

Red Carpet Rolled For McLean Ex-Students

Weekend Celebration Planned

"Old Times" will be the order of the day beginning tomorrow as ex-students of McLean's High School begin pouring in for the largest homecoming ever to be held.

Officers and committeemen of the Ex-Students Association have lined up a full schedule of events for the returning exes, which will stretch from Friday at 3 p. m. until midnight Saturday.

Kicking off the two-day celebration will be a pep rally at 3 p. m. Second on tap for the exes, as well as the entire community, will be the McLean Tiger opening grid tussle scheduled on the home field at 8 p. m. with the Shamrock Irishmen.

Official greeters from the Ex-Students Association will be on hand at the game to welcome the exes and pin them with an appropriate marker designating their name and the year they graduated.

Immediately after the game, the ex-students will congregate in the grade school cafeteria for free coffee and doughnuts with a visiting session. The coffee time is planned to begin at 10 p. m.

Saturday the ex-students will register at the American Legion Hall from 9 a. m. to 12 noon.

It was announced that at this registration, places would be designated for classes to hold individual meetings, so it is important that all visitors register.

At 12 noon a big barbecue lunch will be held for the exes, in the City Park, served by Underwood's of Amarillo. For this reason it is urged that all persons planning to attend should make reservations by Friday so that places could be made for everyone.

Next on the list for the exes will be a general session for everyone in the school gym from 5 to 6 p. m. This will be for the purpose of electing new officers and dispensing with all business necessary before the end of the homecoming.

Two events will give ex-students a choice Saturday night with a band concert in the park and a dance in the American Legion Hall, beginning at 8:30. With a western band, the dance will continue until 12 midnight, and will continue the activities for the celebration.

It was announced this year that homecomings would be held every three years in the future, which will set the next at 1962.

PEP CLUB ORGANIZED

The Pep Club met Monday in the high school auditorium.

Election of officers was held and Teena McMurphy was elected president; Carole Boston, vice president; Phyllis Flowers, secretary-treasurer; and Margie Railsback reporter. Mrs. Mary Tom Riley and Miss Jimmie Lee DaBerry were chosen to serve as sponsors of the club for the year.

The main topic of discussion was the uniforms to be worn to ball games. "If you want to see what the club decided on," a spokesman said, "come to the ball game Friday night."

Meeting Called Of Band Boosters

A meeting of the McLean Band Boosters will be held Monday night Sept. 7, at 8 p. m., it was announced this week by Jim Boyd, band director.

The organization operates under the assumption that parents of all band students are boosters. During the past the organization has done much in aiding the music program. They have rewarded senior students, and have made it possible for other students to attend summer band camps.

Director Boyd stated that he was looking forward to meeting with the group and discussing plans for the future band and choir during the forthcoming year.

NEW CHANGES MARK OPENING OF NEW McLEAN SCHOOL TERM

A new school term in McLean is now successfully underway, with enrollment slightly under the number enrolled last year, it was reported this week.

Beginning this year, McLean High School went under a new system, which now includes seven periods in one day. Previously the school day included six periods. Superintendent of Schools Freeman Melton Jr. stated that the new seven-period system is favorable in that it allows capable students to take one more subject, and that it is also more flexible for arranging schedules. It will also allow teachers one period in which to do grading, work with students individually, etc.

Enrollment in high school by classes for seniors, 13 girls and 19 boys; juniors, 15 girls and 16 boys; sophomores, 27 girls and 26 boys; and freshmen, 16 girls and 17 boys. Total high school enrollment is 159 to date.

Women in Male Attire

Another thing—seems like it is getting about time for the law regarding women masquerading in male attire to be enforced. We haven't seen any local talent wearing pants, or maybe we wouldn't know them with pants on, but there is scarcely a day passes now but what a number of tourist cars come through with female women wearing pants.
 Now it might do, out in the mountains far from the face of the populace, but in the busy marts of trade and the zone of high civilization it isn't proper, and by heck, it shouldn't be allowed. If there is any place under the sun where a man's gaze ought to be restricted it is on the busy streets of our cities and it's "Sumpin' Feerce" to be unable to look in any one direction by such appearances. We are

SOIL DISTRICT HONORED BY POSTAL STAMP

The Gray County soil conservation district is one of more than 2800 such districts throughout the country being honored by the issuance of a commemorative soil conservation stamp by the post office department.

The stamp was issued Aug. 26 at Rapid City, S. D., at the annual meeting of the Soil Conservation Society of America, and went on sale at local post offices the following day, Aug. 27. The stamp is in three colors and depicts a modern conservation farm. It is a four-cent stamp.

The Gray County Soil Conservation District was organized by local farmers in 1947. The district now has 553 cooperators, or farmers and ranchers working with the district, applying needed conservation treatment to their soils.

The district is governed by a board of supervisors. These are Curtis Schaffer, chairman; Roland E. Dauer, vice chairman; Elmer McLaughlin, secretary; and Felton Webb and James W. Clett, members. Technical assistance for the Gray County SCD is provided by the Soil Conservation Service. William (Bill) B. Brooks is in charge.

Accomplishments of the district and its cooperators for the year of 1958 covered 18,340 acres of dry cropland, 58,966 acres rangeland, and 900 acres of irrigated cropland. Dryland practices most commonly applied were stubble mulching, cover cropping, and contour farming. Rangeland practices commonly applied were proper range use, deferred grazing and pasture (or range) seeding. Irrigation practices were improved water application, land leveling, laterals—which were not reflected in acres given above—and improving the irrigation system by increasing its efficiency.

The Soil Conservation stamp is an outlet to progress is our own district as well as other such districts across the country.

MRS. ROBERT EARL STUBBLEFIELD, JR.

Bob Stubblefield and Suzanne Redd Marry in Houston

St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Houston was the setting for the wedding of Miss Suzanne Margaret Redd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Williamson Redd, 4702 Holly, Bellaire, and Robert Earl Stubblefield Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Earl Stubblefield of McLean, Friday evening, Aug. 28. Rev. Arthur E. Hartwell read the wedding service before an altar flanked by tall baskets of white chrysanthemums and stepanotis and tiered candelabra bearing lighted white tapers. John Mosely, organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied the soloist Mrs. Bryan Close of Shamrock, sister of the groom, who sang "O Perfect Love" and "May the Grace of Christ Our Savior." Traditional marches were used.

Maid-of-honor was Miss Isabel Hodgson and bridesmaids were Misses Nancy Redd, sister of the bride, Kitty Lou Ivey of Freer, Elizabeth Hodgson, and Elizabeth Oliver. They wore identical dresses of Dior blue silk organza with blue lace bertha collars and matching lace chapel caps. They carried corsages of pink mums.

Devonn Light of Stinnett, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a pink organza dress with white accessories.

Jerry Allison Stubblefield attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Jack Matters of Dallas, Stuart Conyers of Dallas, Tom Ewens and Don Cook of Houston.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white silk organza. The portrait neckline was outlined with Swiss embroidery, re-embroidered with iridescent sequins and the bouffant skirt fell into a cathedral train having the same embroidered motif. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion was secured by a small Juliana cap of iridescent sequins. She carried a white prayer book centered with a white orchid with a cascade of lilies of the valley. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Redd chose a dress of green taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Stubblefield, the bridegroom's mother, wore a champagne beige lace dress with black accessories and a red rosebud corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was laid with a white taffeta and net cloth and centered with white mums flanked by silver candelabra with white tapers. Mrs. Don Light of Stinnett, sister of the groom, served the tiered wedding cake. Miss Mary Engbrock poured punch and Mrs. J. H. Hill registered the guests Miss Mary Twining, Miss Linda Jones and Mrs. Robert Redd assisted at the reception.

For the wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride traveled in a brown suit accented with tangerine accessories and a white orchid lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Bell-sire High School and the bridegroom was graduated from McLean High School. Both are students in Texas Technological College, Lubbock, where they will resume their studies at the opening of the fall term. They will be at home at 2002 29th St., Lubbock, after Sept. 6.

Pre-nuptial courtesies included several showers, bridesmaid luncheon given by the bride's mother, a spinsters' dinner given by Miss Isabel Hodgson, and the rehearsal dinner given by the groom's parents.

by Clyde Dickerson, Manager

INTRODUCING JOE McDONALD

Changes in scenery are always good for everyone, and this will be one that I think you will find particularly delightful. The mug you see in the upper left hand corner is being traded in for a much nicer looking one.

His name is Joe McDonald, and he hails from Dallas, Texas. The citizens of Tyler, Texas, will be the ones that will have to look at me from now on. I'll say for sure that it is really hard for me to leave the McLean area and all of the wonderful people here that I count among my best friends. The telephone company has seen fit to give me a nice promotion to the manager's spot in Tyler, and for that reason I am happy to go.

I know that you will like Joe and find him a swell person to work with. He will make his home in Pampa and take over the manager's job immediately. He and his wife, Judy, have a two-year-old daughter, Julie. He is a graduate of Bradley University, and started to work for the telephone company in March, 1957.

Monday I made the rounds with Joe and tried to introduce him to as many people as I could, but if you haven't met him be sure to say howdy the first time you see him in town.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

BAPTISTS BELIEVE... FREEDOM OF THE INDIVIDUAL

More men have sacrificed their lives for freedom than for any other cause. Courageous spirits everywhere are ready to join Patrick Henry in saying, "Give me liberty or give me death."

Our most cherished freedom is religious freedom. This includes the right of every person to choose for himself whether he shall follow God's way. To seek to prevent or compel such a choice by use of force is contrary to the spirit and will of Christ. This way of thinking Baptists call "the competency of the soul in all matters of religion" and it is a way clearly taught in the Bible.

To a lowly woman drawing water from a well Jesus spoke great truths about the nature of God, how to worship him. This face-to-face encounter demonstrates the emphasis Jesus puts on the individual (John 4:1-26).

Jesus also told of a good shepherd who was not satisfied until the last lost sheep was found. Though the rest of the world should live in safety, as long as even one person is outside God's kingdom, the yearning, loving heart of God cannot be satisfied. To him the individual is of supreme importance.

The Bible points the way to this truth. "There is one God, and one mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus" (1 Timothy 2:5); "Every one of us shall give account of himself to God" (Romans 14:12). "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (John 1:12).

To agree that the individual has a right—and ought to have freedom—to make his own religious choice raises a serious question about infant baptism because the infant can make no choice.

For a child to receive baptism without his knowledge and consent seems to Baptists to be contrary to the spirit and letter of the New Testament. It means that one of life's most sacred ceremonies is imposed upon him without his will. Baptist churches baptize only those who have believed in Christ for themselves. They believe that parents, pastors and priests may do many things for the individual, but they cannot take his place before God.

During the 1955 meeting of the Baptist World Alliance in London, England, a world-wide statement on religious freedom was adopted. Among other things, the statement said: "A person is not physically born into a religious faith, but must of his own free will enter upon his inheritance as a child of God. A man's right to choose or change his faith must be preserved, as well as his liberty to dissent or to make objection because of conscience's sake."

It is more important to let freedom prevail today than ever before, beginning in the life of the individual.

Area Observations

20th Century Cowpokes

Down in Matador they're holding an Old Settlers reunion, and right down the line of his style, Douglas Meador makes some comments on the changing times in the life of cowboys.

Decline of the cowboy's fame may be in sight. A white plastic western hat is now on the market, which brings us to the point where the true followers of hawling, stubborn cattle stopped and unsaddled. This is the place where they tried the feel of plow handles and began sleeping in duets. They were not aware that future creators of song, word and picture would make them romantic heroes. They were tired of the hopeless, difficult work of punching cattle, they were tired of flanking hat brims beating their faces.

Somewhere on the far horizon of circumstances justice appears to have been violated in the nation's great fields of petroleum deposits. Here is the land that once was the Indian's property. Here are the same mountains, hills and vales; the naked plains where the Red Man's ancestors broke the sleet from soggy twigs and built their pitiful fires. Here is the land where Indian children must have chilled and died, while beneath their parents' moccasins was the unlighted fire that would have brought warmth to their teepees forever. The point is without justification in view of the absence of knowledge or implements to apply it. On the other hand the present generation may be closer to great power and yet farther from knowledge of it than the Indian camp above the gas field.

Duty is shorn of its sublimity if it possesses an alternative. Gossip is pretty apt, through force of habit, to neglect to wipe the mud from its feet when crossing its own rug.

Fuel for both fire and love must be added faithfully else the spark consumes itself and the ashes are finally cold.

The strange black stone I carry for luck frequently causes me to ponder. Its worth is strictly a supposition, yet when I am tempted to toss it away, I am fearful of some misfortune which it may hold at bay.

EUROPE IN '62

And on the strictly modern scene, H. M. Bagarly of the Tulsa Herald remarks about the future of the travel industry:

According to the AP release under a New York dateline, in a couple of years you may be able to sail to Europe for $50. And this isn't one of those faretched tales about what may be happening 100 years from now.

Hyman B. Cantor, New York hotel and steamship operator, has already signed preliminary contracts for two 90,000 gross ton liners, each capable of carrying 6,000 passengers. He said that about 20% of the passenger cabins—with private baths—will sell for the $50 rate, east or west bound. The balance of choicer accommodations will be sealed to a maximum of $125. The ships will be delivered in 1961 and 1962.

The fares do not include food. Passengers will pay for what they eat at numerous restaurants, coffee shops and cafeterias, such as those found in any city. Cantor reasons that he will have a captive buying public of 6,000 persons. He will offer the same kind of shops and services which are found ashore.

Cantor, head of Sea Coach Transatlantic Lines, Inc., said the vessels will have a 34-knot speed, enabling them to make the trip in four days.

The most inexpensive fare to Europe now is about $200, including food.

The vessels will be built in Hamburg, Germany, and will operate between New York and Zebrugge, Belgium, the first port of call on the eastward passage, then on to either Cuxhaven or Bremerhaven in West Germany.

Cantor said he obtained financing abroad when he failed to get action in this country.

He said each ship will have two swimming pools, a skating rink, two movie theaters and convention facilities for 3,000 or more persons.

Just for the records, the largest passenger liner now afloat is the Queen Elizabeth with a gross tonnage of 83,673. The Queen Mary is second with 81,327 gross tons. The liner United States has a gross tonnage of 53,329.

BROUGHT TO BOOKS

From Max Wade in the Groom News:

Shortly after the noon hour Monday a blast shook the plate glass windows of business houses on Main Street and people came running out of store buildings to see what caused the explosive noise. Sue Whitley who was down the street came running back to the tailor shop expecting to find the steam boiler in pieces and the rear of the tailor shop building blasted into the alley. However, the noise was explained away as nothing more than a sonic boom caused by a passing jet plane kicking the sound barrier around. We hope that pilots will be a little more careful in the future to do the sonic booming nearer the cities where they cash their pay checks. Quite a few people, a little nervous since the earthquake tragedy that took place recently near Yellowstone Park, probably felt like grabbing their Bible Monday for a little serious study.

DOORSTEPS OF McLEAN

Every man knows that before you sell anything to a customer you've got to get him into the store and get him around.

And the first thing a potential customer pays attention to is the outside appearance of an establishment. If you're going to sell him on your firm, you've got to make it look attractive to him. The same is true with growing towns.

McLean is the best town in the Texas Panhandle, and beyond a shadow of a doubt offers more opportunity than any other, but the looks of the city's shabby "McLean" signs on the highways coming in hardly bespeak the true character of the community. Fact is, if somebody meant to judge the town by the signs we keep, we'd probably get rated down around the level of Shamrock, which shouldn't be allowed at all.

McLean is a lovely city, and deserves better doorsteps. It would be simple, and the cost negligible for the difference of impression to the newcomer.

Maybe the city will volunteer to just up and build us some new signs while the weather is warm and comfortable for sign building.

BEATING THE "SUMMER SLUMP"

An executive of a big department store recently had something to say about how retailers can move goods, particularly during the so-called "summer slump." He put it in a jingle:

"Early to bed;
"Early to rise;
"Work like hell;
"And advertise."

Then he dealt with newspapers as an advertising media: "Newspaper circulation stays up in the summer. There is no appreciable change in the number of papers distributed, and this means that our advertising will get full readership and may even be more effective, because people are more relaxed and have more time to read."

No matter what the season—and in spite of the emergence of newer forms of advertising media—newspapers remain a prime vehicle for interesting people in goods and services and persuading them to buy. You can't beat the written word.

ARTIFICIAL TROUBLES

The railroad passenger service dilemma has been much in the news and editorial columns of late. The Wall Street Journal has made an especially apt comment: "If railroad passenger service were facing possible extinction simply as a victim of progress, it would be no more a cause of general regret than the passing of the dinosaur, the dodo or the stagecoach."

"But the fact is that the railroads' troubles are largely artificial—largely created for them by the overlapping federal and state agencies which regulate them with such relentless intimacy. This is done on the basis of the truly outmoded theory that railroads represent a monopoly of transportation."

But there may be light ahead. The Interstate Commerce Commission has made a series of recommendations, based on a three-year study, designed to help the railroads reduce their heavy and growing passenger deficits. The recommendations include reduction or elimination of unprofitable routes; greater latitude in fare revisions; more equitable taxation, and an inquiry into work-rules of the kind that are responsible for enormously expensive and unnecessary feather bedding.

Best of all—aside from differing views on specific proposals—the ICC recommendations do envision some relaxation and modernization of regulatory practices. And this, as a general principle, is the greatest of all needs. To quote the Journal once more: "Excessive regulation and passenger trains cannot coexist in today's world. Of the two the outmoded bureaucracy is the one that ought to go the way of the stagecoach."

"I'll Never Get This Right"

PLAINS CATTLE FEEDING PROGRAM IS STRESSED

The Plains of West Texas could realize additional millions of dollars of revenue through more feeding of cattle for market—yet feeding operations are so limited that the area provides less than two-thirds its own demand for beef.

This is but one conclusion to be drawn from a publication just received by the new Plains Livestock Feeding Committee. Just off the press in July are 10,000 copies of Feeder's Forum, issue number one, the initial effort of the new committee to encourage expansion of livestock feeding in 67 West Texas plains counties.

During the first three months of 1959, 90,000 head of cattle were on feed in plains feedlots. They produced an estimated 20,250,000 pounds of gain. They also produced 90,000 tons of manure.

The cash value of these two products was about $5,445,000. Demand for Beef to Increase Describing the plains as the three crop-reporting districts of Texas known as the Northern High Plains, the Southern High Plains, and the Red Rolling Plains, the pamphlet predicts that beef consumption will increase in this area from 110,189,360 pounds in 1958 to an estimated 149,520,000 pounds in 1975, following a population increase to 1,869,000 from 1958's 1,377,367.

This is followed by figures showing present annual rate of beef production from feed lots in the area (1958) is 69,143,250 pounds. Thus it is apparent that only slightly more than 60% of the area's own market demand is being supplied by area feeding operations—present demand, to say nothing of future needs.

At the present time, 22 packers and slaughterers in the area process 208,000 cattle per year. Is there enough grain, protein supplement and roughage produced in the area to justify an increase in feedlot operations? The committee's study makes these observations:

1. Sorghum produced for grain in 1958 was 10,014,760,000 pounds—which could feed 5,563,756 cattle of marketable slaughter grade.

2. The 440,437 tons of cottonseed meal processed in 1958 would furnish protein supplement for 2,936,247 cattle.

3. Roughage could include 1958's production total of 244,677 tons of cottonseed hulls—which would supply dry roughage for 326,236 cattle. A potential production of 4,448,000 tons of silage would feed 1,779,000 cattle. Alfalfa tonnage produced in the area is sufficient to meet present feed lot requirements.

The number of cattle on farms and ranches of the area on January 1 this year: only 1,075,000. Half the pamphlet is devoted to describing the essentials for profitable cattle feeding.

Four types of profit opportunity are possible through feeding cattle properly the pamphlet points out:

1. A better market for locally grown grain and roughage.
2. Use of available labor during slack seasons.
3. Improvement of soil fertility with manure.

"No need to schedule baths at our home," says Mrs. Dan Staggs, 100 East 15th St., Littlefield, Texas.

"We have ELECTRIC WATER HEATING!"

The Staggs family live in a completely all-electric home — their home, was, in fact, the first Gold Medallion home to be certified under the high standards set by the Medallion Home program. Electricity is doing a clean, dependable job for the Staggs. They like all their electric appliances and with 5 in the family, they appreciate, all the more, the abundance of hot water that they get from flameless electric water heating.

Yes, ask your Public Service office about the special water heating rate. It makes electric water heating economical, too.

The Armchair Quarterback

Now with the mighty McLean Tigers taking to the gridiron, it's high time that a seer such as I began furnishing the inside details so that all avid followers may proceed through the season informed.

In addition to calculating all averages of our Tiger lads so that we may keep a close eye on the team, I shall also give forth with un-syndicated, but highly dependable predictions about our own as well as other games being played.

For the first contest I am furnished with ample information so as to forecast a victory for the McLean Tigers in the opener over the Shamrock Irishmen by a margin of 27-14. This is not at all to degrade the scoring ability of the Tigers, but after all, the lads must have a game or two to stretch their legs before their offensive power becomes 100% effective. And I must insist on the ethics of readers not to let this greatly affect the under-the-grandstand odds.

For those who are interested in the outcome of the openers for the rest of the district, here they are. White Deer, pre-picked to walk off again with the 2-A flag, will pierce Groom by 32-20.

Clarendon, supposed to be improved over last year, will nevertheless fall to Stinnett in its opener, 19-13.

Canadian will have an easy beginning over Wheeler, 20-6.

Panhandle will fly past Gruber, 14-0, and Memphis, still the weak one in 2-A, will fall to Tulla by the wide margin of 32-7.

Lefors took its first date open for the season and will go against Shamrock next week.

READING PROGRAM SUCCESS

The summer reading program at the Lovett Memorial Library was termed a success by sponsors.

This emphasis on summer reading was begun in the middle of June, and the number of books checked out by little folk through junior high increased immediately and steadily until the final day, Aug. 28.

Story Hour was offered at the library each Friday morning with very capable story tellers directing games and telling the stories to an average of 19 children, ages 3 through 7. A total of 51 in this age group were enrolled.

Those telling stories were Mesdames Bob Black, S. A. Cousins, Clate Peabody, Jack Riley, Freeman Melton, Richard Back, David Fultz, and Willie Harris. Helpers at these sessions were Kathy Harlan, Phyllis Bench, Marilyn Magee, Sharon Sitter, Sue Beck, Vicky Bunch, Trudy Fultz, Toni Mertel and Janice Page.

Record was kept of the books that each child read. He was required to read at least five non-fiction out of the necessary 15 books. First and second graders were required to read five readers, the purpose being to broaden a child's reading habits and interests.

A party was held in the City Park Aug. 28 at 9:30 a. m. for all boys and girls who had participated in the reading program. Games were played by the two groups, and refreshments of pop and cookies were served to the 28 children attending. Mesdames Clyde Magee, Harold Bunch and Kenneth Fourrier and the regular story hour helpers assisted Mrs. Hester at the party. Then the librarian issued the reading club certificates.

Eighty-four boys and girls participated in the program. Thirty-one completed the reading requirements, while some of the 31 read as many as twice the requirements. Four little children had a 100% attendance at the Story Hour.

ladies present and under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Homer Abbott, and the program chairman, Mrs. E. L. Price, the ladies broke all attendance records for W. M. S. attendance. There were 60 present for all or part of the service and luncheon.

Indian blankets, rugs, baskets and vases gave a very realistic atmosphere for the program which began with special music by Mrs. Paul Miller and Mrs. Frank Simpson as they sang "Indian Love Call." Discussion of topic was given by four ladies and one little girl, all in Indian dress with gay colored jewelry and feather accessories as they sat around an improvised camp fire. They told of Baptist work among the Indians of Oklahoma and offered silent prayer that the great need for more missions, more workers and more finances might soon be fulfilled. Mrs. Frank Howard sang "When Calls the Indian," followed by open discussion in which others told of personal experiences in their association with different tribes and, in different localities. Lunch was served at noon, and true to Indian custom and taste, buffalo (?) meat, corn on the cob and candied apples were among the delicacies served. After lunch a short business session was presided over by Mrs. Abbott. Plans were made concerning the new year, and the ladies adjourned, looking forward to more such meetings in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Burrows of Pauls Valley, Okla., and former McLean residents, have moved back here, where Mr. Burrows is employed at Puckett's Food Store.

COULD BE—Warren Spahn, left, and Lew Burdette, right, hope to combine their talents and make 50 wins for the Milwaukee Braves, this season. Last year, the combo won 42, lost 21. Spahn, who recently hurled himself to a lifetime 250-win mark, might well become the top-winning left-hander in National League history before the pennants fly this fall.
