Gossip

(More or Less)

The little city of McLean is expected to be extremely quiet today, for almost all business houses will close for the entire day in observance of Thanksgiving. A few business stations, such as cafes and service stations, will probably remain open, but will probably plan to close. This is the first time the News is being printed and distributed a day earlier, although those on the regular Friday morning time will receive it until after deliveries of rural mail will not be made today.

Anyway, we of The News wish all of you a most joyous Thanksgiving Day.

Two additional contributions to the new fire truck fund of the McLean Fire Department have been made recently. Fire Chief Boyd Meador said this week. The contributions were $15 from A. O. Dyke, and $25 from Bob Sherrod.

Betty Jo Patterson and Eddie Reeves, both juniors, were chosen last week as all-school favorites of McLean High School in balloting by the entire student body.

Other girls receiving votes were Irma Pierce, Faye Glenn, Donna Stubblefield, Bethie Manhart, LaJone Chilton, Eva Jo, Texetta McCurley, Peggy Duncan, Betty McClellan, Gene Barma, Dortha Chase, Pat Patterson, and Christine Hunt.

Boys receiving votes, in addition to Reeves, were Jimmy Smallwood, Max Willingham, Jackie Bentley, Donald Pierce, Gale Hunter, Dicky Sligar, B. W. Hagan, Archie Dwyer, Buddy Howell, David Grigsby, Jimmy Farn, Wayne Woods, Don and Du Taylor, Don Trew, Wayne Bore, and Jack Hupp.

Later Carter and George Warren of Alameda and McLean, are among those enrolled this fall at Leno-Simmons University in Allen.

Carton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Carter of Alameda, is a member of the Ministerial Council, an organization of ministerial students on the campus. Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Warren of McLean, is a junior.

Classes began September 21 and will continue through February 1. Now in its 60th year, the university is under the Texas Baptist convention. Its ex-students number more than 25,000. Dr. Robert H. Richardson, a native of West Texas, and a historian, is president.

It makes a businessman feel good when a tourist leaves a note of appreciation. That happened to Jimmy Dawson last week when a tourist left the following note after spending the night in the Trail-Inn Motel: "I don't know as I properly thanked you for getting the car fixed up. I appreciated your hospitality more than I can say. McLean, D. O. K."

The Nite for teen-agers will be held at the American Legion Hall Friday night, it has been announced.

About 80 members of the Leno Star and the Masonic lodge met Monday night for their annual Thanksgiving banquet in the American Legion Hall. Presiding the serving of a big Thanksgiving dinner, Bud Morris served as master of ceremonies in a brief program of entertainment. Mrs. Bob Thomas sang solo numbers, and Mrs. Bill Thomas gave a reading. Past officers and past patrons of the Leno Star were introduced, as were past masters of the local lodge.

Mr. W. E. Bogan gave the official welcome, and Felton Cook, worshipful master, and Guy Hedrick, worthy master, also issued welcomes. The invocation was given by Rev. C. W. Parmenter, and the benediction by Rev. Wm. Albert Smith.

The annual Harvest Festival of the McLean schools, postponed from the usual date, was held Wednesday night. However, the program is being printed a day ahead of schedule, and details of the festival are not being carried in this issue.

The winner of the queen contest and other details of the festival will be published in next week's issue.

Let us pause to give thanks on this historic day for the plentifulness and continuing spirit of freedom afforded us through the years by this great country of ours.

Cooking School to Be Tuesday

Plans are nearing completion for the big free second annual McLean News All-Electric Cooking School, to be held next Tuesday afternoon, November 27, in the American Legion Hall. The class will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and those attending are requested to be on hand a few minutes earlier so that they may see the appliance displays. Free refreshments will be served.

Two-Weeks Revival to Begin Sunday at First Baptist Church

REV. JEFF MOORE

DUWARD PRICE

A two-weeks revival meeting will begin Sunday morning at the First Baptist Church in McLean, and will continue through Sunday, December 9. Rev. Buell T. Wells, local pastor, has announced.

Conducting the services during the meeting will be Rev. Jeff Moore, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Borger. Rev. Moore, one of the outstanding preachers of this entire area, is known to some local residents. He has held several pastorates. (Continued on back page)

Conducting the school will be Miss Fern Brannen of Amarillo, home service advisor for the Southwestern Public Service company. Miss Brannen conducted the school in 1950, and those who attended were highly pleased with her instruction. Bob Brummal, utilization manager for the company, will be on hand to aid in the arrangements. Howard Horne, local manager, said.

A highlight of the school will be the awarding of door prizes at the close of the school. Numerous prizes are to be given. In addition, Miss Brannen will conduct a question and answer session at the close of the school, awarding the food which she has cooked to the person answering the quickest the questions asked.

Food to be prepared by the instructor will be furnished by Cooper's Food Market.

Another highlight of the school will be the displays of electrical appliances by the dealers co-operating to make the school a success. These dealers include T. and G. Electric, McLean Electric, White Auto Store, McLean Hardware company, and Andrews Equipment company.

Miss Brannen will use two ranges in her demonstrations—a Frigidaire range and a Hot-point range. In addition, she will have on the stage for her use a Kelvinator refrigerator and an International-Harvester home refrigerator. (Continued on back page)

85 Present at Lions Dinner For Cabinet

Eighty-five persons, representing Lions Clubs from as far south as Spur and as far north as Stratford, attended the turkey dinner given Sunday afternoon in the American Legion Hall for cabinet members of District 27-1. The McLean Lions Club was host for the occasion.

The local club, of which District Governor Boyd Meador is a long-time member, had invited the cabinet members and their wives to McLean for the second meeting of the group this year. Lion President J. Lester Dysart of McLean presided at the session.

The entertainment following the turkey dinner—an excellent meal prepared by Mrs. Cleo Heasley, Mrs. N. A. Greer, and Mrs. Hester Adams—consisted of two musical readings by Lions District sweetheart, Miss Margaret Woods of Spur. She was accompanied at the piano by her sister Beverly. Another entertainment feature was the singing of a quartet from Phillips Junior College at Borger, introduced by C. A. Cryer, now president of the college and former superintendent of the McLean schools. Two members of the quartet, Misses Claudia Brown and Jane Cryer, are former students of the McLean schools, as was their accompanist, Miss Barbara Barrett. The other two in the quartet were Harold Brisbin and Curtis Lee.

A surprise portion of the program was the appearance of four members of the famous Kwahadi Indians from the Boy Scout troops in Amarillo. They were accompanied to McLean by their scoutmaster, Ralph E. Irelan, who beat the drum as the four boys went through several dances. The dances by the boys were excellent, and it is planned to have them appear here on a public program later on.

The program opened with singing led by Logan Cummings, pledge to the flag led by J. D. Coleman, and the invocation by Rev. C. W. Parmenter. Following the serving of the meal, Cummings and Meador introduced the guests. Dr. J. H. Kritzer, program chairman, was in charge of the entertainment.

After the dinner program was concluded, the Lions remained at the hall for the business session of the cabinet.

Wives of the Lions were entertained with movies at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cooke. Films shown included the pictures made by Mr. and Mrs. Cooke on a recent trip to Mexico, as well as a trip to the Tulip Festival in Holland, Mich.

Christmas Coming—Letters to Santa Wanted by News

Thanksgiving Day reminds us that Christmas will soon be here, and The McLean News will be wanting those letters to Santa Claus as soon as possible.

The Santa Letters are the main feature of the annual Christmas edition of The News, and are well read by practically all people.

Teachers in the lower elementary grades are requested to have their students write the letters in class, and then bring the letters to The News office in a group.

The News promises the children, of course, to see that the letters get to old Santa in time.

Farmers Using Stalk Strippers As Bolls Dry

A total of 1,436 bales of cotton had been ginned at the two gins in McLean by Tuesday morning, and the cotton is coming in fast enough now to cause night runs to be made.

Cottonseed is still bringing about $79 per ton, while cotton is averaging about 36 cents per pound. However, much of the cotton is beginning to bring less as more and more strippers are put in use by farmers.

S. R. Jones of the McLean Gin and L. H. Earthman of the Paymaster Gin expect to be kept busy for several weeks now. The cotton which was green at the time of the first freeze is drying out quickly and is getting ready for harvest rapidly. The mechanical strippers will be used extensively in this area now, especially since there is still a great labor shortage.

Weather has been favorable for the past few days, and cotton farmers are hoping for more of the same, to enable them to get the crop out of the fields as soon as possible.

The farmers in the north part of the county, who planted cotton this year for the first time in a number of years, are also getting a good yield. Some of that cotton is being brought here, and is adding to the ginning problems. However, the local ginners are not soliciting this business, since it causes them to have to delay work on locally-grown cotton. Most of the cotton from the north area is being brought in large trucks—about nine bales to the load.

Addresses—

WANTED

A local resident has made a suggestion which we think is very good, and we gladly pass it on to you—and hope that you will take action.

Many residents would like to remember the boys in service at Christmas with either a letter, or Christmas card, or perhaps even a small gift. But they do not know the addresses of the boys in service. From time to time we have published these addresses, but some of them are now out of date.

So, if you parents, or wives, or servicemen, will bring in the correct address of your man in service, we will publish them in next week's issue of The News—all in one group. We would appreciate your bringing them in early, and we would also appreciate your not phoning the addresses in, since the long service numbers are sometimes hard to get by phone.

Thanks, we'll appreciate it—and so will the boys in service.

Tigers Make Second-Half Comeback, But Lose to Lefors 40-19

| Oppon. Fum. Recd. | 1 | 2 |
| Punts | 1 | 2 |
| Punt Aver. | 43 | 30 |

Scoring: McLean 19 (Wayne Smith 18, Jack Bentley 1), Lefors 40 (Ray Dickerson 12, Russell Herring 12, Jimmy Doom 16).

The McLean Tigers came to life in the second half of the grid game played on Shaw Field in Lefors last Friday night, and had the highly-rated Lefors Pirates worried for the remainder of the game. But the Tigers were unable to overcome a Pirate first-half lead of 19 points, and finally finished on the short end of a 40-19 score.

But it was a good game, and the extreme cold weather—quite a few degrees below freezing—caused several fumbles from each of the two teams.

It was a rough game, and the local boys reported that some of the Pirates used illegal tactics which other opponents this season hadn't used. The Pirates, incidentally, drew three 15-yard penalties, but only one of the three was for unnecessary roughness.

Practically every Tiger played a bang-up good game to close out the season's schedule. Dan Cooper was injured late in the second quarter when he received a blow in his left side, and was unable to return to the game after the half-time period.

The scoring plays were as follows: The Pirates took over on downs on the McLean 11 when Smith fumbled as he attempted to punt. Ray Dickerson carried three times, going over from the 13 on the third trial after losing yardage on one attempt. Jimmy Doom attempted to circle left end for the point, but failed. Score 6-0.

Health Talk— PEACE OF MIND

There is a lot of talk these days about mental health without much explanation of what good mental health is. Briefly, good mental health may be considered a pleasant blend of attitudes toward yourself, your fellowmen, and your daily life.

It may be called peace of mind, happiness, satisfaction, good disposition, or just a general kick out of life.

Maybe the ability to chuckle could be considered a signal of good mental health, to chuckle at yourself, at your fellowman, and at the demands of your day by day living. A giggle and a horse laugh do not carry the easy-going, moderate, tolerant meaning of a chuckle so would not fit into the picture of good mental health as smoothly as a chuckle.

Breaking the three phases of mental health down into categories, what would be considered a good attitude toward yourself?

Self-respect is a good place to start. Self-respect represents a "comfortable" feeling toward yourself, a recognition of your talents and limitations, your virtues and shortcomings. You are born with a strong impulse to keep yourself alive, an instinct called self-preservation, and you have to think you're worth all the effort that goes into survival. If you aren't happy with yourself, the effort wouldn't seem worthwhile and you aren't likely to be happy with other people or with the situations you are likely to find confronting you.

The National Association for Mental Health, which has recently drawn up this description of good mental health, describes this desirable self-attitude further as a form of self-control, you might say; they feel that the mentally healthy are those who are not bowled over by their own emotions, by their fears, anger, jealousy, guilt, worries, or even love.

Those emotions are bound to be a part of everyone's life, but the ability to keep them from becoming extravagant motions is a sign of good mental health.

Certainly love plays an important part in your relationship with other people, the second part of the definition. A "right" attitude toward your fellow man means the ability to form satisfying personal relationships, a capacity to give and take love, a trust and liking of other people. Actually you apply the same attitudes you feel toward yourself to those with whom you come in contact. You have a respect for others, giving them the same break you give yourself in feeling that their talents offset their limitations, their virtues are greater than their shortcomings, even though their talents, limitations, virtues and shortcomings are quite different from yours.

With such an attitude you naturally feel such a kinship with your fellowman and feel a part of the group when people gather.

The third part of the definition of good mental health pertains to your attitude toward the demands of life, the changes and problems that arise which are unfamiliar to you. These three parts are not distinct, separate attitudes but overlapping actions all three of which are essential to living life on an even keel.

COTTON QUIZ

OF WHAT FAMILY IS THE COTTON PLANT A MEMBER?

COTTON BELONGS TO THE MALVACEAE--THE SAME FAMILY TO WHICH OKRA BELONGS!

With respect for yourself and for your fellowman must be coupled the ability to meet changes and problems with-out fear, putting your best effort into your tasks and getting satisfaction out of doing it. Meeting and solving problems as they arise, accepting the responsibilities which life presents, and adjusting to change are the three steps which prepare you for the big tests that come to all.

To sum it all up, good mental health is the recognition that there is more good than bad in yourself, more good than bad in your fellowman, and more good than bad in life.

Gardenhire-Pyron

News reached friends in this city Wednesday morning of the marriage at Amarillo of Clay Gardenhire and Miss Lola Jewel Pyron, the latter living at Jericho. The young couple arrived here Wednesday afternoon and and spent the early part of her life here, her father at that time owning the big Pyron ranch now operated by Berry Pursley. She has a host of friends both here and at her Jericho home.

Mr. Gardenhire, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Gardenhire of this city, was raised in this section and is the senior member of the firm operating the "Clay and Dick" Cafe.

The young couple are now at the parental Gardenhire home pending other arrangements and are receiving the congratulations of their hosts of friends together with many good wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life, in which felicitations the News heartily joins.

Mothers Meet

The Mother's Club of the McLean school met in regular monthly session at the school auditorium Friday afternoon of last week. The session was opened with a splendid musical program by the pupils of Miss Helm's room, under that young lady's direction.

There was little business of importance to come up at this meeting other than the receiving of new members, of which there were about 40. These were mostly honorary members. Considerable rivalry had been manifested between the members in the securing of new names, and the honor for the largest number fell to Mrs. Emma LeFors, who handed in 17 applications.

Officers of the organization report the membership as increasing at a very flattering rate.

At the current meeting two books were donated to the library, one by Mrs. R. P. Brown and one by Mrs. C. E. Bogan.

Donley County— SOIL NEWS

The term "Grassland Farming" has become a popular figure of speech in our agricultural language during the last few years. It is fast becoming popular with the cooperators of our local Soil Conservation district.

What does it mean? It simply means giving grasses, legumes, and other sod crops a more important place in the farming system. It means more and better pastures and ranges and more livestock. It means more grasses and legumes in the crop rotation and more and better hay crops and silage. It means more and better cover crops, grass waterways, strip crops of grasses and legumes, and the use of sod crops in other ways to help conserve land and water.

It means more income and a better standard of living for the cooperators of the district. It means more income for all types of businesses in the district.

Practically all grasses and legumes conserve and improve the structure of the soil. They are the principal agents for controlling erosion on sloping land. Nearly always they improve both soil tilth and fertility and increase the water-absorbing and water-holding capacity of the soil while growing and after being turned under as green manure or left on the ground surface as a mulch.

The advantages of grassland farming, moreover, are not limited to beneficial effects on the land. Grassland farming takes less labor than cultivated crops. The labor is usually distributed more evenly over the year, and in these times of farm labor shortage this is important. It has increased the income of nearly all the farmers in the Donley County Soil Conservation District who have tried it.

Furthermore, it is usually a more interesting and enjoyable way of farming. Many farmers enjoy work with livestock more than they do the harder labor of planting, cultivating, and harvesting row crops. And good grass is the main base for profitable livestock farming.

The need for more grassland farming in the Donley County district is becoming obvious. There is no other practical way to plan a soil and water conservation program for a great many farms and ranches.

The district can help you with your conservation problems. Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service assigned to the Donley County Soil Conservation District can assist you in planning your program of grassland farming.

This column, although normally addressed to farmers and ranchers, is for this issue directed to the urban population in the Donley County Soil Conservation District.

The time has come for business men or women, equipment dealers, bankers, educators, clergymen, local government officials, and other non-farm people to do some serious thinking about their local soil conservation district and what it means. You have a personal stake, a family and business stake—both in the district and in the soil and water conservation job being done by it.

Your business, whatever it may be, is based primarily on the farmer operating a profitable business. If the productivity of the soil is eroded away by wind and water, or reduced by bad cropping

A lady was entertaining the small son of a friend. "Are you sure you can cut your own meat, Tommy?" she inquired. "Oh, yes, thanks," answered the child politely. "I've often had it as tough as this at home."

practices, the farmer makes less profit. When the farmer follows modern conservation methods in his operations, he will have a greater profit and a more permanent income. He will have more money to educate his children. He will be able to provide better medical care for his family, as well as better housing and farm buildings. He will have more money to support the program at his church, and other items which help to raise the standard of living for the entire community.

The local soil conservation district—farmer organized and farmer administered—is in business to help land owners and operators plan; apply, and maintain conservation on their land. The district receives help from the soil conservation service and other federal and state agencies to carry on this work.

The district also needs your help to get this job done. What can you do? First of all you should learn more about your district program.

If you do not already know the supervisors of the district, get acquainted with them and let them know you are interested and are supporting them in their conservation program.

Encourage your farmer and rancher customers to practice conservation and to become cooperators of the district.

Remember that the assistance you give is not only helping the farmer but also your community and you.

UP AND UP AND UP

TODAY ALMOST everything you buy has a tax of one kind or another on it, regardless of whether you realize that fact or not.

The taxes we notice most are, of course, those direct taxes which are called income, property, inheritance, and similar taxes. These taxes take quite a bit of our income each year, and these taxes are the ones we hear the most about.

But we pay more indirect taxes than we do direct taxes. They are hidden in the cost of practically every service and article we buy. For example, the average automobile carries in its cost to the buyer between $700 and $900 in taxes when it is purchased new. Such things as cigarettes and gasoline carry even a greater percentage in taxes.

All told, taxes now consume close to a third of the national income.

According to the Grocery Manufacturers of America, the American consumer now pays more in taxes than he pays for his food. In 1940, the nation spent $17 billion for food and paid more than $12 billion for taxes. But in 1950, by contrast, the food bill was $52 billion and the tax bill was $57 billion.

This higher tax business will hurt in more ways than one in the long run, but its greatest threat is to the incentive of American enterprise. It dries up "risk capital"—why should a man take a chance on a venture when he must pay the whole cost if he loses, but will gain little or no profit if he succeeds? It makes it abnormally difficult and in many cases impossible for the small business to grow—the money that would be used for expansion goes, instead to the government. It discourages production and progress.

There is but one solution—rigorous economy in non-essential government spending, all the way from the village to Washington. At best, taxation must be heavy. If the present trend continues, it will prove ruinous.

TALK

By LESTER

Don't know where she got it, but but we are indebted to Mrs. J. W. Kibler for this little gem, entitled, "Psalm of the Bureaucrat":

"The government is my shepherd, I shall not work. It alloweth me to lie down on good jobs; it leadeth me beside still factories. It destroyeth my initiative; it leadeth me in the paths of the parasites for politics' sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of laziness and deficit spending, I will fear no evil; its doles and vote-getters they will comfort me. It prepareth an economic Utopia for me by appropriating the earnings of my grandchildren. It filleth my head with bologna, my inefficiency runneth over. Verily, the government shall care for me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in a fool's paradise forever."

Then Carl Jones was in, and he told of a new kind of 4-H club somebody was wanting to get started in the U. S.

Those four H's would stand for "HELP HURRY HARRY HOME." I would like to join.

The time has come, my friends, when you should get worried. There's no need to worry about trivial things such as losing a football game, or a bad cold you may have, or something of the sort. There's no need to worry about those small things.

But if you care one tiny little bit for those children you have, or hope to have, or those grandchildren you have or hope to have, then you had better start worrying about these United States we're living in, and this war the United States is engaged in.

And you'd better not stop with just a little worrying about it. You had better revolt against all this socialism we're getting, about all this useless spending our government is doing just to get more votes for those in power, against congressman and your senators know how you feel, and also let them know they won't get your vote next time they run for office as long as they continue to do what they are doing now. Tell them, in no uncertain terms, that they are responsible, as your Washington representatives, to run this country of ours for the future generations, not just for their own personal political hides.

If you feel as I do, then tell them that we had better be trying to win that Korean war, instead of just dilly-dallying around letting our own young men be killed by the thousands.

What kind of a war is this we're in, anyway? Let's either get completely out of Korea and quit fighting altogether, or whip the very dickens out of those Reds. We're supposed to be one of the strongest—if not the strongest—nations in the world, but you wouldn't think so the way our politicians are maneuvering in this war.

Let's tell Harry that he would look at that war a little differently if he had a son over there, instead of a daughter over here.

More than 6,000 American boys murdered in cold blood. They were prisoners of war of the Reds. Yet we feed and fatten our prisoners of war—shelter them well, keep them in clothing, 6,000 boys led out and slaughtered as if they were that many pesky flies.

What kind of a people are we, anyway?

What kind of a group of men have we put in the high offices to run this government, anyway?

Yet I'll venture that not one of 100 of you have ever even bothered to write, wire, or address your Washington hired hands to let them know how you feel.

In other words, what kind of a citizen are you, anyway?

Sure, you'll sit and listen to a speaker say the things you'd like to say and the things you like to hear. Sure, you'll read stuff here and there and agree that something should be done.

But how many times have you ever tried to do any about the way our politicians run—running—or ruining—things on a national scale?

YOU ever tried to do any about the way our politicians run—running—or ruining—things on a national scale?

You cannot expect any else, if YOU, too, do not act to make a good citizen.

What's the matter—are you afraid of a Missouri piano player?

Congratulations to the McLean gridders on the fine you played against Lefors Friday night to end the season. You were the best on the field, although they did not show it. Certainly were the most sportsman players.

You had a rough season, aged to actually win only game in ten, although you a forfeit victory on your for the official records. But never gave up trying, more than I can say for teams in the past here in McLean.

So congratulations to you. And I mean to include boys who had to "worry bench" all season—your coming.

Let us give thanks!

Dear Lord, how can we thank Thee half enough
For all Thy gifts to us this fruitful year!
For spring's bright promise gloriously fulfilled
This harvest-time; for these that are more dear
Than bread assured: all the sweet joys of life—
Home, work, love, friends—that gild the passing days;
And children's laughter on the evening air—
For all, dear Lord, we give Thee grateful praise.

But most of all, O God, we thank Thee for Our cherished heritage of freedom. Here
Where men walk safely, surely; speak and pray
As each one wills, and freely, without fear,
Lord make us strong to hold and spread this boon!
From our abundance help the weak to raise
Their hearts and come to share our brotherhood,
And join with us in songs of thanks and praise!

meals. It would look like this:
Breakfast—fruit or juice, bacon and egg, buttered toast, and coffee or milk.

Lunch or supper—soup, salad, meat, bread and butter, dessert, and coffee, tea or milk.

Dinner—meat and potato, vegetable, salad or dessert, bread and butter, and coffee, tea or milk.

To get more into the details of each meal, you first eliminate the cost of milk and milk products (33 cents for the equivalent of a pint of whole milk), the bread (20 cents for three slices a day), and the butter (17 cents for five teaspoons per day). You are going to spread these three items over the three meals at a cost of 10 cents, leaving you 80 cents to reckon with on the formulation of the other items in the meals.

For the example here, that 80 cents will be broken down into 20 cents for breakfast, 20 cents for lunch or supper, and 40 cents for dinner. And here's how it goes:

Breakfast—bacon and egg, 17 cents. You have 3 cents left for your fruit, so you select a juice glass of tomato juice for 2 cents, half a grapefruit for 3 cents, one-fourth small cantaloupe for 3 cents, or some such other "cheap" fruit which will allow you to stay within your budget of 20 cents. Your buttered toast and milk have already been deducted from the cost. If you wish, you can make milk toast out of that bread and milk allowance of course; it takes just a little imagination to give you variety in your meals.

Lunch or supper—fish, frankfurter, or cold cut, or any of the "10-cent" meats. Some "3-cent" vegetables or a combination of vegetables in a 3-cent salad. That makes 13 cents, leaving you 7 cents of that 20-cent meal for fruit or dessert. If that doesn't sound like enough food, you are permitted any clear soup or broth, consume or bouillon at any meal at no cost of your calories. Neither coffee nor tea cost anything, of course, though milk or cream in either one would come

Your Food—WAY OF LIVING

The Greeks had a word for "diet" a word that meant a way of living. Today diet is too often taken to mean only a reducing diet, a curtailed intake of food. Food, any routine of food intake, should be a way of living. Planning your food intake along the lines of the seven essential groups of food would be considered a diet. That is THE diet, the way of living. If you follow the medically acceptable way of reducing your diet will consist of restrictions placed upon the eating of those seven basic foods but will still include all of them. That is the program behind the 1500-calorie diet, which is interpreted in dollars and cents as a $1.50 calorie budget.

That budget has been broken down thusly:
Milk and milk products, 33 cents; bread, 20 cents; butter, 17 cents; meats, 47 cents; potato, 10 cents; vegetables, 5 cents; and fruits, 18 cents.

Since most of you eat your food at three meals a day, you may want to see how the diet is broken down into those three

U.S. Needs Civil Defense

A-Bomb Would Kill All Persons Unprotected in One-Half Mile

(This is the third of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., for ten cents.)

By MILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

Don't be surprised if you hear a siren blowing and learn that your community is being alerted for an imaginary atom bomb raid. If it is organized, within minutes, air raid wardens, first-aid teams, doctors, nurses, emergency rescue squads, and other civil defense units will spring into action.

Hundreds of cities, towns, and small communities in the United States today are making sure that they will be ready to do their part if, and when, the real atom bomb hits them or cities near them. These imaginary raids have shown what well-trained and coordinated civil defense personnel and equipment can do against enemy attack.

However, don't act as if the alert signal you hear is just an imaginary air raid. Act as you have been trained to act. Do whatever you have been told to do. Civil defense prepares you for that split-second decision of knowing how to act—what to do.

Within one-half mile of the center of an A-bomb explosion almost everyone without proper protection will be killed. Within the next half-mile fifty per cent of the population will not survive. From one to one-and-a-half miles away eighty-five per cent will live. Beyond two miles from the center of the explosion you will survive—but there will be work for you to do. Civil defense prepares you for that too.

With the proper protection YOU may live, but thousands will be killed instantly and many others will be wounded and in need of immediate care. Every street within the major damage area will be completely blocked with rubble and hundreds of persons trapped or buried in the wreckage. Fires will start within a matter of minutes—in many places at once.

Food Supply Destroyed
These are the main things which will happen, but there are others. For instance, a large part of the city's food supply might be destroyed or cut off. The water supply might be knocked out. Regular communications might stop entirely. Much of the transportation system certainly would stop. Thousands of survivors would suddenly find themselves homeless, without food, clothing, shelter, or money.

What could happen without civil defense?
Ask the Japanese—anyone of the few survivors at Hiroshima or Nagasaki. They had almost no civil defense as we know it now. When atomic bombs hit their cities, the population was almost completely unprepared. Result: the people panicked wildly. Many thousands were needlessly killed or hurt, families were scattered, and property was lost or badly damaged.

Thousands were left homeless with no one to care for them. The wounded and helpless, who might have lived, died because proper civil defense was not organized to save them.

Factories Would Be Useless
But there was something of even greater importance to a nation which was fighting for its life. The fact that there was no civil defense meant that the factories left standing after the atomic blast could not operate.

Without civil defense a nation is helpless. With it, people and production centers can get up and fight back. Casualties can be cut at least in half. Our nation can live again and fight back to win!

Civil defense is self defense for you and for our country. (This next article will discuss what are the biggest civil defense problems.)

The ashes of a six-foot man will usually weigh between 8 and 9 pounds after cremation. In Siam, houses are constructed with odd numbers of floors and steps to insure good luck.

What to Feed—
THE ILL GUEST

It's usually only the first day of a visit from a house guest with some sort of physical illness that prompts any question as to what to feed the visitor, because in the course of a longer visit the guest will certainly outline the types of foods he is permitted to eat.

About the best basic diet when in doubt for the big meal of the day, whether it be at noon or at night, is to make roast beef and gravy, mashed potatoes and vanilla ice cream the core of the meal. Though there may be some who cannot eat those foods, of course, they would probably tell you so ahead of time.

For guests who may be anemic, suffering from the vomiting of pregnancy, ailing with gallbladder trouble, or known to have a number of allergies, that basic menu is generally considered good; the things that go with it will vary with the ailment, of course.

Anemia, the kind due to an iron deficiency, usually requires some type of extra feeding of concentrated substances to help overcome the deficiency. In addition to that, the food intake is aimed at a diet high in iron; the diet for iron deficiency anemia is not aimed at cutting foods out of the diet but is aimed at including those special foods which will help overcome the anemia.

Liver and liver sausage, oysters, peanut butter, molasses, nuts, dried fruits, brown sugar, malted milks, dried beans and peas, and such greens as beet greens, kale chard, dandelion greens, spinach and turnip greens are the high-iron foods which are encouraged when you are feeding a person with that type anemia.

The house guest who may be bothered with persistent nausea and vomiting during pregnancy will surely have received her own eating instructions from her doctor, but to help her during the visit the general idea is based on frequent small meals, served without anything to drink. Liquids are usually taken an hour before or an hour after meals. And soda pops or carbonated beverages are sometimes better in this case than plain water.

Though the female guest who is troubled by this vomiting of pregnancy may eat most anything, it is usually best to outline a program which includes a snack between breakfast and lunch, say something like a bowl of cereal; then a sandwich in the middle of the afternoon; and toast and jelly, cereal or an egg later in the evening; it adds up to three meals and three snacks a day.

INTO THE BLUE

Nope, pretty Peggie Castle isn't going out for the football team. The champion she's holding is a pilot's helmet she is going to wear on a ride in one of the planes used in her current Universal-International picture, "Air Cadet." For her plane ride, she wears comfortable cotton galabardine shorts and a turtle-necked cotton T-shirt.

When a guest is having trouble with her gallbladder, she is usually on a pretty general diet, but fried foods and the foods that produce gassy bloating have been found to be best excluded from her diet. It would be best not to serve her rich desserts and pastries or salad dressing, oil, nuts, pickles, popcorn, or gravy; roast beef is fine, but when the trouble is in the gallbladder the gravy is cut out of the diet.

Those vegetables that cause the production of gas in the intestines are dried beans, dried peas, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, cucumbers, kohlrabi, onions, green pepper, radishes, rutabagas, sauerkraut, and turnips.

It is always possible, of course, that there are other foods which a person in the best of health cannot eat and would therefore have to be eliminated also from the diet of that person when he has some ailment. Often such an inability to eat certain foods with comfort stems from an allergy and since allergic people are often dinner guests, too, it may help to know beforehand the types of foods which are considered common irritants.

In the broadest sense such a diet omits eggs, chocolate, nuts, pepper, and those fresh fruits and vegetables which are in season only part of the year. More specifically, the foods excluded in the dietary program for allergy run something like this:

All drinks that have caffeine in them, including coffee, tea, and colas; all breads made with eggs or nuts; all desserts containing chocolate, cocoa, eggs or nuts; salad dressings with eggs or pepper; such fruits as fresh berries or melons, in season only part of the year; fresh pork, fish and sea food; all cheese except cottage cheese; noodles; candy containing chocolate, eggs or nuts; fresh tomatoes; fresh corn and other fresh vegetables which are in season only part of the year; and any odd, unusual, exotic food or flavoring.

Roast beef and gravy with mashed potatoes and vanilla ice cream—even a sensitive person with lots of allergies isn't likely to find anything there, plus such other items as are not excluded from his diet, to create such symptoms as hives, eczema or sneeze, and "snizzles" to mar his pleasure in eating at your house.

Tree-Shaped Dessert Is Decorative, Delicious

Here's a recipe that's sure to be a family favorite, as well as a party success. And you'll love it, most of all, because it's so very easy to prepare.

Upside-Down Tree Cake

First prepare Upside-Down Topping: Melt 3 tablespoons butter in Mirror Tree Pan; sprinkle with 1/2 cup brown sugar; arrange over sugar mixture 1 1/2 cups (no. 2 can) Drained Dole Pineapple Chunks. Decorate with maraschino cherries and walnut halves. Use cake mix or make cake batter as follows:

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose or cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup syrup drained from pineapple

Gradually add sugar to shortening, creaming until fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; beat well. Add alternately small amounts of sifted dry ingredients and pineapple syrup, beating smooth after each addition. Spread batter over pineapple in pan; bake in moderate oven (350°) 30 to 40 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes, then turn out on plate. Serve warm, with whipped cream, to 6 or 8.

For the accompanying gelatin molds, simply follow manufacturer's directions, combining colors and canned fruit salad to suit your taste. The set of ten tree-shaped Mirro aluminum pans . . . two large ones that you can use to double this recipe or to bake interesting layer cake, and eight individual "trees" . . . is currently available in several areas around town. It's called the "Christmas Tree" cake and mold set.

GROWING PAINS In Gray County

By FOSTER WHALEY
 County Extension Agent

A large amount of High Plains cotton is being ginned at McLean. George Scott has ginned close to 100 bales with one of the local gins. Scott put in 320 acres of cotton north of Pampa in Roberts County. Scott is John Deere implement dealer in Pampa. Fred Vanderburg, south of Pampa, has ginned over 100 bales at the local gins.

Most of the cotton has been pulled over once in the High Plains area. It is estimated that about two-thirds of the cotton is harvested in the county, but many farmers in the McLean area have lots of cotton to pull yet.

I was very much interested in a chart in the 1925 agricultural outlook published by the Bureau of Ag. Eco., which showed a loaf of bread sliced into the various portions that each party receives when it is sold as a finished product.

In 1947 the farmer's share of a loaf of bread netted him 2.9c, the miller got .8c, others 2c, non-flour ingredients 1.2c, making a total cost of bakers ingredients 5.1c on each loaf of bread, with 7.9c added for baker's and retailer charges made the average retail price for a loaf of bread cost 13c.

Comparing this with 1951, the farmer's share of the loaf of bread drops to 2.6c, miller's share .8c, other cost dropped to .1c, non-flour ingredients remain the same. This makes the total cost of baker's ingredients 4.7c, having dropped .4c since 1947, yet the average cost of a loaf of bread is 16.2c.

Actually the farmer's share of the food dollar has dropped to 49c of each dollar. In 1945 he received 54c of each dollar paid by the consumer.

See you next week.

One Amendment Gets Okay; Four Others Vetoed

In final, but still incomplete tabulations of the Texas Election Bureau, it was apparent that Texas voters made only one change in the already patched-up state constitution in the election held Tuesday of last week.

The amendment to increase the veterans land fund—one of five proposed amendments voted upon—showed a lead of about 13,000 votes in the total of 192,425 which were tabulated. It was estimated that complete returns would be between 225,000 and 250,000 votes.

Apparently the other four amendments failed to meet the voters' approval. The voting was light throughout the state, as the Texans evidently were not interested.

The final tabulations on the proposals were as follows:

1. To permit a state-wide system of pensions for county employees: 64,938 for, and 120,670 against.
2. To broaden the scope of investment for the University of Texas permanent fund: 85,678 for and 97,626 against.
3. To allow an increased tax for rural fire prevention districts: 66,786 for and 117,002 against.
4. To authorize the state to issue $100 million in bonds to finance the purchase of land by veterans: 99,807 for and 86,829 against.
5. To increase the present $35 million a year ceiling on state welfare spending to $12 million: 86,136 for and 108,289 against.

Services during the two weeks will be held twice daily, at 10 o'clock each morning, and at 7:30 o'clock each evening. Rev. Wells stated.

In charge of the song services will be Duward Price, regular choir leader at the church.

"We have set a goal of 400 in our Sunday School for Sunday morning, December 9," Rev. Wells said, "and we will need your help to make this possible. You are invited to attend each of the services during the two weeks, and bring your friends with you. The First Baptist Church always welcomes you at its services."

(Editor's Note: The News would like everyone to attend the Sunday School at the First Baptist Church on the morning of December 9, for Rev. Wells has informed us—and his congregation as well—that he and Neil Cooper will sing a duet if the goal of 400 is reached.)
