

PLAIN TALK

By BILL PERKINS

We were disappointed last week when the pictures taken at the open house of the American National Bank failed to get back from the engravers in time for last week's paper.

There was a good reason though.

In our rush to get them in the mail immediately after they were developed we addressed the envelope wrong. We mailed them to Guthrie, TEXAS, instead of Guthrie, OKLA.

Guthrie, Texas (pop. 150) has no newspaper or engraver and naturally the pictures were returned to us marked (unknown).

We wanted to blame it on a lazy engraver, or the post office but it's no use. We just goofed.

Coach Jack Riley has asked us to express his thanks, and that of Coaches Jim Wood and Bill Adams, and of all the football squad, to the McLean Lions Club the school board, the city of McLean and to each merchant and individual for the beautiful new scoreboard at Duncan Field. Coach Riley says that the community spirit shown in supplying the scoreboard has meant added inspiration to every member of the Tiger squad and that he and all the boys are deeply grateful.

George Newberry, the telephone man, was telling us a few weeks ago about things to come in the communication business. These included the wrist-watch type portable telephone, and the possibility of one day being able to dial anyone in a distant city just as we would dial someone in the same town. These cigarette size and wrist-watch type personal telephones may work fine, but if the telephone company adds equipment by which telephone users can see each other, as predicted, it will take a woman who isn't all dolled up when the phone rings almost as long to start talking as it now takes her to stop.

TIGERS LOOK GOOD FRIDAY AGAINST STRONG SKYROCKETS

Coach Jack Riley's McLean Tigers made a good showing against the top-rated Wellington team last Friday night, but lost out 27-13 on the Skyrockets' home field.

Heading the offense for Wellington was the combination of Quarterback Jerry Elbert and Glen Warrick, who connected on aerials for two of Wellington's scores.

Charlie Welsh opened the scoring in the initial period on a six yard plunge to give the Skyrockets their first score and Elbert carried over for the extra point.

In the second period Elbert raced over from six yards out and Carol Nunnally ran the extra.

The Tiger offense began rolling in the last minutes of the first half as David Crockett raced over from 11 yards out and David Woods added the extra point to make the half-time score 14-7.

In the third period, Elbert connected on the first aerial to Warrick good for 30 yards and the Skyrockets' third score. In the opening minutes of the fourth, the second scoring pass connected with Warrick and Welsh ran the extra point total 27 for the Skyrockets.

The Tigers' final count came on a pass from Jim Rice to David Woods, good for 30 yards and the touchdown that ended the game, 27-13.

First Quarter

The Tigers enter conference play with one win, one tie, and four losses. The Tigers also defeated Shamrock, tied Panhandle, and have lost to Wheeler, Stinnett, White Deer and Wellington.

FOLKS and FACTS

BY BILLIE PERKINS

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reeves and children, Johnny, April and James, and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Mantooh visited the Gilbert Striblings in Dallas over the week-end. They attended the Texas-OU game in the Cotton Bowl Saturday afternoon. Of course, the children had their day at the fair. It seems they rode everything that turned. . . . The Sonny Backs also attended the Texas-OU game and attended the fair. . . . Speaking of football, the people in Brazos County, home of Texas A & M College and the county we lived in before moving to McLean, are quite upset. The letters on the Brazos County license plates are TU, which to them means only Texas University, A & M's rival. What some of the people around Bryan and College Station don't know is that cars in Austin have license plates with the letters AM. . . . The Joe Burroughs are getting new sidewalks and a new garage door. Just across the street the Paul Kennedys are having their home remodeled and getting new carpet. The Sam Bruners, behind the Kennedy house, have a new garage and have done a lot of work on the outside of their house. Almost everywhere you look somebody is getting a new roof, a new paint job or remodeling something. The Windoms' new house on 66 looks to be at least half finished. The Ruel Smiths have sold their home to Mrs. King of Mangum, Okla. Mrs. King will move to McLean soon. She is the mother of Mrs. Emory Crockett and Harris King. The Smiths have moved into an apartment but will probably start building soon. . . . Mrs. Carl Hefner of Huntsville left Sunday after spending several days visiting in the Arthur and John Dwyer homes. . . . Donna Magee, Pat Wiggins, Gayle Mullanax and Billy Don Day of Texas Tech were home for the week-end. "Think I saw Monte Jean Kennedy, also. She is a student at West Texas State. . . . Saw the Morris Wells in town Monday. Morris is in service and was home on leave. . . . Mr. (Continued on back page)

McLean Rainfall Now Up to 31.61"

City rain gauge records maintained by Pete Fulbright show that McLean's moisture for the year to date is 31.61 inches.

During the past week .68 of rain fell here, with .03 falling last Thursday and .65 of an inch recorded Sunday.

On this date last year 12.02" of moisture had been recorded for the year.

Four New Members Introduced Tuesday At Lions Meeting

Several new members were introduced at the regular Tuesday meeting of the McLean Lions Club.

The October membership drive is underway and the four new members brought into the club already are John Anders, Bruce Cook, J. D. Roach and David Fultz.

Eddie Brown, Lion cub for the month, was present. The only other guest was Otis Calcoate of Miami, a guest of Lion Jimmie Don Morris.

Lion Boyd Meador explained that fire prevention posters had been judged Tuesday morning and that an assembly program would be held for the grade school at 1:30. At that time poster winners were to be named and presented awards from the Lions Club.

As a conclusion to fire prevention week observance here all first grade pupils and poster winners were taken for a ride on the fire trucks.

Program Chairman Hickman Brown turned the program over to Lion Larry Fuller who presented a Lions information quiz.

Most questions were based around the district governor, Bill Smith. Rails ginner, who visited the McLean club earlier this year.

Lion Meador made the motion that the club pass a resolution pledging support to the district governor during his tenure of office. The club voted to send a letter to Lion Smith after the motion carried unanimously.

Maine is bounded by only one other state, New Hampshire.

New 1958 Chevrolet To Be Introduced Thursday, October 31

Detroit.—The 1958 Chevrolet, reportedly the most spectacular model in the history of the company, will be introduced at dealer showrooms nationally Thursday, October 31.

E. N. Cole, general manager, disclosed the public exhibit date on the eve of a preview at which about 250 press, radio and TV editors will see the new line at the General Motors proving ground. "We sincerely believe this is one of the most interesting automobiles ever brought out by the industry," Cole said. "Every major part will show the results of an engineering job that began five years ago."

"The 1958 model became possible," continued Cole, "only thru expanded and modernized facilities. It is the first car to have full advantage of the resources at our new engineering center. In addition, its production has involved considerably more new machinery and equipment than is normal for a model changeover." Cole said the new car is already in production at the company's 11 assembly plants. An ample display stock is assured at retail point for the official three-day introduction starting October 31.

Bonita Bailey and Alvana Mier of Amarillo spent the week-end in McLean visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bailey.

His letter of resignation read:

In full: "Five years is enough; I quit."

James Massay of Amarillo visited his mother, Mrs. T. A. Massay, over the week-end.

By Hugh Williamson

Survey takers, out gathering figures on hunting and fishing, have come up with some rather amazing statistics.

For example: More people hunt and fish than take part in all spectator sports combined. And anglers and hunters outnumber golfers nine to one.

Texans spend twice as much money to hunt and fish than they do for admission to all football, baseball and basketball games, plus all other spectator sports, plus all movies and all other theatrical attractions combined.

The hunting and fishing bill of Texans is greater than that spent on medical care, dental work, and hospitalization insurance.

And the money spent for outdoor pursuits is rapidly increasing. That's because the population is growing and folks nowadays have more leisure time.

These are cold facts, based on accurate, scientific surveys, conducted for Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Plenty for All

Fortunately there is going to be a bountiful supply of fish and game for all these anglers and shooters. Building of many new lakes, stocking them, and good rains this year will mean many fish.

Deer and turkey, along with antelope, once faced extinction in Texas. Game management programs and favorable conditions afield have brought back the deer and the turkey population and put them in proper balance.

Viewers of the situation are pleased. But they see a need for more and better facilities and accommodations for the hunter and the fisherman.

Trend in Motors

Another indication of change is the trend toward bigger outdoor motors. A decade ago most of these were five horsepower and under. But this year, a major manufacturer predicts that 48% of the motors will be in the 30-horsepower class or larger.

This big stuff is for the speed boat people and those who tow the water skiers. It's not so much for fishermen. A Mercury-6 is plenty of motor for me.

You can stir around and get up an argument between the speed boat boys and the fishermen. But I don't think it's necessary. There is plenty of water for all.

Mostly the conflict comes about when the lakes are crowded on weekends and holidays. At those times I fish where the big boat boys don't go. Below a certain dam, for instance, it's too shallow for the heavier craft. I chug along up there, dodging rocks and stumps as I go, anchor just below the dam, and catch fish.

Belligerent Blacks

The best black bass fishing I know is in one or two South Texas lakes. I was down there the other day when the blacks were hitting surface lures like mad.

In this particular lake there's a wooded area, with plenty of weeds and brush. The bass abound there. They are infuriated by the noise of a topwater lure.

I had spectacular success with one lure that had a spinner aft. The sound it made was like a fine crop of young bass reaches maturity.

If you hanker for bass, plan to be in your best fishing spot during February and March.

Whoopers Moving

The big whooping cranes are in process of moving from their breeding grounds in Canada to their winter home. Eight adults and two young birds have been sighted on the wing.

Whoopers move along by easy stages. Usually they begin arriving at their Texas refuge about the middle of October or later. Laggards will trail along at intervals.

There are only about 30 whooping cranes alive now. In flight, they appear as huge white birds, with jet-black wing tips, red-crowned heads and long legs trailing. Please don't shoot them!

A Few Quick Ones

Word reaches us that the hottest duck hunting grounds during the coming season will be in far Southeast Texas, around Beaumont. There is water in the marshes to entice the quackers. Hunting should be excellent.

Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas is timely in planning now to inaugurate a firearms training program.

OIL REFINING IN TEXAS IS BOTH NIGHT AND DAY PROCESS

In a strange world of tall towers, enormous tanks, bulbs, big stacks and miles of pipe wriggling around like spaghetti, a man quietly scans an array of dials.

Night and day this process goes on in Texas, for the work in an oil refinery—and this is what this jumbo wonderland is—rarely stops.

The man in question is a stillman. He works quietly but that has nothing to do with the name of his job. His title refers to his specific assignment for he is in control of a unit of oil stills.

Working with the stillman are "gagers," "control men," "firemen," and scores of other highly trained people. Gagers measure the amount and temperature of the oil. Controlmen maintain the rate of flow as well as tank levels called for in the processing schedule. Firemen operate burners that heat oil. They make constant adjustments to insure the final products will meet the rigid specifications of oil processing.

"Oil refineries are mysterious places," Texas Oil Information Committee Chairman James L. Sewell of Dallas says, "and the complexities of chemistry make them all the more difficult to understand."

Texas has 57 refineries capable of processing more than 2,453,955 barrels of crude oil a day. They processed nearly 816,000,000 barrels of crude oil last year and employed 46,124 persons to do the work.

There, crude oil is broken down and converted into scores of products—fuels, naphtha, kerosene, lubricants, paraffin, asphalt and hundreds of compounds that ultimately become fabrics and plastics.

Crude oil, heated until vaporized, passes into the bottom of fractionating towers and breaks into parts or fractions. The rising vapors cool and condense into liquids again. They are caught on trays and piped into tanks. That's how refineries get basic products.

Other big units, such as "cat crackers" and thermal crackers, are like pressure cookers used in the kitchen. They involve both heat and pressure but they also use catalysts—chemical agents ranging from platinum to clay—that promote reactions without themselves becoming part of the products. Cracking units make it possible for refineries to provide an abundance of high-quality motor fuels.

Sewell said there are 320 refineries in the United States ranging in size from "tea kettles" handling 150 barrels of crude a day to giant units that process 315,000 barrels a day. The largest refinery in the world today is in Iran and utilizes 550,000 barrels of crude a day.

The cost of a modern refinery runs into tens of millions of dollars yet the primary product it produces—gasoline—sells for about the same price per gallon as a malted milk drink with one-third of its price being tax.

"Forty years ago, the industry was getting only 18% gasoline from a barrel of crude oil," Sewell said. "The chemists worked on that problem, learned how to 'crack' the larger hydrocarbons, and as a result, on the average, nearly 45% of a barrel is converted into gasoline now."

"This provides superior fuels at a price that has lagged far behind all other commodities and means with today's gasoline you're really driving a bargain," Sewell said.

It seems to me we can never give up longing and wishing while we are thoroughly alive. There are certain things we feel to be beautiful and good, and we must hunger after them.—George Eliot.

The famous Cullinan diamond found in 1905 weighed 3,106 carats in the rough.

THE WONDROUS YEARS OF OUR TIME...

Man's use of petroleum — of oil and natural gas — began before the first records of history.

But petroleum's full usefulness to man has been a matter of decades only.

They have been wondrous years, those decades. Years that saw automobiles built by the millions because gasoline was available as a cheap source of power. Years that saw the oceans dwindle under the high speed of great ships powered by oil. Years that saw the evolution of a more comfortable living in homes warmed by oil and natural gas. Years that saw rubber, fibers, paints and many other useful items of everyday living produced from petroleum's hydrocarbons. Years that saw the earth shrink under the wings of the airplane, and great wars decided by the availability of oil.

Thus, the oil industry has led the way into the wondrous years of our time. The industry, through foresight, ingenuity, research, and risk-taking, has found and produced the oil required in greater quantity each year, has conserved oil for the future, has devised the transportation systems that move oil economically, has built the refineries and plants that convert crude oil and natural gas to the hundreds of useful products needed by a growing United States.

The Humble Company, founded in 1917, has participated in petroleum's progress during four great decades, and has pioneered in the development of many current techniques for finding, producing and refining oil. This week, with the industry, Humble invites you to consider the variety and extent of oil's progress... Surely no other industry has contributed more to the making of modern America.

GOOD-BYE HUCK FINN!

Stephen Foster's "Old Black Joe" is a piece of immortal Americana, loved and sung by tens of millions of people over the generations. But it has been banned from certain air networks—on the grounds that it contains racially offensive phrases.

Now the New York City Board of Education has taken "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" from its approved textbook list for grade and junior high schools. A great many excellent critics regard Huck Finn as the greatest of all American novels, and practically all put it very high on the short list of genuine classics. The New York Times reports a publisher as saying the book was banned because, like Stephen Foster's wonderful old song, it was held to contain racially offensive material.

There is only one logical end to such a trend. All literary and musical material which happens to offend anyone should be banned—whether those offended are white men, yellow men, or black men; Protestants, Catholics or Jews; business men or labor leaders, and so on ad infinitum. Then we can all live in a cultural vacuum comparable to the Dark Ages.

"DRIVING A BARGAIN"

Oil Progress Week is to be observed nationally during the October 13-19 period. Its purpose is to give the oil people an opportunity to make a report to the nation they serve. And this year's observance has an excellent slogan—"With today's gasoline you're driving a bargain."

That's much more than a good catch-phrase. It's a fact. Over the last five years drilling and construction costs have soared; pipe line has gone up over 68%, alloy castings nearly 56%, and oil-field machinery about 25%. Yet—largely due to competition among the many independent oil companies—gasoline prices have increased only a little over 2½ cents a gallon, exclusive of the direct taxes imposed by the states and the federal government, and over which the oil industry has no control.

And that isn't all. Gasoline quality has been steadily improved—which in itself is a form of economy to the user. Three gallons of present-day gas do the work that used to require four. Today's premium gasolines approach in quality the aviation fuels used during World War II. And the regular gasoline you buy now is almost as good as premium gas was only five years ago.

What is true of gasoline, is generally true of all the other oil products—the thousand and one different kinds that contribute so greatly to modern living and working standards. Oil Progress Week signalizes one of the great industrial achievements of history.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

West Point, Miss., Daily Times Leader: "... all of us know that federal spending is not going to be turned off like one would turn a faucet handle. There must be a gradual decline—in spending first, and then in taxes."

Chagrin Falls, O., Exponent: "Physicians, newly impressed with the growth and energy potentials of a high protein diet, are increasing the meat ration for patients of all ages."

Howard, S. D., Minert County Pioneer: "Yes, Jake, the only difference between us and the millionaire ... is that we worry over the next meal ... and he worries over the last one."

Stockton, Kans., Rooks County Record: There is no doubt about it. A quarter doesn't go as far today as it used to unless you happen to drop it on the sidewalk."

Boone, Iowa, News-Republican: "... the experts say that seat belts really do make driving safer. Cornell University's committee on transportation safety research has this to say: "From more than 5,000 case histories of injury-producing accidents we have reached conclusions which should remove all doubt of the effectiveness of belts in minimizing injuries in automobile accidents. In actual use properly designed and installed seat belts will increase a motorist's chance of escaping injury by nearly 60%."

Liberty Loan Quota

Gray County's quota in the new Liberty Loan issue is $74,153, according to figures sent out by the government. This is quite a large sum, but with the bumper crops of grain that we are reaping this fall, there should be but little difficulty in raising this amount.

Shortages

Prosperity, it is said, is causing a shortage of one dollar bills. We had noticed it; also a shortage of two dollar bills, and five dollar bills, and ten dollar bills, and several other denominations.

Shamrock Chapter Organized

Among those from our city who attended the meeting were: Prof. Wilson and wife, T. J. Coffey and mother, Rev. Howell and family, Mrs. Erwin, Mr. and Mrs. Fast, Misses Ethel McCurdy, Alma Watkins, Eunice Floyd, Julia Foster, Mary Henry, Dora Dean, Katie Robinson and Leona Watkins.

GRAY COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Elmer McLaughlin, Laketon farmer, was elected as the new supervisor in zone four of the Gray County Soil Conservation Service District. The election was held Tuesday night, October 1, in the county court house in Pampa. In addition to the election, Cecil Regel, assistant county agent, showed some slides of agriculture in Iran. The slides and the narrative given by Cecil were very good.

October 15 is the starting date for the signing of contracts under the Great Plains conservation program. This is an entirely new program. It is not to take the place of any other program. It is to supplement and to support other programs now in effect.

All governmental agencies such as the soil conservation service, extension service, ASC and FHA will take part in this program. Application for assistance may be made to any one of these agencies.

The Great Plains Conservation program is a long time program to promote land water use thru a stepped up conservation program. Contracts will be signed to cover a period of from three to ten years and to end not later than 1971. It is not an annual program. A complete plan of operation will be worked out with each farmer or rancher who desires to sign a contract. This plan is to be made for each individual farm or ranch, based upon the needs and land capability.

This program is entirely voluntary. No one will enter this program unless he fully desires to do so. It is not a drought or disaster relief program. It is not an income supplement program. It is to get conservation on the ground within the areas where climatic conditions are a hazard. See your local SCS technicians for more information on this program.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

The community property laws make a lot of difference in how much estate tax a man dying in Texas may owe. Generally speaking the estate can be twice as large in Texas as in non-community property states before any estate tax is due. Since the wife owns half of the community property the estate must be worth $120,000 instead of $60,000 before any federal taxes are due. However, on the date of your death the value of your half and the widow's half of your property assume a new value for future income tax purposes. After the death of either the husband or wife in a community property state, land bought for $1.00 an acre may be worth $1,000 an acre for future income tax purposes or, on the other hand, you may have paid $1,000 an acre for it and it will be worth only $1.00 an acre in the future. This makes it profitable for many people to pay an estate tax because the increased value of the widow's property for income tax purposes may save many times the small estate tax payment in future income tax payments. It may pay you to see a reliable tax planning man.

SERVICE

"NATURE KNOWS NO
PAUSE IN PROGRESS AND DEVELOPMENT"

Author's name below)

Our fight against sickness is a continuous one. Research workers are always seeking better drugs and new treatments. About one-third of the ingredients in last year's prescriptions were unknown the year before.

We must keep well informed. A newly discovered drug can almost overnight change a physician's prescribing habits, so that there is no further need for the replaced drug. Every prescription pharmacy regularly discards these drugs that are no longer needed.

Despite all this, the cost-per-illness of medicines grows less each year. You get better so much more quickly.
