HOPPERS MAY INJURE CROPS IF NOT KILLED

Grasshoppers may cause serious damage to crops in Gray County if not controlled, according to County Agent Ralph Thomas. He says that most of the hoppers are in the fence rows and in pastures surrounding fields at the present time, but that they will be moving in on the cultivated crops when grass and weeds begin to get tough.

Thomas says that aldrin applied at the rate of two ounces per acre will give good kills if applied with a boom sprayer. That would be one-half pint of 25 per cent aldrin per acre.

Where proper rates of aldrin are used, cattle need not be taken off of the pastures. Grasshoppers are not present in numbers that would cause serious damage in all areas of the county.

Four Are Injured As Car Overturns West of McLean

Four persons were injured, but not critically, when the car in which they were riding overturned 18.3 miles west of McLean on Highway 66 at about 6 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Injured were Melvin Newell, 23 years of age, of Borger, who was driving the car; Mrs. Zola Aisp, 30, of Borger, who suffered a broken ankle; Robert Joe Trimble, 32, of Borger; and Buddy Ledbetter, about 25, of McLean and Wellington. Another passenger in the car, Bill Goss, 25, of Borger, was not injured.

Those hurt were taken in a Claborn ambulance to the Groom hospital for treatment.

The car overturned several times when Newell swerved the vehicle to miss a barricade on the road. The barricade had been placed on the road to direct traffic on the correct lane during the construction of the divided highway west of Alanreed.

WTSC Planning—

OLD-TIMERS GATHERING

A reunion for early ex-students of West Texas State College in Canyon will be held on the campus July 9, and a day of "reminiscing and visiting" is planned. The "old-timers gathering" is for persons who attended the college from its opening in 1910 until 1915.

About 500 people are expected for the reunion, according to Milton (Buff) Morris, executive secretary of the WT Ex-Students Association. Between 1200 and 1500 attended the college during the six early years, he said.

Exes from as far away as North Carolina and Mississippi have written that they are coming for the reunion, Morris said. Letters have been sent to as many early exes as the association's records show, but there are hundreds throughout the Tri-State region who have not received a personal invitation.

Morris urged exes from the classes of 1910-15 to "come and bring their families." Registration at 9 o'clock at WT's new Student Union, and a coffee period opens the planned program. A luncheon, tour of the campus, and a period "for reminiscing" are also planned. Dr. J. A. Hill, president emeritus who has been on the campus since the college's founding, will attend the reunion.

Wind, Rain, and Hail Inflict Heavy Damage in Panhandle

NO SCHEDULES DEFINITE YET KIDS PROGRAM

"I still haven't been able to work out a definite time schedule, but the program is coming along fine to date."

So said Hap Rogers this week concerning the summer recreation program he is directing in McLean for school-age boys and girls.

The program, under the sponsorship of the McLean Lions Club, began June 13, and includes a variety of activities.

Swimming instruction began Wednesday afternoon at the Windsor Pool. Rogers said. Those boys and girls participating will be required to pay a 25 cents charge each Wednesday they are present, and the time will be from 5:30 to 7 o'clock. Larry Fuller, Red Cross water safety instructor, will be in charge of the swimming program.

Rogers said that several things have interfered with the program, but that definite schedules are being slowly worked out. A number of boys and girls are attending a church encampment, and this week several boys are attending the Scout encampment. In addition, storm clouds have halted activities in the middle of the afternoon on several occasions, the coach said.

The summer program includes swimming, softball, tennis, ping pong, basketball, volley ball, horse shoes, washers, races, and shuffleboard. Being utilized are the softball field, the City Park, the school grounds, and the Municipal Building.

LIONS DELAY INSTALLATION UNTIL JULY 19

New officers of the McLean Lions Club, usually installed at the final meeting in June each year, will be installed this year Tuesday evening, July 19, when a ladies night affair is held, J. W. Meacham, outgoing president, has announced.

The installation program was moved to the July date so that Dub Nelson of Childress, new District 27-1 governor, could be present as the installing officer.

Meacham will be succeeded as president by Hickman Brown. Other new officers are as follows: George Saunders, first vice president; Amos Page, second vice president; Larry Fuller, third vice president; J. C. Claborn, secretary; Freeman Melton Jr., treasurer; Marvin Hindman, Lion tamer; Elmo Whaley, treasurer; and Vernon Gibson, Clyde Andrews, and Jimmy Payne, new directors.

At the regular meeting of the club Tuesday noon of this week, Jesse Parker of Childress and Ralph Thomas of Pampa were guests. The club had no formal program during the meeting.

'55 Grid Schedule Outlined; to Include New District Foes

It's a little early as yet to be thinking about the McLean High School football schedule for next fall.

But we happened to think that we have never published a completed schedule for the 1955 edition of the Tiger grid team.

Here's the schedule, as outlined by Coaches Hap Rogers and Clint Williams (all games are district matches with the exception of the pair with Shamrock and Wheeler):

September 9—Shamrock here; September 16—open date; September 23—Panhandle there; September 30—Lefors here; October 7—Stinnett there; October 14—Memphis here; October 21—Canadian here; October 28—Wellington there; November 4—Clarendon here; November 11—Wheeler there (afternoon game); November 18—White Deer there. Gruver is no longer a District 1-A member; Wellington and Stinnett are new members of the loop.

U. S. FARMERS TO DECIDE ON WHEAT QUOTAS

The final decision on whether or not marketing quota controls will apply to wheat produced in 1956 will be made by wheat growers on June 25.

According to the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, if two-thirds vote "yes," the support for the 1956 crop will probably be 76 per cent of parity.

If more than one-third vote "no," the support will be 50 per cent of parity. In any case, points out the committee, support will be available in the commercial wheat states only to those farmers who stay within their farm's wheat acreage allotment. Texas is a commercial wheat state.

If points out the committee, the vote is favorable, market quotas will be in effect and growers who exceed their farm acreage allotment will be subject to a marketing penalty of 45 per cent of parity on their excess wheat. If the vote is unfavorable, there will be no marketing quotas and no penalty for excess wheat.

Acreage allotments will be in effect for price support purposes even if marketing quotas are disapproved. The national acreage allotment for 1956 is 55 million acres—same as for 1955—which is the minimum established by law.

The state ASC committee urges all eligible voters to study the situation carefully and make their decision. County ASC offices or committeemen can furnish detailed information on the referendum and the polling places.

McLEAN GETS HAIL STORM, ROOF DAMAGE

A week-end of varying weather brought tornadoes, hail, and rain to different portions of the Texas Panhandle, and heavy damage was inflicted in several towns.

McLean's damage came from hail last Friday afternoon, and local insurance agents have been busy lining up adjustors for the many claims.

On the same day, the city of Wellington was hit by a tornado and a hailstorm. Town Sunday night, Amarillo, Pampa, and Clarendon received heavy hail damage, and some was reported in Hedley and Memphis.

The hail in McLean came at different times between 4:30 and 5:30 o'clock last Friday afternoon. In some places in town, hailstones larger than coffee cups were reported; in practically all the town, the stones were as large as golf balls.

The hail caused thousands of dollars in damage in McLean alone, since many roofs were damaged to some extent. Especially vulnerable were flat-topped buildings. However, some sections of the town were not recipients of the damaging hail.

The most severe storm came at Wellington, also Friday evening, from the same cloud which visited McLean earlier. Apparently, the wind at Wellington was a low-flying tornado which didn't dip to the ground until it hit the southeast corner of the town. A total of about 140 buildings were damaged, including 10 or 15 which were demolished. Very heavy damage was inflicted by the pellets of ice from the sky.

Insurance adjustors working in McLean this week report that Clarendon probably received the most severe damage from hail. One said that the hail was so powerful it chipped off flakes of brick from the sides of buildings. In addition, the resulting rain damage in Clarendon will run into thousands of dollars.

Amarillo received considerable water and hail damage Sunday evening, but reports are that the damage there was not as severe as at first thought. Numerous roofs were damaged, and, of course, quite a number of windows were knocked out. Heaviest damage was in the Pleasant Valley area in Amarillo.

Pampa residents reported no moisture from the Friday cloud, but some hail Sunday evening.

In McLean, the Friday down-fall brought 1.29 inches of moisture. Saturday night, from 10:15 to midnight, 10 of an inch fell; and from midnight to 5 o'clock Sunday morning, another .35 of an inch came. The month's total stands at 3.95 inches, and the year's total at 11.55 inches.

Many crops were either washed out or hailed out by the week-end wet spree. Local farmers report that some stands of cotton will still be able to make it all right, but re-planting of a great deal of the acreage will be necessary.

14 Local Boys Attending Scout Camp

Fourteen members of the McLean Boy Scout troop are at Camp Ki-O-Wah near Canadian this week for a week's camping experience.

The 14 attending the camp are Don Cash, Jerry Biggers, Joe Biggers, Jimmy Rice, Jerry Stubblefield, Bob Stubblefield, Jimmy Allison, Robert Miller, Kenneth Willingham, Bob Weaver, Paul McCurley, Johnny Anders, David Crockett, and Douglas Crockett.

The boys were taken to the camp Sunday in the Scout bus by Larry Fuller, and Fuller will go after them Saturday.

Three men are alternating this week to stay with the boys. The men are Gene Greer, Sammy Haynes, and Jeff Railsback.

Tonight (Thursday) is the night when visitors will be most welcome during the camping period. Fuller, who is chairman of the Scout troop committee, said. The big jamboree program is slated for tonight. Visitors may, of course, visit Camp Ki-O-Wah at any other time as well as tonight.

The troop is progressing fairly well at the present time, although the troop committee is having difficulty in obtaining leaders for the boys, David Dwight, who has been serving as Scoutmaster, has resigned to undergo further medical treatment on an ailment he has suffered for some time. Jimmie Don Morris, assistant Scoutmaster, was forced to resign when his work for the summer was changed and he is having to be out of town during each week.

The troop committee will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Southwestern Public Service company office to attempt to find another Scoutmaster for the boys, Fuller explained. Any person who desires to may attend the meeting.

The McLean troop is now under the sponsorship of the Lions Club, that organization having taken it over several months ago.

There was an old Negro in one of the eastern cities who agreed to think it his duty to write with everything his white friends said. One morning the wind was blowing a perfect hurricane. One of his white friends passed the old Negro and remarked, "Well, Mose, this is a nice quiet morning, isn't it?" The old Negro thought a moment and said, "Yeah, Boss, it sho am—but what little wind dey is am blowin' like de devil, ain't it?"

What came near being a serious fire occurred Friday morning of last week at the W. C. Foster home when a gasoline stove

MRS. BUCK WILLIAMS

Vows Exchanged By Joyce Amerson And Buck Williams

Miss Joyce Amerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Amerson of Dozier, became the bride of Buck Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland D. Williams of McLean, on Sunday, June 12, at 5:30 o'clock in the Dozier Church of Christ.

Minister John Murphy of Amarillo, brother-in-law of the groom, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The church altar was decorated with baskets of pink asters, white stock, and fern. An arch centered the nuptial space, and floor candelabra held lighted tapers. The background was banked with greenery.

Mrs. Jack Lowry and Miss Harriet Lowry sang "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond. Recordings of traditional wedding marches were played.

Miss Lois Amerson, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. She wore a ballerina-length dress of blue net over blue satin. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, with low neck and short sleeves, and a full bouffant skirt.

Mrs. John Murphy of Canyon, sister of the bride-groom, was matron-of-honor. She was gowned in a formal dress of blue lace and net worn over taffeta. The attendants carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Candles were lighted by Misses Rosalyn Morgan, Odessa, Kidwell, Sherric Grogan, and Karon Breeding, cousin of the bride. They wore ballerina-length dresses of pink net over taffeta and headbands of white flowers. Their dresses were designed along similar lines as those worn by the bride's attendants. They wore wristlet corsages.

Flower girls were Janice Dell Murphy and Jo Deanne Murphy, and the ring bearer was Gayla Murphy, all nieces of the bride-groom.

Joe Frank Knoll served as best man. Don Carl Amerson, brother of the bride, was groomsmen, and ushers were John Drew Knoll, James Martindale, and two cousins of the bride, Jimmy Breeding and Donald Amerson.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a bridal gown of white lace and satin. The molded bodice was of lace over satin, styled with a sweetheart neckline and small stand-up collar. The long fitted sleeves of lace terminated in a petal point at the wrist. The full satin skirt swept into a train.

The bride's finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a small flower-covered hat. The veil was bordered with applied lace flowers centered with pearls. She carried a white Bible which was a gift from the faculty of Samnorwood, and was handed to the minister to use in the wedding ceremony. The Bible was topped with a shower bouquet of white carnations.

She carried out the tradition of wearing something old, new, borrowed, and blue, with a coin in her shoe. For something old she wore her baby locket.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of navy nylon accented with white accessories, and the bridegroom's mother wore a dress of sky blue lace with matching accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Parents of the couple and members of the bridal party formed the receiving line. Guests were registered by Miss Rosalyn Morgan; Miss Lou Coleman, cousin of the bride, served the wedding cake; and Miss Sherric Grogan presided at the punch bowl.

For travel the bride donned a dress of blue nylon, fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a small blue hat and matching accessories. Her corsage of white carnations was lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Following a wedding trip to points in South Texas, the couple is at home in McLean, where the groom is co-owner of the

THE MERCHANT MARINE

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY Thomas devoted a National Maritime Day address to an extensive discussion of the role of the American merchant marine in the atomic era. He did a convincing job of showing how this institution, whose history goes back to the earliest days of the nation, is a vital resource in both peace and war. Mr. Thomas has high hopes for peaceful use of atomic energy, including the atom-powered merchant ship proposed by the President. But, he emphasizes, this in no way lessens our critical need for a strong and adequate merchant marine made up of conventional vessels. He says: "Without our own ships, we cannot defend ourselves. Without ships, we cannot assist our allies. Without ships, we cannot grow and prosper. . . . It may be said that victory in World War II was assured on the day when our merchant ship construction exceeded our losses."

The secretary also makes the point that the merchant marine is as important to inland states and people as to the coastal states and their people—"the farmer in Kansas, Illinois or Iowa may never have seen an ocean or a merchant ship, but his livelihood is directly related to this nation's maritime strength." Vast quantities of farm products go to world markets. So do vast quantities of manufactured goods from Detroit and all the other major industrial centers. Thus the merchant marine "reaches into every inland pasture, field, factory and workshop."

And that's not all—foreign trade is a two-way street. We must buy abroad if we are to sell abroad. Even if that weren't true, the raw material situation still would require us to import on a big scale. The list of strategic and critical raw materials contains 77 items. We are self-sufficient in only 11. Mr. Thomas says, "The largest percentage of these materials must be brought by merchant ships from overseas."

The technique and weapons of war have undergone vast change. But that has not in any way reduced the role of the merchant marine. Every fighting man sent to Korea was accompanied by 10,000 pounds of supplies and it required 64 pounds of supplies and equipment every day to keep him there. The support of that war involved the sea transportation of 54,000,000 tons of dry cargo and 22,000,000 tons of petroleum products. Mr. Thomas pays a tribute here: "In the performance of this task, the privately-operated American merchant marine devoted itself unflinchingly and was quick to respond to every demand made upon it."

What is the merchant ship situation today? Eight-tenths of our present vessels will be obsolete in another 10 years, and nine-tenths are too slow for wartime use against the modern submarine. Within the past year alone, we have fallen from seventh to twelfth among shipbuilding nations. Mr. Thomas gives this warning: "We cannot allow our merchant marine to approach disuse and decay on the ground that we can trust to luck and improvise to meet our next emergency as we did both in World War I and World War II. . . . Our survival in a global war will be largely dependent upon the merchant shipping which is available during the critical initial period. It is also my candid opinion, that it would be folly for us to depend on the shipping and the shipbuilding facilities of other nations in the event of war. We must have our own American merchant marine and it must be strong and adequate."

LES TALK By LESTER

Last week-end was a rather busy one for me, mentally speaking, for I had to reach a decision . . . a decision which to me and my family is probably one of the hardest and one of the most important we have ever made.

The decision was this: to sell our home in McLean, to move to Shamrock, to devote a part of my time to the management of The McLean News, and to devote a part of my time in another type of work in Shamrock.

We are selling our home to Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Whaley, and we must be out of it shortly after July 1. However, it will likely be several weeks before I start the divided time schedule.

We have rented a house in Shamrock (fortunately a pretty nice house, none of which seem to be available in McLean), and will slowly be moving over there between now and the time Elmo and Ruth want us out of the one they are buying from us.

To be perfectly frank about it, the decision to sell our home here was very, very hard to make. You see, it is the first and only house Martha and I have owned since we were married in October, 1941. Naturally, we have come to love the house, the yard, and everything else about the place. We have spent hundreds of hours making what we think are valuable improvements, and, in addition, we have also spent a considerable amount of money in making these improvements. When a person devotes as much attention and care and love as we have to that place, the person either tires of it altogether or falls more deeply in love with it. "We fell in love with it. So the decision to sell the house was extremely hard.

In addition we have also fallen in love with McLean and its people. There are good people just about everywhere, I suppose, but we don't know them; and we do know most of the people here. All of you have been kind to us, and we appreciate it. We feel that we have made scores of lifelong friends here.

Actually, management of a newspaper, even a small paper such as this one, is a fairly full-sized job. There are times during each day when time is wasted for lack of work to do, especially when there are slack periods of business. Yet there is nearly always something which could be done, and which, no doubt, should be done.

For that reason, I am going to have to work out a schedule to determine just how much of my time I can work here, and how much in Shamrock. Any way you figure it, it won't be too convenient, although many people drive more than 20 miles to have to work out a schedule a few people around here. And, after all, operating a newspaper is just a job.

But I will still be around a good part of the time, and we will continue to give you the best newspaper we can put out. I'll agree that the News isn't the biggest paper in the world, and of course, isn't the best. But it plays an important part in the community, and will continue to do so in the future.

There are those who fear that living in Shamrock and running the paper here will cool our desires to help McLean in every possible way. Have no fears about it. If you are worrying about absentee ownership, which I'll have to admit will be the case, then look about you and see how many other businesses in McLean are partially or wholly owned by people who do not live here. Yet those businesses continue to serve the community; and a newspaper, despite what some may say, is a business venture.

So I'm not saying goodbye by any means. I'm merely telling you my plans for the immediate future. If things do not work as I hope they will, could be that we'll move back. Time will tell about that.

In the meantime, thanks for your consideration of my problem.

Mrs. E. H. Kramer and Mrs. Bill Bailey visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Kramer in Gaymon, Okla., Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Clett and Mr. and Mrs. James Clett visited with Mrs. Wayne Stafford in the Shamrock Hospital Sunday.

Time Machine

PITTSBURGH, PA.—This new research device recreates in a few hours the passage of 200,000,000 years! It is a growing model of how an oil field builds up from prehistoric time. The hopper (upper left) deposits clays which simulate heavy sand and rock layers. The rise of an underground "salt dome" (often found in oil areas) is represented by the motor-driven shaft pushing up from below.
 Geologist J. B. Currie of Gulf Oil laboratories points out how these forces cause faults in the earth which often trap oil. The time-spanning machine was developed to suggest new locations in the world-wide search for oil.

SPEAKING OF CARDS

GETTING A CARD EDUCATION

Today when we go into a stationery or department store to pick up a fresh supply of new playing cards, we're offered our choice of a glittering display of designs and pictures— attractive full-color scenic views or eye-catching patterns. It may surprise you to discover that this wasn't always the case.
 Early playing card manufacturers left the backs either perfectly plain or with an innocuous line-pattern. To compensate for this severely on the backs, printers began to decorate the faces of the playing cards, relegating the suit sign and number to a corner or edge and using the rest of the space for "educational" words and pictures.
 These educational cards taught such diverse subjects as reading, writing and arithmetic; history, astronomy, geography, music, military science, heraldry, logic, and even Latin.
 It is uncertain when the first educational deck was printed but one of the very earliest appeared in the fifteenth century under the imprint of a German philosopher named Thomas Murner. Dr. Murner's deck attempted to teach natural science as it was understood at the time and it gained fame because he was one of the most noted educators of his age.

 Educational decks soon became popular with adults too as the populace, starved for pictures, clamored for the brightly colored cards. To satisfy the demand, card printers sprang up by the hundreds throughout England and the Continent.
 Current events also became a popular subject for the educational cards. Some old packs manufactured in England picture the defeat of the Spanish Armada, the English Revolution and the Monmouth Rebellion in the seventeenth century. A Dutch pack published during the reign of Oliver Cromwell shows the Puritan leader hypocritically praying while Charles II is being executed. Anyone possessing this card at that time automatically incurred the death penalty.
 Fortunately, most of the educational cards treated much lighter subjects. One deck carried an entire song with music and lyrics on each card while another contained a whole set of fifty-two love mottoes, each complete with fauna, nymphs, and ornately-designed Cupids.
 Many observers say these educational decks are the forerunners of our modern "souvenir" decks. Some experts even maintain that in a real sense the educational decks served as the picture magazines of their time by presenting to their proud owners all of the top current events of those years.

Kills Cotton Insects—SPRAY DIRECTLY OVER PLANT

One hollow-cone type spray nozzle spraying directly over the row of cotton resulted in yields equal to those from two and three hollow-cone spray nozzles spraying on the top and sides of the drill row of cotton plants, according to information received by County Agent Ralph Thomas from the Texas Experiment Station.
 These are the results of tests conducted during 1952-54 at College Station to determine the best type of spray nozzle for applying insecticides for the control of the cotton boll worm and the boll weevil.
 Spray nozzles producing a hollow-cone spray pattern resulted in higher yields than spray nozzles producing a flat fan-shaped spray pattern.
 Spray material was applied in amounts ranging from two to six gallons per acre, but little difference was noted in results, from any of these rates.
 Thomas says these results are important to the farmer purchasing a new spray rig this year, in that he need purchase only one nozzle per row that his machine covers.

In Gray County at the end of last year 365 retired workers were receiving $20,170 in monthly social security payments, according to figures just released by John R. Sanderson, district manager of the social security office in Amarillo.

In addition to the retired workers themselves, 433 people were receiving $16,609 a month as dependents of the retired workers or as survivors of deceased workers.

Although this is a considerable increase as compared with payments a year ago, it is certain that more people will receive larger payments in years to come because of changes in the social security law in 1954, Sanderson says. Among the major changes were the following:

1. Computation of payments after "dropping out" up to five years of lowest social security covered earnings.
  2. Extension of social security coverage to more farm workers and to self-employed farmers, as well as many other kinds of work.
  3. Increasing of the maximum wages creditable toward benefits from $3600 to $4200.
  4. Allowing disabled workers to "freeze" their social security wage records while disabled.
  5. Increasing the amount of earnings which a retired worker can receive and still get all or a part of his retirement payments. (There is no restriction on earnings after a worker is 72 years old.)
- Persons with social security questions are invited to contact the Amarillo office, or contact a representative who will be in McLean at the City Hall on Wednesday following the second and fourth Mondays of each month at 2 o'clock on a regular visit.

Time for Insects—Disease Spreaders

Flowers and leaves are not the only things that pop out when the weather warms up. Dr. Henry A. Holle, state health officer, says you can expect flies, mosquitos, chiggers, ants, and spiders; if not at home certainly the first time you go on a picnic.

The mosquito is a famous carrier of malaria. Its eradication, both because of the discomfort of bites and because the bites spread disease, is advisable. Mosquito bites itch intensely, and the more you scratch them the more they itch. The itching can be lessened if you wash the spots with soap and water or alcohol, and then apply a soothing lotion.

Around the yard and on the farm mosquitos breed in puddles of water by the roadside, in water that accumulates in furrows, in gardens, in street gutters, and in sagging house gutters. And they'll make their home in an old can, flower pot, bottle, or any other place where water is standing. After a rain is a good time to look around the yard and empty water out of any containers you find.

Such diseases as typhoid fever, tuberculosis and dysentery are known to have been spread by flies. It is important to protect the whole community from flies and for everyone to take measures to get rid of them.

At home, put garbage in a metal, leak-proof can with a tight-fitting lid. Flies breed in filth and the food they find in and around garbage cans. If they get into the house, they will carry germs to your food, and even to nursing bottles and the mouths of babies. Good window screens and doors will keep flies outside if you teach your children to close the doors quickly when they come in or go out. The yard, chicken houses, stables, and other likely breeding places should always be kept clean so that flies cannot find food and want to stay around. Clean, sanitary homes, alleys, and places of business do not attract flies.

Chigger bites are more troublesome than mosquito bites. If you take a bath after you have been exposed to them, you will wash off most of the larvae before they burrow into the skin. Sulphur dusted on the legs and ankles will prevent many bites.
