

Meador Honored At Lions '20s' Banquet

With a wide and colorful array of "Roaring 20s" wardrobe befitting the attending crowd, a surprise evening honoring one of McLean's most outstanding Lions Club members constituted the program Tuesday night at the McLean Lions Ladies Night banquet in the Methodist church.

Receiving the special tribute was Boyd Meador, who has just completed 30 years of service with a perfect attendance record. In accordance with the year Meador joined the club, 1929, the theme of the "20s" was carried out with Sammy Haynes acting as master of ceremonies in a "This Is Your Life" program. The many events in Meador's life were reviewed, with special mention to his many achievements in Lionism.

Most noteworthy during his 32 year tenure were his terms as president in McLean; deputy district governor; and finally district governor. Along with those offices held, Meador has contributed substantially to the many Lions projects throughout his 30 years of membership, both locally as well as district and statewide.

Lions President W. C. Simpson presented Meador with a bronze plaque honoring him for his achievement, and Mrs. Meador was presented a gift by Freeman Melton, Jr.

Special guests for the banquet were District Governor Billy Hunter, his wife and District Cabinet Secretary R. E. Irelan and his wife, all from Amarillo; and Sam Pakan, Shamrock Lions Club president.

Hunter gave a short talk to the group, especially paying tribute to Meador for his accomplishments.

Receiving the prize for the best-dressed "Roaring 20s" couple were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burroughs. A special vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Jim Hathaway and Mrs. Guy Hester, along with those who worked with them, for the coronation and program of the evening.

He was born Dec. 1, 1883, in North Carolina and moved with his parents to Cleburne at the age of 1 year. He moved to the Panhandle in 1924, and worked around Clarendon and Albreed until 1939, when he moved to McLean. At the time of his death he was living on the James Noel ranch north of town.

March Of Dimes Now Underway

Launching an expanded attack on behalf of a whole new group of physically underprivileged persons in this country and throughout the country, the "Greater Victories" March of Dimes is now under way in Gray County, Gerald Hill, McLean campaign director, announced today.

The appeal will continue throughout the month with the traditional Mothers' March climaxing the 1959 campaign, Hill said.

"In 1959," he said, "the March of Dimes must meet the big challenge of the three faces of crippling—polio, arthritis and birth defects. Just as the National Foundation came up with the Salk vaccine, so, too, we hope to move ahead toward greater victories in arthritis and birth defects.

"Polio remains one of our terrors because there are many victims of that disease still needing help. Polio patients in our county who need assistance will continue to receive it from the March of Dimes. In addition, we are planning new programs providing assistance to young arthritis patients and to children born with defects of the central nervous system. Direct financial assistance to such children thru the age of 18, plus aid to all polio patients who need it will bring new hope to many youngsters in our country."

In addition to direct help for many local children, adults suffering the pain of arthritis and persons victimized by birth defects of any kind also will benefit from the 1959 March of Dimes, through a greatly expanded research program aimed at finding causes, cures and preventions in the two areas, the campaign director pointed out.

"The 1959 March of Dimes will help more people than ever before and will hold out hope for literally millions. The March of Dimes set out in 1938 to find a preventive for paralytic polio. That preventive is now a fact.

WOMAN KILLED AT ALANREED

Funeral services for Mrs. Virginia Elizabeth Hooper, 74, of Alanreed, who was accidentally shot and killed Tuesday afternoon by her 11-year-old grandson, will be held Friday at 2:00 p. m. in the First Methodist Church in Clyde. Rev. Lee Crouch, pastor, will officiate.

Burial will be in the Clyde cemetery under the direction of Richerson-Lamb Funeral Home of McLean.

The accident occurred about 5:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Ben Money Home, 3 miles southeast of Alanreed as Mrs. Hooper sat in a rocking chair in the living room. Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan said the shooting was accidental and Jeff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Money, will not be charged.

A verdict of death by accidental wound was returned by Justice of the Peace Cliff Day of McLean.

Jeff, his brother and several friends had gone hunting on the family farm and returned about 5:30 p. m., according to Constable T. D. Fish of McLean. The constable said an older brother removed the magazine from the .22 caliber rifle which was given to the boys as a Christmas gift, but apparently a cartridge remained in the firing chamber.

As Jeff attempted to place the gun behind a door it accidentally discharged and the bullet struck Mrs. Hooper in the neck. Mrs. Hooper was born March 8, 1885, in Santa Anna. She moved to Alanreed from Big Spring in May, 1958. She was married to Alonzo C. Hooper June 19, 1906, at Santa Anna.

Bank Deposits For 1958 Show Major Increase

The ever-increasing growth of McLean was evidenced again this week in a report by the American National Bank, indicating a rise in deposits of $148,540.12 for 1958 over the preceding year.

Deposits for the year of 1958 totaled $2,010,940.28. Deposits for the year 1947 were $1,862,400.16. Also, according to the report, the resources of the bank were up $162,489.76.

The year of 1959 marked the sixth consecutive year that deposits in McLean have substantially increased. In 1953 the figure was $1,476,008.38, and in 1956 it had risen to $1,643,324.94. During the past year deposits have passed the two million dollar mark for the first time.

Two main contributing factors in the increase are the El Paso Natural Gas Co. and Marie Foundations. Expansion in the gas plant during the past year brought an increased payroll over former years, and the foundations factory doubled its staff over that of 1957.

These industries, along with an increased number of small bus-

POST OFFICE RECEIPTS UP $12,737.33

Postal receipts in McLean for the year 1958 indicated another substantial rise, it was reported this week by Bill Reeves, McLean postmaster.

For the calendar year of 1958 receipts totaled $28,377.46. This figure is $12,737.33 above the receipts for 1957.

One of the chief factors, Reeves explained, in the large increase is due to the many mailing shipments of Marie Foundations. The postal receipt increase is only one of many facets in which the firm has added substantially to the economic prosperity of McLean.

Since 1937 the postal income has climbed from $7,856.94 to its present figure. Receipts climbed until 1945 when they totaled $13,553.03, and then dropped in 1946 and 1947.

In 1948 records indicated an income of $11,564.59, and since that time have shown a steady increase. In 1954 the figure reached $13,939.67; climbed to $15,640.13 in 1957; and now in 1958 the largest amount ever to be recorded was reported.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

KEEP RECORDS

There is no time like the present to start a procedure that will aid you with next year's income tax calculations. That is to maintain a record of your income and outgo. Such a record can be simple and brief but it may save you tax dollars and many hours of work in filling out tax forms.

The average man who works for a wage or salary doesn't have to concern himself about keeping books and records—at least so he thinks. His employer keeps a reliable record of his earnings and Uncle Sam looks primarily to the employer for information on his earnings and for the withholding of various taxes out of his wages.

But whether or not you run a business of your own, you have a partner who each year is claiming a substantial interest in your personal income. And the law requires that you keep books for him in case he ever asks for an accounting.

Perhaps you own your home or are paying it out in installments. It's likely that some day you may sell that house. When you do you'll want to be able to prove whether you realized a gain or a loss on that sale. If a gain in capital resulted, it probably will add to your income tax. If a loss was suffered, it may possibly reduce your income tax.

You may have made certain capital improvements on the house while you live in it, but unless you can show what out-of-pocket expense you incurred while making them, you may not get credit for them in your cost basis so as to prove that you had no capital gain or that you had a loss.

Or perhaps you received that little summer cottage on the lake as a gift from your father. If you ever sell it, you should be able to show Uncle Sam not only the cost of improvements you made on it while you owned it, but also what it was worth for tax purposes before Dad gave it to you.

It may be that you are receiving an annuity on an insurance policy. If so, do you know how much that policy costs you and how much of that cost you have recovered tax-free to date? There are many kinds of transactions you enter into that may some day affect the computation of your personal income tax. The best proof of the cost of anything you've purchased is a receipted bill or canceled check.

The McLean News
Thursday, Jan. 8, 1959

If one of these pieces of evidence relates to any transaction that may affect your income in later years, it's a good idea to keep it. Your "partner" may some day ask to see it.

'Quickie' Desserts Will Delight Family

Parfaits, puddings and Boston cream pie shown, above, owe their delicious goodness to use of instant puddings and evaporated milk. They're easy to prepare, pretty to serve, delightful to eat.

For party pleasure at any time, evaporated milk can produce really delightful desserts. It combines perfectly with prepared pudding mixes and, of course, stores conveniently and keeps in best condition for a long time.

Boston cream pie, always a favorite, is one suggestion.

Cut cake layers in half to make four layers.

Cover one layer with 1/2 of the chocolate pudding. Top with second layer and 1/2 of the pudding, then third layer and remaining pudding.

Psalms Touch on All of Man's Experiences

Only as one reads the Psalms in their entirety can one grasp the depth and immensity of their exploitation of every mood and emotion of which the human soul is capable, and their reaction to every experience that mankind has known.

Here are portrayed souls in the very heights of exultation and religious ecstasy, dwelling on the mountains, with the clear view of God, and the full inspiration of His presence.

Here, too, are souls crying out of the depths of despair, and finding light in the valley of darkness.

Here is realism in the face of suffering and persecution, and the designs and hatred of enemies.

And, above all, realism in the face of change and decay, and the grimness of death itself.

In the Psalms there is to be found the voice of friendship and fellowship, the pilgrim songs of those who through life are journeying and worshipping together.

From the opening Psalm to the closing Psalm, with its typical song of praise, the Psalms move in the rhythm of natural and human experience.

The church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values and truths.

Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend church regularly. They can be accepted on the surface as much-used expressions, or they can produce guides to a wealth of spiritual gain and depth.

1. For his own sake.
2. For his children's sake.
3. For the sake of the community and nation.
4. For the sake of the church itself, which needs his support to fulfill its purpose and end.

Can you do less than remember God on His day?

NEW TARGETS

During the month of January, the annual March of Dimes campaign will be conducted again. And the 1959 observance will be the most important in its long history—and the most deserving of universal support.

The March of Dimes was originally directed at polio, and out of it came the great Salk vaccine. The polio fight is not over—as the Detroit epidemic of this year demonstrated. It will be continued until final victory is won.

But now the March of Dimes is to do much more. It is sponsored by the National Foundation, hitherto known as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. That change in name is mighty significant. For the March of Dimes is moving against new targets. The first of these are two of the greatest cripples of all—arthritis and birth defects. At least 11 million Americans suffer the pain of arthritis and rheumatism, and some 250,000 infants are born each year with some sort of defect. The National Foundation will now bring its great resources to bear in seeking victories over these cripples—even as it continues its work in the field of polio.

The March of Dimes needs your help. Give it—enthusiastically and generously.

WORKING HARDER TO GET NOWHERE

America's growth could be fatally limited by failure to preserve conditions favorable to business development. That warning has been sounded by the head of one of this country's principal electric power utilities. In his words: "The bright promise of the future could fade. The cloud that threatens is the sum of all the adverse forces against which business enterprise in this nation is struggling to maintain itself."

There exists, he went on, an apparent lack of public information and understanding of the processes by which capital is accumulated and facilities for production are placed at the disposal of society. The weight of taxation since the last world war has made the accumulation of capital for investment far more difficult than in the past. On top of that, employment costs in manufacturing have risen twice as fast as the growth in production. "This gap," to quote him again, "has contributed to an inflation of prices which favors debtors at the expense of lenders, eats up savings and destroys the incentive to lay away a nest egg."

Inflation makes the simple replacement of worn-out facilities more costly than the original plant—so "we have to run harder just to stand still."

Who has an interest in such problems as these? The answer is, everyone. We look forward hopefully to a future in which there will be more jobs and better jobs, greater opportunity, higher living standards, and all the rest of the material boons. But that future will be impossible of attainment unless we maintain a system in which enterprise can provide those living standards those opportunities. That is one truth no one can afford to forget.

HOW TO RAISE TAXES

Washington County, Oregon, is predominately rural. There are no large centers of population. And this county has had to deal with a pressing tax and revenue problem. It continually needs more money, primarily for the schools.

The county, in other words, is in the same boat as multitudes of local governments throughout the nation. Despite rising property and other local taxes, there's never enough money to meet needs and desires.

This gives significance to something that happened in Washington County the other day. The county's two largest taxpayers turned in their property tax checks. Both are business-managed utilities. The largest of the two is an electric company, the second, a telephone company. The payments marked all-time highs. That of the electric company alone—almost $255,000—would be sufficient to educate close to 700 county students.

Suppose, now, that the county didn't get these payments—because the utilities were government-owned operations, and hence tax free. What would happen to the tax bills of all the remaining taxpayers?

This homely little illustration has a universal application. Everywhere in the country where business-managed utilities are in operation they are among the largest and most dependable taxpayers. Actually, something like 24% of all power company revenues go to federal, state and local governments in taxes.

The way to inflate our already brutal tax burden is adopt more socialism.

Congressman Rogers Reports—

TO THE PEOPLE

CONGRESS IN 1959

The first session of the 86th Congress bids fair to be one of the most interesting and active sessions of Congress in the history of this nation. The chances are that it will start off with a decided "bang." At this reading, it would be my prediction that the first pop out of the box will come a number one controversial issue that could well shake political roots clear across the nation. The controversial issue will be whether or not to receive and swear in a new member duly certified by the state of Arkansas as having been elected. The newspapers here have reported that objection will be made to the seating of this member and that the matter will be put to a vote by the House of Representatives. The result of that vote will determine whether or not this member must stand aside until the House has thoroughly investigated the election at which he was elected. No doubt efforts will be made between now and the opening of the Congress to compromise the situation and to avoid the head-on conflict that would result from such parliamentary procedure. Whether or not these efforts are successful will depend on the willingness of the self-designated liberal group to yield on the point. The fact is that they have the votes to prevent the seating of the member in question, but may not want to display or test their strength on this particular issue. There will undoubtedly be some deep wounds resulting from the issue regardless of what happens; wounds that may last for many years.

It presently appears that the first order of business after the members are sworn in will be the attempt on the part of the self-styled liberal group to throttle the power of the rules committee. The rules committee is a screening committee through which most all legislation must pass before being presented to the entire House of Representatives. It serves as a traffic cop to prevent the flooding of the House with bills from the numerous committees. It constitutes a safety valve on the type of legislation to come before the Congress, and provides an opportunity for legislative bills that have been approved by the several committees to be carefully weighed with reference to the time for the presentation of such bills, whether or not the same are necessary, and whether or not the bills may be advisable when viewed in the light of the fiscal condition or fiscal policy of the government.

The reason that the self-styled liberal group wants to throttle the power of the rules committee is because there are a number of bills that come before the Congress each year that these members would like to bring before the entire House for extended debate or immediate passage if the mood of the House at that particular time so demands. Should this power of the rules committee be destroyed, it is obvious that the much needed cooling-off period so necessary in the careful scrutiny of bills that are to become the law of this land would be likewise destroyed. This would cause chaos and confusion and could very well operate to the detriment of the entire country. The Congress tried this method a should it be tried in this session of Congress. When these two matters have been disposed of, the Congress will then begin to consider a mass of legislative proposals that may well provide the backdrop to the most hectic session in many years.

Postal officials are scratching their heads over a drop-off in mail volume in some spots during the recent holiday season. Decline in volume as extensive as 20 per cent from last year's mail load has been reported by a few post offices.

Hoped for: a balanced federal budget in fiscal 1960, pegged at some 77 billion dollars, without a general tax increase. That's the word from the White House.

Out of successful tests with Uncle Sam's tape recorder-carrying satellite may some day come communications relay stations in outer space. So speculate communications engineers.

Refineries and power plants in Los Angeles, Calif., have agreed, on a trial basis, to burn natural gas in place of fuel oil during periods when smog conditions are unusually severe.

Editorial

NEW TARGETS

During the month of January, the annual March of Dimes campaign will be conducted again. And the 1959 observance will be the most important in its long history—and the most deserving of universal support.

The March of Dimes was originally directed at polio, and out of it came the great Salk vaccine. The polio fight is not over—as the Detroit epidemic of this year demonstrated. It will be continued until final victory is won.

But now the March of Dimes is to do much more. It is sponsored by the National Foundation, hitherto known as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. That change in name is mightily significant. For the March of Dimes is moving against new targets. The first of these are two of the greatest cripples of all—arthritis and birth defects. At least 11 million Americans suffer the pain of arthritis and rheumatism, and some 250,000 infants are born each year with some sort of defect. The National Foundation will now bring its great resources to bear in seeking victories over these cripples—even as it continues its work in the field of polio.

The March of Dimes needs your help. Give it—enthusiastically and generously.

WORKING HARDER TO GET NOWHERE

America's growth could be fatally limited by failure to preserve conditions favorable to business development. That warning has been sounded by the head of one of this country's principal electric power utilities. In his words: "The bright promise of the future could fade. The cloud that threatens is the sum of all the adverse forces against which business enterprise in this nation is struggling to maintain itself."

There exists, he went on, an apparent lack of public information and understanding of the processes by which capital is accumulated and facilities for production are placed at the disposal of society. The weight of taxation since the last world war has made the accumulation of capital for investment far more difficult than in the past. On top of that, employment costs in manufacturing have risen twice as fast as the growth in production. "This gap," to quote him again, "has contributed to an inflation of prices which favors debtors at the expense of lenders, eats up savings and destroys the incentive to lay away a nest egg."

Inflation makes the simple replacement of worn-out facilities more costly than the original plant—so "we have to run harder just to stand still."

Who has an interest in such problems as these? The answer is, everyone. We look forward hopefully to a future in which there will be more jobs and better jobs, greater opportunity, higher living standards, and all the rest of the material boons. But that future will be impossible of attainment unless we maintain a system in which enterprise can provide those living standards, those opportunities. That is one truth no one can afford to forget.

HOW TO RAISE TAXES

Washington County, Oregon, is predominately rural. There are no large centers of population. And this county has had to deal with a pressing tax and revenue problem. It continually needs more money, primarily for the schools.

The county, in other words, is in the same boat as multitudes of local governments throughout the nation. Despite rising property and other local taxes, there's never enough money to meet needs and desires.

This gives significance to something that happened in Washington County the other day. The county's two largest taxpayers turned in their property tax checks. Both are business-managed utilities. The largest of the two is an electric company, the second, a telephone company. The payments marked all-time highs. That of the electric company alone—almost $255,000—would be sufficient to educate close to 700 county students.

Suppose, now, that the county didn't get these payments—because the utilities were government-owned operations, and hence tax free. What would happen to the tax bills of all the remaining taxpayers?

This homely little illustration has a universal application. Everywhere in the country where business-managed utilities are in operation they are among the largest and most dependable taxpayers. Actually, something like 24% of all power company revenues go to federal, state and local governments in taxes.

The way to inflate our already brutal tax burden is adopt more socialism.

Congressman Rogers Reports— TO THE PEOPLE

CONGRESS IN 1959

The first session of the 86th Congress bids fair to be one of the most interesting and active sessions of Congress in the history of this nation. The chances are that it will start off with a decided "bang." At this reading, it would be my prediction that the first pop out of the box will come a number one controversial issue that could well shake political roots clear across the nation. The controversial issue will be whether or not to receive and swear in a new member duly certified by the state of Arkansas as having been elected. The newspapers here have reported that objection will be made to the seating of this member and that the matter will be put to a vote by the House of Representatives. The result of that vote will determine whether or not this member must stand aside until the House has thoroughly investigated the election at which he was elected. No doubt efforts will be made between now and the opening of the Congress to compromise the situation and to avoid the head-on conflict that would result from such parliamentary procedure. Whether or not these efforts are successful will depend on the willingness of the self-designated liberal group to yield on the point. The fact is that they have the votes to prevent the seating of the member in question, but may not want to display or test their strength on this particular issue. There will undoubtedly be some deep wounds resulting from the issue regardless of what happens; wounds that may last for many years.

It presently appears that the first order of business after the members are sworn in will be the attempt on the part of the self-styled liberal group to throttle the power of the rules committee. The rules committee is a screening committee through which most all legislation must pass before being presented to the entire House of Representatives. It serves as a traffic cop to prevent the flooding of the House with bills from the numerous committees. It constitutes a safety valve on the type of legislation to come before the Congress, and provides an opportunity for legislative bills that have been approved by the several committees to be carefully weighed with reference to the time for the presentation of such bills, whether or not the same are necessary, and whether or not the bills may be advisable when viewed in the light of the fiscal condition or fiscal policy of the government.

The reason that the self-styled liberal group wants to throttle the power of the rules committee is because there are a number of bills that come before the Congress each year that these members would like to bring before the entire House for extended debate or immediate passage if the mood of the House at that particular time so demands. Should this power of the rules committee be destroyed, it is obvious that the much needed cooling-off period so necessary in the careful scrutiny of bills that are to become the law of this land would be likewise destroyed. This would cause chaos and confusion and could very well operate to the detriment of the entire country. The Congress tried this method a few years back, and found out that it would not work, and that it should be discarded. The first vote that I cast when I came to Congress was a vote to restore to the rules committee the power to exercise jurisdiction over the legislation to come before the Congress. It is my sincere hope that whatever attempt is made to do away with the power of the rules committee will fail, and it is my studied opinion that such will be the fate of the attempt by this group should it be tried in this session of Congress.

 When these two matters have been disposed of, the Congress will then begin to consider a mass of legislative proposals that may well provide the backdrop to the most hectic session in many years.

Tigers Fall; Tigerettes Win In 2-A Opener

In their 2-A conference opener the McLean Tigers were downed, 36-24, by the Clarendon Bronchos Tuesday night in a game played in McLean's Municipal Building.

Ranked as one of the top district contenders, the Bronchos capitalized on a weakened McLean squad to take the early season victory. Frank Worsham was unable to play for the Tigers due to illness, and Billy Crockett was hampered by an injured ankle.

Bennie Woods headed the Tiger scoring column with 9 points, followed by Crockett with 6 points, and Jimmy Watson and Paul McCurley with 4 points each.

From the field the Tigers hit eight of 38 attempts from the field for a percentage of 20.6. Eight points were scored from the free-throw line.

Next action for the Tigers will be Friday night at White Deer. The team will play the Memphis Cyclones in Memphis Monday night instead of Tuesday as originally scheduled.

who sacked 33 points. She was followed by Geraldine McPherson with 25 points and Elizabeth Boston with 4 points.

The team was again without the services of Laura Switzer and Nancy Meacham, who are presently out of the line-up with knee injuries.

For Clarendon, Bennett led scoring with 30 points, followed by Adams with 17 points and White with 6 points.

Next on schedule for the Tigerettes will be at White Deer Friday night. The game at Memphis originally scheduled for next Tuesday night, will be played Monday night instead.
