Pampa Has Largest Gain, Lefors Loses

The population of the City of McLean, as recorded in the 1950 census, is 1,447 people. This was the unofficial figure released by Walter Shaller, district supervisor, in Amarillo Wednesday morning to The News in a telephone conversation. The figure shows that McLean has gained only 58 in population since 1948, when the official census was 1,389 residents, Shaller said. The gain is an increase of 4.2 per cent.

Gray County now has a population of 24,622 people, compared to the 1940 count of 23,911. Pampa showed the biggest gain in the county, with an unofficial count of 16,522, as compared to 12,895 in 1940. Lefors lost more than 200 in population. The 1950 count is 579 residents, in comparison to 899 in 1940. No separate tabulation for the population of Alanreed was made, Shaller said.

Homecoming At Alanreed Attracts 200

There was a program—a good one, too—but the main event of the day was "visiting" when the annual homecoming of the Alanreed community was held last Sunday in the school gymnasium. More than 200 persons from Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Colorado, California, and Illinois gathered together for the annual affair—held each year on the second Sunday in June—and renewed friendships made in past years.

Donkey Softball Game to Be Played Saturday Night

Softball fans who enjoy a good strong laugh, will have the opportunity of taking that laugh Saturday night when a donkey softball game is played on the McLean softball field. The game is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, the Lions Club committee in charge of the project, stated. Admission will be 25 cents for adults, and 15 cents for children. Net proceeds will go into the softball league fund, for maintenance and improvement of the playing field. All players will be local men, most of whom are members of one of the league teams.

Back, McLean Voters to Ballot On School Consolidation Saturday

Baptists Plan Youth Revival June 18 to 25

A Youth Revival—not for youth alone but for the entire public—will be held at the First Baptist Church in McLean Sunday, June 18, through Sunday, June 25, Rev. Buell Wells, pastor, announced this week. Young people will be placed in charge of all activities of the church, beginning with the Sunday School and on up, it was explained. Church services will be held each evening at 8 o'clock, and everyone is invited to attend, Rev. Wells said. Rev. Roy Davidson will conduct the preaching services, and Rev. Herb Barker will be in charge of the singing. Both young men and college students and members of the Texas "Invincibles" team of young people's workers. It was emphasized that all functions of the church will be in charge of the young people, although the entire public is invited and urged to participate in all services. Thomas C. Braly of Pampa, district attorney, this week authorized The McLean News to announce his candidacy for reelection to the office he now holds. Braly stated that he will issue his formal statement of announcement next week.

News Is Printed Few Hours Earlier—Convention Time

Printing of The McLean News was completed a few hours earlier this week—the last of the printing being done Wednesday afternoon instead of early Thursday morning. Papers were placed in the post office early Thursday morning. The time of printing was speeded up to allow the editor to leave early Thursday to attend the annual meeting of the Texas Press Association in Fort Worth. Due to the earlier time of completing the printing, some items of news may have been omitted which readers had expected to see, but they will appear in next week's issue.

Election Boxes At City Hall, Back School

The two elections to determine whether the Back Common School District No. 9 is to be consolidated with the McLean Independent School District will be held Saturday. Qualified voters of the Back district will vote on whether they wish to consolidate with the McLean district, and those in the McLean area will ballot on the acceptance of Back into this district. Two voting boxes will be set up. The Back voting pace, where voters of that district will cast their ballots, will be in the Back school house. The box in McLean, where local voters will vote, will be in the City Hall. Mrs. Jesse Roberts will serve as judge in the Back district, and T. N. Holloway will serve as judge here. Polls will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock at night. Under the state law, when a consolidation of schools is sought, the voters of the district asking consolidation must approve the merging, and the district to which the petitioner is seeking to be annexed must approve the consolidation. There has been no opposition whatsoever in McLean to the acceptance of Back into this district, and it is doubtful that even a single dissenting vote will be cast. Little opposition has been reported in the Back district either, and the voting there is expected to be favorable. The enactment of the Gilmer-Aikin school law caused many changes in schools throughout the state. Under the law, schools may remain dormant for not more than two years, after which time they must be consolidated with an adjoining district. The Back school was inactive last year, and voters there may either wait another year before consolidating, or may vote now to consolidate. Voters in the Back community held a meeting recently to decide whether they should consolidate now, and the decision was made to petition for the election. A petition to accept the Back district was made up in McLean, and County Judge Bruce Parker set Saturday as the date of the two elections.

Downpour Hits Area

A hard-driving rain, accompanied by gusts of wind up to 35 or 40 miles per hour, swept over the McLean area last Saturday afternoon, causing considerable damage to spring-planted crops. The rainfall gauge officially measured 2.39 inches for the rainfall Saturday afternoon, night, and early Sunday morning. Pete Fulbright, local weather observer, reported, bringing the year's total to 9.05 inches.

East and north of McLean, however, the downfall apparently was considerably heavier. Papan reported 4.7 inches of moisture, and Heald was believed to have received well in excess of three inches. Cotton and other row crops, which in many instances had already been replanted at least once, were reported completely washed out by the deluge. Many terraces were either swept away or broken through in a number of places. Fills on the widening of Highway 66 through this portion of Gray County were damaged considerably, with some washouts in the new roadbeds as wide as six feet. There were a number of washouts and flood stories making the rounds. For example, Jewell Cousins of Borger, who was visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. Jim Dougherty of near Heald, saw her new 1950 model car take on about four feet of water. The car had been placed in the garage to prevent hail damage, but the rising water got into the garage and badly damaged the new car. Another story was to the effect that an elderly man was caught in a low place in the road, and sat in his car as it was being washed off the road and several feet into a field. The roads north of Highway 66 east of McLean, where there is no paving, were almost impassable. Some small bridges were reported to be washed out. Local residents stated that the downfall was one of the hardest ever seen in McLean. The accompanying hail, fortunately, did not develop into large stones, and consequently the hail damage was light. The hail would have been sufficiently large and thick to ruin the small cotton if the flooding waters had not washed out the plants.

Lions to Install New Officers At Park Picnic

New officers of the McLean Lions Club, to serve during the 1950-51 year, will be installed at an all-family picnic of the club in the City Park Friday night, June 23. The affair will be a basket-lunch picnic, with each family bringing its basket of food. Officers to be installed are as follows: R. B. (Bob) Sherrick, as president, succeeding Dr. J. H. Kritzer; J. Lester Dysart, first vice president, succeeding Sherrick; second vice president, J. C. Claborn, succeeding Dysart; John R. Broadhurst, third vice president (the club had no third vice president last year). Bill Reeves, secretary, succeeding J. M. Payne; John Plummer, treasurer, succeeding Clifford Allison; Roger Powers, tail twister, succeeding R. A. Young; C. W. Bogan, Lion tamer, succeeding Boyd Meador; Clyde Andrews and Buddy Sutton, directors for two-year terms, and Amos Page, director for one-year term. Andrews and Sutton replace W. C. Meliang and J. D. Coleman and Page will fill the unexpired term of Bill Howard, who has moved to Dumas. No long program has been planned for the event. Jimmy McCune of Pampa, zone chairman, will be present to install the new officers. In addition, McCune will announce the winner of the annual award to the "Lion of the Year."

Buck Henley Barn Burns; Is Total Loss

A barn belonging to Buck Henley, about one mile east of McLean on U. S. Highway 66, was destroyed by fire which was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Henley at about 1 o'clock Saturday morning.

Members of the McLean volunteer fire department rushed to the scene of the fire, and were able to prevent the blaze from reaching the Henley home, which has only recently been remodeled. Estimate of the loss was $2,100. Henley stated this week that he had carried $2,000 insurance on the barn and some of the contents, but that all of the contents were not covered by the insurance. Included in the loss were three mules, the owner stated. In addition, other farm equipment was in the building, as well as considerable feed. All was a total loss, Henley said. The blaze was well underway when Mr. and Mrs. Henley awakened. At first it was believed that the house was on fire. Local firemen rushed to the scene, and used two truckloads of water to keep the blaze from reaching the house. Little damage was done to the house, although one side was slightly scorched. The house had only recently been repainted, after considerable remodeling. Several trees in the vicinity of the barn were burned.

Man Arrested, Charged With Theft, Forgery

Eugene Womack of Maud, Okla., was apprehended in McLean last Wednesday night by Sheriff O. H. Kyle and deputies in connection with forgery and theft. Womack, 24 years of age, was arrested on the second floor of a downtown apartment building in McLean. Sheriff Kyle had knocked on the door of the darkened apartment and ordered Womack to come out, but the order was not obeyed immediately. The wanted man had gone into the bathroom of the apartment and locked himself in. He finally consented to come out and gave the officers no trouble when arrested. His wife was also in the apartment but was not arrested. Found nearby was a truckload of oil equipment, and Womack is being charged with stealing the line equipment. At the 5-mile station east of McLean, a car which had been stolen in Houston was found. Papers found on Womack showed that he was given a dishonorable discharge from the army, and Sheriff Kyle quoted Womack as saying that he had served a previous term in a federal penitentiary. It was also reported that Womack is wanted in other places for forgery. Human character evermore publishes itself. The most fugitive deed and word, the intimated purpose, expresses character.—Emerson.

Funeral Rites Are Held Here For Bud Back

Funeral services for William Anderson (Bud) Back were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Church of Christ in McLean, with W. B. Andrews, former local minister who is now with the Oak Cliff Church of Christ in Dallas, conducting the rites. Interment was in Hillcrest Cemetery under the direction of the Claborn Funeral Home of McLean. Back died Thursday afternoon of last week in the Groom Hospital. He was stricken with pneumonia two days prior to his death, and was believed to be resting well only a few minutes before death came. He had suffered a heart attack about a year ago, but had had no similar trouble in some time. A long time resident of the area, Back came to McLean 46 years ago from Collin County, where he was born February 24, 1886. He was 64 years of age at the time of his death. He had been engaged in farming in the Back community since moving to this area. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Mattie Back of McLean; two sons, Ansel and Cecil Back of McLean; one daughter, Mrs. Ava Lee Crockett of McLean; five brothers, Joe Back of Carter, Okla., Jack Back of Pampa, and Jim, Johnnie, and Victor Back of McLean; one sister, Mrs. Raymond Glass of McLean; and nine grandchildren. Active pallbearers were George Watson, Locket Back, L. M. Watson, Sonny Back, Jack Glass, Oran Back, Wayne Back, and C. D. Davis. Honorary pallbearers were Lawrence Watson, Nevil Back, Jesse Wayne Roberts, Wesley Wayne Woods, Robert Davis, and Dale Glass.

Barbara Beck at Youth Assembly

One delegate from McLean, Barbara Beck, attended the Northwest Texas Conference Youth Assembly at McMurry College, Abilene, last week. More than 400 high school and college students arrived Monday for the six-day session. Rev. Albie Carleton, pastor of the Big Spring First Methodist Church, is speaker for the assembly. Theme of the assembly is "Jesus Way, Our Way—Through Church and Vocations."

Bible School At Alanreed

A Vacation Bible School will start next Monday morning at the Baptist Church in Alanreed. It was announced this week. Sessions will be held each morning from 9 to 11 o'clock. Two state workers will be present to aid members of the Alanreed church in the school. "It is a community affair and every child is invited to attend," members of the church stressed.

Tour of Grass Seedings Planned

A tour of the grass seedings in the McLean area will be conducted Thursday, June 22, Artie Carpenter, chairman of the board of supervisors of the Gray County Soil Conservation District, sponsor of the tour, announced this week. The tour will start from the Veterans Vocational School building in McLean at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and all interested persons are invited to make the tour. As far back as 1946, will be visited. Plantings to be inspected include sand love, weeping love, Indian grama, blue stem, and a number of others. Farmers and ranchers who made the plantings will be on hand to tell about their experience with the grass. The board of supervisors will be assisted on the tour by Ralph Thomas, Gray County agricultural agent, and Quentin Williams, district conservationist, and other members of the Soil Conservation Service staff.

Golf Course to Be 'Fixed Up'; Associate Members Enlisted

"If we can get at least 25 associate members at $10 each for this season, we will fix up the golf course." That was the decision of members of the McLean Country Club, owners of the land at the northwest edge of town which formerly was a golf course, at the open meeting last Friday night. Immediate work in gaining the 25 members was begun by Ruel Smith, and a total of 16 associate members had paid that night. The would-be golfers were signed up at the softball game following the golf meeting. Approximately 30 people attended the meeting in front of the City Hall, but many of them had to leave early to play softball. However, most of those present at the meeting paid their $10 memberships at the softball field. Saturday, Smith and Carl Jones, both of whom hold memberships under the country club organization, enlisted several other members, and by Monday night the minimum number of 25 had been reached. Smith stated that work on the construction of the sand greens will be begun this week. The $10 membership fee allows the buyer and his family the privilege of playing golf on the course at any time. More members are welcome, Smith said, and the $10 fee for the remainder of this year may be paid to either Smith or Jones. The plan is to lay out the course in the same manner in which it was formerly set up. Sand greens will be used on all holes, since it will be financially impossible at present to attempt to construct grass greens. Weeds and grass are to be mowed soon.

Bible School Has 152 Enrollment

The Vacation Bible School of the First Baptist Church turned out to be very successful, figures on enrollment at the school which closed June 3 indicate. A total of 187 registered for the school, and of these 152 were enrolled. The school was closed with a picnic at the former P. O. W. camp Saturday, June 4, and commencement exercises were held Sunday night in the church auditorium.

Whatever it is, you can make those dreams a reality by investing, regularly, in U. S. Savings Bonds. You alone can answer the question "Will you be up or down in 1967?" Clinics for VD Prove Valuable

Texas' private war on venereal diseases among indigents is proceeding in wholesale fashion, with over 95,000 patients having passed through State Health Department rapid treatment centers since the first center was opened in 1913.

This was the word from State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, who described the 95,000 as "unlucky enough to have VD, but lucky enough to have gotten attention."

"Untended syphilis can cause heart disease, mental illness, blindness, and other severe physical disabilities," the health officer asserted. He asked pointedly, "See why they're lucky?"

Two state supported rapid treatment centers—Rocky Mount Hospital in Overton, and the Mission Medical Center in San Antonio—are maintained by the State Health Department for handling cases of venereal diseases in people unable to pay for private care, Cox said.

Gonorrhea is handled in the VD clinics of local health units, rather than sending the indigents to the RTC's, Cox said.

"State Health Department policy calls for local health unit VD clinics as diagnostic centers," he said. "However, a good many rapid treatment center patients are referred there by private physicians."

Rapid treatment center personnel conduct patient education via conferences pamphlet, and motion pictures, which is, Dr. Cox said, "one of our most valuable educational processes."

"We learned long ago that educating patients while they are undergoing treatment has more retentive value than any other device we could use."

Mildred Holloway, who is attending nurses' school at Lubbock, is home for a three-weeks vacation.

Jerry and Roy Preston have returned home from Amarillo, after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Preston.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Alexander of Amarillo, and Mrs. Paul Powers and daughters, Linda and Mary Jo, of Vallejo, Calif., were Sunday visitors of their mother and grandmother, Mrs. J. P. Alexander.

real lively game, though some-

Voyles did the pitching and Hinton the receiving for the Ehretod for the visitors. Both the pitchers did excellent work and of course we are of the opinion that Voyles pitched one of the best games ever pulled off

Mr. Elms was entirely fair, not

School Contract Let-in 1910

40 Years Ago—IT HAPPENED HERE

Taken from the Files of The McLean News, June, 1910.

Contract Is Let for School Building

The contract for the construction of the McLean public school building has been let to B. L. Combs of Shawnee, Okla., and actual work will commence within two weeks from date. The amount of the contract price is $25,000.

When all bids for the building were opened Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, it was thought the contract would not be let as the bids seemed too high, but later in the day the matter was taken up again for consideration and the result mentioned was reached.

Mr. Combs promised to make it turnkey job, finished complete with all school desks necessary, as well as blackboards and other accessories, for the $25,000, but the contract does not call for seats for the auditorium.

However, it is the opinion of members of the board that the 30 seats saved from the fire which destroyed the frame building can be used in the class rooms and in this manner a sufficient amount of money saved with which to put the seats in the auditorium and it is possible this plan will be carried out, giving us the building absolutely complete for the money secured from the sale of the bonds.

The board feels that they have secured an excellent contract and that Mr. Combs will not only do the work satisfactorily but will rush the building to completion at the earliest possible moment. The gentleman is highly recommended by those for whom he has worked in the past, and all say he is a thorough mechanic with a well-organized force of helpers.

Another important thing in connection with this building is the fact that, in all likelihood, the brick used for all interior walls and rough work will be from the G. A. Heald yard in this city. Several of the contractors figuring on the building visited the Heald plant and examined the brick he is making, all of them being of the opinion that it would easily stand the test and would serve quite as well, if not better, than the ordinary grade of brick used for such purposes. In case this brick can be used, and we feel it safe to say it can, a large portion of the money that would otherwise go out of the town will remain here and also that employment will be given for 10 or 12 men in their manufacture. The News man had the pleasure of inspecting this plant and the output, and while we are not a connoisseur on the subject, we found them to be perfectly made and as hard as any ordinary rock. Mr. Heald uses one-fourth cement and three-fourths clean sand and gravel in their manufacture which should insure a lasting brick, one that will continue to harden for years, even after being laid in the building. They are cured in water and kept in a shady place.

In case this brick is used in construction of the school building, other buildings near that are contemplated in the future will open up a considerable market for them at this point, and the Heald plant will do doubt prove a profitable venture not only for Mr. Heald but for the community in general.

THE DAY IS SATURDAY

THIS ARTICLE is addressed primarily to the qualified voters within the boundaries of the McLean Independent School District.

The subject of the article has to do with your going to the polls Saturday in the election here—which, combined with that election being held in the Back common school district, will determine whether the Back school district is to be consolidated with the McLean district.

Chances are that no dissenting votes to the proposal will be cast in the McLean box. Members of the school board, and others interested in the local school system, can think of no reason why a voter in the McLean district will vote against acceptance of Back into the district. The election in the local district is actually more of a formality than anything else.

Yet it is more than just a formality. It is a means of letting the people of the Back district know whether or not we in the McLean district want the Back district in our school system. As we say, supporters of the local schools can think of no reason why we should not want the Back district consolidation to take place.

For that reason, it behooves us as qualified voters in the McLean district to go to the polls and give our approval to the consolidation—not in a small way, but in an overwhelming manner. We should let the people of the Back community know that we want that district in our district boundaries, that we value their consolidation to a great extent.

It is the sincere belief of The News that the consolidation of Back with McLean's schools will be a forward move for all concerned. It is our sincere belief that a greater, broader, and more accommodating school system will be the result. It is our sincere belief that much progress will be gained when the consolidation is effected. Let us all hope that both elections will be strong on the affirmative side.

Boy Scout Gets Gold Flash For Jamboree

MADISON, WIS.—Boy Scout Don Bribery is a lucky lad, for he will take to the International Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge the gold-plated Billionaire flashlight presented to him here by Wisconsin Governor Oscar Rennebohm as Wisconsin Supreme Court Justice Marvin Rosenberry, a member of the National Boy Scout Council, looks on.

The Billionaire was created to commemorate the billionth Ray-O-Vac leakproof battery, produced within the short span of 11 years. Visualizing the magnitude of a billion cells, they would make a single cell that would stand more than a mile high or, if laid end to end, would reach 37,870 miles.

Present also at the commemoration celebration were officials of the Army and Navy, representatives of the National Association of Manufacturers, as well as civic and industrial leaders of the state.

LES TALK

BY LESTER

This week-end, unless my plans are changed for one reason or another, I will be in Fort Worth to attend the annual meeting of the Texas Press Association. It seems that every time I attend a press convention, I come back home with new ideas and new hopes for improving this paper. No one denies that we do have a small paper, but we try to make it the best we can with the ability and support which we have. Attending the conventions gives us ways and means of improving the paper, and, although we often are able to utilize only a few of these ideas, the paper does show that improvement.

Each week I receive in the neighborhood of about 100 weekly newspapers which are published in other parts of the general area. I will admit that many of them are better papers, principally because they are published in larger localities, but I sincerely believe we are putting out as good a paper as any in the same size town—and ours is much better than many of those published in similar-size towns.

Anyway, if you miss me around the drug store at 9:30 o'clock on the mornings of this week-end, then you will know that my plans did not go astray and I am attending the convention.

Something much more important than my going to attend a press convention will take place this week-end.

This "something" consists of the two elections which are to be held Saturday to determine whether the Back common school district shall be consolidated with the McLean district.

The consolidation is very important to the McLean schools, and to the taxpayers. As most of you know, the local school board is making definite plans for a new grade school building. Such a building will cost money, an estimated $147,000. The local district can stand a bond issue for the building, but, if the bond issue were approved under the present district limitations, a sizeable increase in school taxes would be forthcoming.

However, if the Back district is consolidated with the McLean district, the resulting increase in tax valuations of the district will be such that only a very small increase in taxes will be necessary to meet the bond obligations when they are passed.

For that reason, the voters in the present McLean district should go to the polls in a large number and vote to accept the Back district in with the McLean district. A large vote will indicate to the residents of the Back community that we really want them, not only for their money but also for the fine people who make up that community. We should welcome them wholeheartedly, for they have asked to be consolidated.

There may be certain advantages for the Back taxpayers, too. Under the Gilmer-Aikin school law, a district can be dormant for two years, and then it must consolidate with some adjoining district. Back has been dormant for one year, and the taxpayers could wait another year. But the taxpayers there felt this way: they know that McLean needs badly a new grade school building, and that undoubtedly bonds for such a building will be okayed by the voters. If Back does not come in now, the McLean tax rate will have to be raised considerably. Then when Back has to consolidate with another district one year from now (providing the Back district is not active in the coming year), the McLean tax rate would be pretty high. And as one Back resident put it, "It's mighty hard to lower taxes once they are raised."

So there is that advantage to Back taxpayers in the consolidation.

It is my humble opinion, and it is pretty humble, that both the Back residents and the McLean residents will give an overwhelming okay to the consolidation. It should be unanimous in the McLean district, for I can see absolutely no reason for a dissenting vote—unless one of the proverbial "agitters" simply wants to throw in his black ball.

Every qualified voter in each of the two districts should go to the polls Saturday and cast his ballot. That's the fair and Democratic way to carry out any election.

If you've been in our office in the past week or so, you may have noticed a little change. We finally got around to tearing down that age-old partition in the back part of the building. It is one of the first steps toward making our building a little more attractive and livable.

However, do not get excited. Due to financial reasons, I am having to do the work myself.

and I get around to it only at off moments. Off-duty moments, that is. So it will be quite a long time before I finish everything I want to finish. The walls need painting, the ceiling needs something, but-I-don't-know-what, and there's a bunch of other stuff which needs improving. My aim is to make it a place which won't scare you so much when you walk in the front door—or back door in the front door. It will take me time to get it all done, so don't be too impatient. I'm a pretty slow worker in that line.

Know Your Stop and Go Signals

Do you know about high-traffic signals? If your knowledge is limited to the fact that you go when the signal shows red and stop when it shows green, you can make the problem of traffic control an easier one for your local officials by knowing more about traffic signals.

You can help bring about uniformity of traffic signals by learning to identify the standard traffic signal and then encouraging local officials to use only standard signals when they install new signals or replace existing non-standard signals. Wouldn't it be easier for you to understand the indications given by the signals if they were all of the same design in every town or state?

In fact, standardization of traffic control is considered so desirable and important that the 50th Texas Legislature passed that all highway traffic signals installed in Texas after June 1 shall conform to national standards.

The sketch will help you identify the most common type of standard fixed-time (stop and go) signal for suspension over the center of the highway. To be standard each face must have at least three lenses, with red at the top, yellow below the red, and green below the yellow. Additional lenses showing arrows and walkmen may be added at complicated intersections to provide for special movements of traffic. The standard position of the lenses is not helpful to every motorist, but it is especially helpful to the blind who can tell whether to stop or go by the difference in brightness of the lenses when they cannot distinguish colors. The yellow signal, which follows a green only, plays a very important role. It warns traffic that the signal indication will change; it provides a warning time for traffic already at the intersection and for traffic approaching so closely that it would be hazardous; and it means operation of yellow as a caution signal when the signal is not being operated as a stop and go signal.

There are a large number of traffic signals in use today that were installed before the present standards were adopted, and they do not conform to present standards. Unfortunately there are some local units of government who still buy non-standard signals without the yellow lenses. Some of these two-section signals show both red and green at the time they are changing color, which is not only confusing but also hazardous.

STANDARD TRAFFIC SIGNALS

You can also help with the problem of traffic control by understanding the functions of traffic signals and their limitations.

A well designed and operated traffic signal installed on the basis of factual studies of the number of vehicles and pedestrians, accidents, speeds, delays, and physical conditions of the location can render invaluable service in the smooth and safe flow of traffic. On the other hand, an unjustified, ill designed, ineffectively placed, improperly operated, poorly maintained signal is not only a waste of public funds, but it causes unnecessary delays to traffic, disobedience of signal indications, use of alternate routes, and often, an increase in accidents.

After years of study and experience, national authorities have set out the conditions that will justify the installation of a traffic signal. Unfortunately, too many traffic signals have been installed on the basis of opinion rather than facts, and upon the mistaken idea that they are a cure-all for all traffic problems. The result has been a hindrance to traffic rather than a help. How many times have you, as a law abiding citizen, been forced to stop at some insignificant cross street and wait for a signal to change when there was not a car or a pedestrian in sight? Did this unnecessary delay improve your disposition and your respect for traffic signals? Another common fallacy is that a single stop and go signal can control speed, and this belief has resulted in a number of unjustified signals. The signal may slow down the speed demon or even stop him while the signal is red, but while the signal is showing green, it only offers a challenge for this speed demon to go faster to get by it before it does turn red. Traffic signals cannot write tickets for traffic violations—you still need traffic officers to enforce traffic rules and regulations.

Remember these things about traffic signals and do your part in the problem of traffic control by insisting that your local officials install only standard signals in the future and that they be

Health Units In 57 Counties

Public Health in Texas received another boost with the February 1 formation of the Fort Bend County Health Unit.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, in announcing the commission of the Fort Bend Unit, said Dr. John R. Turner, a public health man of long experience in Texas and elsewhere, had been named as director. The budget is set up to include a director, a sanitarian, a public health nurse, and a clerk. Their operations will cover Fort Bend County in its entirety.

Texas now has 49 units, some of them serving more than one county. Altogether, 57 counties within the state have protection of full-time health units.

"We've come a long way toward our goal of raising the standard of public health in Texas to a high plane," Cox asserted. He cautioned: "But we still have a long road ahead of us."

Ideally, a local health unit is designed, according to Dr. Cox, to promote better health among Texans it serves by performing these functions:

1. By investigating cases of communicable disease, and tracking down, if possible, the source of the germ.
2. By teaching people, through meetings and personal visits, how smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, and other diseases are spread, and how immunization and sanitation will prevent their spread.
3. By making studies of venereal disease (mainly syphilis and gonorrhea), tuberculosis, poliomyelitis, etc., and providing for patient education concerning the illness affecting them.
4. By making home visits to expectant mothers referred by private physicians, and by holding well-child conferences which are designed to keep children in tip-top health.
5. By making periodic inspections of food-handling businesses installed only after a factual study has been made by a competent engineer to determine whether or not they will be a help or a hindrance to traffic.

Chronic Diseases Health Officials Biggest Problems

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox believes chronic diseases represent the biggest problem facing health officials today.

Recent statistics compiled by the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health, show:

1. One-third of all deaths among 15-29 year olds are due to chronic disease, with tuberculosis being the leader.
2. "Well over half" the mortality in the 30-40 age group is due to chronic disease, with heart trouble, cancer and tuberculosis being the leaders.
3. "Almost 8 out of 10" deaths in the 45-59 bracket are caused by this disease classification, with the proportion rising to 85 per cent for those 60 to 74 years old.
4. For those 75 and older chronic diseases cause 82 per cent of the total mortality. The slight decrease in percentage over age 75 is due to the high susceptibility to accidents, pneumonia, and influenza among the aged.

"When chronic disease is mentioned, all too many people think of the problem as being confined to the middle-aged or older," the health chief said, adding that such an idea is not consistent with the facts.

The term chronic, Dr. Cox explained, means the opposite of acute. When applied to a disease, chronic means of long duration.

Along with swim suits, picnic baskets, tennis rackets, awnings and other warm weather defenses, sewers from the storeroom must come the slipcovers. How would a harried homemaker ever cope with summer madness without the aid of her slipcovers—those no-catch, dust, cool-appearing, easy-to-clean blessings to the American way of life. Junior's home from school all day; Father wants a continuous stream of cool, refreshing beverages—and Sister Sue can't be stirred out of the hammock. Seems as if summer brings more work around the house than any other time of the year. But certainly the greatly abused slipcover does its share to ease the burden in return it receives little respect and even less attention. That's to be pitied, too, because slipcovers can be dreary and forlorn or they can perk up your room to its greatest possibilities. One of the major factors to decide which role they'll play is color. Even expertly tailored slipcovers, if faded from sun or frequent washings, will be a liability. Like the genie in Aladdin's lamp, vibrant color can be your willing slave. Of course, to get the magic results, you have to "rub the lamp and with slipcovers that means a little work. Sew them up to fit snugly, mend all rips and dye them if they're washed-out looking. You'll find that new color will give them new life. And don't be the least bit hesitant about dyeing. Bulky articles like slipcovers can easily be dyed right in the washing machine. Nothing could be simpler. All you do is dissolve the dye in a little hot water. Fill the washer with hot water and strain the dye solution into it. Then immerse the still-wet slipcover. Be sure to use an all-purpose dye in case your covers have any rayon or other synthetic fibers in them. Even if your covers are figured, you can give them new life with dye, provided, of course, they're color fast. You're simply covering color with color. Suppose you have red and white striped slipcovers, the red a drab affair. You can put them in the washing machine with blue dye and they'll come out with a dark stripe against the blue background. The same thing can be done with floral prints. So there's no excuse for not having pretty, color-bright rooms. Treat slipcovers as a background for living.

Dynamite Caps WATCH OUT FOR THEM

Dynamite blasting cap accidents to children increase every year during the summer vacation period, it was pointed out in a nationwide warning issued by the International Association of Chiefs of Police and the Institute of Makers of Explosives, and announced jointly by Colonel Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, and J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association.

The Institute, in cooperation with local police, county sheriffs, Boy Scouts, Junior Deputy Sheriffs' Leagues, Girl Scouts, other youth and adult groups, and newspaper and radio stations, is stepping up its long national campaign to warn children not to play with or even touch blasting caps.

"Children or adults finding a blasting cap are warned to leave it alone and report it immediately to the police department or the sheriff's office," said Garrison and Musick, adding:

"Blasting caps are small round copper or aluminum cylinders or tubes about one-quarter of an inch in diameter and an inch or two in length. Some may or may not have a fuse attached, while others may have plain or colored covered wires leading from one end. The tube or cylinder is loaded with a powerful, sensitive explosive used to explode dynamite.

"These caps are necessary to make dynamite useful in important work, such as mining, highway and railroad construction, and clearing farm land of tree stumps and rocks, and other jobs.

"Often blasting caps are lost, stolen, or left lying around in unlocked tool boxes, barns, or alongside of highways and railroad tracks. Children who pick them up are in great danger as long as they are near them.

"Workmen are cautioned to keep all explosives under strong lock and key. The child they save may be their own."

Cotton insect damage in Texas in 1949 amounted to an estimated $65,966,172, George C. Chance, chairman of the Texas unit of the National Cotton Council, revealed recently in releasing statistics compiled by the council and based on the final 1949 cotton production report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Losses in Texas last year exceeded by $26,331,172 those estimated by the Cotton Council in a preliminary, unofficial report prepared early last fall before the final cotton production estimated in December.

Boll weevil reduced the full yield in Texas approximately three per cent, destroying an estimated 215,714 bales of cotton and 88,571 tons of cottonseed. The toll exacted by pests in 1949 was greater than damage in 1948 when Texas losses were estimated to have totaled $61,368,000.

Year insect losses, in terms of year insect losses, in terms of dollars and cents, were the highest in history, amounting to an estimated $616,874,186. This topped by $147,763,186 the council's early estimate and exceeded by $67,269,186 the all-time high of $50,605,000 reported in 1927. This was more than triple 1948 damage of $20,264,000. In the 13 cotton producing states in the "Weevil Belt," the boll weevil reduced the full yield 17.5 per cent. This percentage has been exceeded only five times since records of losses were first reported in 1906. Yield was reduced 31.2 per cent in 1921, 23.3 in 1922, 19.7 in 1920, 19.2 in 1923, and 18.5 in 1927.

The Esterbrook Pen Is Your Best Fountain Pen Buy!

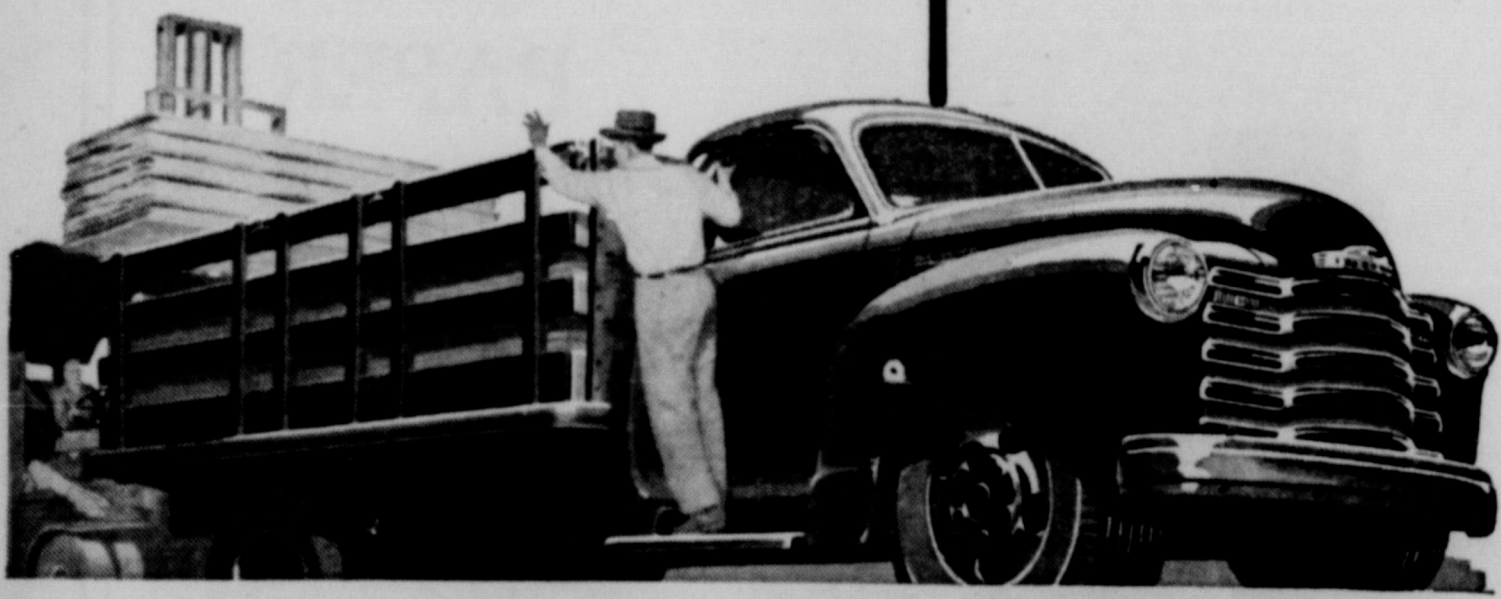

Recently a business man came to us and said he would now guarantee his Esterbrook pen to be durable. He had forgotten to remove it from a shirt when the shirt was sent to a laundry. The pen went through the complete wash—didn't even get an ink spot on the shirt—and almost through the wringer without damaging it. When the shirt—and pen—came back from the laundry, the pen would still write excellently. He will now guarantee an Esterbrook pen to be a good pen.

And don't forget, the practical feature about an Esterbrook is the removable point. When the point is damaged, a new one can be bought here for only 35 cents, and the pen is again as good as new. Yes, the Esterbrook is the pen for the practical business man, housewife, or school child. It's durable, easy to care for, and won't "break you up" should you lose it, for the Esterbrook sells for . . .

Chicken Fritters

HERE IS a way left-over chicken can be made into a delicious main dish for luncheon or supper. It's Chicken Fritters at their very best! The unusually tasty mixture can be made ahead of time and fried in hot spray to a delicate golden brown just before serving. The mushroom sauce is quick and easy, too, using canned soup. Served with piping hot baking powder biscuits and a green vegetable, it's a meal the whole family will love. Clip the recipe now and put it in your cooking file marked, "delicious and inexpensive."

- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 teaspoons onion juice
- 1 tablespoon spray
- 1 1/2 cups cooked or canned chicken, finely chopped
- 1 teaspoon pimiento, finely chopped

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt into mixing bowl . . . Add beaten egg, milk, onion juice, and spray; beat until smooth . . . Add chicken and pimiento and mix well . . . Drop batter by tablespoons into hot spray (375°F.) about 1 1/2 inches deep and fry until golden brown (about 3 minutes) . . . Serve with mushroom sauce made by heating a can of condensed mushroom soup with 1/2 cup milk. Makes about 14 fritters
