Slate Set For April City Election

2 FOR MAYOR, 3 FOR COUNCIL

Filing closed in the April 7 city election last week and a further candidates had entered the races. So the contest's shape up with two candidates for mayor and three for the two alderman posts. Mayor candidates are Ed Lander and John H. Young while Roy Smith, Boyd Meador and C. P. Callahan will vie for the two alderman seats. Although the election is almost two weeks away it seems as if a great deal of interest will be aroused.

8 CANDIDATES SEEK SCHOOL BOARD POSTS

Filing deadline passed in the McLean school board election and eight candidates had placed their names for consideration. Three seats are open on the board. Those in the running are Charles Hall, R. L. Brown, Jesse Coleman, Paris J. Hess, E. J. Windom, Jr., Felton K. Webb, Dr. Joe Suderman and Spencer B. Sitter. The three seats have been held by Hess, Windom and Bill Cash. It was mistakenly printed in last week's News that Cash was a candidate in the election. Cash, however, is retiring from the board this year. Charles Hall's name should have been listed as a candidate last week instead of Cash. A number of people who contacted the News this week were most anxious that this situation be clarified. The elections are scheduled for April 4. The three highest men will win, as there will be no runoff.

SCHOOL PRINCIPALS RE-ELECTED

At a regular school board meeting Monday night, March 9, Harold Bunch was re-elected high school principal and Dale Parvin was re-named as elementary school principal. Bunch has served seven years with the McLean schools. For four years he was a high school math teacher and for the past three years has been principal. In elementary school Parvin has served for the past three years as principal. He assumed this position when joining the McLean school system. Teachers for the next school year will be hired at the April meeting of the school board.

He has served for the past sixteen years as director of general services in Jacksonville. The move to hire a city manager was made by the city council several weeks ago.

Members present were Nancy Tipton, Shirley Shields, Sharon Goldson, Gloria Allen, Patsy Tipton, Mona Finley, Sheila Standish, Mary Gibson, Kay Hall, Johnny Shields, Carolyn Farr, Jeanine Love and Sandra Bruce. Adult leader, Mrs. Jeannie Adams, was also present.

Narcotics Cache Discovered Through Arrest In McLean

Constable J. D. Fish and Night Marshal Bill Kingston made a pretty big catch early last Saturday morning.

They picked up three young Negro men about 3 a. m. on suspicion of stealing tires. And sure enough the tires had been stolen from a Groom service station. Then a narcotics agent phoned Fish and said one of the men was a well-known marijuana runner. J. D. got to digging around in the car some more and finally found a sizeable quantity of the dope stashed inside the spare tire.

Now officers suspect the car was stolen also.

The trio, all from Tulsa, Okla., were apprehended by Fish and Kingston after a service station attendant here became suspicious who they tried to sell him a new tire.

Upon their capture one of the negroes told Fish he got the tire in El Paso for $5.00 and a bottle of tequila. The tire was plainly marked with the name of an express service station, however, so J. D. found the tale a little hard to swallow.

"Besides," said the constable, "I figured it must have been a mighty big bottle of tequila or the man was powerful thirsty to make that trade on a good tire like that. Alfred Homer, night attendant for Goodlett's Texaco station in Groom came down and identified the tires as belonging to his station. He said while he talked to

MHS STUDENTS TRY TENNESSEE WILLIAMS PLAY

Three McLean high schoolers are currently tackling a stage play of vast dimensions in preparation for the District II-A interscholastic League One Act Play Contest at Lefors March 24. Directed by English teacher Keith Wolfe, the young thespians are to present "The Glass Menagerie," an emotion-packed modern classic written by Tennessee Williams.

In the cast are Peggy Sharp as Amanda Wingfield, Keith Goodman as her son, Tom, and Elizabeth Boston as her daughter, Laura. During the past weeks the youngsters have undergone rigorous rehearsals in an effort to master the complex scenes.

As the narrator says in his opening lines, "the play is a memory," and therefore, "it is dimly lighted; it is sentimental; it is not realistic." A dress rehearsal has been called for Monday, March 23 at 8 p. m. in the High School auditorium. McLean people will have the opportunity at that time to view the production.

However, since it is an adult play requiring the utmost concentration by the actors and audience, Wolfe has asked that those in attendance refrain from conversation or (other distracting noises).

F. H. A. Members Attend Area Meet

The McLean F. H. A. chapter went to Amarillo Saturday, Mar. 7, to attend the area F. H. A. meeting. The theme of the meeting was U. F. H. A. equals A. B. C. or you plus F. H. A. equals A Better Citizen. A panel discussed the theme with Carolyn Reynolds serving as narrator.

Nancy Shields was the McLean chapter representative. The next meeting will be held at Lubbock and every alternating year thereafter.

The afternoon program included the Sudan chapter giving the "Ten Commandments of a Good Citizen," and "Cottons Around the Clock," a style show of cottons given by the Lubbock chapter.

McLean Reserve Unit To Be Deactivated

In spite of the efforts of several McLean leaders, the Amarillo Area Command of the U. S. Army Reserve notified the local reserve unit that the detachment would be deactivated on April 1, 1959.

McLean reservists will be placed in the 4992 Control Group of Amarillo temporarily after April 1, pending further assignments.

Master Sgt. George Terry of McLean's 337th Engineer Detachment said Tuesday that the reservists had not given up and still thought there is a chance to get a reserve unit headquartered here. Commanding Officer of the 337 Detachment has been 1st Lt. Eric O. Holland.

The deactivation here was a part of a complete reorganization of the Army Reserve units in the Texas and New Mexico area. The revision will serve to remodel the units along lines of the new Pentomic concept introduced throughout the army.

The Pentomic concept which was installed in the regular army some time ago is designed for mobility and speed to meet any type of future warfare.

In announcing the change, Maj. Gen. R. G. Gard, commander of the VIII US Army Corps said the shuffle would result in a

of Cabbages & Kings

Being around saying that somebody has a head on his shoulders is twice ridiculous—once you mean to compliment and once you mean to insult.

Besides, I've observed a goodly number of cabbages with kingly heads (and with just as much hair as a lot of people) that couldn't stay out of the stew.

You have to give the Army credit. In spite of the asininity of a lot of military doctrine and customs, they do come up with some punchy little sayings that carry a lot of truth. There used to be one around that assumed the prophecies of scripture to be soldier.

It went: "There's always some blankety-blank that don't get the word."

In other words, no matter how thoroughly some new instruction or plan was spelled out, some dog-face would gum up the works and then innocently explain, "Gee, why didn't somebody tell me."

Legend was that it originated with the Navy in John Paul Jones' heroic sea battle with the British.

His ragged little American vessel was taking a fearsome beating, a number of casualties were lying on deck and things in general looked pretty bleak for the home team.

Just when it appeared that young man's hope was gone, old John Paul pulled himself together and struggled to the bow. Grabbing the rail with one hand and raising his sword with the other, he bellowed these immortal words: "Don't give up the ship, men, we've just begun to fight."

From far back amid the rubble of battle, an old salt—one arm tipped off, a foot mangled and a bloody gash in his head—raised unsteadily on his remaining arm and muttered: "There's always some dog-face that don't get the word."

It took the muddled beeping of a Russian sputnik to give us Americans the word which a lot of educators have been trying to sell us in plain English for several decades.

And that word is that our schools—suffering from pinched pennies, high-pressure sports and a catastrophic bout with the frilly "progressive" education experiment—have been burning out college graduates that don't know their algebra from a split in the infinitive.

Instead they go to crowded classes, if they get in at all, and take snap courses like "Social Adjustment," "Folk Dancing," "Problems of Steady Dating," or "How to Never Hurt Nobody's Feelings."

Even here in Texas we've been hearing unpleasant rumblings such as Texans spend more money for tobacco and liquor than for education, and that the Texas educational system ranks about 38th among the first 48 states.

It is gratifying then to note a renewal of interest in our schools as was exemplified by the successful public school week here. Perhaps this new interest will be reflected in legislation at Austin this year. Any investment in this direction should be well worth the money.

For if Texas doesn't provide for her schools, the federal government likely will, and when Uncle pays he also manipulates.

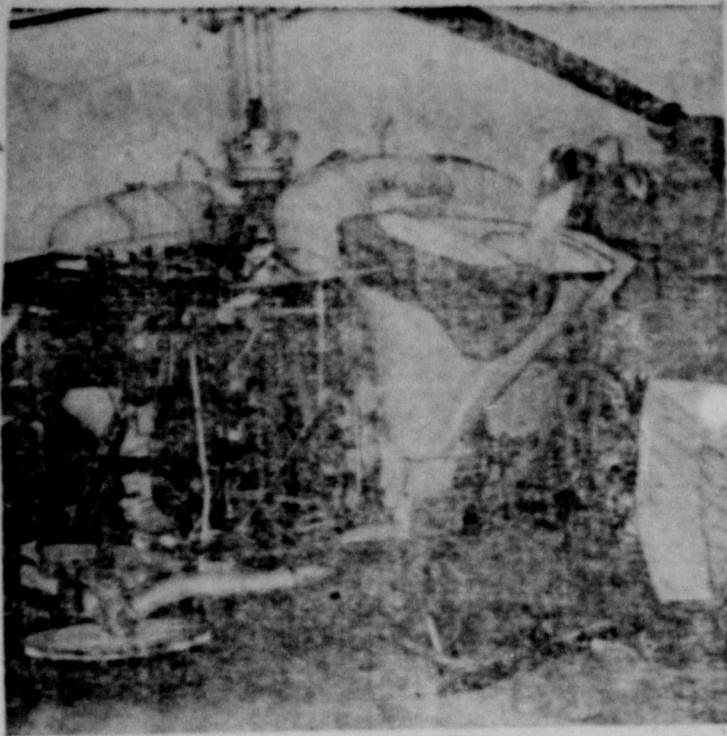

AROUND TOWN

Speaking of schools, McLean's school week came to a resounding close with an impressive band concert last Friday night. The number and quality of our junior musicians unmistakably indicated work, above and beyond the call of high school band director duty. And Director Bruce Cook's charges had a sizeable and appreciative audience.

Another school achievement which merits unusual acclaim is McLean's entry in the interscholastic league one-act play contest. Keith Wolfe is directing Tennessee Williams' play, "Glass Menagerie," and in the cast are Peggy Sharp, Elizabeth Boston and Keith Goodman.

After catching a sneak preview the other night, I'm not exaggerating to say the whole thing is of collegiate calibre.

Last week's Cabbages, the column mentioned that the word "we" would be in the column because for some reason it conserves advertising space. One of my helpful thinking acquaintances over

The project is billed as the world's biggest pine forest direct-seeding operation.

The bride is the daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Orphus Tate of McLean and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Masters of Hale Center.

White tapers in white wrought iron candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and greenery were arranged with a white satin kneeling bench for the altar setting for the ceremony.

Harry Tate, brother of the bride, and Troy Don Corbin lighted the candles.

Miss Peggy Sharp, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Sue Coward as she sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and the "Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace ballerina length gown with fitted bodice, portrait neckline and long tapering sleeves. Her double tiered veil of scalloped French illusion fell to fingertip length from a heart shaped tiara of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible, a gift from her bridegroom topped with a bouquet of pale pink sweet-heart roses and white stephanotis.

The bridal attendants were Miss Fern Grimsley, maid of honor, Sandra Cannon and Barbara Smith, bridesmaids. They wore street length dresses in spring pastels, styled with empire waistlines and large bows with streamer in the back. They carried colonial bouquets of spring flowers.

Pat Davis, the flower girl, was dressed in pale yellow. Craig Corbin was ring bearer. Jesse Masters of Hale Center was his brother's honor attendant. Serving as groomsmen and ushers were the bride's brothers, Orphus and Gerald Tate, and Billy Johnson and Dickie Shackelford.

Mothers of the bride and groom wore navy dresses. Mrs. Tate used pink accessories with a white rose corsage, and Mrs. Masters chose blue accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Decorations for the reception in the church parlor carried out the bride's colors of blue and white, in the refreshment table laid with a white cutwork linen cloth over blue and centered with the bride's attendants' bouquets. The tiered cake and punch were served by Miss Sue Evans and Miss Donna Magee of Lubbock. Miss Janiece Magee of Fort Worth registered the guests.

For the wedding trip to points in New Mexico, the bride selected a navy silk suit with black accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses from her wedding bouquet. After March 11 the couple will be at home at 2321-B 15th Street, Lubbock.

Wesleyan Guild Meets Monday

"Christians and Moslems Can Live Together" was the topic of the devotional and program given by Mrs. Guy Hester at the meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild Monday evening.

Christianity and Islam are the most nearly alike of the world's religions. Both groups agree on what makes a good or a bad man. Differences arise on the way this is applied to society.

The meeting was opened with the singing of the Guild hymn. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ercy Cubine. The chairman of local church activities, Mrs. Wilson Boyd, reported that the rug and two small rockers had been bought and installed in the nursery. Toys brought by the members for use in the nursery were on display.

The president gave a report of a district meeting held in Shamrock March 1. The guest speaker for the meeting was Bob Black formerly of McLean. Mrs. Clyde Magee was elected district spiritual life chairman.

A nominating committee was selected so that new officers for the local group can be elected in April. This committee is made up of Mrs. S. A. Cousins, Mrs. Hickman Brown and Mrs. C. P. Hamilton.

The president thanked all the officers and members for their cooperation in making the year a success.

After the closing prayer Mrs. Bill Reeves served coffee and cake to 17 members and two guests.

Mrs. Ronnie Smith Honored at Shower

COOL ME, MADAM

Old women once held curative powers—or so folks believed. Their wrinkled hands laid on feverish brows were thought to cool the fever. Now, in this golden era of modern medicine, we have more reliable methods of reducing temperatures. But, remember, a temperature is only a symptom . . . not an illness in itself. Fevers have many causes . . . some minor . . . some serious. So, be sensible. When you or a member of your family is ill, let your doctor do the diagnosing and prescribing. Then, if medication is necessary, let us fill his prescription promptly and accurately.

Congratulations:

Marie Foundations

on your second year of operation in McLean. We're proud of the part we had in bringing you to McLean. We are proud of your personnel and are equally glad of the added $250,000.00 pay roll which you spread around, mostly in McLean, last year. We want to, and are going to help you grow. We selfishly want this pay roll to reach to $500,000.00 yearly. You have been most generous with McLean and its people in giving to every worthwhile fund raising campaign. You have been just in dealing and meeting your obligations with the city ahead of date due time. Let us pray that your future here and elsewhere will continue to grow and prosper. Again let us say thanks for the confidence you have placed in us and McLean.

AWARDED FOR OUTSTANDING SERVICE

In 1939, a hundred years after the invention of the self-rake reaper by Cyrus Hall McCormick, three of his children have possible the annual award of a gold medal in the name of their father. Selection was entrusted to the American Society of Agricultural Engineers. The award is given, not for a single item of engineering, but for the aggregate accomplishment of a career of service to agriculture.

The latest Cyrus McCormick medal has been awarded to Tom Carroll, a distinguished engineer, connected with the Massey-Ferguson company, one of the leading producers of farm equipment. Mr. Carroll pioneered in the development of combines, working to improve and to perfect them over a long period of years. And the reason for the award is found in what the combine has meant to the farmer. According to Department of Agriculture figures which were issued a few years ago, only 20 to 22 per cent as many hours are required to harvest a crop with a combine as with the old method of cutting, shocking, and threshing. The impact of this particular form of mechanization has been enormous. In the 1910-14 period, for instance, 15.2 man-hours were needed to harvest an acre of wheat—in the 1950-54 period this had dropped to 4.4.

This particular situation has a symbolic significance. What is true of the combine is true in essence of all the other mechanized aids to agriculture. They have made huge holes in the effort, labor and cost of farming. And they are the bulwark of the family farm.

BILLIONS FROM PENNIES

"Life begins at 40" is a saying that will hold little comfort for the nation's highway taxpayers on Wednesday, Feb. 25. That day marks the 40th birthday of America's first gasoline tax.

The "gas tax" idea was born on February 25, 1919, when a "one cent a gallon" levy was enacted by the Oregon legislature. That year three other states followed suit. By 1929 every state had a gasoline tax, and by then the average rate had climbed to 3.8 cents a gallon. In 1932, a federal gasoline tax was added.

In its first year this "penny tax" costs the motorists of four states a little more than $1 million. Now it is costing highway users a whopping $4.6 billion a year. Its present national average rate of 8.9 cents a gallon amounts to a 41% "sales tax" on gasoline.

In 40 years, motorists have paid $52.8 billion in state and federal gasoline taxes—more than half of this just since 1951. State gas receipts, now running to more than $3 billion a year, have more than doubled in the last ten years, with 75 rate increases enacted since World War II.

The federal tax, its rate doubled by two increases enacted since the war, is today costing motorists $1.6 billion a year at 3 cents a gallon. Now there is a move for another increase—the biggest ever—to boost the federal rate to 4 1/2 cents a gallon.

With that motorists would be paying on an average more than $1 in gas tax on every ten gallons—and close to $5 1/2 billion a year—a large part of it channeled to general funds, not roads.

So a Happy "Gas Tax" Birthday to you!!!

WEAPONS OF WAR

Most of us think of national defense, and the arms race with the Soviet Union in terms of the weapons of war—planes, missiles, naval vessels, and the like.

But the ability of a nation to defend itself or to make the prospect of war so dreadful that no other nation will dare attack it, depends on much more than that. It depends on its ability to produce and to move goods and people on a gigantic scale.

Here is a reason why the present predicament of United States railroads is a grave problem to the military planners. In World War II and in the Korean War the work done by the iron horse was absolutely indispensable, and our dependence on railroads will be equally great if another war should come, big or little. But the railroads cannot improve themselves to the extent the nation needs so long as tax and regulatory laws and policies keep them in a state of financial depression, as is the case today.

Our enemies know the worth of railroads. Russia is spending a billion a year to expand and improve hers.

Date to Watch

We spend about the same amount—but our railroad money is spread along 210,000 miles of line as against about 75,000 in Russia. And Red China also is conducting an intensive program of railroad development. She has built 2,550 miles of new line in only eight years.

In the words of William T. Faricy, retired head of the Association of American Railroads, "Already we have seen the passenger equipment situation deteriorate to a point where if we have World War III with a transport demand similar to World War II, the rail passenger situation could result in utter chaos."

"It is late in the day to rescue the railroad passenger equipment situation from a defense standpoint. The freight car situation is the one that is really vital. With a constructive attitude on the part of the United States Treasury and the Congress, it can be put into shape without too much loss of time." They cannot escape the blame for failure to act.

Social Security Tax Must Be Paid

Self-employed persons are reminded by Harold S. Golden, district manager of the Amarillo Social Security office to report their earnings for social security purposes with their income tax returns. Generally, these reports must be filed with Internal Revenue Service by April 15, 1958.

Any person engaged in a trade, business, or profession covered by social security who has $400 or more net profit from his business must report this income for social security purposes. Also, he must pay the 1958 social security self-employment tax on his net earnings up to $4,200 for 1958. The tax for self-employed persons on 1958 earnings is 3.3 1/2 per cent.

Golden also reminded self-employed persons that the payment of the self-employment tax is mandatory and not voluntary.

For further information regarding social security tax questions, consult the nearest Internal Revenue service office. For information regarding old-age, survivors, and disability benefits, contact the social security office at Amarillo or a representative from that office when he is in your area. Check with your local postmaster for the dates of his visit.

Soil Men Honor Meador

Is One of Three Conservationist Winners in Gray

Feature Story Is In State Save Soil Contest

EDITOR'S NOTE: Below is a feature story on Boyd Meador, who was selected by the local soil conservation district as the most for conservation this year in Gray County. This story is being sent to the Fort Worth Press and entered in the 14th annual Fort Worth Press "Save the Soil and Save Texas" contest.

Boyd Meador has been selected by the Gray County Soil Conservation District as the "outstanding business and professional man who has rendered greatest usefulness to soil conservation." This man could just as easily have been called the comeback farmer, although his home is not on the farm. Boyd Meador has lived in McLean for 31 years and is presently in the insurance and real estate business. Prior to the insurance and real estate business he was in the wholesale gas business. Both of these jobs have kept Meador in constant contact with farmers and ranchers.

In the contacts with farmers and ranchers, Meador became interested in becoming a stock farmer as a sideline. In 1943 he bought some land, most of which had been cultivated and was seriously eroded. The land was very sandy. The fields were washed and blown away. This developed an interest for soil and water which led Meador to be a "soil" in conservation.

In 1949 Meador signed his first agreement with the Gray County Soil Conservation District and immediately developed a conservation plan which he carried out. While carrying out this plan he had his place to show farmers what could be done. In his contacts Meador took farmers to see ranches he was working on. Also he would show them other places where conservation work

Area Observations

"A philosopher," allows Ben Essell of the Canadian Record, "is a man who always knows what to do until it happens."

A new area observer contributor this week is Mrs. Carroll Koch, publisher of the Quanah Tribune-Chief. She says, "The man who thought nothing of walking 10 miles a day now has a grandson who doesn't think much of it, either."

Facts and Otherwise column in the Groom News reports that, "Louie Jones was in Amarillo the other day and found an antique grandfather clock in his hiding and bought it. He was carrying it to his car and bumped into a drunk on Fourth Street. Slowly regaining his balance, the drunk snapped, 'Why in the devil don't you wear a wrist watch like everyone else?'"

Also included in the column are these "Texas" jokes:

"The Texan's check came back from the bank marked, 'Insufficient Funds—Not yours, ours.'"

And the Texas housewife who said to her husband, "Will you get the car out, dear and drive the youngsters to the backyard so they can play?" Another is about a Texan visiting in California who wanted to take up golf so he went out and bought himself three clubs—the Bel Air Country Club, the Beverly Hills Country Club and the Palm Springs Country Club. And that's oil, brother.

"If the medicine doesn't prove fatal, Sputnik was one of the very best things which ever happened to the U. S.," says Pat Bennett in the Crosbyton Review.

Over in Wheeler, Don D. Earney, editor of the Wheeler Times, is concerned with the problems of modern cowboys. Sez, "Cowboys in today's TV westerns don't have trouble rolling a cigarette. No siree! It's adding the filter that gets 'em!"

He follows up with a milkman story: "A little boy was watching the milkman's horse intently. When the driver returned from delivering milk, the little lad inquired, 'Mister, do you have far to go today?'"

"Why, son?" asked the milkman.

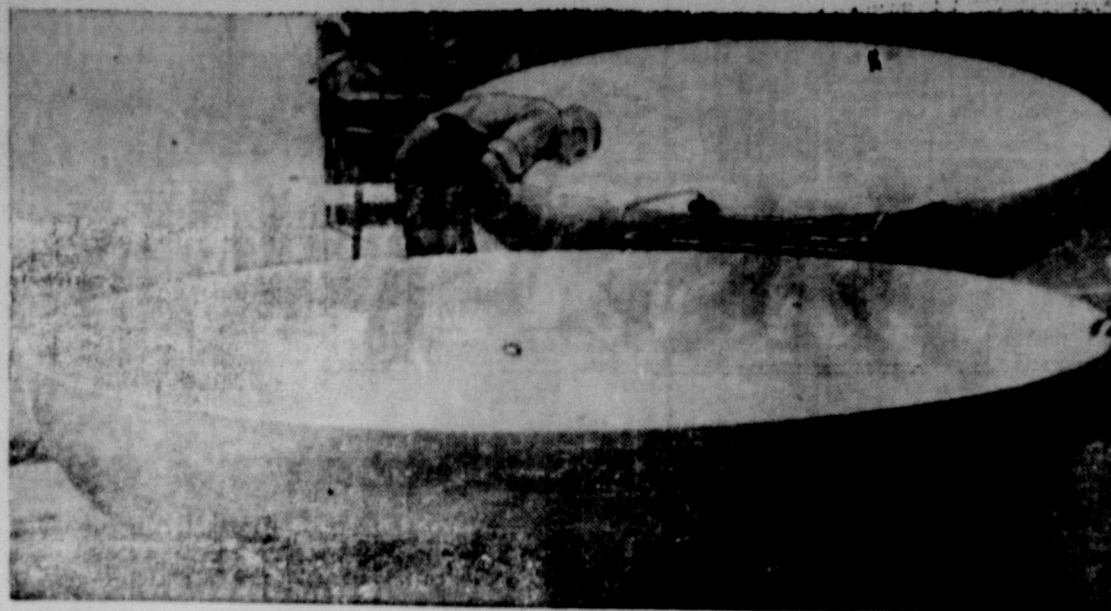

"Well, you ain't going far," said the little boy. "Your horse just lost all his gasoline."

The other day when the first hint of spring drifted through town on a balmy south breeze somebody around the office said: "There is a touch of spring in the foothills today, and Douglas won't miss it. Be sure he'll have it in his next column."

And sure as the rainbow follows the rain it was there. Says Douglas Meador of the Matador Tribune: "Brown hills stir with the ecstasy of life beneath the windshaken blanket of grass; warm sunlight in their faces and green sprouts of wild rye spilling perfume at their temples. Coy spruce dances on the horizon."

And again: "Charged with the responsibility of survival, the mesquite tree obeys an intelligence gathered through the centuries. The warm days of a false spring seldom entice buds of new life before the last wave of arctic air has been warmed nearer its source."

In a lighter mood, the veteran editor wryly observes that, "Acoustics are becoming confusing in Washington. Even the experts with an ear to the ground, find it difficult to distinguish the difference in sounds made by a braying mule and a trumpeting elephant."

FOR SPACE "SOUP"—Hottest soup being served these days goes into these "bowls," shown under inspection in Detroit, Mich. The highly polished metal units are part of the fuel tank assembly for giant missiles, which use such highly temperamental substances as fuming nitric acid and liquid oxygen to power their rocket motors. The missile assembly plant is operated by one of the nation's major auto manufacturers.

Highway Patrol to Fill Vacancies Soon

A chance to attend the State Police Academy and to receive training in police science and administration under the direction of the nation's foremost professional police authorities is being offered to young men of Gray County.

"We need to fill vacancies throughout the state and we invite interested persons in this area to contact our representatives at the court house at Decatur on Thursday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and they will be glad to explain the qualifications and many benefits of the positions that are now open," according to Major R. A. Crowder, commander of Region 5 of the Department of Public Safety.

Vacancies exist in the license and weight, drivers license, motor vehicle inspection and highway patrol services.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Clyde Dickerson, Manager

When McLean telephone service is changed to dial on June 21, 800 telephone numbers here in McLean will also change. Changing telephone numbers is something we don't like to do—but it is necessary in order to make your telephone work with the modern up-to-date switching equipment which will be installed in our new building. I know that many of you folks are anxious to know what your new telephone number will be—so just as soon as these new numbers have been assigned we will let you know.

After the changeover to dial is complete we intend to have open house over at our new building. At that time we'll send each of you folks an invitation to drop in and visit with us in our new quarters. Of course we'll also take this opportunity to take you on a special tour of the building so you can see the new equipment first hand.

A PART OF GOOD LIVING

Nowadays, we hear the term "good living" quite often. I have a few ideas about it, but to find out what it means to other people, I brought up the subject with a group of friends a week or so ago.

Before the "good living" talk was over and the coffee served, one of the women made music for my ears by saying that the telephones in color in her home are certainly an important part of good living.

Everyone seemed to agree, and that gave me a chance to point out that extra telephones in bedrooms and kitchens are low in cost, too—just $1.00 a month plus installation. For color, you know, there's a one-time charge of $10.

P. S. I sold a couple, too.

LOOKING AHEAD TO EASTER

Easter Sunday, to most of us, is a happy, dress up, go-to-church day for all the family. And I hope you and your family will all be together for a Happy Easter.

Unfortunately, some families are scattered and won't be gathered around the table for the carving of the ham.

For these families, a Long Distance visit or two by telephone is the answer. It's the next best thing to being there in person, and everyone has fun on an out-of-town call.

Naturally, low Sunday rates will be in effect. And if you call station-to-station, you can talk longer for less.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Bible Comment:

Triumph Preceded Jesus' Ultimate Sorrow

With the approach of Palm Sunday, it is well to recall the last journey of Jesus to Jerusalem. At that time, Jesus spoke with hitherto unaccustomed definiteness of the dangers that awaited Him, and of His sacrificial death.

The disciples failed to understand His words, however, and apparently still looked toward His establishment of an earthly kingdom.

We cannot know what was the inner consciousness of Jesus, but He knew that the hour had come.

Instead of retiring from the crowds as was His wont, He moved where the multitudes were.

He accepted their homage and plaudits, as they cast their garments in the way, and hailed Him with their hosannas.

He who had been Master and Teacher, now became Saviour and King.

"Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord."

Deep in the sense of the contrast between those events, between the religious enthusiasm of the people on the one hand, and the sad events of a few days later, as others, aroused to hatred and fear, sent Jesus to the Cross.

The ultimate sorrow—and the eternal triumph—were yet to come.

Indeed it is a pleasure to come to you with another gospel message from the word of God. We read from 1st Timothy 6:10, "For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some covet after, they have erred from the faith and pierced themselves through with many sorrows."

Now friends, it is not the money that God condemns, but it is the love of it. The story of the rich young ruler in March 10:17: "What shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?" This young man was not only rich but held a position of responsibility for he was a ruler.

The connection between the history of this young man and the verses immediately preceding it ought not to be overlooked. Jesus had just been talking about little children, thus we see that a man may miss heaven for want of a childlike indifference to worldly riches. He was lacking of the one thing that man must have to be satisfied: the assurance of eternal life. It will be well to note that when Jesus gave him the commandments he said all these have I kept from my youth up, but Jesus said, One thing lackest thou. This would mean he would have to forsake his love for his riches and so he turned away grieved: we hear of this ruler no more.

Note if you please, it is the love of money that bringeth people to ruin. It was for the love of money that Joseph was sold by his brethren. It was for money that Gehazi deceived Naaman and lied to Elisha. It was for money that Ananias and Sapphira tried to deceive Peter. It was money that made Judas bring the chief priests to take Christ. You see, all these came to ruin and were lost without God and without hope.

So take heed, dear ones, and repent; don't let this great sin be your ruin. Give God your heart and life.

May the good Lord bless all of you and save us all in the end.

PLAINS CAN BE TOP FEEDING AREA, RESEARCHERS PREDICT

Homer Abbott said farmers in a five-mile strip just south of around McLean were mighty pleased to hear last week that a Gray County was going to have enough money in the soil bank program to pay farmers participating in the program.

Last fall the county ran out of money in that area and it was this past week before the ASC office was notified by the federal government that surplus money from other counties would be used here to compensate the farmers.

Abbott said he contacted the farmers around McLean last week and informed them of the money that is now available.

A Michigan farmer who held out against the federal wheat controls finally gave up and paid the government almost $3,500 in fines for ignoring the controls.

Stanley Lankus said he is going to sell his 100-acre farm and move to Australia.

"The only thing I'm guilty of is fighting for my constitutional rights," he insisted.

Still no reports of scabies in or around this area. Over at Hooker, Okla., however, a federal veterinarian began checking a strip of land there for the disease.

Later he plans to check herds

The whole Panhandle has a tremendous potential as a livestock feeding center by using grain sorghums produced here to fatten cattle—that was the opinion of some of the top research agriculturists when they met for a conference last week in Amarillo.

The researchers saw the area as a possible equal to the Corn Belt in the feeding industry. A committee was appointed to work out problems and make a report of their findings.

A young minister whose parish was in a small Georgia town was asked to perform a wedding ceremony for a mountain couple. When the ceremony was over the groom called him aside. "Parson," he said, "I feel bad 'cause I ain't got no money to give you, so I tell you what I aim to do. I got an ole hound dawg that I was fixin' to sell for ten dollars, but I'll let you have him for five."

You can't beat the easy pleasure in knowing that you're driving a dependable, trouble-free automobile. And the easiest way to that knowledge is regular top-rate maintenance. Drop in today and let us wash and lubricate your car, and keep it in a peak of condition.
