Bill Haley's Comets 'Rock Around the Clock' In Derby Attraction

Even Columbus said, "The world ain't square!"

And the world, proving it isn't "square," is really "digging" the current rock 'n' roll craze. Records by Bill Haley and his Comets, who are the heart and soul of rock 'n' roll, have sold over 6,000 copies in little more than a year. Now Haley and the Comets are starred in Columbia Pictures' "Rock Around the Clock," hailed as the screen's great rock 'n' roll story.

The cast of "Rock Around the Clock," which opens Friday at the Derby Drive-In Theatre, reads like an honor roll of rock 'n' roll. In addition to Bill Haley and his Comets, there are the Platters (Ernie Freeman Combo), Freddie Bell and his Bellboys and Alan Freed, the disc jockey who's done so much to make rock 'n' roll a national sensation. Tony Martinez and his band provide a change of tempo with their mambo rhythms. Taking top acting roles in the film are Johnny Johnston and Alix Talton.

In "Rock Around the Clock," Johnston plays a band agent who sees Bill Haley and his Comets, a group of local boys, delighting large crowds of small town teenagers with the jolting new rock 'n' roll rhythms. Tops among the teen-age dancers are pert Lisa Gaye and Earl Barton, who plays her brother. Recognizing the commercial possibilities in this exciting new music, Johnston offers to manage Haley and his Comets, as well as Lisa and Earl. He takes them all to New York, after Johnny and Lisa have sealed their contract with a kiss.

In New York, however, beautiful Alix Talton, who runs the nation's largest hand-book agency, tries to prevent the success of rock 'n' roll; she has set her cap for Johnny and will do anything to keep Lisa from getting him.

The romance-and-rhythm story of "Rock Around the Clock" reaches an exciting climax at a huge rock 'n' roll jamboree where Haley and his Comets complete their conquest of America. Among the great "rock" songs heard in the film are "Rock-A-Beatn' Boogie," "See You Later, Alligator," and the title song, "Rock Around the Clock."

Oliver Wendell Holmes, the famous writer, was a doctor and a teacher of anatomy.

Editorial

WOMAN'S ROLE IN OUR ECONOMY

A woman's magazine of vast circulation has long used this slogan: "Never underestimate the power of a woman." This is used as an inducement to advertisers, and points up in catchy style the fact that woman is a potent factor indeed in economic life, as well as all the other phases of human existence.

However, no one knows exactly how potent a factor she is. Some of the estimates, as Fortune observes, have been extravagant—"including the hoary assertion that she controls 85 per cent of all consumer buying." Fortune's own estimate is that the proper figure is in the neighborhood of 60 per cent. What this means can be deduced from one statistic—last year total consumer expenditures in this country reached $252 billion.

In some fields, obviously enough, the distaff purchaser is extremely dominant—food, personal care (including cosmetics), household equipment, clothing. In other fields she is also a very big factor—either as a direct purchaser or as an influence on purchases made by the husband and other members of the family. So an inevitable development has been increasing attention on the part of business to try to find out just what inducements cause a woman to spend her money most freely. Much has been learned—much more, apparently, is still somewhat shrouded in mystery. Today efforts to unravel that mystery are being intensified. Writing in the August issue of Fortune, Gilbert Burck discusses what is going on—under the apt title, "What Makes Women Buy?"

Early in his article, Mr. Burck tells of some of the thing business has learned. For instance, most automobiles are actually purchased by men—but before that purchase is made, a woman has had a great deal to say about it. Hence, the stepped-up advertising emphasis on color and style in cars—as against such prosaic matters as mechanical features.

The food industry, he continues, has gone especially deeply into the subject of milady's likes and dislikes, as have the soap and cigarette people. Studies indicate that women want to be told they've done a good job. Hence, he writes, "From this stems a basic principle: to sell the housewife anything . . . do not lecture her on how wonderful your product is, or how it will eliminate her drudgery; tell her—or imply—that using it will not merely make life easier but will surely bring her recognition and approval."

Other merchandisers think women are more emotional and venturesome in their purchasing habits than are men, and gear their sales inducements accordingly. A food chain is cited which has been successfully emphasizing unusual and exotic items—along with innovations in store arrangements and color schemes.

This doesn't mean women are disinterested in questions of function and economy. But, it seems, they like their purchasing to do something for their self-esteem. A leading researcher regards the woman as "an independent, often individualistic, creature, driven by a creative urge that manifests itself even in the imaginative way she uses ready-to-serve foods, considering herself knowledgeable and mature, rejoicing in the fact that she is harder to fool, preferring 'to save happiness rather than dollars,' and disposed to buy the better and more expensive item if she can afford it."

Many a peaceful revolution has taken place in this country in the last 50 years or so. Not the least of them has been in woman's role in influencing our economy.

Humbolt, Iowa, Republican: "After many years of experience in the newspaper business and a close association with the facts concerning many acts of delinquency by juveniles, and the attendant reaction by the parents, we have come to the conclusion that the best way to make sure of proper home training is to levy the penalty on the parents."

Good Roads Meeting

W. T. Wilson, C. S. Rice and A. G. Richardson attended the meeting at Sayre, Okla., Wednesday of this week as delegates from here to the good roads meeting at that place. The occasion of the meeting was to confer with parties from St. Louis and Oklahoma City who were looking out a feasible route for the famous Ozark Trail to connect at Oklahoma City and finish the span from ocean to ocean. The route as selected for the Interstate Postal Highway two years ago is the most feasible one for the new trail and those who are behind the proposition feel sure it will come this way if the bad stretches of road bed are fixed.

It is now up to the people from the state line to Amarillo to get themselves into immediate action and put their roads in shape as the establishment of this highway through here will mean much to us in many ways. It will be the cause of hundreds of tourists passing this way every day and they will spend money in all the towns they visit.

On the 5th of September a meeting will be held in Shamrock, at which will be delegates from all towns at interest and plans will be shaped for the ultimate construction of an auto road along the line of the Rock Island to Amarillo. Talk up this good road movement and help put it through.

Meeting a Success

The union meeting which has been in progress for the past two weeks at the tabernacle, came to a close Monday night. Rev. and Mrs. Flowers did good work here and left many lasting impressions among the people. About 70 conversions were reported, most of whom signified their intentions of uniting with the different churches.

SOIL DISTRICT

The pumping of irrigation water on the high plains is an expensive operation. With the cost of butane at 6½ cents per gallon, the fuel cost for pumping alone on a well with a 900 gallon per minute output and a lift of 350 feet is $1.65 per hour. Every two hours that your pump is running, costs you another bushel of wheat alone, not considering your labor, depreciation on the motor and pump, and the oil expense.

Since the pumping cost is so high and crops being irrigated have a low return per acre, every possible effort should be made to obtain a high efficiency out of your irrigation water. The factors that enter into obtaining efficiency are: The rate at which the soil will take the water, the length of run, the grade in rows, and water loss to evaporation and deep percolation. If you fail to consider any one of these, your efficiency will be lowered.

Border irrigation is one method used to help obtain a more uniform penetration and does away with the costly tail water. This method of irrigation is particularly adapted to steeper land. The field is broken up into small strips varying in width from 20 to 60 feet. The area between the strips is leveled and each strip is watered as a unit. The borders on each side of the strips are high enough to prevent the water from breaking out on the leveled strips below it. This type of system allows you to make use of all rainfall. There is no run-off. Filed leveling is another method used to increase the return from irrigation water. This method is used on the flatter land and areas leveled varying from 10 to 80 acres in a block. After a piece of land has been field leveled, you may grow row crops and furrow irrigate or put up temporary borders for drilled crops. Filed leveling provides for a flexible means of farming and watering.

There are two cups of butter in a pound.

From the State Capitol HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

By Vern Sanford, Texas Press Association
 National party candidates have been decided. State Democratic primaries are over. Texas' political focus now shifts to the upcoming state Democratic convention.

Nervous tension is apparent in Liberal-Loyalist ranks. They are fearful of losing control of the September 11 meeting through the Conservatives' executive committee left in power last spring. That committee decides which of numerous contesting delegations will gain seats.

Navarro County Judge Jim Sewell, Liberal-Loyalist spokesman, asked recall of the "recessed" spring convention on the eve of the new convention.

It was apparently without hope. Permanent Chairman Raymond Buck of Fort Worth said he could see no reason for it. Executive Chairman George Sandlin termed the Liberal demands "the cry of the vanquished." He has promised all contestants a fair shake in credentials hearings.

U. S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson may play a key role again. He has said he will be present. He assured Liberals in Chicago that he will use his influence to install leaders who will work for party victory in November.

Sheffield Gets 10 Years
 B. R. Sheffield of Brady is the second person to be convicted in the veterans land scandals. Sentence was assessed at 10 years.

Former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles is now serving a six-year sentence.

A Lubbock district court jury found Sheffield guilty of passing a forged instrument. No conviction was sought on a second count of aiding a notary public in making a false statement.

Prediction was made, meanwhile, that the state may end up making a profit instead of losing money from its veterans land troubles.

D. S. Meredith, assistant attorney general in charge of civil recovery suits, voiced the opinion.

Losers in the suits filed by the state are being required to return the money paid to them by the state plus 3% interest. Texas, however, pays only 2 1/4% interest on the bond issues which financed the $100,000 lending program.

Recoveries now total roughly $1,800,000.

New Drought Plan Ready

A new drought aid plan now is ready to help Texas farmers and ranchers buy roughage for livestock. Applications for roughage should be filed with County Farmers Home Administration offices. If determined eligible by the local FHA committee, the farmer is issued certificates valued at $7.50 a ton. Certificates may be applied on the purchase of roughage from any dealer.

Another phase of the expanded federal relief program also is moving forward. Texas Drought Emergency Committee has recommended that 106 counties be made eligible for increased aid in grain buying.

At present farmers in 185 counties may get $1 for each 100 pounds of grain bought for livestock feed. If approved by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, the 106 counties would receive 50c extra per 100 pounds.

Water Test Case Slated

Texas water laws will be tested in a suit filed by the state in behalf of 15 domestic and livestock users in South Texas. Suit was filed by the State Board of Water Engineers in district court at Karnes City. It seeks to protect riparian owners along Cibolo Creek from withdrawals by irrigators. Hearing is to begin Wednesday.

Board Chairman R. M. Dixon said irrigators have rights only to the storm and flood waters from the creek. These have been non-existent for a long time, he said.
