Members of the McLean Home Demonstration Club were well pleased with the results of their annual auction Saturday night in the American Legion Hall. The club members netted approximately $40 from the sale of the items. The money will be used for club activities, and a portion will go to the 4-H girls for their activities. Mrs. Amos Page, president of the local club, said the sale of the cakes, which were sold to the audience was treated to a movie, entitled "Survival Under Atomic Attack." Following the auction, the crowd regaled at the hall and played cards under the sponsorship of the Legion. Next bingo night will be Saturday night, July 28.

Mrs. Charles Weaver, who brings the reports on meetings of the local music clubs, this week has the following correction: "In the report of the joint meeting of the High School and Senior Music Clubs, which was held June 15, I failed to list the high school students making the honor roll. The following high school students made the honor roll for the month of June: Shirley Allison, Barbara Barrett, Paula Cubine, Bobby Decker, Sue Hask, Dicky Silgar, June and Donna Gail Stubblefield, and Barbara Nell Williams.

Shirley Allison also received a music pin for having made the honor roll for nine consecutive months. Her name should have been included with the others who received pins. "These mistakes were made unintentionally. It was an oversight on my part, and I trust the readers will accept my apologies."

Ed Howard was limping around in crutches early this week. He is suffering from a sprained ankle which he incurred while calf roping recently. Ed stated that he roped the calf and was going to make the tie when he turned, his ankle and injured it. An X-ray proved the injury was fortunately not a break, but only a strain.

A former McLean resident is leaving for Europe soon to begin a most unusual, and what should be interesting job.

She is Miss Beatrice Kalka. For the past three years she has been teaching in Stratford High School, Stratford, prior to which time she made McLean her home. She won her bachelor of science degree at West Texas State College, Canyon.

The new job will be that of home economics and arts and crafts instructor of the U. S. Army and civilian personnel in Germany.

Miss Kalka was one of 500 teachers chosen from among thousands of applicants for the overseas teaching job. She will know her assignment details until she reaches New York, because leaving for Europe in August.

Mrs. A. B. Braxton, who suffered a light attack of polio a couple of weeks ago, is reported to be recovering as rapidly as possible from the effects of her illness. Physicians at the West Texas Polio Clinic at Plainview pronounced her case as abortive polio. Dr. J. H. Kritzer, local physician, has been informed. Mrs. Braxton is the first from the McLean area to be hit by the dreaded disease in 1951.

Rev. Joe Norton of Hamlin will conduct a revival at the Church of the Nazarene beginning July 11. Rev. C. D. Clift, local pastor, said this week. The meeting will continue through July 22. Song services will be under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. Clift. Burning services are to begin at 8 o'clock each night.

An unusual accident happened to Fred Siglar recently, when he received a snake bite on his head. Upon hearing the excited barking of their dog over a cellar opening, he started down the steps to investigate. Just as his head reached ground level he noticed and then felt the strike of a coiled snake. A doctor verified the fact that it was a snake bite; the marks left by the fangs were still there. Anti-venom was administered, and no lasting effects were felt.

Seal Coating Of City Streets Is Completed

Seal coating of all paved streets in McLean was completed last week by the Gober Construction company of Amarillo, the firm employed by the City of McLean to do the repair work.

In addition to the seal coating of all streets which were already paved, four new blocks of pavement were laid down. The four new blocks are on East South 3rd Street, in the section of McLean south of the Rock Island tracks, where previously only the paving linking the Floral addition to the north part of town has been.

The new blocks were completed Saturday. Fortunately, the streets on that particular section already had a good caliche base, and with the exception of a few soft spots, the entire four blocks were quickly put in excellent shape for the topping. The construction company had a small amount of material left after the coating had been applied to the streets already paved, and agreed to do the work on the new streets for 35 cents per square yard, Mayor E. J. Lander said.

Now all the city streets are once more in top shape. On those streets where the edges had been broken off over the period of years when little maintenance work has been done, the streets were again widened to their proper size and dirt embankments piled up on either side to help hold the pavement. On other streets where holes have been becoming more and more frequent, patching was first done before the seal coating was applied.

Softball League Play-Offs Begin On Monday Night

Play-off to determine the winner of the first half of the McLean softball league will be held next week, members of the Lions softball committee said this week.

Teams to be in the play-off were not determined early this week, due to the necessity of making up several games missed in the rainy weather, but either four or five teams will be in the play-off.

Friday night, the Kellerville boys' team will meet a team of colored boys from Shamrock on the local softball diamond.

An admission charge of 10 cents for school students, and 25 cents for adults will be made at the Friday night exhibition game, as well as at all play-off games next week. All money derived from the gate receipts will be used in paying league expenses.

Little Interest Being Shown In City Election

Very little interest has been shown to date in the special city election, to choose one councilman, to be held next Tuesday, July 10.

One candidate for the office is Jess Kemp.

The election was called by the city council to fill a vacancy created when Paris J. Hess resigned. Hess moved to the former Rish Phillips home outside the city limits, making him ineligible. (Continued on back page)

3-Year Terms Given Negroes For Robbery

Prison terms of three years each were imposed on James A. Barnard and Albert Howard, whose specific addresses were unknown, by District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in district court last Friday afternoon, for the robbery of a McLean grocery store on May 21.

The two men were caught in Shamrock only a short time after they had taken about $250 from the cash register at Cooper's Food Market in McLean.

The robbery occurred during the open hours of the store. Mrs. D. C. Carpenter, who was checking the merchandise bought by the two colored men, had her attention diverted from the open cash register. One of the men reached in and took a handful of bills from the register, and was caught reaching for a second handful.

Officers were alerted when the pair left the store, and they were stopped and arrested in Shamrock. Both men admitted to the robbery. They were indicted last week by a Gray County grand jury, and were given their three-year sentences Friday by Judge Goodrich.

Intestinal Ailments Common to Babies During Summer

"Being a baby is a real hazard in either winter or summer, but much can be done to avoid or at least lessen some of these hazards that are associated with hot summer days," declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

Summer is the season in which death from intestinal disorders has in the past exacted its greatest toll.

"To guard the infant against such danger, care must be taken this his food, especially milk, is pure and kept safe. If there is any uncertainty concerning the water supply, the baby should drink only water which has been boiled and cooled and kept covered. The baby and all his food must be protected against flies.

Suspect Not Rapist of Girl From Amarillo

A man suspected of being the rapist of a 9-year-old Amarillo girl was arrested at Groom at about 2:30 o'clock last Thursday afternoon and brought to McLean; but the small girl, when brought to McLean to attempt to identify the suspect, stated that the man here was not her assailant.

Charges of driving while intoxicated and carrying a concealed weapon were filed in county court against the man, however. He is Crawford Chester Wheeler, 38 years of age, who gave his address as 402 Rusk, Amarillo. He told officers he is a used car dealer in Amarillo.

The arrest was made by Patrolmen Calvin Harrell and J. D. Heard. Wheeler was in a Yellow Cab with Carl Gene Dills, 25 years of age, of Decatur, Ill. Dills, who was working for the cab company in Amarillo, was held in the Panhandle jail on a charge of driving the car without the owner's consent. However, Wheeler was at the wheel when the patrolmen made their arrest.

Members of the McLean Lions Club and their families will gather Tuesday night, July 10, at the City Park for the annual picnic and installation of officers. The affair is to begin at 7:30 o'clock.

To be installed as president is J. Lester Dysart. He has been serving in that capacity since R. B. Sherrick moved to Edmond, Okla., in January, at which time Dysart took over from the first vice president's position.

An Explanation— 30-CENT TAX ASSUMPTION

Since considerable confusion among voters has existed since the announcement by the county commissioners court concerning the 30-cent assumption question which will come before voters in the special election July 28, County Judge Bruce Parker and County Attorney Bill W. Waters are offering an explanation of the question.

Voters will vote on that date on the tax assumption question, as well as on a $200,000 road and bridge bond issue. In addition, it is expected that another bond issue, calling for $168,700 for airport bonds, will be voted upon.

Although the county may not levy and part or all of the 30-cent tax relinquished by the state to retire bonded indebtedness, it can, if voters approve at a later reallocation election, redivide other county funds so that the airport bonds can be paid off without raising the tax rate, Parker and Waters said.

The highly-involved process of maneuvering fund allocations was explained by the two county officials in the Pampa Daily News as follows:

The constitutional amendment allowing the counties to assume the former 30-cent state general purpose ad valorem tax if the voters approve on July 28, provides that money realized from the levy must be used only for farm-to-market, or lateral roads and flood control. It may not be used directly to retire any type of bonded indebtedness.

However, the present allocation of county funds may be changed, if the voters approve, at a special reallocation election, on or after September 9, 1951.

This means the reallocation set-up could be arranged by taking up the present 12 cents from the present 30-cent general fund and adding it to the 30-cent general fund. In addition four cents of the 28-cent permanent improvements fund could also be added to the general fund to make it 54 cents. This shift would provide the estimated 16 cents believed necessary to pay off the $200,000 road and bridge and the $168,700 airport bonds in 10 years. By the same reallocation, the county could tack on what part of the 30 cents it deemed necessary to the road and bridge fund. This would take the place of the present road and bridge allotment moved to the general fund.

This change would add up to a combined state and county tax rate of $1.58 per $100 valuation as compared to last year's combined rate of $1.72 per $100 valuation.

"We have received an opinion from the attorney general's department which erased any apparent conflict between the constitution and the statute which provides the mechanics for allowing counties to pick up the state," Waters said.

Judge Parker said: "The state has dropped this tax. We can pick it up without raising the rate. In fact we do not anticipate levying all of the 30 cents. We do anticipate levying only enough to meet our estimated needs. This then, actually means a reduced tax rate for this year over that of last year."

More Than 2,000 Turn Out for Big Fireworks Display

A huge crowd, estimated at more than 2,000, gathered at the softball field Tuesday night to witness the fireworks display staged through the courtesy of the Cooke Chevrolet company.

The display was preceded by a brief patriotic program, with leaders of the McLean Jaycees, Lions Club, American Legion, and Boy Scouts walking forth with the colors. James McClellan led the pledge to the flag, and Bill Day led in singing "America."

Dollar-S-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-r— BARGAINS JULY 14

Interest is mounting daily in the Dollar-Stretcher Day, the first of a series of bargain days, to be held Saturday, July 14.

Many merchants in McLean have already outlined their bargains for that day, and from all appearances, practically all business houses will join in the big trades day event.

For the large number of customers who are expected to be in McLean July 14, business houses are planning many and varied bargains. These will include items of merchandise, as well as items of service by those places which specialize in service work rather than merchandise.

Stretcher Day. In addition, the Dollar-Stretcher Day, the first of a series of bargain days, to be held Saturday, July 14, houses in town will be published in The McLean News of July 12.

The plan adopted is being sponsored by the McLean Junior Chamber of Commerce, and was formulated through the efforts of the retail merchants committee under the chairmanship of Earl Stubblefield. It is somewhat similar to plans being used successfully in other towns and cities.

The plan is to be carried out here for a test period of at least six months, with the second Saturday in each month being designated as Dollar-Stretcher Day. If the plan goes off as well as is expected, it will be continued for an indefinite period.

Parathion—New Poison—Dangerous To Man and Insects

Recently a new insecticide highly poisonous not only for insects but also for man and animals has become available commercially, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. It is known under the trade name of "parathion" and has proven quite effective for certain agricultural use.

Because of its extremely high toxicity it would be desirable if its use could be restricted to a few individuals who could make a business of applying it and educate and equip themselves so as to insure the maximum of safety. In Texas and a number of other states, however, there are no laws making such restricted use possible. Therefore, a brief statement of warning is being offered.

"Parathion in the pure state is a brownish liquid with a high boiling point and a peculiar odor. It mixes but slightly with water, but is completely soluble in alcohol, acetone and certain other similar solvents. Under factory conditions it is usually mixed with a powder such as talc or bentonite as a carrier and appears on the market as a powder which has absorbed the parathion.

"Its toxic effect may result from breathing the dust, as a result of swallowing contaminated substances, or by absorption through the skin. The latter may be indirect absorption such as from contaminated clothing.

"Safe use is dependent on the use of precautionary measures so as to prevent contact. The user

Uncle Sam Says

Representative cities in the United States have taken the initiative in demansrating to the nation what they can do to help in the national emergency. In consequence these cities are now the proud possessors of a brand new U. S. Defense Bond Flag. They found that selling U. S. Defense Bonds is the one thing everyone can do. They induced more than 80 per cent of the community's employers to install the Payroll Savings Plan. Here's a job everyone can undertake.

should seriously study and observe these precautions. The user should also be alert for symptoms of poisoning so that a physician may be in attendance without delay should he be needed. Atropine, a potent medicine, has been mentioned as an antidote. It should be borne in mind that this is another poison about as dangerous, if improperly used, as is parathion. It should only be used under competent medical direction.

Mrs. Frank Simpson, the former Jane Williams, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower Friday afternoon, June 29, in the parlor of the First Baptist Church.

The rooms were decorated with garden flowers, with pink and orchid colors predominating. The serving table was laid with a lace cloth over blue satin, with a mirrored centerpiece of phlox and gypsophila. White tapers in crystal holders completed the arrangement.

Mrs. W. C. Kennedy, sister-in-law of the honoree, served. Miss Ona Bell McPherson registered the guests.

An original skit prepared by Mrs. Homer Abbott was given in presentation of the gifts. The scene was at the local post office window. Mrs. Abbott was the postmistress. Mrs. E. L. Price, Miss McPherson, and others called at the window as patrons, and when Mrs. Simpson asked for mail, her gifts were presented. (Mr. Simpson is an employee of the local post office.)

Vows Exchanged By Jeanne Pharis And Charles Bailey

Miss Jeanne Pharis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy D. Pharis of Fort Worth, and Charles W. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bailey of McLean, were married Sunday afternoon, July 1, at 4 o'clock in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church in McLean.

Rev. Buell T. Wells, pastor, read the single-ring wedding vows in the presence of friends and relatives.

The nuptial space was marked by tall baskets of orchid and yellow gladioli, interspersed with green, and backed by white candelabra with yellow tapers. Reserved pews were marked with orchid satin bows.

Following a nuptial prelude played by Dicky Sligar, organist, Mrs. Paul Miller and Mrs. Frank Simpson sang "Thru the Years" by Edward Hopman and Vincent Youmans, and "Indian Love Call" by Rudolf Friml. The traditional wedding march was used, and soft music furnished a background for the ceremony.

Miss Louise Casstevens of Fort Worth attended the bride as maid-of-honor. Her other attendant was Miss Norma Watson. They wore identical dresses of eyelet embroidered organza. Miss Casstevens in yellow and Miss Watson in green. They wore identical crownless white lace hats and carried contrasting yellow and orchid carnations, tied with satin streamers.

Melvin Bailey of Pampa, brother of the groom, was best man. Vestal Gene Bailey and Jackie Don Bailey, also brothers of the groom, served as ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of orchid crepe, with a starched chantilly lace bolero. Her wide-brimmed white picture hat matched white linen slippers. She carried a white bouquet of white carnations showered with satin lace and orchid streamers.

Mrs. Pharis wore brown with white accessories, and Mrs. Bailey wore navy. Their corsages were of white asters.

At the reception immediately following the ceremony, in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Howard Williams, the bridal table was done in lace with appointments of silver and crystal. Garden flowers were used as decorations throughout the rooms.

Miss Ona Bell McPherson presided at the punch bowl and Miss Marnelle Ledgerwood served the wedding cake.

For the wedding trip to points near Fort Worth, the bride chose a suit of pastel blue gabardine with carnation corsage.

The couple will be at home in McLean.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bailey are graduates of McLean High School. She was a member of the class of '51, and he attended W. T. S. C. at Canyon.

40 Years Ago— IT HAPPENED HERE

Taken from the Files of The McLean News, June, 1911

Manager Elmer Reeves of the Amarillo baseball club was over with his aggregation Saturday afternoon and a game was pulled off between them and the local bunch, the final score being 18 to 1 in favor of McLean. On account of some unforeseen engagement, the Alanreed pitcher and first baseman could not come and hence their line-up was weakened, but Manager Reeves said he was willing to give the local boys a little practice anyway.

There was a good crowd to witness the game, and as there was no admission charged to the grandstand, no one had a kick coming.

Prof. Loftin did very efficient work as umpire.

Quite a crowd of local fans went to Amarillo Sunday afternoon to witness the ball game between the team at that place and Clarendon, in which the score was 13 to 6 in favor of the former.

Panhandle City has just gone through a very successful clean-up campaign and the Herald of that place reports the conditions wonderfully improved. McLean should do something in this line. It is BADLY needed.

Lee Burrows, the new proprietor of the Panhandle Cafe, would be glad to meet all the former patrons of this popular eating establishment as well as the public in general. You will be satisfied with the service.

The latest move of the Amarillo Commercial Club is an effort to induce the authorities at Washington to make Amarillo their seat of operations during the summer. It takes nerve to build a city and Amarillo has it.

We are requested to announce that the members of the Presbyterian church will hold a reception at the church building Tuesday evening of next week from 8 to 10 o'clock to introduce the pastor, Rev. I. T. Jones. There will be a specially prepared program. The public generally is cordially invited.

In March monthly checks, in the form of Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance payments, amounting to $107,000 were mailed to 3,493 residents in the Amarillo Social Security field office area. This area includes the 26 Panhandle counties.

More than one-half of the persons receiving payments are retired wage earners and their wives. The remaining checks are to survivors of deceased wage earners.

The marked increase in the number of persons receiving these checks, and in the amount of the payments, is largely due to the passage of the 1950 amendments to the Social Security Act. J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo office, points out that legislation increased the amount of the individual checks and lowered the eligibility requirements for entitlement to payments. Retired workers who are 65 years of age and have worked as much as a year and one-half in employment covered by the Social Security Act should contact the Amarillo office if they are not already receiving Social Security checks, Sanderson said.

THE MORAL APPROACH

The tumult and the shouting dies,
The Captains and the Kings depart . . . .
So wrote Kipling long ago, in one of the most memorable of English poems. And those two lines certainly apply symbolically to the great debate over our Far Eastern policy, which began with the MacArthur testimony, and continued with Marshall, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Acheson, Wedemeyer, and others. The hot excitement that swept the country has largely cooled. The leaders have been heard. But the tremendous problems remain. In a recent column, Holmes Alexander, the commentator on Washington affairs, wrote, "The one sure mistake that anybody can make is to offer simplifications of the matter. That is where President Truman and General MacArthur both went wrong, the former in defending administration policy and the latter in condemning it. You cannot wrap up a complicated subject in easy-to-remember phrases." In the cold, unflinching light of history, just about everybody who had anything to do with Eastern policy was wrong and Roosevelt made the basic mistake at Yalta, when, following his advisors, he gave the Soviet important concessions in and about China. Following that, Truman, MacArthur, Marshall, and all the others made major mistakes. All of them made one outstanding mistake in common, when, apparently, they thought that there was small chance of Red China involving herself in the Korean war.

In some respects, the testimony of General Wedemeyer was the most positive and interesting of all. General Wedemeyer was a prophet of a high order—the report he made after his 1947 mission to China, which was recently released after being classified "secret" for years, forecast much that has happened. Now Wedemeyer thinks that we are making a ghastly mistake in spending our manpower and resources in Korea. In his own words, "I don't believe we are getting at the right enemy at all." In his view, the real enemy is Russia and it's time we faced up to that fact and took appropriate action—even though that action would involve a calculated risk of all-out global war. He would have us break off relations with Russia and the satellite countries and establish economic blockades around their areas.

Then he said one more thing which was not nearly so widely reported as were his views on the military phase of the struggle. He said that we must also use moral force. Of this, David Lawrence wrote, "The most important recommendation of all . . . was General Wedemeyer's proposal that the United States organize its psycho-social warfare on a broad scale. This means the pledge of economic help to our friends, the communication to the peoples of Russia of the truth about American intentions, and the sending of military missions to all those countries, large and small, whose armies could possibly form a part of the defense of the free world . . . Surely the genius of America in the field of communication should be given the chance to demonstrate what has long been believed by many of us—that moral force can be of greater value than military force in preventing war."

A very large number of people, looking at the appalling world of today, will wholeheartedly support that idea. Something resembling it may very well mark the next phase of our changing foreign policy.

LES TALK

By LESTER
One of our retail merchant friends was complaining of his inability to sleep. He finally went to a doctor about it. The doctor suggested that he try counting sheep. He did so that night and returned to the doctor the next day more exhausted than before, stating that he didn't sleep at all. He said: "For four, maybe five hours, I count sheep. I count up to 20,000. Then I begin thinking: 20,000 sheep would produce 80,000 pounds of wool; that would be 30,000 yards of cloth; and that would make 12,000 overcoats! And, man, who can sleep with an inventory like that?"

Merchants of McLean, under the sponsorship of the McLean Junior Chamber of Commerce, will have a Dollar-Stretcher Day on Saturday, July 14. It now appears that a large number of merchants will cooperate in the trades day plan, and will offer many very good bargains in both merchandise and service. You are cordially invited by the merchants to be in town on that day and take advantage of the many savings.

And then there was the guy, slightly under the influence, who met a rattlesnake in the road and said: "Strike if you must; I was never in better condition."

The street improvement program of the city of McLean has certainly improved the streets. And it was about time. Some of the streets, especially those without curb and gutter, were almost ruined. But at the present time they are in very good shape.

Our congratulations to Mayor Ed Lander and the city councilmen for getting this job done.

Father: Why did my son get such a low mark in history?
Teacher: He didn't even know when Caesar died.

Father: Why should he? We live on a side street and no funerals ever go past our house.

Emory and Mary Crockett brought back a small magnolia tree from a trip to the Deep South a few years ago. It has grown and flourished over the years, but had never bloomed until this year. Last week the tree was blessed with four beautiful blooms all at one time (that is, almost all at one time).

and others were on their way. This Panhandle country will grow almost anything.

A man traveling in the heart of Texas found himself in conversation with a Texas cowboy. The Texan confessed that he was 87 years old, whereupon the traveler said:

"Tell me, to what do you attribute your remarkable longevity?"

The Texan thought for a moment and then he spoke gravely: "Well, I never stole a horse and I never called a man a liar to his face."

The softball spectators have been fewer in number than last year. And we imagine that Mother Nature has had more to do with that than any other one thing. The storm clouds have been too numerous to be comfortable, and a lot of people had just rather stay home when they see a possible storm brewing than to be at the softball field when the cloud gets too close for comfort.

But clearer weather is apparently ahead of us, so the second half of the season should—and no doubt will—produce larger crowds at the softball games.

Anyway, there's plenty of seating room for everyone.

The city man had purchased a home in a small community. One day as he browsed about his yard, he found the bodies of two baby birds that had fallen from a nest. He proceeded to bury them in the garden under the critical gaze of his neighbor's five-year-old son. When he had finished, the youngster looked at him strangely.

"What a dopey thing to do!" the boy said scornfully. "They won't grow."

Don't forget that July 14—that's on Saturday—is Dollar Stretcher Day in McLean. There'll be bargains galore in the business houses in McLean, and you're invited to take advantage of the savings.

There is a small stream in Austria, teeming with fish, that divides the American-occupied zone from the part run by the Russians. One day there was an American soldier fishing on his side of the creek and a Russian soldier was similarly occupied on the other side. The Yankee was catching plenty of fish, but the Red wasn't even getting a nibble. Finally the Russian asked the Yankee, "Why is it that you have all the luck? After all, we are both using the same kind of bait; we are equally skillful, and the water is the same on both sides of the stream." "Maybe," answered the Yankee, "it's because on this side of the stream the fish aren't afraid to open their mouths."

There's something to that story above. If you didn't get it, read it again.

Colonial America relied on men riding in darkness to rally the nation to its own defense. Those who rode "to spread the alarm" provided our country's emergency communication — and a spectacular page in our history.

An equally vital service is provided by the Telephone Company in times of national emergency. Telephone wires are the cords that bind our nation together... the messages that flow through them are the vital heartbeats of the country.

When national defense increases the tempo of these messages... when the Telephone Company — telephone people and telephone equipment — are called on to provide an even greater service, it is comforting to know this vital channel of communication can be quickly made ready to meet whatever emergency arises.

Rickettsial—
THEM ARE GERMS

If the bug family of rod-shaped germs were compared to the three bears, the bacteria would be Daddy Bear, the virus would be Baby Bear, and the rickettsial would be Mama Bear, about midway in size between Daddy and Baby Bear.

These rickettsial germs get around to mankind mainly by means of ticks, lice, mites, or fleas as these insects feed upon persons or animals who have disease and then latch on to you. Rat fleas spread the rickettsial disease known as murine fever, and ticks are the source of such disease as Rocky Mountain spotted fever, Q fever, and Bullis fever.

Typhus fever is frequently confused with typhoid fever, both in name and in symptoms of the disease. They are two distinct illnesses, however, with the most common distinction perhaps in the rash that they produce; with typhoid when the rash breaks out, it stays broken out when you push on it; with typhus the rash turns white and disappears for a moment when you push the skin in.

You have a real bad headache with typhus fever, a headache that lasts the whole two or three weeks of the disease. It's the kind of headache that makes you want an ice cap on your head all the time, and since you usually run a pretty high fever that may lead to delirium, the ice cap is a good idea. In addition to bed rest and such treatment as might relieve the aching head, your doctor will probably prescribe one of the new medicines such as aureomycin to carry you through typhus with minimum discomfort. There isn't much danger of any complications with typhus if sensibly treated and one good thing about the disease is that once you've had it, you're immune.

Spotted fever, sometimes called by its full name of Rocky Mountain spotted fever, is a more serious illness than typhus and in times past has had a high death rate. The new drugs have not only cut down on the complications which can arise from spotted fever, but also seem to be cutting clear down on that mortality rate.

Spotted fever is caused by tick bites and is common all over the world. You usually get sick very suddenly with this disease, just developing awful headache, muscle and joint aches, shaking chills and fever, hurting eyes, upset stomach and maybe even baldness, your hair suddenly falling out. You have a high fever and you do feel real sick.

The rash from which spotted fever gets its name usually appears after the second day of the illness, first breaking out around the wrists and ankles and then spreading all over the body, even on the palms of the hands and soles of the feet.

Since ticks are more common in rural areas than in towns, spotted fever is more common in the country. Every tick is not infected, of course, but knowledge of a recent tick bite, followed in 2 to 14 days by a sickness such as described above would perhaps speed up your doctor's diagnosis and permit him to start treatment early.

Wood ticks, rabbit ticks, dog ticks, and the Lone Star tick which is often called the cattle tick are the brands which spread spotted fever by their bite.

The Lone Star tick also carries around the rickettsial germ that causes Q fever, a disease much milder than spotted fever and without a rash. The Lone Star tick can infect cattle with Q fever and the germ may be carried to humans through the raw milk from an infected cow even though the cow doesn't seem to be ill. That's why pasteurization of milk is so essential.

Q fever epidemics have occurred among those in contact with cattle such as dairymen, packing-house, slaughterhouse, and laboratory workers. Though some of the symptoms of spotted fever may also mark Q fever, they are usually much milder; Q fever nearly always has some of the symptoms of pneumonia accompanying the disease, such as chest pains and cough.

Bullis fever flared up at Camp Bullis during the training of servicemen for World War II. Those afflicted with the disease were invariably from other parts of the country. The Lone Star tick was considered responsible for this inhospitality to visiting servicemen, which laid them up with fever ranging from 102 to 106 degrees for about a week or two and then went away.

Five Months
283 Texans
Struck by Polio

During the first five and one-half months of this year 283 cases of poliomyelitis, polio for short, have been reported to the Texas State Department of Health. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, has issued the following suggestions concerning the disease and its control.

"All the methods of transmitting the disease may not be known; however, sufficient information is at hand to demand certain precautions and these include: personal hygiene and campaigns for sanitation improvements.

"Stringent efforts should be made to eliminate house-flies, mosquitos, and rodents and to destroy their breeding places. Every effort should be made to institute approved garbage collection systems, and secure safe water supplies. Where adequate municipal sewage disposal systems are not in operation, it is necessary to install and maintain sanitary septic tanks and outdoor privies.

"All raw foods and vegetables should be washed thoroughly before use and protected from filth and insects. All food handling establishments should adhere strictly to the state law concerning the sterilization of dishes and utensils. Those restaurants with insufficient personnel to maintain approved sanitation, should close one or two hours a day so that employees can assist in maintaining cleanliness and high sanitation standards.

"Over-exertion in children should be avoided. Children should not visit homes where there is illness. Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache, fever, vomiting, drowsiness, followed by stiffness in the neck and back. When suspicious symptoms appear, a physician should be called immediately."

New Air Force Camera

Lieut. Gen. R. W. Chadlaw, commanding general, Air Materiel Command, pictured with the A-6, new Air Force camera manufactured by Bell & Howell Company of Chicago. The entire camera, including an electric motor, a magazine with 1,000 feet of film and complete set of lenses, weighs only 30 pounds.

CHICAGO—A new combination aerial combat-reconnaissance camera has been designed to Air Force specifications in cooperation with Air Force engineers by the Bell & Howell Company. The light-weight, portable 35mm motion picture instrument is now being used to record combat operations in the Korean air war. Substantial orders have been received by the firm for the camera and a spokesman revealed that a large portion of the company's manufacturing capacity is working on a $10 million backlog of government contracts.

Designated Type A-6, the camera is mounted in the fuselage of a P-51 aircraft, flying behind rocket bearing planes, and records the rocket's impact on the target area. Installed in the nose of reconnaissance aircraft, the camera records enemy-held terrain and fortified positions. The films are later evaluated by intelligence officers to assist in working out tactical operations.

A feature never before included in a 35mm camera is a pre-threaded external film magazine. The magazine may be removed and replaced with another in 10 to 15 seconds. Installed with an electric motor drive, the camera may be operated by the pilot by remote control. In heavier aircraft another crew member photographs bomber formations and tactics of enemy craft with the camera on a tripod-like bracket.

Designed to operate at the temperature extremes of a hot tropical run-way or the sub-zero cold of 40,000 feet, the camera records landings and take-offs as well as high altitude combat operations. Electrical heating coils, thermostatically controlled, keep the film from stiffening and the lubricant flowing freely.

John Coleman of Wellington, brother of Jesse and J. D. Coleman of McLean, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the McLean Lions Club Tuesday noon.

Coleman was a prisoner of the Japanese for three and one-half years during World War II, and was one of the thousands who suffered on the Bataan Death March.

Before the members of the Lions Club, he told of the many hardships he and others suffered on the Death March, and of how near he came to death during the march. He pulled no punches in describing the many horrors which he and the many others went through and saw others go through. During his talk, he pointed out that between 17 and 18 thousand men either died or were killed during the Death March.

Coleman stated that he was suffering from a fever of 103 degrees most of the time during the march. He went without food for a total of 13 days before he reached the first of several prison camps in which he spent the three and one-half years.

The address was one of the most vivid ever to be presented before the local Lions, and the Lions expressed their most sincere appreciation of his appearance following the meeting.

This issue of The News may possibly reach the readers in town a little late, for we, like the rest of the business houses in McLean, "shut down" for July 4. The day was spent quietly in McLean, following the fireworks display of Tuesday night through the courtesy of the Cooke Chevrolet company.

We hope you'll forgive us if your paper is not in your Post Office box at the usual time, but instead an hour or so late.

GROWING PAINS In Gray County

By FOSTER WHALEY County Extension Agent

If you want to really improve Panhandle weather, just spending one week at A. and M. College, College Station.

We have just returned from there, where we attended the 8-state, 4-H Round-up and special conference. Believe me, we know what hot weather is like in this country.

The first three days of week, June 24-27, were devoted to 4-H contests, such as stock and grass judging, and special programs of the Round-up.

Gray County had two teams in the contest, livestock and stock. The livestock team took 19th place, and the grass team 10th in 40 teams.

Since elimination contests held in each of the 14 counties are eligible to compete at A. M., we were very proud of showing our boys made the contest.

At any rate, we are all to be back in the Panhandle no place like it.

On Wednesday, July 11, a stock grading demonstration will be held at the Amarillo stock auction company between 1:30 o'clock and 3:30 p. m.

Market classes will be graded by the best men in the industry. Knox Pitts, district extension agent, has made arrangements for this event which should be very educational to all persons interested in livestock.

Kenneth Porter, of the Arillo experiment station, have a few hundred bushels registered Woster and Woster seed wheat for distribution to farmers who will certify a year and in the future $4.50 or $5.00 per bushel, one interested contact Perry the Bushland experiment station.

properties should the dam go out. In any event, they all felt, as did the others present, that action should be taken quickly to prevent the possible danger.

The dam was started in 1938 and completed in 1940 through the use of WPA labor at a total cost of approximately $468,500. Surface area of the lake proper is 375 acres, and the government owns a total of 1,450 acres at the site. During the 11-year period the lake has been in operation, more than 1,209,000 people have registered as using the facilities, and it is estimated that easily that many more have not registered.

Motion pictures, as well as still pictures, were shown to the group present to indicate the great damage done by the recent flood waters.

Baxter, who has had considerable experience in getting legislation through the federal government channels, explained to the group how aid might be obtained.

Thousands of letters have been poured in from independent businessmen on the Supreme Court action on the Fair Trade Laws. "What can be done?" the majority of them ask.

For one thing, the National Federation of Independent Business, and other organizations, has taken steps to get new legislation introduced. Small businessmen can aid by writing their Congressman demanding not only new legislation but also C. W. Harder that the Federal Trade Commission immediately investigate and enforce all provisions of the Robinson Patman Act.

In writing Congressmen on the Fair Trade Laws it should be borne in mind that uncontrolled price cutting can throw the nation into a severe depression.

Naturally, the chaotic price wars of the past few weeks will eventually harm labor, but it is probably too much to ask that anyone in power in Washington today have vision beyond the ends of their noses.

Don't be blind to effect of this price war. It can do more to wreck economy of country; deliver all business into the hands of a few monopolies than the so-called "police action" in Korea.

And as usual, Washington is months behind. In face of price war, official talk is all on plans to combat rising prices. That's a smoke screen to hide other plans.

It will be up to the businessmen to bring order out of chaos. And while working for stronger Fair Trade Laws and a useful Federal Trade Commission there are several ways that businessmen can protect themselves.

Small Business

Remember, it is the states that have Fair Trade Laws the law can still be enforced. The only big upset by the court decision was that a Fair Trade Agreement is not binding unless the merchants agree in writing to uphold the manufacturer's price.

So, check with your suppliers. If your supplier has required distribution outlets to sign such an agreement, make sure the supplier enforces compliance.

If the suppliers have been lax in this respect, or have not required the agreement in writing, do not buy his merchandise except in small lots just to meet demands of your trade from day to day. You may lose some sales, but lost sales are better than lost inventory dollars.

Where you can, switch to lines that are not being dynamited by the big outfits. You can, with a little extra salesmanship, sell your customers different lines that have quality.

Insist on your suppliers selling you at a price that will enable you to meet the lowest price his line is being sold in your area.

For the immediate present, it will be well to follow this rule.

Keep your inventories as low as possible, even though it hurts, but as stated above, it will be better to lose sales, than lose inventory dollars.

These measures are for your short range protection. Your Congressman supported by organized small business can help you on long range protection.

So, write him, insisting that Fair Trade legislation be enacted immediately, and at the same time protest any vote toward any tax increase of any kind and such legislation be enacted.
