday. Her report follows:

"One of the chief forms of recreation at the state meeting was group singing. The 750 delegates sang many of the songs found in the official association song book. We were urged to sing more at club affairs in the counties. It was a thrill to meet and talk with women from all parts of Texas the first night of the convention. We enjoyed the chuck wagon supper served at the amphitheater in the city park. We learned something at each program, but the talk given by Dr. L. D. Haskew, dean, college of education, University of Texas, was the highlight of the meeting.

"Talking on the convention theme, 'Better Homes Make for a Better World,' Dr. Haskew suggested the words 'better' could be left out and let it read 'Homes Make the World.'

"Dr. Haskew said that all the mechanical gadgets modern homemakers use today do not necessarily improve the mother's nerves, the father's grouch, nor the children's restlessness, and unless the time they saved was really spent to better family life or toward the enrichment of the personalities in the home, they were not better homes.

"Dr. Haskew concluded with the following suggestions for making better homes: (1) warm love and respect for each member of the family. (2) a home that simplifies the good in life. (3) consideration for others—avoid self-indulgence—the habit of me and I being above others. (4) a program of work and share a full life with others. (5) the most basic thing for better homes which brings the better world is to love and be loved. The feeling of being wanted gives security. This unselfish way of life makes the happy child, family, and home."

OUR "HEAD MAN"

WE SUPPOSE, what with the great conglomeration of publicity already given the affair, that enough has been said about President Harry S. Truman and his statement about our U. S. Marines. But we're not satisfied, so we're going to speak our piece.

Our president, you remember, last week said the Marines are the Navy's police force and will remain just that so long as he is president, and also he said that the Marines have a propaganda machine equal to Stalin's.

For saying all of this, President Truman, a couple of days later, apologized, and apologized profusely. He even recited a bunch of the history of the Marine Corps, and pointed out how much the Marines have done in the way of fighting for the U. S. in the past.

We note that his apology to the great Marine Corps was much, much better worded than his letter to the congressmen in which he made the most unnecessary statements.

We are not taking up for the U. S. Marines, for we don't believe they need taking up for. The Marine Corps has proven itself to be a top group when it comes to fighting, and there's no use defending that group when they don't need it. One needs only to recall their many, many brave and heroic actions for any defense of the corps which may be necessary.

Furthermore, we don't even know anything about their "propaganda machine." Perhaps they do have an efficient publicity department, but we would hardly call it propaganda. The Marines are good at their job, they know it, and they want others to know it. So long as they can back up their publicity with action—and so far they have been able to do that—then give them all the publicity they want and deserve.

It seems to us that Harry has once more proved himself incapable of holding the job he is attempting to hold. Not long ago we called him a politician, but perhaps we were wrong. At least, he is not a diplomatic politician.

Throughout the nation, we hear cries asking the resignation of Secretary of Defense Johnson and Secretary of State Acheson, for the apparent blunders which they have committed. Perhaps we should go a little higher on hog and ask the President to step down from a job which he is not capably conducting. If you had an employee who did not do his job well, it's not likely that he would last long at his work. Can the same not be true of our "head man?"

LES TALK BY LESTER

Last Friday I found myself in a very strange position. I was one of a very few people who actually believed we would beat the Herford Whitefaces. And I was sincere in my belief. Arthur Boyd was the only one I could find to agree with me. I was so convinced that we would beat them that I took a buck off a fellow who did not think so. I won't tell his name, for it might be embarrassing to him. The wager was even.

As for the team, I was very proud of them all. Of course, I am always proud of L. M. Watson, for he is truly a wonderful football player, not just on the offensive, but on the defense as well. As a matter of fact, some of those in the press box last Friday night stated they believe he is even better on the defense than on the offense. That's a pretty broad statement when a player carries the ball a total of 26 times and makes a total of 153 yards.

But L. M. wasn't the only one I was proud of. I liked the way all of the team played, the spirit they showed. Even if they had lost the game, I would have liked the way they played, for they turned out to be a scrappy, eager-to-get-in-there bunch of boys. They showed evidence of good, sincere coaching, for I have seen teams—McLean teams, at that—who did not act like they wanted to play. But the Tigers did last Friday night.

Those new players, such as Joe Crockett, Warren Smith, Alvin Elakhshear, Dan Taylor, Eddie Reeves, Jesse Wayne Roberts, Dan Cooper, Carroll Hall, and all the others, looked very good. They tried hard, and played as sincerely and as clean as possible, and that made it a good game.

And old veteran Vic Shelton, that rascal played his best game in the three years he has been on the team. And little Don Tundall, who didn't do much ball-totin', blocked and tackled like he weighed 175 instead of 130. And so did J. N. and Wayne Smith.

To make certain I didn't miss someone who played well, I should list the entire squad, for even the boys on the bench were helping morally.

To me, the way a team plays is more important than the way the games come out. Naturally, I want them to win, too, but they can lose and still be good.

This next Friday night, the Tigers will meet the Phillips Elakhsawks. As usual, Chesty Walker says he doesn't have much, but everyone else says he does. Last year when the Tigers played the Blackhaws, our boys lost an average of 10 pounds each in fight, and lost the game 47 to 0. I doubt if the boys can beat them this year, but it won't be 47 to 0 if the boys go over there and remember that the Blackhaws put on their pants the same way the Tigers do, eat only three times a day, and are only in a high school, too.

For some reason or other, I have been asked by several to give my predictions of the games as I

Uncle Sam Says

There are times for each season of the year, but there is only one which offers a wonderful cure for headaches, worry, or insomnia. Take a good look at the label on the bottle. That is a U. S. Savings Bond, guaranteed to be safe and to pay you back $1 for every $3 you invest after ten years. And the more of this beneficial medicine you take, the healthier will be your income—your future financial standing. So, invest regularly every pay day—summer, fall, winter and spring—in U. S. Savings Bonds.

U. S. Treasury Department

did last year. So I will. I kinda enjoy it, anyway, and when I am lucky enough to guess one right, I like to brag about it and forget all those I missed. Then, too, it gives you a chance to rib me for missing, which is all right with me. So here goes again (but don't place any bets on the basis of these predictions.) Only games involving 2-A teams will be attempted.

Phillips 26, McLean 6. At Phillips. (I just want to put a scare into the Tigers a day before the game—we could win this one, I actually believe.)

Shamrock 12, Dalhart 7. At Shamrock. The only reason for picking Shamrock is because the game is at Shamrock.

Memphis 14, Canyon 0. At Canyon. Tulsa beat Canyon, and so should Memphis.

Wellington 19, Dumas 0. At Dumas. Just a guess, just a guess.

Lefors 26, White Deer 7. At White Deer. Lefors is Class A and is supposed to beat a Class B team.

Clarendon 27, Claude O. At Clarendon. The Broncos ought to be able to beat Claude even more than that.

Incidentally, if any of you other fans would care to let me publish your predictions, bring them in. However, I will have to have them each Saturday for the following Friday games.

1910 Fair in McLean Was Big Success

40 Years Ago— IT HAPPENED HERE

Taken from the Files of The McLean News, September, 1910
Gray County Fair Most Successful

Thursday and Friday of last week the little city of McLean was host to the largest crowd of visitors ever gathered within her gates and the entertainment was of that had been promised—and sure. The occasion was the first annual meet of the Gray County Fair, and our citizenship may well be proud of the measure of success attained in their initial effort. The crowds were here, the agricultural, livestock, culinary, and textile displays were far ahead of the expectations of the most sanguine, and the amusement program was not only interesting but kept up a continual round of pleasure for the visitors.

The list of awards in the agricultural, livestock, culinary, textile, and general department appears in detail below, the names of the winners appearing beneath the list explaining the offer.

In the baby show, the following is a list of the winners:

From 12 to 18 months of age—First, Mrs. C. E. Donnell; second, Mrs. A. T. Russell.
From 6 to 12 months of age—First, Mrs. J. G. Cash; second, Mrs. J. R. Phillips.
Under 6 months of age—Mrs. T. N. Holloway; second, Mrs. Staley.

In this show there were a variety of entries and all of the babies were pretty and sweet and it is the regret of the judges that they were forced to make a definite decision. The association is especially indebted to Messrs. Paul Bell and T. W. Swanner of Amarillo and F. H. Southerland of this city for performing the difficult and delicate task of passing on the prettiest baby entered in the various classes.

The amusement program, conducted under the capable direction of J. F. Harbert, was a success from every standpoint, more especially the ladies' nail-driving and sawing contests. In the former, Mrs. Grogan of Ramsdell was the winner, with Mrs. A. G. Richardson of McLean a close second. The latter was won by Mrs. J. W. Kolb and Mrs. E. D. Langley took second honor.

Special thanks is due Messrs. Will H. Langley, J. L. Crabtree, J. F. Harbert, and E. D. Langley for their untiring efforts to see that everything that could be done was done for the success of the fair just closed. The association also wishes to acknowledge the worthy efforts of J. D. Voyles in his work of disposing of the rights, and that of C. S. Rice and R. H. Collier in manufacturing the "King of the Panhandle," an imitation of kaffir corn. This feature was a marvel of architectural design and was superbly dressed in kaffir corn heads.

The Grand Theatre and Messrs. Proctor and Murphy with a big carnival attraction furnished amusements for the evening of both days.

The tournament, which was conducted under the direction of Messrs. C. C. Cooper and F. H. Yokely was a success, and those who finished in the winning class were: First, Murvin Huntsman; second, Clyde Cash. The third place was a tie between C. C. Cooper and Carl Hefner and they split the money.

Friday afternoon the school boys of Heald played a game of baseball with the local boys which resulted in a score of 15 to 25 or some such number, in favor of the locals.

With the closing of this entirely successful event, the entire population went home feeling that by the time another harvest season rolls around it will be possible to enlarge the scope of the organization as well as the variety of the premium list. Let us begin at once to lay up plans for the next year and all bear in mind that there is a big work in connection with the undertaking in which every patriotic citizen should participate. This done, the permanence of the fair is assured.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Johnson and daughter of Hereford visited with Mrs. Bunia Kunkel Tuesday night of last week.

Mrs. James E. Corbin and children have returned home after a two-weeks visit with her parents in Denver, Colo. They also visited Mr. Corbin's sisters, Jessie and Viola Corbin of Denver.

State's Affairs Badly Organized; TEC to Study

By JOHN BEN SHEPPERD Secretary Texas Economy Commission

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles on the background, purposes and work of the Texas Economy Commission.)

It's a mess! Your Texas state government is accurately summarized in those three words. In a nutshell, they speak of disorganization and widespread confusion.

The Texas Economy Commission has been appointed by Governor Allan Shivers as an advisory body to examine the state government and recommend a practical program for efficient reform.

Let's take a look at what the TEC will have to examine.

There are nearly 200 separate agencies of the executive branch of the government. These are run by nearly 150 administrative groups or individuals.

The state conducts its financial affairs out of more than 230 separate checking accounts. Some have less than $50 in them. Some have tens of millions of dollars in them. Many accounts are earmarked for special purposes and are not available as a general fund. A true general fund provides the logical, practical, economical means of carefully controlled government spending.

Texas, unfortunately, has no such arrangement.

As further illustration of how bad is the state of affairs, consider all these nearly 200 agencies. Many of them are supervised by the appointees of as many as three different governors.

This simply means that if one of these agencies fails to do a good job, the voters are too far removed from control of the situation. They cannot correct things by voting out the current governor; he didn't appoint a majority of the supervisors of the offending agency. They cannot vote the supervisors out of office because the supervisors hold office by appointment only. The governor himself cannot do anything about the situation because he can only appoint a minority of the supervisors.

The result of all this division of authority and disconnected funds is simply a mess. What, then, is the answer? Shall we take this governmental house of cards, throw it into the scrap heap, and rebuild from scratch? Obviously, this is neither desirable nor practical.

The Texas Economy Commission proposes, not to toss the cards aside, but to look them over and work for their rearrangement in logical order.

If the TEC should find two Jacks of Diamonds, or four deuces of clubs, why then in the interest of economy, efficiency, and fairness to taxpayers the TEC will recommend that the surplus cards—duplicated services and overlapping agencies—should be combined or eliminated.

The TEC is not out after anybody's scalp. It is not a political organization. It has no "special interest" to serve. It simply hopes to awaken the people of Texas to the need for impartial and practical reorganization of their state government, their public business.

That is why you will find businessmen, farmers, ranchers, industrialists, laboring men, professional men and women, homemakers, people in all walks of life among our active members and supporters.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jett and children of Shamrock visited Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Chase.

We Can Think Of Many Things We'd Rather Have

You wouldn't ordinarily consider a boxful of dead fleas as very much of a gift.

But entomological workers—specialists who study insects which spread disease—at the Texas State Department of Health, recently were thrilled by a gift of Pacific Northwest fleas from Dr. C. Andresen Hubbard, formerly head of the biology department at Pacific University in Oregon. He has made similar gifts, collected during a lifetime of studying disease spreaders, to 20 of the world's outstanding institutions in biological sciences.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, acknowledging the gift, said it was "something of a compliment" to be classed as a leader in biological studies along with the British Museum, Canada's National Museum, Brazil's Escola Nacional de Agronomia, the Parasitological Laboratory in Sevastopol, Russia, Pakistan, Malaya Institute, the American Museum of Natural History in New York, and "many others of equal prominence."

The Texas Health Department was the only health agency in the nation to benefit from the presentation. Its disease vector collection is reputedly one of the finest in the world. Dr. Cox says the entire assortment, including ticks and mites as well as fleas, is open to study by graduate and advanced under-graduate students in Texas colleges and universities.

Department entomological studies are described by Dr. Cox as a "determination of the specific types of insects of medical importance in the state, their distribution, seasonal abundance, and how they can best be controlled."

Department entomologists conducted a two-year investigation of typhus fever in Lavaca County in 1944-46. Step by step, they traced out the process by which rodent fleas spread typhus from rat to human beings.

In 1949, they finished a study which showed bubonic plague—the Black Death of the Middle Ages—was infecting wild rodents in four South Plains counties in West Texas.

"Our entomologists are disease detectives," Dr. Cox says. "The gift from Dr. Hubbard will help them run down insect culprits."

The meeting closed with the singing of the third verse of the guild hymn.

Lovely refreshments were served by the McLean guild to the four district officers, members from Shamrock, Lefors, Clarendon, and Pampa, and one visitor, Miss Hazel Riggsbee of Hobart, Okla. The meeting was adjourned to meet with the Pampa guild in April.

Breeders Plan New Building

An order has been placed with the Link Tschudy company of Amarillo for a galvanized steel building to house the Top o' Texas Hereford Breeders Association show and sale in Pampa, C. E. Vincent, president of the association, announced last Saturday.

The building is expected to be ready for the show and sale in Pampa February 5, 6, 1951.

The building will be 64 feet wide and 96 feet and 4 inches long, and will be erected at Recreation Park.

Funds for the building, approximately $13,000, are being raised by members of the association through personal contribution. The building will be available for public use when not being used by the association, Vincent stated.

The decision to order the building now was made following a statement by the Amarillo firm that scarcity of building materials might prevent construction of the building if not ordered now. Construction on the foundation will begin as soon as arrangements are made by the city of Pampa concerning location and other technicalities.

Hookworms Are Parasites; Often Weaken Bodies

A puny little parasite no more than a quarter inch long when it's full grown can turn a champion weight lifter into an anemic cream puff.

Even while it's still a baby, this pernicious parasite can make a wheezing weakling out of a top field hand, and turn a stout boy's muscles to the texture of soft butter.

It's a hookworm. State Health Officer George W. Cox, with understandable disdain, puts the finger on it as the cause of so-called toe itch, dew itch, ground itch, and summer scratch.

Says he: "All these itches are provincial ways of saying hookworm."

Dr. Cox says his department has been waging a ten-year battle against hookworms in Texas, and that deep inroads have been made into its natural habitat, especially in eastern and southern sections. Health experts know what it is and how it gets into the human body, but the big job is convincing people that they ought to do something about it.

Hookworms live a double life, the health official says, half in the intestines of a human being, and half in the soil around an open pit privy. The female lays eggs while attached to the intestine.

Eggs pass from the body, and hatch within 24 hours. Then the young worm lies in wait for the first unsuspecting barefoot person—usually a youngster—to come by. It pierces the foot skin and slowly inches its way deeper and deeper into the body until it reaches the intestinal tract where the cycle starts again.

"It is a disease," Dr. Cox says, "that stunts the growth of children, causes skin discoloration, loss of weight, and anemia." Severe infestations often cause a morbid craving for such things as chalk or dirt, he adds.

But it's easy enough to control—merely by building properly designed sanitary pit privies or septic tanks. That, and wearing shoes.

A good many children in various rural areas have had light infestations all their lives, and have never known what it means to feel entirely well.

County Delegation Attends Meeting

A portion of Gray County's delegation attended the annual state Democratic convention in Mineral Wells Tuesday and Wednesday.

The group was led by Aaron Sturgeon, county Democratic chairman.

Boyd Meador and Charles Cousins, who had intended to represent this portion of the county at the convention, were unable to attend.

Hide of Champion Bull Is Presented To Univ. of Ill. College of Agri.

CARY, ILL.—Homage is paid to Netherhall Swanky Dan, champion Ayshire bull, as Otto Schnering (left), president of Curtiss Cattle Company, presents the animal's hide to Prof. W. W. Yapp (right) acting for the head of the Department of Dairy Science of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. The college requested the bull's hide for exhibition after he died March 14 at the Curtiss Cattle Farms near Cary. Winner of 84 grand championships, he was said to be the greatest of all show bulls and his skeleton has been presented to the Smithsonian Institution for research purposes. Looking on are Delbert H. Kingston, superintendent of livestock for the Curt farms; Elmer Hansen, field director of the farms' improved breed program and former head of the dairy department of Iowa State College; and William E. Hunter, farms manager. Prof. Yapp, Kingston and Mr. Hansen all served as judges on various occasions when championships were awarded to Netherhall Swanky Dan for his purchase by the farms.
