CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO: Tom Guy Capps, GREETING:
You are commanded to appear and answer the plaintiff's petition at or before 10 o'clock a. m. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this citation, the same being Monday, the 16th day of July, 1951, before the Honorable 31st District Court of Gray County, at the Courthouse in Pampa, Texas.

Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 1st day of June, 1951.

The file number of said is No. 10,948.

The names of the parties in said suit are: Ruby Capps, plaintiff, and Tom Guy Capps, defendant.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows: Plaintiff sues the defendant for divorce and custody of children, Karen Starr Capps and Tom Charles Capps, alleging that:

On or about the 7th day of July, 1941, plaintiff was duly and legally married to defendant in the town of Venita, Oklahoma, and continued to live with defendant as wife until about the 30th day of April, 1951.

Plaintiff is, and has been for more than twelve months immediately prior to the exhibiting of this petition, an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in said County for a period of six months, next of Gray, where this suit is filed, preceding the filing thereof.

At all times, while married to the defendant, plaintiff has conducted herself with propriety, doing her duty as a wife, has at all times treated defendant with kindness and forbearance and has been guilty of no act bringing about or causing the hereinafter described acts, omissions and conditions on defendant's part.

Soon after the marriage of plaintiff and defendant, the defendant, disregarding the solemnity of his marriage vow, and his obligation to treat the plaintiff with kindness and attention, commenced a course of unkind, harsh and tyrannical conduct towards plaintiff, which continued, with very slight intermissions, until plaintiff finally separated from defendant on or about the 30th day of April, 1951. On divers occasions, while plaintiff lived with defendant as aforesaid, defendant was guilty of excesses, cruel treatment and outrages toward plaintiff, of such nature as to render their living together insupportable, all of which caused the plaintiff to become physically ill.

There have been two children born of this marriage, to-wit: Karen Starr Capps, nine years of age, a female, and Tom Charles Capps, two years of age, a male.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to answer this petition; that on final hearing plaintiff have judgment of divorce dissolving marriage between plaintiff and defendant; and that plaintiff have judgment of custody of the two above-named children; and that plaintiff have such other and further relief as the Court shall deem proper to grant.

If this citation is not served within ninety (90) days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

ISSUED this 1st day of June, 1951.
GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND SEAL OF SAID COURT, at office in Pampa, Texas, this the 1st day of June, 1951.

DEE PATTERSON, Clerk, 31st District Court, Gray County, Texas (SEAL)

WHY? WHY? WHY?

IN A DISCUSSION we had recently with another citizen of McLean, we were talking about the drift of the U. S. towards socialism and towards communism. We were talking about government going into enterprises which everyone agrees should be left up to private enterprise.

We were talking about the gradual trend toward socialized medicine, toward socialism in almost every phase of our lives.

In other words, we were talking about the trend which is making the people slaves to the government, rather than the government a slave of the people.

Yet, we, the people, are the government.

Why? Why? Why? That's the question continually asked by all of us. Why this trend? Why? Why? Why?

We don't know the answer, any more specifically than you do. But we have our own opinions about the Why and the Wherefore.

Examples are easily given:

When the tornado hit White Deer, the first thing the school patrons did there (and we do not mean to condemn their actions any more than those of any other community), was to check to see if "federal aid" could be obtained to help rebuild these schools. The pioneer forefathers who enjoyed more freedoms than we do would never have thought of seeking such aid.

When Gray County citizens began to think of building what is now known as the Highland General Hospital, the first question was, "how much will the federal government help us?" And that help was obtained in the amount of several hundred thousand dollars.

When farmers think of trying a new crop, such as the castor bean, they want to know how much the government guaranteed price is. When a lending institution considers making a loan to you, the first thing they think of is whether they can obtain an F. H. A., or similar government guarantee on their money.

More and more and more and more examples could be given. It's so simple, yet so complicated. Everyone of these governmental aids cost you money, more than you actually get. The dollar you pay in taxes loses 50 cents of itself before you get it back in one of these government programs.

Now we are to the point where there are millions and millions of government employees. You say, cut off some of these services. But where will you start the cutting? You wouldn't want to take away the guarantees on farm products. You wouldn't want to take away the possibility of your obtaining an F. H. A. loan to buy a home. You wouldn't want to eliminate the possibility of getting government money to aid in the construction of an airport.

Oh no, you want government spending to cease. But you don't want to suffer the consequences if it affects you. Therefore these millions of government employees tend to vote for the candidate or candidates whom they believe will favor continuation of all this government mis-service. Many others do not even bother to go to the polls, and so the candidates are elected who lean toward more government control.

That is, in our opinion, why we are sliding rapidly into a home base called socialism; that is why the government is, more and more every day, running the people, instead of the people running the government.

It's time to arouse from our lethargy.

LES

TALK

By LESTER

On June 15 and 16, I attended another convention. This was the annual meeting of the Texas Press Association, and was held this year in Dallas.

We in the newspaper business hold these conventions principally to learn something from one another. The annual affairs held in Amarillo are for the Panhandle Press Association, a much smaller organization than the Texas Press Association, although attendance at the Amarillo affair is generally larger than the state meetings.

We also hold these conventions to be entertained. In Dallas, we were treated to two breakfasts, two luncheons, and two dinners. We heard many very good speakers, their subject matter varying from how to get rid of fat, to "fanatical movements" which are underway in the U. S.

Among the speakers was a man named Debsman, from either North or South Carolina. He is a radio commentator and a newspaper reporter, and he told us that the South should get together and sell the South to the North and the rest of the world.

Another speaker was C. W. Hudson, who is with the Dallas Railway and Terminal company. He is more or less a professional speaker, having made 107 speeches during the past year. He spoke on "Americanism" and gave us a wonderful pep talk.

The diet speaker was Elmer "Fat Boy" Wheeler, who writes a column which you may read from time to time in one of the dailies. His was a humorous speech, and very entertaining. Incidentally, he is no longer very fat.

The man who spoke on the fanatical movement was Dr. Lee, president of Southern Methodist University. However, he spoke on Friday night, June 15, and cut his speech short so that as many people as desired could hear Douglas MacArthur speak at the cotton bowl.

I did not go to hear the general speak, although I did see him the following morning when he appeared before the association members at a breakfast in the Baker Hotel. All present were given the opportunity to shake hands with him. Mrs. MacArthur and Arthur, an opportunity which I did not take advantage of. The general, I must say, does not show his age in appearance. Mrs. MacArthur and Arthur are very gracious people, and are doing much to promote the general's popularity.

The convention ended Saturday evening at a place called Lambert's barn, with a barbecue dinner or supper, whichever you want to call it. Lambert's Barn used to be a racing horse stable, but has been converted into a beautiful location for the Lambert Landscape company.

Following the barbecue dinner, I attended a burlesque show—the show, let me make it clear, was not a part of the convention. But I did say burlesque show. It was the second one I had been to in my life, and the first since before the war.

I would certainly recommend that everyone, at some time or other in his or her life, attend a burlesque show. To say the least, they are quite revealing—revealing in the sense that you can find out to what extremes some people will go to make a livelihood... revealing in that you can see for yourself just how low in common decency a person can sink.

The show I attended, incidentally, was at a place called the Theater Lounge. When you're in Dallas next time, you can look in the directory and find the correct address. I'm not sure of the address.

The show part of the show—that part you pay your money to see and hear—included a band. A big band it was, too. Three pieces in the band, a piano player, a drummer, and a trumpet player. They were all men. The emcee was an insipid looking individual who cracked some jokes and sang a few songs. His jokes weren't as bad as I had thought they might be... as a matter of fact, I have heard worse on the streets in McLean from some of our better citizens.

But of course the show's attraction was the beautiful dancing girls. The girls were not exactly beautiful, although I have seen worse. What they do on the stage is not very beautiful either.

There were four girls, making a total of eight people appearing in the show.

The girls came out one at a time, and each gave her individual wiggle exhibition. When one first appeared on the stage, she was rather fully clad, as clothing on a stage dancer goes. But after a trip or so about the stage, one thing led to another, and one thing and then another was removed. The final result was, in each dance, that the girl had little left, just enough to keep the law from calling it an indecent performance. Apparently the law stretches pretty far before something becomes indecent.

As I said, there were just four dancers, and their individual performances were practically the same. The final girl was called the upside-down girl. She danced, too, but she also stood on her head and balanced herself there very nicely. And she did a couple of cartwheels, too. Most talented, I suppose.

But that's all there was to the show, except for watching the other people there. Which I did to a large extent. Most of them were men and women in their forties, or higher in age. Some applauded loudly at each performance, some remained rather quiet.

You say this is ridiculous, silly, and shouldn't be placed in print? And why not? If you've never been to a burlesque show, then you cannot be convinced that people actually do some very indecent and immoral things to make a living. You cannot draw the back and let the rest of the world go by if you want a good world left when your children and your children's children grow up.

Sure, there are burlesque shows in every larger city in the U. S. There are hundreds and perhaps thousands of our citizens making their living by exhibiting themselves in a wriggling motion before the eyes of the public.

There are things besides burlesque shows which are just as bad, perhaps worse. But you only have to go to the Theater Lounge in Dallas, Texas, to see the kind of disgusting exhibitions which are degrading to the nation—not just the youth of the nation, but those who are far past the youth

Cooke Chevrolet Co. McLean, Texas

Walking along a street, a man was attracted by screams coming from a house. He ran in to investigate and found a frantic mother whose son had swallowed a dime. Seizing the boy by the heels, he held him up, gave him a few shakes, and the coin dropped out on the floor. The grateful mother was lost in admiration.

"You certainly knew how to get it out of him," she said. "Are you a doctor?"

"No, Ma'am," he replied. "I am the tall twister in the Lions Club."

First Man: I just lost my girl.
Second Man: Well, cheer up. There are other fish in the sea.

Have you ever heard of the "tie and dye" technique? It's a tricky little operation for getting picturesque color effects, like the skirt in this picture. Once that skirt was white, now it's three graduated shades of the same color—all through the "tie and dye" method. The secret? There is none. Divide the skirt into three sections and sew an even line of large stitches around these divisions. That means two lines of stitches like the latitude markings on a map. Pull the threads drawing the fashion and tie as tightly as possible. Then wind several turns of string around the thread. These lines separate the different gradations of color, so the more string the wider your white dividing lines. The skirt is now ready to flat with the dye. And flit it does. First it blinks both eyes, then it bats one and then the other. Before you start, make sure the dye is a fashionable color—one that will look good in several shades of the same color. Green, purple, blue and cocoa brown are best. Also, it's safe to use all purpose dye which takes effect on rayon and nylon as well as cotton and the like. The whole package of dye should be dissolved in a small amount of hot water. Then pour just a third of it into the large dye bath. This will be a very light shade. Dip the whole skirt in this solution and when the top section is the right shade, take the skirt out. Now add a third more dye to the dye bath and holding the skirt by the upper part, just dip the two lower sections into the darkened dye. When the second section is dark enough, lift out the skirt again, pour in the last bit of dye and let the bottom section of the skirt soak in that. Now what have you? Suppose the dye is green. Then you'd have pale green on top, medium green in the middle which in turn gives way to a dark forest green on the bottom. Pretty effective, right? When the string is removed, there'll be sketched bands of white, or whatever the original color of the skirt, separating the three shades. Imagine green tie-dyed over a yellow skirt. It would be a beautiful color scheme. Another color idea would be to have the upper section light gray, the middle charcoal gray and the bottom black. Then, for a really dramatic effect, top it off with a black blouse. Wouldn't that be lovely?
