Conference Opener Slated Next Week

Having an open date, McLean's victorious Tigers enjoy a day of rest tomorrow before hitting the grind again for the opening of their 1958 conference slate in Canadian next Friday.

Playing on the Wildcats' home field, the McLean gridgers face one of the toughest teams in the Class A circuit as they go against the charges of Coach Grady Burnett, pre-poll to rank as one of the three big powers in 2-A.

Considering the returning strength, experience and weight of the Canadian unit, they should be placed a heavy favorite over Coach Riley's lighter and less-experienced eleven.

In last week's game, the Wildcats downed Shamrock, 33-8, as compared to the McLean victory over the Irish of 32-20. However, Shamrock did manage to put by the first score on Canadian. And considering the fact that the Tigers pose a bigger threat offensively, they have this edge on the highly-touted Wildcats.

For their first three games of the season, the Tigers have scored 77 points, while allowing their opposition a scant 20.

OVER GROOM, 12-0

In last week's game with Groom, the Tigers downed their opposition by a 12-0 margin, playing on a soggy, rain-soaked field. Scoring in the early minutes of the first quarter and the late minutes of the fourth, McLean held the Groommen from a serious threat throughout the entire game.

Billy Crockett, the Tigers hard-charging fullback, accounted for both the McLean scores. He boomed off right tackle for the first and crashed one yard over right guard for the second. Running attempts for both extra points failed.

Groom proved to be not only larger but one of the better-polished teams that McLean has faced this season. In their district, the Groom Tigers are rated strong to take first place.

After scoring in the first quarter, the game turned into a battle of defenses as neither was able to penetrate deeply against the other throughout the first half.

Also in the third period both squads were held scoreless, with no serious threats on the part of either. The final quarter was more than half used up when the Tigers finally launched their scoring drive.

Coach Riley stated after the game that he considered it to be one of the best that McLean has played. Against the heavier forward wall of Groom he thought the McLean line did an outstanding job in virtually stopping cold the Groom offense. "All the boys," he said, "are to be commended for the hard football they played."

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Jack Massey and daughter of Dumas are spending their vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Massey and Mr. and Mrs. Mug Castleberry.

Cubs Take District Opener

The McLean Junior High Cubs of Coach Bill Adams opened their conference play last Thursday night with a 26-0 win over a big Clarendon Colt team at Clarendon.

The Cubs moved the ball good against the heavier team and with a tough defense forced the Colts to kick several times.

The Cubs' first score came on a nice run by Tommy Herron; the extra points try failed. The second TD came on a sweep by Joel Meacham, with Herron adding the two points, giving a half-time score of 14-0.

In the third quarter a nice run by Quarterback Donnie Woods was nullified by a clipping penalty, but Woods was not to be denied, and early in the fourth quarter, after the Cubs recovered a fumbled punt, he scored on a 73 yard keeper play. Late in the game Woods scored again, making it 26-0. The Cubs were deep in Colt territory when the game ended.

The Cubs have not been scored on so far this season. They have improved since their first game with Wheeler and the linemen are doing a fine job.

There was a good crowd of Cub followers at Clarendon.

In other conference games, the Canadian Kittens blasted the Lefors Juniors 42-8, and Memphis lost to Paducah in a non-conference game.

This Thursday night finds the McLean Cubs at Memphis for a 7:30 game, while Canadian hosts the Clarendon squad, and Lefors playing non-conference at Shamrock.

Cubs to Battle Memphis Tonight

The McLean Junior High Cubs will tangle in another district contest tonight as they travel to Memphis to engage the J. H. Cyclone 7:00.

Undeclared for the season, the holders of Coach Bill Adams have downed both Wheeler and Clarendon. The first conference game was the victory over the Bruno Juniors.

In district play, this year are Clarendon, Memphis, McLean, Canadian and Lefors.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Petty attended the meeting of the Palo Duro Baptist Association Tuesday morning at the First Baptist Church in Pampa. They also transacted business while in Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Tot Conner and sons, Robert and Kimmie, and Mrs. Lila Williams of Shamrock visited in the Howard Williams home Sunday.

Veterans Information

Q—I understand there is a new law that allows a helpless widower of a woman veteran to receive VA benefits based on the death of his wife. What are the main provisions?

A—The new law states that the widower of a woman veteran who has not remarried may receive VA death benefits if he is incapable of self-maintenance and at the time of his wife's death, was permanently incapable of self-support because of physical or mental disability.

Q—The new $10-per-thousand-of-insurance disability coverage, for GI insurance policy-holders, sounds like a good idea to me. I already have coverage under the old $5-per-thousand-of-insurance plan, and have been wondering what the new income provision would cost. Would it be twice as much as the old?

A—No. Your additional payment for the new increased coverage would be very small. Any VA office can give you exact figures for the extra payment for your policy.

Q—I dropped out of school 14 months ago, when things really got tough for me, money-wise, and meanwhile my cut-off date has passed. I understand there's been a change in VA's regulations so that I can now go back to my GI schooling. Is there anything special I am supposed to do?

A—if you do not already have one, you should soon be receiving a special application form from VA. You will be required to fill this form out, sign and return it. VA will send you a certification authorizing you to return to school.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my appreciation for all the lovely cards, flowers, gifts and visits during my recent illness.

Bible Comment:

We Can Build Christlike Lives Through Faith

Perhaps a question that is in many minds is: Why should I be a Christian?

Isn't it enough to live a good life, to be honest and faithful in all of life's activities?

The answer to this is given to us very specifically in the Bible itself, even if it isn't apparent in daily life. Most men are conscious of their imperfections. There are few who can say that they have done all they could in the obligation of love and righteousness. If they did so, they would be in danger of aping the Pharisee who congratulated God and himself upon all that he did while the poor Publican, so conscious of his sins that he would not so much as lift up his eyes to heaven, cried out in his heart, "God, be merciful to me, a sinner."

A parable like that should remind us of the deepest thing in goodness. It is humility, and the man who is not conscious of something lacking might be found to be lacking the deepest thing of all.

Personal peace underlies personal salvation. We cannot experience the richness and fullness of the Christian life if there is discord and strife in our souls.

The Christian life begins with faith and the fact that we are reconciled to God through Christ. This is only the beginning, however, and we can build through constant faith the superstructure of lives that are Christlike.

ON BEING A CHRISTIAN

By J. R. Lawson

Pastor, Kellerville Baptist Church

For me to live is Christ.—Phil. 1:21.

We cannot ignore Jesus Christ. We are either for Him or against Him. There is something special about Him that reaches down into the center of our hearts and lives. He confronts our consciences and souls with something that is fine and good and altogether wonderful.

Jesus is not a weak, soft, spineless, easy-going sissy. He is a vigorous, robust leader, and it takes courage to follow Him. Straight is the gate, and narrow is the way. "No man can serve two masters." "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me." Yes, Jesus calls to the heroics in men. He challenges them to their best. He holds them to their highest.

So, too, if we are to be strong in Christian character and skilled in Christian attitudes, we will find ourselves giving Christ our finest loyalties, our sacrificial efforts, our choicest capacities, then we will discover life becoming radiant with achievement, meaning and purpose. We do this not from any outward necessity but from inner desire. We discipline ourselves because we want something bigger and better. In other words, we try to be Christlike, not because we have to be, but because we want to be, that is the discipline of love.

Yes, Jesus Christ changes lives. He offers us new lives for old. He gives us new faiths for old fears, new goals for old ambitions. He provides new loves for old hates, new hopes for old doubts, new peace for old confusions. God help us to welcome Him into our hearts as our friend and comrade, our Savior and Lord.

Editorial

AN EXAMPLE OF OVER-REGULATION

Competition and over-regulation, coupled with a modest recession during the past year finally brought the nation's railroads to a crisis that had been in the making for a long time. In a way it was a good thing. It forced the country to recognize that railroads are still the foundation of the transportation system.

Everyone, of course, has been aware of the rising competition from other forms of transportation that the railroads have had to meet. It can be seen on every side—buses, trucks, airlines, private automobiles and what not. These are things we can all see. We can envision the effect they have on railroad business. Too much regulation can't be seen, however, and its effects are hard to visualize, but they are there, nonetheless. For example, two years ago, in August, 1956, one of the major rail lines applied to a state railway commission for authority to discontinue two money-losing trains. The two trains were operating at an out-of-pocket loss of more than $623 a day. Finally after nearly two years of study, the commission authorized discontinuance on March 15, 1958. A week before that date, however, the discontinuance order was suspended by the commission, pending further hearing. The railroad went to court—and won. The State Supreme Court authorized the railroad to take off the trains forthwith. The court said the commission "has a duty to the railroads as well as to the public."

"As we have many times said, public need constitutes the main issue, and where such need is not shown, a railway company will not be required to uneconomically operate trains and thereby deplete its assets and reduce the quality of other services it is compelled to render."

The fact remains that while the regulatory wheels were grinding for a period of nearly two years the railroad was losing over $600 each day that it was compelled to run empty trains to provide a service no longer needed.

HERE WE GO AGAIN

Six months ago recession was much in the news. Now inflation is coming to the forefront again. Business is picking up, the public debt is headed for a steep rise and prices, wages and other costs are headed for another upward spiral. The sensation is somewhat like the "here we go again" feeling of a roller coaster ride, except there is no ticket man to help us off at the end. Inflation has no end except bitterness, disillusionment and strife. These are the inevitable consequences of the depreciating value of money.

Inflation is especially painful to the nation's retailers, who must pass its effects on to consumers in the form of higher prices. Some facts about the American retail distribution system should be kept in mind. Retailing, particularly as conducted by the chain stores, operates on a high volume minimum price principle. This principle applies in all lines.

Modern shopping centers, which are the location sites for nationally-known chain outlets, reflect the ultimate in distribution efficiency. Insofar as it is humanly possible, retailers working in a free market and competing stringently with each other, will give consumers the most for their money at its current value. That is all that can be done.

No amount of rules and regulations can change the trend of inflation nor the sacrifices it will exact if continued. It can only be stopped by curbs on government spending, on labor monopolies that force wage hikes for less work, and on price raises that inevitably follow tax and labor costs. It can't be stopped at the counter of your local merchant.

AIR, WATER and GASOLINE

As the first hint of fall sharpens the air and autumn colors begin to tint the leaves, another harbinger of the season, a man created institution that has become as much a part of autumn as Jack Frost makes its presence felt—Oil Progress Week.

This year it is to be observed from October 12 to 18. As usual it is the period when all segments of the nation's oil industry unite to present to the world the work and progress and hopes of the industry. In a nation where air, water—and gasoline—are taken for granted, Oil Progress Week should be recognized as more than a promotional effort.

Every United States citizen now consumes an average of just over two gallons of oil products a day. Just imagine if oil products were delivered to your door like milk. For a family of four that would be more than eight gallons of oil products every morning. There will be 18 million more people living in this country by 1965. There will be 14 million more cars and trucks on the road, 12 million new homes, industrial activity will increase by 33% and by 1965 per capita consumption of oil products will be nearly 3 gallons a day.

To prepare for all this, to be ready for these 18 million new people, oil companies must invest nearly $80 billion in production, plants and equipment. These things can only take place if our people understand and support policies which encourage the growth of a strong oil industry operating in a free competitive market.

The theme of Oil Progress Week is "Today—Oil Builds for Your Tomorrow."

Congressman Rogers Reports—

TO THE PEOPLE

National Defense Education Bill

As many of you know, one of the final acts passed by the 85th Congress was the National Defense Education Bill. This measure was highly controversial since some thought it might tend toward federal control in our educational processes. The bill has been signed by the President, however, and whatever its merits or demerits, it is now public law.

I have received many inquiries concerning the provisions of this act, and I feel it might be well to outline some of them to you.

The program will be administered by the Commissioner of Education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, through the appropriate state education agencies. There are several provisions of interest, but the one on which most questions are currently being asked is the provision for student loans. These loans will be available to students for higher education and will be made by the educational institution itself, subject to the provisions of the law which, broadly, are:

The student must be acceptable to the college or school by virtue of completion of secondary work—in most cases a high school graduate. The student must show his actual need for the loan in order to pursue or complete his education. The loan may be used for any subject, but special consideration will be given to students with a superior academic background who express a desire to teach in elementary or secondary schools, and to students whose academic background indicates superior capacity or preparation in science, mathematics, engineering, or a modern foreign language. The student loan cannot exceed $1,000 per year or $5,000 total. Repayment of the loan at 3% interest must begin one year after separation from the accredited institution. Up to 50% of the loan and interest is cancelled if the student pursues a vocation of full-time teacher in a public elementary or secondary school in a state for as many as five years after being separated from the college or institution. The college will contribute 10% to the student loan fund, while the federal government will contribute 90%.

Any school is eligible to participate in the program, if that school is located in a state or territory of the United States; if they admit as regular students only graduates from secondary schools or the equivalent; if the school is legally authorized to provide a program of education beyond secondary education; if the school awards a bachelor's de-

... or provides at least a two-year program acceptable for full credit toward a bachelor's degree; if it is a public or other non-profit institution, and if it is properly accredited.

If any of you are interested in details of this program, I will be happy to supply any information I can or you can secure it from the school which you plan to attend, since the administration of the program will, for the most part, rest there.

The law also provides for a program of grants to state educational agencies to be used in local public elementary or secondary schools or junior colleges, for minor remodeling and acquisition of laboratory or other special equipment for science, mathematics, or modern foreign language teaching, as well as grants for extension or improvement of supervisory or related services in secondary schools for science, mathematics and modern foreign languages.

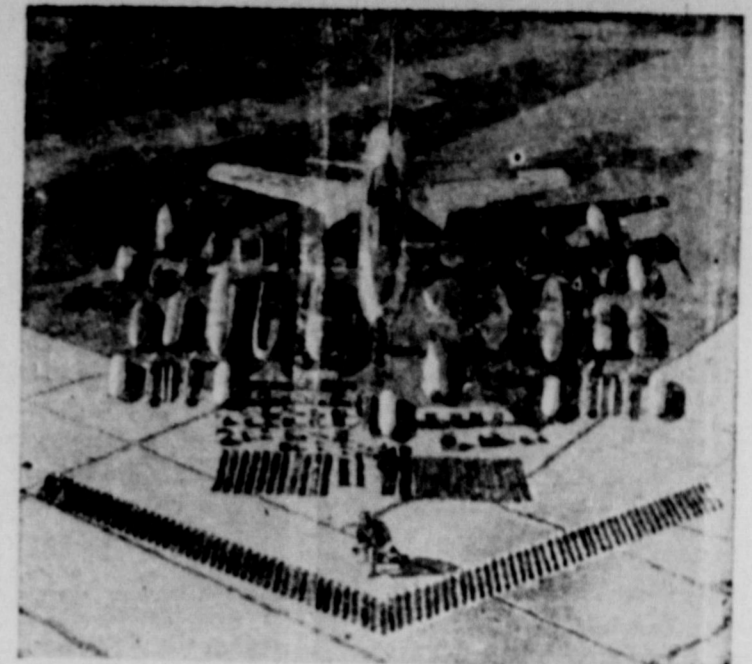

In addition, loans will be available to non-profit, private elementary and secondary schools for the same type of projects.

A program of National Defense Fellowships is also authorized for graduate students, particularly students interested in teaching in institutions of higher education.

There are other provisions of this new law, and I will be happy to answer any questions you might have relative to it. If you cannot get satisfactory information locally, let me know and I will try to find the answers to your questions.

COMPACT AND POWERFUL—The punch of the Air Force's newest supersonic jet, the Republic F-105, is apparent in this Defense Department photo. The fighter's armament is said to give it as much destructive power as an atomic bomb, 189 rockets or a combination of nuclear weapons, rockets, high-explosive bombs, infra-red seeker missiles and fire bombs in addition to its 20-millimeter cannon. It will go into service with the Tactical Air Command next year.

COOL ME, MADAM
 Old women once held curative powers—or so folks believed. Their wrinkled hands laid on feverish brows were thought to cool the fever. Now, in this golden era of modern medicine, we have more reliable methods of reducing temperatures. But, remember, a temperature is only a symptom... not an illness in itself. Fevers have many causes... some minor... some serious. So, be sensible. When you or a member of your family is ill, let your doctor do the diagnosing and prescribing. Then, if medication is necessary, let us fill his prescription promptly and accurately.

GRAY COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By James Smathers

Nearly all irrigation farmers within the Gray County Soil Conservation District are now watering their crops. Many are now taking a look at their system to see if there are any improvements to be made. Some irrigated farms need some leveling and some need to improve their delivery system with the use of underground pipe.

A good conservation irrigation system along with good irrigation water management is what every irrigation farmer is striving for if he is to get maximum returns for his investments. Water must be applied properly to meet the needs of the soil and of the crop. Every system should be properly designed.

A number of things are to be looked for in improving and getting the maximum yields out of an irrigated farm. Does the row direction need to be changed to get the proper grade? For good watering a row should have a grade less than three inches fall per 100 feet. Rows with excess grade tend to wash when heavy rains fall. Row lengths need to be considered. A row that is too short requires watching and irrigation settings need to be changed too often. Also it is difficult to get the right amount of water applied. A row that is too long requires too long a time to water. Water held on crop roots over too long a period will decrease yields. Maximum watering time for cotton is 12 hours, and 24 hours is the maximum time for grain sorghums. Rows that require more than these maximum time limits should be shortened. Row lengths and times should be designed so that some six hours interval may be used for changing settings.

Time and amounts of irrigation are very important. Deep underground moisture should be obtained before the crop is planted. Pre-watering is almost a necessity. After the crop is planted, only the first foot of soil can be watered. Too much time and water is needed to get penetration any deeper while a crop is on the land. A shovel or auger of some kind should be kept close by so that the moisture of the soil can be checked every few days. From the time grain sorghum is in the boot until it matures it will need to be watered about every 13 days.

Land that is too steep or uneven needs to be leveled. Leveling land and installing an underground pipe system can save a farmer a lot of time, work and water. Also better returns from the crops are received along with the ease of operation.

Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 15th day of September, 1958.

The file number of said suit being No. 12,506.

The name of the parties in said suit are: Gilbert Mathews as Plaintiff, and Irene C. Mathews, as Defendant.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Clyde Dickerson, Manager

Soon now the new telephone building for McLean will be shaping up and ready to occupy. Along with this building will be the new system of dialing for McLean, already in progress, as many residents have received their dial phones.

After its all complete, McLean will be one of the best equipped cities regarding its telephone accommodations. When our new building and equipment are ready, we'll welcome you by to see it all in operation.

HOLIDAY HELPER

Weekend hunting trips, out of town football games, and pleasant drives to nearby cities are just around the corner now.

If weekend excursions are on your calendar, why not let long distance give you a hand with the arrangements?

A long distance call is the easiest way I know to arrange overnight accommodations, plan visits with friends, check on ticket reservations, save time and trouble on the dozens of details that go into planning a trip.

And when you've reached your destination, a quick call home to make sure everything's all right, is worth a lot to your peace of mind. You can relax and enjoy your weekend even more.

TAKE AUTUMN INDOORS

The cool days and brilliant colors of autumn seem to give folks extra energy for finishing up projects like redecorating and repainting around the house.

And your family's telephones shouldn't be overlooked when you bring that touch of fall indoors. Add color phones: just as you would new slip covers or curtains for perfect harmony in a favorite setting.

Cherry red, rose pink and pastel yellow are Indian Summer colors that will add a note of warmth and cheer all winter. Phones in moss green, light beige and aqua blue complete color schemes with a touch of softness.

Our gleaming white phones are just the thing to fill a woman's demand for efficiency and clean style in the kitchen. Ivory and light gray are distinctive colors for the elegant touch.

Call the telephone business office today and choose your telephone colors for autumn in the traditional table instruments or the new wall models.

PANHANDLE OUTDOOR LIFE

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

Just guessing, there must be more than 50 ranches in the Panhandle that have deer. There are equally that many ranches that afford deer hunting. Many of these ranches will accommodate as many as a score or more hunters per day during the 10-day hunting season that we have here.

Altogether, it would be interesting to know just how many hunters were hunting for how many hours and what the ratio of success was. Usually there are considerably less than 200 buck deer killed in the Panhandle each fall, which is far less than the number of shooters. If there were 5000 buck deer killed each fall, the demand still wouldn't be met. Ten or maybe 20 thousand buck deer harvested each year probably would fill the desires of the outdoor sportsmen in the top part of Texas. The pure fact of the matter is that there will probably not be over 150 buck deer killed this fall and many hunters who wanted to kill a buck will not have the opportunity to do so.

In my opinion, the reason for this situation is strictly due to the part of the state in which we live. This part of the state was, in the early days, more or less a buffalo and antelope paradise. The north plains never was adapted to heavy population of deer and turkey and it still isn't. We just have to harvest what is available unless there is some game management practice applied so as to increase the number of these two species.

JERSEY TRAIN PLUNGES INTO BAY—Spectators crowd bridge, upper right, to watch rescue operations over Newark Bay. Two engines and three passenger cars of a Jersey Central Railroad train plunged through an open drawbridge into the 35-foot-deep water of the bay. The third car, shown leaning against the abutment, slipped into the water moments later. Up to 40 persons may have died in the tragedy.

It is true that the overall turkey and deer population could be increased many times if proper food and habitat were available. What have the ranchers, as well as the hunters, done to improve the lot of these two game animals? Could the population be expected to increase above nature's carrying capacity as a result of the efforts of mankind? We can have better buck and quail hunting when there is an improvement in the range. Range improvement is up to either the hunter or the rancher.

Medallion the Second, pointer male owned by Dr. Bill Griffin of Borger and handled by John Gates, has set a record-breaking number of wins in Canada this fall in just four starts. A first in the junior all age, and a second place in the Derby, at the Border International trials, is outstanding but word has been received that the same honors were annexed however reversed, at the All-American trials at Gallesborough, Sask. This time the dog representing Texas was first in the junior all age. Never in history has a dog won such outstanding honors in four consecutive international stakes. Medallion the Second has just started in major circuit competition. If this pointer continues to annex laurels in the future, he is off to a start that could make him the greatest pointing dog in history.

Hunting Licenses

It might be assumed that all hunters know the requirements pertaining to a hunting license. From the way my telephone has been ringing, there are some who do not fully understand the hunting license law. Here is the first section of the regulation—no citizen of this state shall hunt any wild animal or wild bird outside the county of his residence without having first procured a license to hunt.

Section 2 elaborates on the fact that a person may hunt in the county of his residence without a license provided the hunter does not hunt deer or turkey. If these two species are hunted, then a hunting license is required. For further information check with your local or district game warden or any member of the Game and Fish Commission.

Illegal Hunting of Quail

To date I have filed four complaints pertaining to illegal hunting of quail. Two of these cases I made without help but the other two were made with the cooperation of the outdoor sporting public. Telephone tips as to who was shooting quail, where and when, together with any other information from the outdoor public to the wildlife enforcement officer (that's me or any other game warden) will greatly help in preventing pre-season shooting.

After all, the way some see it, a fellow who jumps the gun on the legal seasons is penalizing the legal hunters. (P. S. Any information received will be greatly appreciated not only by me but by the entire group of legal hunters in this sector of the state.)
