PANHANDLE OUTDOOR LIFE

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

According to Game Warden Woody Pond, the bass and crappie are biting at Buffalo Lake but not too vigorously. Warden Pond also said that the channel cat haven't started to bite at this time. The warden said that he would call me when they did start hitting. I am just waiting for that time to spend a day of channel catfishing.

For those who are in the know, it is usually simple to catch a daily limit of these most choice fish if you use the right kind of bait. This right kind of bait consists of a specially prepared conglomeration made from dried minnows, oil of anise, oil of roden and banana oil. Most fishermen below the caprock and on south to Abilene are familiar with this preparation.

A few years back I was bank fishing at Lake Ft. Phantom Hill and was using shrimp, minnows and stench bait to no avail. A short distance down the bank there was a couple who spent NIPPONESE MONORAIL—Japan's new "train of the future" speeds across Ueno Park in Tokyo. The streamlined monorail tramway has been designed by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government to replace the city's numerous streetcars and thereby reduce traffic congestion. The present system will soon be extended to the downtown area of Tokyo and eventually will constitute but one unit of a city-wide monorail network. Meanwhile, residents and sightseers in the Japanese capital are enjoying the thrill of aerial joy-riding in a type of train which travel experts predict will soon be constructed in major cities throughout the world.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Clyde Dickerson, Manager

The mysteries of cosmic rays seem to be a favorite topic of conversation among McLean young scientists these days. After viewing the film, "Cosmic Rays," last week a lot of questions have been answered but what's more important—a lot of young minds have been set to pondering over some of the problems that have not been solved.

We as telephone people are proud of our science series of films—Cosmic Rays, Our Mr. Sun, and Hemo the Magnificent are some that you may have seen on television recently. They are even more interesting when seen in color—and they are available to any civic, church, or educational group—just give us a call at the office so we can arrange a convenient time for showing.

Mr. Dale Parvin, principal of McLean Grade School, told me the other day: "We have shown all of the telephone company's science films now. My teachers and I think they are among the best available to us for instruction and want them again next year."

MOTHER'S DAY REMINDER

Sunday, May 11, will be Mother's Day. Unfortunately, we won't all be able to drop in and wish our Mother a "Happy Mother's Day." The next best thing—as I see it—is to call her on the telephone.

Lots of sons and daughters call home on Mother's Day. That's why I suggest that you place your call early and call by number. In that way you'll avoid delay.

So, don't forget—plan now on a Long Distance call on May 11 to make Mother's special day even happier.

ON AND OFF THE JOB

On the job, telephone people here in McLean have a responsible part in keeping the town's telephone system working properly to serve you.

But quite a few telephone people go even farther than that in serving the community.

For example, Red Ballard, McLean's plant technician, is a volunteer fireman. When Mrs. Cobb or one of the operators receives a report she throws the fire alarm switch and Red responds with many other volunteers organized to fight fires.

Whatever our jobs, whatever our favorite community activities, we telephone people share a common interest with you—making McLean the best possible place to live in and raise our families.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Dear Friend:

The Community Facilities Bill passed by the Senate is designed to provide effective help to states and local political subdivisions in carrying out needed public improvement projects.

Texas' smaller towns and communities have a particular interest in this bill. Many of them have been experiencing considerable difficulty in financing public improvement programs.

This situation should be relieved by the Community Facilities Bill if it is passed by the House of Representatives and approved by the President. Here are the major provisions of the bill:

1. It increases the $100 million Housing and Home Finance Agency's public facility loan program to $1 billion. This will provide loans for such purposes as sewage treatment works, public streets and sidewalks, lighting systems, libraries, recreational facilities and other badly needed projects.

2. It provides for an effective interest rate of 3%. Many Texas communities have been paying 4 1/8 and 4 5/8%.

3. It increases the present 40-year maximum payment period on these federal loans to 50 years.

This bill represents another step in the effort being made by Congress to fight the business slump and provide jobs for people who need them. I hope it will not run into a veto at the White House.

The Rivers and Harbors Bill, containing a number of sound and far-reaching projects in Texas, did run into a veto. At my request, the veto message has been referred to the Senate Public Works Committee for a full hearing.

Some of the President's views of the bill seemed to me to be based on a misunderstanding of some of the facts about the projects included in it. I have asked the committee to go over the veto message word by word, with both sides being presented.

Buy now? That is, in effect, what I have been suggesting the government do by stepping up the rate of spending for needed work that is going to be done anyway, sooner or later.

Should you buy now? Of course you have to answer that question for yourself. If you can afford it, perhaps this is the right time to carry out your plans to have the living room repapered or your house painted, to buy a washing machine or lawn mower—whatever you need most.

I would like to see the business slump brought to an end by the normal operations of our system of private enterprise.

Most Americans, most Texans, still have jobs. If they can afford to buy things they need, it will help in the present situation to buy now.

BOYCE HOUSE

If a writer means himself, what's wrong with saying "I"?

His explanation is that "I" sounds egotistical—so he refers to himself as "we"—and that doesn't sound egotistical; it is egotistical.

Someone has said that the only individual entitled to refer to himself as "we" is a king or a man with a tapeworm.

When I was a reporter on the Fort Worth Morning Star-Telegram, I came in late in the afternoon with a pocket full of notes on news stories to be written but instead of lighting into the typewriter, I "visited" with Bob Randol, a reporter for the afternoon paper.

Whereupon my city editor sauntered back and, in a tone of make-believe nonchalance, he inquired of me, "Boyce, is Robert annoying you?"

Randol, who had only been listening and actually was anxious to finish up his work so he could leave, turned red.

Some months later, the city editor was made state editor—so therefore I was no longer under his authority. One afternoon, he had wandered over to the sports department and was talking to a member of that department who was politely listening but was desirous of getting back to his work. I strolled up and said to the ex-city editor, "Harold, is Mc annoying you?"

The former city editor's face turned fiery red and he walked away. I had achieved my long-cherished revenge.

But wait! Mc, ordinarily a mild kind of chap, angrily said to me "Was I annoying him? I hadn't said a word."

So I hastened to explain—and Mc was all right again. In fact, "Is so-and-so annoying you?" became a byword between Mc and me.

Their toil is joy to them that have won success.—Aeschylus.

Lead me in Thy truth, and teach me: for Thou art the God of my salvation; on Thee do I wait all the day.—(Psalm 25, 5.)

Our Heavenly Father is the source of all wisdom, as He is of all love and all good and all mercy. Why should not we, His children, gladly take all our problems to Him, seeking in prayer His guidance and, receiving it, obeying? For then we shall be wonderfully confident and strong.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank everyone for all the lovely cards, flowers, gifts and other deeds of kindness. Your thoughtfulness has helped a lot.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world, including the young man who was in the habit of standing in front of City Hall and snapping his fingers.

When asked what he was doing, he answered, "Can't you tell? I'm keeping the elephants away."

"Elephants!" said the inquirer. "Why, there isn't an elephant within miles of here."

"I know, I know," replied the young man proudly. "Effective, isn't it?"

GUYMON, OKLAHOMA

Mr. McKinnon says, "Cooking electrically is easy for even inexperienced cooks like me. I never thought I would actually enjoy preparing dinner for the boys while Lou, my wife, is not at home. Now, when she goes to her church and social affairs, the McKinnon men take to the kitchen. Roger helps with the salad, Doug helps set the table, and Warner, like most four-year-olds, just does a little bit of nothing. Although we're having steaks tonight, the boys ordinarily vote for hot dogs or hamburgers; regardless, our electric grill does a wonderful job, no matter the menu."

FAMILY PROJECT

4-H'ers Study Bugs

One project that every 4-H boy and girl can undertake concerns insects. It is 4-H Entomology, and provides unlimited opportunities to learn more about control of bugs and pests which annually cause millions of dollars worth of damage in the state.

Awards Offered

One of the best features is that little or no investment is required to get started in the project. In fact, it pays handsome dividends to 4-H'ers who do an exceptionally good job. The Hercules Powder Co. offers awards like the medal pictured above, an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, and $400 college scholarships for six national champions.

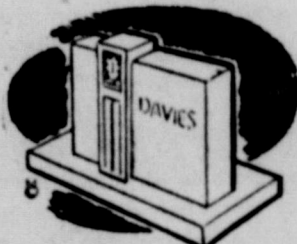

Has Varied Application

The entomology project is one that can be successfully completed by city 4-H'ers as well as those living in rural areas. There are several categories, namely: insect collections; life history studies; insect surveys and control; demonstrations and exhibits. Already a favorite of many boys and girls, the project frequently leads to an interesting hobby. The Cooperative Extension Service directs the 4-H Entomology program, and information regarding enrollment can be obtained from the County Extension Agent.

TAX DODGERS

Taxes are one of the biggest problems facing the people of the United States. National defense depends on them. They take a huge bite out of the earnings of practically everyone. Socialized businesses that escape taxation add to the burden of every taxpayer. For that reason the following figures are of interest. They are representative of what large and small private electric companies pay to support government.

The Pacific Gas & Electric Co. of California in 1957 paid a tax bill of $128,888,000—or 26c out of every dollar of the company's income. The federal income tax alone accounted for $65,278,000. All the highly taxed private electric companies of the United States paid approximately the same proportion of their earnings in taxes for a total of well over a billion dollars in 1957. Contrast this with federal and other public-owned power projects which pay no federal income taxes and which escape most or all other taxes.

It is a favorite practice for advocates of socialized power to say that the private electric industry does not pay taxes, it merely collects them from its customers by adding them to its bill. One might just as well say that no business pay taxes, or that a workman does not pay taxes—they simply add their tax to the price of their product or service and collect it from their customers or employers. Customers of tax-exempt public power plants escape the taxes which the private electric industry must collect from the users of its service. Therefore the users of public power are failing to contribute their just share of the cost of government and loading increased burdens on to other taxpayers.

When both federal and local governments are scraping the bottom of the barrel for tax revenue, there is no reason why this unfair tax-exemption of public power plants should be longer continued. Such plants now furnish over 20% of the power produced in this nation. If their customers paid their just share of taxes for electricity used, government would be collecting upwards of $300 million a year in new revenues. Why should there be tax exemption for a privileged class of customers in these critical times?

SEARCHING QUESTIONS

A House committee recently held hearings on proposed bills authorizing the federal government to give or loan money to the states in order to extend the time during which unemployed workers may obtain weekly unemployment benefit payments.

One of the witnesses was Rowland Jones, Jr., president of the American Retail Federation. He pointed out that in most states the maximum duration of benefits is now 26 weeks. Then he said: "Let us imagine that maximum duration in most states was not 26, but 30 or 36 or 39 weeks right now. What would happen as we go through the economic readjustment of 1957-1958? Unemployment would rise as it has now. Average duration would have increased and more workers would have exhausted their benefits just as is happening now with a 26-week maximum... What would have been the indicated action then? Should duration have been raised to 52 weeks or 104 weeks at the first sign of increasing unemployment? Or would we still be talking about a federal dole for 13 weeks? Why? What are we after? What kind of an unemployment insurance program do we want? How does the increase in unemployment experienced in recent months justify a basic change in our entire philosophy? Why after years of constant and progressive improvement in our state systems do we need to abandon the uniquely American principles of unemployment insurance and institute a federal dole which is based neither on eligibility requirements nor on proof of need?"

These are searching questions. Federalization of unemployment insurance, no matter how modest the scale at the beginning, would grow like a rolling snowball. The dole principle would be established, at an unknown cost to the taxpayers. The burden on business would be extremely heavy, at the expense of investment, expansion and employment.

To quote Mr. Jones again: "Our task is to concentrate on constructive measures designed to stimulate our economy and provide more employment rather than to dissipate our energies on devising a dole system for the American worker."

OIL BETS ON THE FREE WORLD

Statements made in the annual financial reports of this country's leading oil companies are of particular interest now.

From the report of the Ohio Oil Company: "... much pessimism is being expressed with regard to general economic conditions, and it does seem likely that the downturn in industrial activity may continue at least until midyear. It is also disconcerting whenever the growth in petroleum demand seems to falter, as it has several times in the past. Nevertheless, we should not lose sight of the fact that a new record in petroleum consumption was established in 1957. Furthermore, domestic production and imports were eventually brought into closer balance with current requirements the downturn in industrial activity may continue at least this speaks well for the flexibility and resiliency of the petroleum industry. It is also a dynamic industry and must continually anticipate rapid growth."

Jersey: "The readjustment in the economy that is now going on does not alter our confidence in the longer range future. This is not the first time, nor will it be the last, when relatively short periods of consolidation follow years of rapid growth and lead on to further years of expansion. The rising level of population in the United States and in many areas abroad and the growing desire for higher living standards throughout the world promise a return of economic expansion..."

The heads of these companies have every faith in the future. And they are not limiting that faith to words. They plan to continue to spend huge sums for expansion and betterment of their facilities, and for exploration and development. This is true of the oil industry as a whole. It is betting, with full confidence, on this and the other free world nations.

IT'S THE LAW

In Texas

EARNEST MONEY CONTRACT

The signing of a contract of sale is an extremely important step in the purchase of a home. Once buyer and seller have signed, they are bound by the provisions of the contract. Their respective legal rights in the transaction are thereby set and determined. If the contract is poorly and haphazardly drawn, a harvest of regret may be repeated at a later date.

Sales contracts are often called by other names, such as earnest money contracts, binders, receipts, etc. All of them are for the same purpose and almost without exception involve the deposit of money by the buyer. Some require the seller to put up a good faith deposit. The fact that such deposited sums are usually to be forfeited in event the depositor later fails to go through with his specified contractual obligations lends additional weight to the often stated admonition that no contract should be signed without complete understanding as to its terms.

But many home purchasers (and sellers) rush to sign a hastily prepared contract with very little knowledge of its contents. The pressure of time, the informality of the occasion, the casual appearance of the contract, and perhaps the fact that a partially printed form is used may contribute in causing the true importance of the act to be overlooked. At any rate, many are lulled into a lapse of good business judgment.

Every significant detail of the bargain should be crystallized in unmistakable terms in the contract of sale. Land and fixtures being sold should be clearly described. A complete description of the property by lot and block, or by metes and bounds, is a must, the street number being inadequate by itself.

Articles and fixtures included in the sale but not always sold with houses generally should be specifically listed. Included in this category are such items as venetian blinds, removable floor coverings, draperies, air conditioning units and others. In purchasing property under construction, complete plans and specifications form an essential part of the agreement.

The price to be paid must, of course, be specified, along with method and terms of payment. If a certain sized loan is a prerequisite to the buyer's ability to complete the purchase, this fact should be noted. Sad indeed is the prospective purchaser who loses his earnest money when a contemplated loan transaction falls through, his contract requiring payment of the entire consideration in cash.

The sales contract should also state the quality of the title to be conveyed to the buyer and the type of title evidence to be furnished.

The buyer's individual circumstances and desires may require that various matters not mentioned above be provided for in the contract. All too often people try to squeeze a sales contract to fit the type of printed form on hand, omitting or leaving to easily misconstrued or forgotten oral agreement many vital provisions. Do not fall into the "pitfall of the printed form." Too many unfortunate entanglements have been announced by clients to lawyers with the words, "I have just signed a receipt for a house on Blank Street. Will you take over now and see that everything is O. K.?"

IT HAPPENED HERE

Motorcycle Accident

Bill Bundy was painfully injured, Evan Sitter scratched up a bit, and Erwin Rice scared stiff Monday afternoon late when the motorcycle and side car they were riding turned over out near McClellan Creek, north of Alanreed.

After business hours the boys had loaded up the vehicle with fishing tackle, eatables and themselves and were planning to spend a few hours fishing. When about a mile from the fishing hole they were taking a turn in the road at a speed some higher than safety would permit, and the machine turned over, spilling the occupants over parts of a large pasture.

Bill Bundy suffered a sprained ankle and shoulder and minor bruises, and it is thought it will be a week or two before he will be able to navigate without assistance. Evan Sitter was unconscious for several minutes, and his face was scratched up until he looked like a sack of cats had been unloaded on him. Erwin Rice evidently carried a couple of rabbits' feet in his pocket, for he escaped without a scratch. It might well be said that the three of them were lucky, for those who saw the wreck and the way the ground was torn up declared it a wonder somebody didn't get killed.

No Poverty in McLean

At the Thanksgiving service held at the Presbyterian church last November, a collection was taken for local charity. Mrs. C. A. Watkins, who had charge of the funds, tells us that since the fund came into her hands she has searched diligently for a case of poverty in order that she might put the money to the use for which it was intended. But there was no such thing as poverty in McLean last winter, and the money was turned over to the Red Cross.

Red Cross News

The play by the high school totaled $61.55 for the Red Cross, and the play taken to Pampa by the high school netted for McLean Red Cross $24.80.

Last Thursday was the banner day at the work room. The following ladies were present and a great deal was accomplished: Mesdames Rice, Shelton, Watkins, Cash, Cook, Duncan, Paschall, Henry, Sparks, Harris, Williams, Grigsby, Massay, Chambers, Jones Smith and Everett; Misses Cook, Burr, Boucher, Wilson and Watkins.

D. A. Davis has secured permission from Rock Island officials to let 20 or 30 acres of railroad land be put into crop for the Red Cross.

Person's

Mrs. D. B. Veatch entertained a number of friends at her home in the east part of town Saturday evening.

Miss Fannie Bailey left Wednesday for Dallas, where she will go into training as a Red Cross nurse.

Prof. Andrew Jordan, who has just closed a successful term as teacher of the Heald school, left Sunday for Amarillo, where he has accepted a position.

most of their time pulling out channel catfish that ran from one to four pounds. I kept moving down the bank until I finally was sitting next to the man. I asked what kind of bait he was using. He told me and also gave me the address of the manufacturer but wouldn't spare me any of the bait.

After a while he departed to Abilene with a two-sack of the larger fish but in the meantime he had dropped a small part of the precious bait on the ground. After he left I picked up the piece, mixed it in with some of my bait and almost landed a nice channel cat. Up until this time I hadn't had so much as a nibble on my line. Later I ordered a quart of the bait from Quannah. There are not too many people who prepare this bait for commercial use but it can be purchased from some of the bait dealers at Quannah.

Ochiltree County's Lake Fryer
For months it has been mentioned that it was believed that this lake would have its official opening on May 1. However, it was learned that the official opening will be June 1. Picnic grounds are available, plus boating facilities, at this time.
Dog Gone
First time since the blizzard a year or so back my dogs have scratched out. These two have disappeared. They are two litter mates, male and female pointers, four years of age. If you know anything of the whereabouts of these two meandering dogs, please call me. They have my name and address on the collar.

The fishermen from the Panhandle are keeping the roads hot towards many distant lakes this spring. Milton Bryan, Bob Haynes and others have been having good luck at Lake Stamford. Mr. Haynes said that he preferred this lake above all others for crappie and bass. Harper Scoggins and M. C. Johnson said that Leedy Lake in Oklahoma is one of the most productive bodies of water.

The black bass are getting ready to spawn in the Panhandle. I noticed five nests on the Duncan Ranch the other day. The male bass prepare these nests. On two of them, the bass guarding the nests appeared to be over four pounds.

During the winter there were very few quail, either blues or bobs, noticed. Now they are appearing all over the Panhandle. They are paired off and have moved out from the winter range to the nesting sites. Weldon Fromm, game warden at Matador, said there are quail all over the countryside in that area.

Things You May Not Know
Using their poison to kill food rattlesnakes will not attack a man unless provoked, and will very often crawl away rather than chance a human encounter. The porcupine's quill is actually a hollow hair, three inches in length or longer.
