Council Drops Street Paving Program Here

There will be no paving program in McLean this year, Mayor E. J. Lander has announced. "We simply couldn't find enough property owners who were willing at the present time to invest in additional paving in McLean," the mayor said.

Originally, 13 blocks were designated as possible paving projects, and the council made arrangements to do more paving if the people wanted it. However, after several weeks, during which time a few property owners signed up for the paving, not even one block could be agreed upon by all property owners concerned.

When another paving program will be in the making will largely depend on the economic condition of the town, it was explained. Since the cost of such paving is split between the city and the property owners, any future program will have to be agreed upon by both.

REV. CLYDE HANKINS to conduct meeting

Baptist Meet To Have Early School Service

A 12-day revival meeting will begin Wednesday of next week at the First Baptist Church in McLean, and one of the features of the revival will be a special service for school students.

Dr. Buell T. Wells, pastor, stated that the special services will be held at the Municipal Building each morning at 8:30 o'clock from Tuesday, September 22, through Friday, September 25. The services will last 20 minutes, and all students, and any others, are invited to attend.

Other services during the meeting at the church will be at 10 o'clock each morning and at 8 o'clock each evening.

Evangelist will be Rev. Clyde Hankins, missionary to Brazil. However, he will not arrive here to conduct the meeting until Monday, September 21, prior to which time Dr. Wells will be in charge of the services.

Joe Coleman, school band and choral director, will be in charge of the song services each evening. Rev. Hankins, who plans to return to Brazil in October, has served in that country for a number of years. He also served as pastor of the Dalhart Baptist church during the time Rev. W. R. Lawrence, Dalhart pastor and former McLean minister, was with the armed forces as a chaplain in Korea.

First Meeting Of P-TA Held

The P-T. A. met for the first session of the school year at the grade school cafeteria Wednesday of last week.

All the teachers were introduced, and each mother introduced herself and the grade she represented.

The meeting was presided over by the new president, Mrs. Joy Harlan. Sixty-five persons were present. Refreshments were served by the first grade mothers.

The next meeting will be held October 7 at 3:45 o'clock.

Cotton Worms Under Control—Or Cotton Gone

By one method or another, the cotton worms in this portion of Gray County are under control.

County Agent Ralph Thomas explains it this way: those who had worms in their cotton and sprayed them with the mixture of DDT and toxaphene have the worms pretty well killed out; those who had worms in their cotton and didn't spray them have very little cotton left. "So you might say," the county agent stated, "that the worms are under control."

Thomas explained that the leaf worms are easy to kill with spray, but that sometimes boll worms are hard to kill when they are already down in the bolls. However, in most areas, spraying has met with considerable success. The local area isn't the only place where worms have done their damage. In most every place where showers kept the ground damp and the temperature down a bit for a period of several days, the worms popped out.

Locally, many farmers were not even aware their cotton was being infested with worms until it was too late to do anything about them. Several farmers have reported they inspected their fields about ten days ago. Five days later they went back and the cotton was already badly damaged.

The weather continued to remain warm during the days and cool during the nights. Temperatures at night have dropped to as low as 50 (middle of last week), but most nights have found the thermometers reading about 60 to 65 degrees.

The moisture total for the year was boosted to 10.73 inches last Wednesday night and Thursday morning when showers brought .24 of an inch. Of the moisture, .20 fell before midnight Wednesday, and the additional .04 of an inch early Thursday morning.

Nancy Tate Is Best Baker

Miss Nancy Tate, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Tate of near McLean, won the county bake show for 4-H Club members in Pampa Saturday.

Nancy was one of five entries from Gray County, and won with her sponge cake and cherry pie. Judges were Mrs. Aubra Nooncaster, former home economics teacher, and Miss Mary Moomman, home economics teacher, both of Pampa.

W. L. Carpenter, Ex-Resident, Dies at Pampa

Funeral services for William L. Carpenter, former resident of McLean, were held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home chapel in Pampa. He was 75 years of age.

He was born April 16, 1878, in Bonham. He moved to Mobeetie in 1906. In 1919, he moved to McLean, where he lived until 1931, when the family moved to Pampa. He was in the maintenance department of the Pampa school system for 15 years.

Survivors include his wife, Bertha, of Pampa; three sons, Robert L. and Chester H. Carpenter of North Hollywood, Calif., and James Leroy Carpenter of Pampa; one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Marshall of Pampa; and six grandchildren.

Johnnie Vineyard received his discharge from the U. S. Air Force last Saturday at Tucson, Ariz. Vineyard enrolled at Panhandle A. and M., Goodwell, Okla., Monday, and will play football with the college team. His wife, the former Marsalee Windom, is with him at Goodwell.

Bob Black Jr. received his discharge at Fort Sill, Okla., this week, after having spent the last two years with the army. Bob is teaching in the Berger High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Black of McLean.

Ens. Claude Mounce of Pensacola, Fla., visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Mounce, over the week end.

S/Sgt. and Mrs. Thomas Terubush and son of Washington, D. C., are visiting relatives here and in Grocm. Sgt. Terubush will be sent to Hawaii when he returns to his base. Mrs. Terubush and son plan to make their home in Grocm until his return.

Students to See Filmed History In Series of Shows

Students of schools in this area will see the historic events of last summer recreated in their own classrooms through the News Magazine of the Screen during the fall term.

The grim drama of the Korean truce, the pageantry of Queen Elizabeth's coronation, and other significant news developments will be presented for students in 29 states, the District of Columbia, and Hawaii.

Produced by Warner Pathé-News, the News Magazine is distributed by state educational authorities. Five of the ten films to be presented during the school year will be sponsored in this area by Service Pipe Line company, a crude oil transportation company with headquarters in Tulsa, Okla. Service will sponsor presentation of the film to be shown in September and alternate months thereafter.

In the current issue, the eight most important news stories of the summer are graphically presented as they were photographed on the spot by News Magazine cameramen all over the world. Two feature stories also of educational value are included.

First Four Grid Games to Begin At 8, Kennedy Says

The first four football games to be played by the McLean Tigers will begin at 8 o'clock, and the remainder of those scheduled at 7:30, Superintendent Paul Kennedy said this week.

Two of the first four games—Stinnett and Claude—will be played here, with the other two—Price College and Lockney—away from home.

All District 1-A games, which start with the Panhandle game at Panhandle October 16, will begin at 7:30 o'clock, instead of 8, Kennedy stressed.

Pampa Lions Give Program At Local Meet

A highly entertaining program, which was climaxed by an inspirational message from Rev. Dick Crews of Pampa, was presented at the regular McLean Lions Club meeting by members of the Pampa Lions Club Tuesday noon.

The program was brought to McLean by County Agent Ralph Thomas, who is a regular visitor of the local club each Tuesday. Thomas, who is president of the Pampa club this year, presented for the program, in addition to Rev. Crews, four other Pampa Lions—Bunny Shultz, Red Payne, Dude Baltrope, and Red Wedgeworth.

The program was climaxed by Rev. Crews, who spoke on "Spiritual Heritage." He stated that three things are needed to make all people in this nation realize how important their spiritual, as well as political, heritage, really is.

The three things most needed, he emphasized, are the building of a "chapel in the soul," "an altar of God in the home," and "the church in the world." He pointed out the importance of praying alone, spending time in meditation, and allowing time for God to talk to the individual—thus building the chapel in the soul. More time should be spent by families at home before their own altar of God. The third point was related to cooperation among all churches, regardless of their denominations; in this respect, he emphasized the cooperation of churches within a town, as well as the cooperation of national church organizations.

Prior to delivering his inspirational message, Rev. Crews entertained the group with his rendition of the poems, "Casey at the Bat" and "Shooting of Dan McGrew."

The other four Pampa Lions made up a barber shop quartet, and sang two numbers.

Only guest at the club meeting, in addition to those on the program, was Gale Plummer, member of the 1953 high school senior class.

Duncan Field Contest Rated As Close Match

It's the McLean-Tigers versus the Stinnett Rattlers on Duncan Field Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Football fever is rising in McLean as the Tigers prepare for their opening game of the season, and most fans believe the first game will be a toss-up as far as the winner is concerned.

Both McLean and Stinnett are expected to have good teams this fall, and Stinnett is rated as tops in its district. However, since the visitors are in Class B and McLean in Class A, the Tigers will go into the game as slight favorites.

The Rattlers are picked by sports writers as the tops in District 1-B. They finished second in their district in 1952, losing only one district game—that to Claude, the 1-B champ. Stinnett has ten lettermen returning this season, three of whom are veteran ball carriers. Heading the list of returnees are Bob Pritchard, 177-pound fullback, and Rob Graves, 135-pound quarterback.

Local fans will remember the 6-0 upset the Rattlers pulled on McLean in the opener last fall, and the Tigers will be out to avenge that defeat.

The Tigers have nine returning lettermen. Last Saturday night, they showed up exceptionally well in a scrimmage session with the Shamrock Irish on Duncan Field.

Especially outstanding was the ground defense of the Tigers, with big Joe Crockett, Don Trew, and James Jolly leading the way. But the pass defense of the Tigers was weak; had Shamrock's receivers been able to catch the ball a little better, the outcome of the scrimmage might have been different.

As it was, McLean managed to rack up four touchdowns, with the Irish never crossing the goal line. James Smith crossed over in the first half for one marker, and then made two more in the second half—one of which was about a 45-yard run. The fourth tally was made by Wayne Moore, who intercepted an Irish pass and ran for a touchdown. Moore showed up well in his line work throughout the game.

Coach Hap Rogers used about all of his squad, with the exception of the younger freshman boys, Ricky Mantooth, Smith, Don Crockett, and Jack Hupp served as the ball toters, with Mantooth doing the punting and passing. No kick-offs were used during the game, and no extra points were attempted.

Injuries have already come into the Tiger line-up, however. James Dale Andrews suffered a fractured leg in practice last week, and will be out of play for at least six weeks, Rogers stated. The coach stated that Andrews had been showing up very well during the first few days, and was slated for considerable action. In the scrimmage session, Rodney Gunn, Jimmy Farren, and Charlie Vineyard worked on the

We're All for One—On A Tray

Designed for a time-of-your-life party—our Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers. They are easy to cook, attractive to serve and the proof of it all is in the eating. It's a one-tray meal in keeping with modern ranch house living. Let the man-of-the-house carry it triumphantly to porch or yard for popular outdoor eating. It will match the appetites of good neighbors assembled for impromptu get-togethers.

Menus which include foods that can be arranged on one large serving platter or tray are most suitable for transporting to a cool, breezy dining spot. The hashburgers, on toasted buns, are prepared with a minimum of time and effort. Food trays need the impact of color and here it is in the sparkling green of fresh or frozen stringless beans and the relish garnishes.

Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers

- 1 (#2) can corned beef hash
- 1/4 cup tomato catsup
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- 5 sandwich buns

Open both ends of can and push hash out, leaving it whole. Slice hash crosswise into 5 equal size rounds. Place hash slices in a greased baking dish and brown them in a hot oven (400° F.) for ten minutes, turn hash slices and brown them on other side for ten minutes. Combine catsup, mustard and vinegar and spread over top of hash slices during last ten minutes of baking. Cut buns in half and toast both cut sides. Place a slice of barbecued hash in each bun. Yield: 5 Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers.

Donley County—SOIL NEWS

Now is the time to plant winter cover crops on all land that does not have sufficient cover on the ground to prevent blowing next spring.

Kermit Evans, a district co-operator south of Ashtola, has planted a mixture of rye and Austrian winter peas on all of his cotton land. He used one of the district's row seeders to plant this cover crop in the middle of his cotton. Evans has planted winter cover crops in his cotton the past three years and has seen the benefit not only in a cover crop to keep his land from blowing but also in the increased yields in the following crop.

Evans reports that this row seeder can be used without damage even in large cotton.

H. L. Riley, a co-operator northeast of Clarendon, plans on using a row seeder to plant a cover crop of rye in his cotton middles on his sandier land.

Tige Hill, a co-operator east of Hedley, is also using a row seeder to drill rye and Austrian winter peas on part of his cotton land.

Lloyd Carmichael, a co-operator northeast of Clarendon, is using a regular drill to plant rye as a cover crop on about 75 acres of sandy land that does not have sufficient cover to prevent blowing next spring.

These and many other farmers are commended for their foresightfulness in taking action now to prevent their land from blowing next spring.

It is for certain that the wind is going to blow next spring and it is almost for sure that all land without cover will blow. Now that most of the district has had some moisture it is time to get a cover crop started on the fields that have inadequate cover.

Cover crop planting seed is already available locally. The Clarendon Hatchery is handling rye seed for the district. Rye, Austrian peas, and hairy vetch may also be obtained from the other seed stores in the district.

Remember that the district has two row seeders and two regular grain drills for lease to farmers for planting winter cover crops. Call on the Soil Conservation Service for technical assistance in seeding these crops. Check with the P. M. A. office for financial assistance in purchasing the cover crop seed.

But most of all, remember to plant cover crops!

Forty-Two Club
Mrs. S. E. Boyett was hostess in the Forty-Two Club on Friday afternoon of last week, at which delightful affair about 16 guests were present.

After enjoying a round of games, in which some excellent individual scores were made, the guests were served with a delicious two-course luncheon consisting of a salad course and associate and cake.

All present voted the affair a most happy one and Mrs. Boyett a most pleasing hostess.

Birthday Surprise
The 58th birthday anniversary of Mrs. E. D. Langley was very sweetly remembered by a number of her friends on Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies Aid Society at her home.

Pre-arranged by Mrs. Arthur Erwin, each member of the society was given an opportunity to contribute towards a love token, which was a hand painting often admired by the honoree.

The meeting of the aid was called to order by Mrs. Patterson, prayer being offered by Mrs. Sitter, after which the study, "New America," was led by Mrs. Horton.

Before the lesson was closed, a most orderly class of little boys wended its way into the parlor, each little one bearing a package of loving remembrance to his Sunday School teacher who so earnestly instructs him.

The interesting immigration topic was postponed. Heart Throbs, a poem especially arranged for this occasion, was read by Mrs. Horton, the picture was presented by Mrs. S. O. Cook, and refreshments were served to the guests by Mesdames Erwin and Patterson.

Mrs. Cook took pictures of Langley and her Sunday School class, her grandchildren who are visiting her, and the assembly of Ladies Aid members.

A birthday booklet containing thoughts from her friends was compiled that will be a memento of this occasion in days to come. Those present were Mesdames Sitter, Massey, Bryant, Cook, Erwin, Patterson, Crabtree, Holt, Foster, Gull, Wilson, Watkins, Veitch, Rowe, and Horton; and Reagan and Reeves, Donnell, Clyde Cooper, Lyman Ashby, Clois Cooke, J. B. Veale, Howard Holt, Gordon Wilson, Leslie Jones, and Charles Horton.

The great heart of Mother Langley has entered too many homes in McLean in times of sickness and sorrow as well as being in the foreground in seasons of pleasure to need any introduction to our readers, and the most glowing tribute paid to her magnanimous deeds of love and mercy is too commonplace to express our appreciation, so we leave every heart to bless her life among us and wish her many happy, useful years in the future and that well earned rest beyond.

Donley County— SOIL NEWS

Is your land going to blow next spring?
This will depend to a large extent on what precautions you take this fall.

Getting a winter cover crop on all bare land is one of the best ways to keep your soil at home during the blowing season.

Cover crops are especially important on sandy land in clean tilled crops such as cotton.

Adequate stubble residues should be left on all feed land to offer resistance to the wind and help hold the soil in place. Seeding cover crops is a "must" on thousands of acres of land which do not have sufficient cover to prevent blowing next spring.

Rye is one of the most dependable cover crops for sandy land. This crop is more winter hardy and drouth resistant than most winter crops. Also it is apparently more tolerant to blowing sand than other winter cover crops.

Winter legumes such as Austrian winter peas and hairy vetch are adapted here and are valuable as soil building crops as well as for cover; however, more favorable weather conditions are usually necessary for them than for rye.

Probably the best plan is to use a mixture of wheat or rye and Austrian winter peas or hairy vetch. With adverse weather the small grain will likely make a cover, and with favorable weather the winter legumes will make good growth also with the additional benefit of adding nitrogen to the soil.

Local feed stores will have an adequate supply of all kinds of winter cover crop seeds. The Donley County Soil Conservation District has a fair supply of rye seed and this seed is handled by the Clarence Hatchery.

The district has two grain drills and two row crop drills for rent for planting cover crops. The row crop drills are the ones that are used to seed cover crops in the middle of growing cotton and are so constructed with fenders that the cotton will not be damaged.

Remember that financial assistance may be obtained from the PMA for planting cover crops, so make your application to the PMA office if you do not already have an approval.

But for land's sake, plant cover crops!

Health Talk— PLASTIC SURGERY

Plastic surgery can have two functions. Reparative surgery seeks to restore lost parts of the body or to bring back function to a part which has been injured or diseased. Cosmetic plastic surgery strives to make a part (usually of the face) look better. Sometimes the two functions go hand in hand.

For example, the repair of deep burns by skin grafting may be essential to good function of a limb, and at the same time keep the patient from having ugly scars.

When severe burns are received, the doctor must preserve life first, then give local treatment to the wounds. Regardless of what local treatment is given, skin grafting must eventually be done to replace layers of skin which have been destroyed, usually in three weeks after the burn is received. The time at which it is performed will depend upon several factors, among them: the patient's general condition and the surgeon's opinion of the time at which he is able consistently to obtain good results.

There are many techniques available for repairing various kinds and sizes of burns. The surgeon uses the type proved best for the particular loss of skin the patient has suffered.

Another instance of plastic surgery which both repairs and adds to the patient's appearance is an operation for cleft palate, an abnormal opening in the roof of the mouth present at birth. The cause of this condition, which occurs about once in 800 births, is unknown. Often it is associated with cleft lip, or as the defect is more popularly known, "hare-lip."

A hare-lip defect as a rule can be repaired about three weeks after birth. The time for repairing a cleft palate may vary with different surgeons, but rarely is it done before the child is two years of age. Many surgeons tend to wait until the child is four or five years old. Speech therapy is given after and sometimes before surgery to

TOP ENTERTAINMENT STARS SUPPORTING KENNY FUND DRIVE

Minneapolis, Minn. — The nation's top ranking personalities of the entertainment world are giving their active support to the 1953 polio fund appeal of the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation, now under way, according to Marvin L. Kline, the foundation's national executive director.

The long, star-studded list from stage, screen, radio and television includes Henry Fonda, Edward G. Robinson, Groucho Marx, Rosalind Russell, Jimmy Durante, Rosemary Clooney, Frankie Carle, Guy Lombardo, Spike Jones, Gene Autry, Hopalong Cassidy, John Cameron Swayze, Eddie Cantor, Jack Benny, Kate Smith and many others.

"By contributing their time and efforts, these people are helping to insure that the polio-combating program of the late Sister Elizabeth Kenny will be continued and, where possible, expanded," Kline declared. "The Kenny Foundation is dependent upon public contributions for its program of training additional Kenny Therapists and for making the Kenny treatment available to polio victims. It has no other source of revenue for this work."

help the child pronounce words more clearly and to keep him from speaking in a monotone. The removal of keloid tissue (an exaggerated growth of scar tissue) also may be for reparative and cosmetic purposes. Keloids which grow into bands, knots, or ridges, or other forms of projection above the skin may limit the motion of a limb, the head, or neck, as well as make the patient self-conscious about the appearance of the growth.

Small keloids usually can be treated with X-ray or radium. Older or larger ones, however, may need to be removed by surgery. Since keloids tend to recur, any new tissue which appears should be destroyed right away by the use of radiation or pressure.

Persons who have once had keloids should avoid injury in any form of irritation such as a rubbing belt. Also, they should have new keloids removed early to avoid severe or long-drawn-out treatment.

A new plastic procedure (for cosmetic purposes only) is being recommended in a limited number of cases. This is so-called "sandpaper surgery" for the treatment of acne scars. It also has been mentioned as effective for removing tattoo marks, but is of doubtful value in these cases.

If acne scars do not extend through the full thickness of the skin, sandpaper surgery can offer fairly good results. A doctor skilled in its use sometimes can estimate in advance the amount of improvement expected. If he doesn't look for at least 50 per cent improvement, he may advise against it.

Summer is over, and that means millions of children throughout the land are returning to school. Many of these students have held jobs during the summer and may have earned as many as two quarters of coverage under social security.

What does that mean? A quarter of coverage is a calendar quarter, ending March 31, June 30, September 30, or December 31, in which a person has earned as much as $50. So a student who was paid $50 or more in June, in work covered by social security, will get social security credit for that quarter. If he continued to work in July

The McLean News

This demonstration was worth many hundreds of dollars to me!

I thought only a higher-priced car would suit me. But then I found out how much more Chevrolet offered for how much less!

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel

Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You can see all around

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide® models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrifty-King" engine.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response

—right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide®

A lot finer performance on a lot less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide automatic transmission. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

And it's the lowest-priced line. A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

Let us demonstrate all the advantages of buying a Chevrolet now!

Editorial

GENERAL BRADLEY

IN ITS ISSUE of August 22, the Saturday Evening Post published the first of two articles by General of the Army Omar Bradley, who recently retired as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and was the first man to hold that lofty position. Written in collaboration with the Post's Washington editor, Beverly Smith, the articles carry the title "A Soldier's Farewell."

General Bradley deals with controversial matters, and there will be many who will disagree with his views. But the fact remains that he had an extraordinarily distinguished career. He was the victorious field commander, under Eisenhower, of the greatest military force the world has ever known. He made a widely praised record as head of one of the most ticklish bureaus in the government—the Veterans' Administration. And he was Chief of Staff of the Army in an extremely difficult period.

General Bradley says that our military objectives must correspond with four national objectives which may be briefed as follows: 1. America and its freedoms will be defended at any cost. 2. We will use every means to prevent another world war—which means that we will not provoke war or wage preventive war. 3. We will build and maintain military forces, with the necessary equipment and bases sufficient to deter any aggressor, or, if that fails, to win a world war if it comes. 4. We do not consider another world war to be inevitable, for the reason that if we and our allies are strong enough no enemy will dare to start one.

He then makes his case against the "Fortress America" idea—the idea of concentrating on making this continent an invulnerable redoubt. In his view, this could lead only, in time, to communist organization of the rest of the world's human and material resources to the point where successful defense of America would be impossible. He says, "There is no safety for America, in today's world, without allies." He quotes with full approval President Eisenhower's recent statement: "All free nations must stand together, or they shall fall separately."

Going on, General Bradley deals with what has and is being done to create military security. He clearly believes that we are not moving as rapidly as we should, and that, among other things, Defense Secretary Wilson's present policies concerning reductions in military spending are unwise. Our goal, to his mind, is to achieve "such a combination of forces and alliances that no communist leader in his right mind would dare risk another world war." This means, he continues, that we must have sufficient force and alliances to avert sudden disaster, such as atomic attack; to avert disaster on the installment plan, as would occur if our allies were overrun or absorbed; to retaliate instantly and terribly with atomic weapons against an aggressor; to furnish a base for production and mobilization which can be quickly expanded if need be to give us the resources to win.

Despite the faults General Bradley has to find in what we have done, he is not a pessimist. He closes his first article with these words: "I believe we are building, and can maintain indefinitely, a position of reasonable security. The most vital thing here, of course, is the spirit of our people. . . . I believe we can do this within our means, without bankrupting ourselves, by holding and increasing our technological lead and by selecting wisely the new weapons which are being developed."

LES

By LESTER

Truitt Stewart, new operator of the Texaco station on the south lane of Highway 66, had a reasonable complaint about his ad when it came out in last week's paper.

We left out a word, which made one sentence read sorta funny. It said in the paper, "Remember, all of you are always at our station, whether you're just visiting, or are in need of the products we handle." It should have had another word—"welcome"—and then it would have read, "Remember, all of you are always welcome at our station, whether you're just visiting, or are in need of the products we handle."

Stella Lee, our local news gatherer, was at the station Friday, and Truitt read the ad to her, saying, "It doesn't look like everybody is here, now does it?"

We're sorry, Truitt, we certainly didn't leave your "welcome" out intentionally.

In August, the Lions Club sponsored a father-son barbecue. Only two members of the female sex were present at this otherwise all-male meal. One of them was the Lions Club sweetheart, Miss Jo Ann Stevens; and the other was the lady pictured above, Mrs. R. O. Cunningham.

Mrs. Cunningham were special guests of the Lions Club at the affair, for their son, Larry, was one of the dignitaries visiting our little city on the occasion. Larry Cunningham, one of several boys in the family, has done well in his profession of coaching football, and is now an assistant coach at Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene. Actually, I don't know Mrs. Cunningham very well. But when Larry was introduced at the barbecue by Master of Ceremonies Dub Nelson of Childress, a high compliment was paid to Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Cunningham. Dub pointed out that Larry was truly an All-American, although he was never named on an All-American team. Dub was in Larry's home for dinner not long before the barbecue, and prior to eating, Larry called on one of his small children to say the blessing. The child, Dub said, gave one of the nicest blessings he had ever heard; and then Dub went on to say that a man rearing his children in this manner truly deserves the title of All-American. Since I don't know Mrs. Cunningham very well, perhaps it will be sufficient to say that she and her husband apparently have done a fine job in rearing their children to be God-fearing adults, and that, indeed, is a tribute to any parent.

FREE AIR

The teacher was trying to impress on the children how important had been the discovery of the law of gravitation.

"Sir Isaac Newton was sitting on the ground, looking at the trees. An apple fell on his head and from that he discovered gravitation. Just think, children," she added, "isn't that wonderful!"

The inevitable small boy replied, "Yes'm, an' if he had been settin' in school lookin' at his books, he wouldn't never have discovered nuthin'!"

ODELL MANTOOTH

As you may have noticed, several fourth class post offices in our area are in the group which is being surveyed by the government toward the possibility of eliminating them.

Among those in our area are Alanreed, Kellerville, Magic City, Lela and Kelton. The closest of these to McLean are, of course, Kellerville, Alanreed, and Lela.

I don't always agree with Congressman Walter Rogers, but I believe I'll have to side with him on this. He says, "What might be 'outmoded' in a city fellow's mind might not be so 'outmoded' in the minds of some of us who have had some experience with the great service that these fourth class offices have rendered to the people in the rural communities."

I suppose that the small community post offices are money losers; yet I also feel that the people served by such offices are entitled to postal service. Think for a moment of the tremendous extra expense these people would have to go to buy stamps, mail packages, etc., etc. It would be mighty unhandy to live in the Alanreed area, for example, and have to come all the way to McLean just to mail a package.

As we have said before in this paper, the post office department was not set up as a money maker, but as a service to the people. I sincerely believe that great cuts in the expense of the postal department can be made without reducing the service of the department. A man in business doesn't make money on every item he sells; neither can the post office department make money, or break even, on every service it renders.

For one, I appreciate the effort the postal department is making to break even, but I don't think certain groups of people should be denied the services for which they are paying.

Naturally, the postal department, when regarded in its entirety, is an enormously complicated business. Perhaps a little more simplicity in its operation is the way to cut expenses, in preference to reducing its services.

Football season starts Friday night, when the Tigers meet Stinnett on the local field. I think we have a good team this year, but they need your support and my support. See you at the game Friday night. You can recognize me—I'll be the one wearing the derby.

end positions most of the time. Don Crockett, not only serving as a running and blocking back on the offense, was switched to the line several times on defense. Through the line, the Shamrock lads were able to make but few gains.

The Tiger passes were not exceptionally good, although three or four were completed. Smith was used most of the time in running in the quick-opening line plays, while Don Crockett and Mantooh were the main end runners. Hupp's specialty was a quick-opening run play, too. Hupp, an outstanding guard for the past two years, is doing very well in the backfield for his first experience there.

Kill Ragweed— Aid Sufferers Of Hay Fever

It's no fun to have hay fever and sometimes it is serious, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. Persons who suffer from hay fever have a miserable time of it. The repeated sneezing, intense itching, watering of the eyes and nose, and difficulty in breathing may cause so much discomfort that their vitality is lowered. It is hard for them to sleep, and sufferers often lose their appetite.

Hay fever makes a person more susceptible to diseases of the sinuses, throat, and bronchial tubes. Severe cases sometimes are accompanied by asthma. The most common type of hay fever is caused by sensitiveness to ragweed pollen. From late summer until the first frost comes, the pollen is dry and light enough to be blown by the wind. Unfortunately, no place in Texas is free from ragweed.

You probably know that hay fever, like asthma and some forms of skin eruptions, is an allergy. It is caused in the spring by tree pollens, and in early summer by grasses, such as timothy and red-top, from which the name "hay fever" is derived. House dust, feathers, animal dander, some foods, cedar pollen, and cosmetics may also cause hay fever. But as we said, most hay fever is caused by ragweed pollen in late summer.

In behalf of the many sufferers from hay fever caused by ragweed pollen, the state health department urges everyone to destroy this troublesome weed growing wild around the premises, before it blooms. You can kill it by spraying it with chemicals, or by cutting and letting it dry, and then burning the weeds. Do not let the cut weeds lie on the ground after they are dry, as the pollen will scatter from them.

Not only is hay fever a miserable malady, but it can lead to serious infections of the sinuses and bronchial tubes, and because of loss of sleep and appetite, it lowers body resistance to disease germs. Remember—take ONLY your physician's advice and treatment to relieve hay fever.

CHEMICAL TEAM by Science Features

Throughout man's age-old struggle against disease, he has dreamed of a magic drug that would protect him from all ailments and give him perpetual youth and health.

In the Middle Ages, it was believed the answer lay in the right combination of many weird ingredients. One typical medieval prescription contained several hundred ingredients, including such exotic items as the bone from a stag's heart, pastilles of viper's flesh, oriental pearls and white sandal wood.

Many centuries later, the great German chemist Paul Ehrlich tried another kind of combination. Searching for a drug that would vanquish syphilis, he united arsenic and carbon atoms into a potent compound that became the first chemical "magic bullet" against disease.

Ehrlich's pioneer work laid the foundations of chemotherapy, and soon other drugs began flowing from the world's laboratories. The infection-fighting sulfas and antibiotics opened up new vistas undreamed of by the searchers of panaceas and philosopher's stones. The medieval idea of drug combination to achieve ever more useful medicines has not been abandoned. But instead of haphazard merging of useless substances, medicinal chemists try to combine powerful disease-fighting agents into new, more effective drug "teams."

American scientists just recently took the two most effective anti-tubercular agents—streptomycin and isoniazid—and united them chemically into a single drug called "streptohydrazid." Early tests with the new drug indicate that it will become a powerful weapon against the White Plague, since it is useful against tuberculosis germs which are able to withstand the attack of either streptomycin or isoniazid alone.

No panacea is in sight, but one disease after another is falling victim to the "magic bullets" of modern chemistry.

Athlete's Foot Not For Athletes Only

You don't have to be a Mickey Mantle or a Babe Zahris to be eligible for athlete's foot. You're qualified just by being human.

This ringworm foot infection can come to either sex at any time, although it is probably more prevalent during summer months when feet are more apt to perspire.

You'll know you've got it when your feet begin itching and blistering, and when you see the soggy dead skin between the toes or on the soles. Take action then, and you can usually get rid of it in a hurry. But neglect it and you're in trouble.

Here are some suggestions from State Health Officer George W. Cox which will prevent athlete's foot or help you get rid of it if you have it now:

Dry carefully and thoroughly between your toes after bathing and as often as practical during the day. The disease is caused by a fungus which thrives on damp, perspiring feet.

Massage your feet with a mild rubbing alcohol. This will help prevent spreading the infection from one spot to another.

Dust a good fungicide powder or even an unscented talcum powder or powdered borie acid, between the toes, in stockings and shoes. If at all practical, change stockings once during the day.

Swab all cracks or soggy areas between the toes with one part iodine diluted with ten parts of alcohol.

Wear absorbent socks and put a piece of cotton on areas between the toes where cracks or soggy areas are evident.

Don't use remedies which have been sold for eczema. Consult your physician if the cracks and blisters and soggy areas do not yield to these measures.

And keep this in mind: if athlete's foot is neglected, it can spread rapidly beyond the feet. The lesions will go deeper and deeper, and may cause critical damage.

Parents Must Help to Teach Child Safety

"Child safety in traffic is a three-way proposition," Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association, said recently.

Col. Tilley was speaking in connection with the child traffic safety program which his group is sponsoring this month in Texas in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"The safety of children on the streets and highways of our nation is dependent on the traffic attitudes and actions of three groups—parents, motorists, and the children themselves," he said.

Schools are doing a fine job of teaching safety in the classrooms, from kindergarten on up, Col. Tilley pointed out, and in many cases also are conducting driver education courses which give high school students practical experience behind the wheel.

"But if the program to save our children from injury and death in motor vehicle accidents is to be really effective," he said, "it must be carried beyond the classroom."

Parents must set a good example to children in their traffic habits, Col. Tilley explained, and must use the authority and discipline of the home to instill in children respect and obedience to traffic safety rules.

"Children lack the mature judgment of adults, however," he said, "and even with the best training their actions are sometimes unpredictable. So it is up to the motorist to be especially alert near schools and playgrounds, in residential areas—and any place children may be expected to gather."

And the children themselves also must do the best they can to walk and play safely, observing the rules they have learned at home and in school.

"Child safety can be a reality only if all three groups work to bring it about," he asserted. "That is why special emphasis is being put upon the responsibility of each by the Texas Safety Association and the National Safety Council this month," Col. Tilley concluded.

Leslie Jones and son Jimmy Amarillo spent Sunday with parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Jones and other relatives.
