POT SHOTS
The problem is how to keep chin up without sticking neck out.

One of our complex society's amazing products is the disc jockey who feels the call to be a star and again and again again. Happily, however, we are endowed with a quick remedy for this situation.

The question isn't when civilization began; but it's when will General Charles DeGaulle had profound statement on this one. In this space age, he said "the greatest distance man to explore is within himself."

... happiness, of the lasting kind, is elusive as a mirage. When it is needed it cannot be captured; it comes when least expected as the by-product of productivity.

... oyster is just an oyster as it is irritated by a grain of sand. Most good writers are very writers. Few great artists have lived to see the merit their work recognized. Almost without exception, the world's best men have had to overcome a sizeable obstacle—health, family or social disapproval—before they had an even break with many contemporaries.

... and it is one of the strangest paradoxes of nature that the first steps of success often stunt the growth that bore them.

... once Mark Twain arranged to take his wife for lunch at a main cafe. When—after an hour's wait—she failed to appear, he left behind a note which read, "Never the two shall meet."

... the venerable old author was water at the art of abundant humor, of employing humor to the best of even an irritable disposition, of living just one day at a time.

... riot is an alcoholic loose in every city equipped with a court-card.

One Act Play To State Finals

McLean High School's one-act play cast displayed again its rare ability and proved itself one of the top four play groups in the state by placing first in the regional contests held Saturday in Lubbock.

Directed by Keith Wolfe, the group gained this level through its production of Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie." In the cast are Peggy Sharp, Keith Goodman, and Elizabeth Boston.

The state finals will be held in Austin May 7-9, with the McLean play scheduled to be given at 3 p. m. on the 8th in Hogg Auditorium.

Another outstanding honor also came to the group when Peggy Sharp was named outstanding actress in regional competition. She was also named outstanding actress when the cast won in District 2-A. At that time Goodman was also placed on the all-star cast.

Serving as stage crew for the one-act play stage crew consists of Bill Kingston, Jimmy McDonald, Bill Herron, Gary Back, Teena McMurry and Gary Gordin.

The contest crew first won acclaim locally when the play was presented in the McLean school auditorium prior to the district contests. Following its district victory it was again given at home by popular request of many who had missed the first presentation.

Another compliment to the cast and crew came three weeks ago when they were invited to perform at the Panhandle A&M drama conference as an example of outstanding high school talent. This trip, however, was impossible due to the distance and time involved.

Next week will mark the first time in history that a play from McLean High School has advanced past district competition.

Mrs. J. B. Pettit spent the week end in White Deer with her son, Bazil, and family.

Kibler-Glass
Lieut. Byron Kibler and Miss Synvah Glass went to Clarendon last Saturday afternoon and after having secured the necessary document, were married. Rev. J. F. Reagan, pastor of the Baptist church at this place, performed the ceremony. (In order to be sure of having the job promptly and properly done they carried Bro. Reagan along.)

Miss Glass is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Glass and is one of the most accomplished, sweet-spirited young ladies of McLean. Lieut. Kibler is indeed fortunate in winning her for a helpmate through life.

Lieut. Kibler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kibler. He is a young man of moral and upright character and is in every way worthy of the fair bride he has won.

The News joins their many friends in congratulations.

THESE CHURCHES INVITE YOUR ATTENDANCE

By G. W. Roachelle
Pastor Pentecostal Holiness Church

(Another Message from the Word of God)

In the book of Genesis, chapter 14:18-20: "And Melchizedek King of Salem brought forth bread and wine; and he was the priest of the most high God. And he blessed him, and said, Blessed be Abram of the most high God, possessor of heaven and earth; And blessed be the most high God, which hath delivered thine enemies into thy hand, and he gave him tithes of all."

Then in Hebrews 7:1-2: "For this Melchizedek, King of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughters of the kings, and blessed him; To whom also Abraham gave a tenth part of all; first being by interpretation King of Salem, which is, King of peace."

Melchizedek is mentioned three times in the Bible; in history, Genesis chapter 14; in prophecy, Psalms chapter 110; and in doctrine, Hebrews chapter 7. The last reference builds upon the other two and makes him a type of Christ whose priesthood abides eternally. The writer of Hebrews sees in Melchizedek's priesthood a line that is outside of the Aaronic order and not subject to its weaknesses and imperfections. Upon this timeless foundation he established the priesthood of Christ for believers. When the kings of Mesopotamia attacked Sodom and carried Lot and his family captive, a messenger brought the news to Abraham and he pursued the spoilers into Damascus, attacked them and recovered Lot and the spoils of war.

On his return trip Abraham met Melchizedek and paid him tithes and received his blessing. The event established the historical basis of Melchizedek.

And now in Hebrews chapter 7, verses 1, 2, 3, for this Melchizedek, King of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings and blessed him. To whom also Abraham gave a tenth part of all, first being by interpretation King of righteousness, and after that also King of Salem, which is King of peace. The author of Hebrews built upon the account. Melchizedek was a priest-king to whom God had made Himself known. Abraham recognized his authority by giving a tenth of the spoils of war. He also placed him under his jurisdiction by receiving the priestly blessing. Verse 3: "Without father, without mother, without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like unto the Son of God, abideth a priest continually. Note, not only is Melchizedek like Christ in that he is King of righteousness and King of peace, but since the Old Testament narrative does not mention his parents, genealogy, birth or death, one need not make Melchizedek a supernatural person. The point is that since there is no record of his birth or death or priesthood terminating, he foreshadows the eternal priesthood work of Christ much more adequately than the sons of Levi, whose priestly work ended with the sacrifice of calvary.

We are sorry we do not have space to give full details of this man. May the good Lord bless forever you who read this.

NEEDED: A STABLE DOLLAR

Two things have eaten away the value of the dollar in recent years. One is taxes—taxes of a hundred and one kinds. The other is inflation.

Today, according to former Commissioner of Internal Revenue T. Coleman Andrews, a single man has to earn an income of $4,806 to match a 1939 income of $2,000—because of these two, dollar-debasing forces.

You'd think we'd have learned a harsh lesson from this—but, seemingly, a good many people haven't. For example, a bill is now up in Congress to provide medical care for the elderly people covered by the Social Security System. According to conservative estimates, this would boost taxes by a staggering $2 billion a year. That is enough, all by itself, to throw any projected budget hopelessly out of balance. So, as sure as shooting, more of the dollar would be eaten away by taxes and by inflation.

And that wouldn't be the end of the matter. The Arizona Republic characterizes this as one of the most dangerous pieces of legislation submitted to Congress in recent years—for the sound reason that "it would push the door wide open to socialized medicine." After all, if one group is to be given tax-supported medical care, other groups are going to demand it and get it.

In this connection, a statement made by the American Medical Association News is 100% in point: "... if Congress curbs inflation by declaring a national policy for a stable dollar and by balancing the federal budget, everyone would benefit.

Families could save with confidence, knowing that the dollar they put away now would be worth a dollar in the future. . . .

The government would need less money in taxes to pay for goods and services.

And more of our senior citizens then would be able to care for their own needs, including medical care, with dignity and self-reliance."

NEW KIND OF WARFARE

"We cannot place all our bets on one weapon—one type of war philosophy. The Soviet bloc has in clear terms declared a new form of warfare whose goals are the hearts, souls and stomachs of mankind."

That was recently said by Alexander Purdon, executive director of the committee of American Steamship Lines. Communism is using foreign trade as an economic weapon. The offensives girdle the globe.

New Record or Old Tune?

Every effort is made to capitalize on poverty, political instability, and the hopes and aspirations of hungry and uninformed peoples.

We must meet this with offensives of our own if piecemeal Soviet domination of the world is to be prevented. And in this type of war, the Merchant Marine has acquired a new stature and a new importance. In Mr. Purdon's phrase: "It becomes in a sense the shafting by which we can transmit and project to the free peoples the social, economic and moral advantages of dynamic capitalism."

That is not all. There are some who think that if that ultimate horror, nuclear war, should come, such things as merchant ships would be of small if any value. Not so, the authorities. General Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has said: "In case of surprise and devastating nuclear attack that might knock out land transportation, the Merchant Marine's availability to ply the great highway of the seas with strategic materials and food stuffs might well be the one source of free world strength to pluck victory from chaos." We must have a Merchant Marine capable of performing these great tasks.

HALT INFLATION BEFORE IT HALTS US

"If the gravest threat to our national economy lies in the never-ending erosion of the dollar, as almost all authorities agree, we should certainly take no step that would aggravate the situation if we can avoid it," writes Editor Godfrey M. Lebharr of Chain Store Age. He adds: "... any new legislation which would inevitably raise prices by forcing a nationwide hike in wages would seem to be just about the most senseless step we could take if we really want to halt inflation before inflation halts us."

Then Mr. Lebharr moves to the specific—that is, to the proposal that the federal minimum wage be increased by 25% (from $1.00 to $1.25 an hour), and that coverage be extended to large groups of workers, largely in retail and other service categories, who have been exempt ever since the law was first passed in the depression era.

As Mr. Lebharr observes: "We do not have to guess as to what this untimely proposal, if enacted, would do to the purchasing power of the dollar. . . . Factual precedent tells us that. The last increase in the minimum wage from 75c to $1.00, occurred on March 1, 1956. Directly thereafter the cost of living started up and the value of the dollar started down. The wage hike was not solely responsible—but, as almost any economist will testify, it was one of the principal factors.

Inflation follows when wages are arbitrarily pushed up without regard to worker productivity. That always has happened and always will.

The Peripetatic View

by CEC

States are about to edge out foreign countries in the race for the group most likely to qualify for federal subsidization in 1959, with Texas holding its own in the red-link firm.

A state's general tax bill was sent to the House and then after two months of talk the proposed one-year raise in state franchise taxes was approved.

Defenders said it was essential that it be passed now. One representative said it was the height of responsibility and folly. By contrast, it was said that the House was passing the buck to the state.

J. C. Dilbyberg, a lightweight economist summed up the situation by mentioning that a temporary 60-cent tax off the 60 already owed might not be as good as figuring out not to go another 60 in the next year.

He adds that such a bill as the above-mentioned can only last temporarily, and then the federal government likely would help us out with a similar scheme. At that point he had already retired. But with the federal government having its own problems too, taxing might get pretty heavy before the tax government to keep itself and the state out of poverty.

Taxes are amounting for a 15 million pay roll a year to civilian employees of the government to handle these affairs and it seems that it would be easier for the tax-payer to keep the money in the first place and decide himself how he wants to spend it.

At any rate, my partner says that if such a group of highly trained and intelligent men like our public servants can spend us into 65 million in the red, then maybe we shouldn't feel so bad about a few mismanagements on our part.

Eddie Brown at Kellerville

Carolyn Tinkler of Kellerville, bride of Eddie Brown, became the bride of Eddie Brown at Kellerville, April 18. The double-ring ceremony took place at the First Baptist Church in Kellerville. Rev. J. R. Harlan officiated.

Bridal vows were exchanged at the altar centered with baskets of white and pink flowers and white gladioli. Tall in candelabra lighted the altar.

Mrs. Lawson played the organ, and Mrs. Jeanne Harlan sang "Always." Verlene Tinkler, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a light blue dress fast with a full gathered skirt, neckline and cap sleeves. She wore white accessories and a colonial bouquet of blue and white flowers.

Mrs. Bob Cadell of Kellerville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She chose light blue and carried one long blue carnation with blue and white streamers.

Miss Sue Brown, sister of the bride, and Sandra Burnett were bridesmaids. They wore pink dresses with white and blue accessories. Nancy Brown, sister of the groom, and Sue Lawley, cousin of the bride, were flower girls.

Mr. David Brown, brother of the groom, carried the rings. Mr. Jack Don Bailey and Mr. Thomas of Pampa, groomsmen, were Ray Jackie Don Bailey and Mr. Thomas of Pampa.

The bride was given in marriage to her father, Verle Tinkler. Her waltz-length wedding gown of net and lace and was over white taffeta. The bodice of lace had a scalloped neckline outlined with iridescent sequins and pearls. Her veil was a coronet design set with sequins and pearls matching the neckline trim of the wedding gown. Her jewelry was one of cultured pearls, gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of white carnations in lace and molins clusters of love knots on the satin streamers.

Others of the bride and groom, Verle Tinkler and Mrs. J. Brown, wore brown suits accented with pink hats and matching accessories. Their corsages were pink carnations with pink white ribbon.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall. The table was laid with pink and white, centered with an arrangement of blue and white flowers and candelabra holding tapers. The three-tiered wedding cake and tinted punch were served by Ruth Lawley, Mrs. Nicholas, Pauline Burnett, Pat Bailey, Mrs. Leroy Fitzmeier of Pampa registered guests.

For her wedding trip to Manila, Mrs. Brown traveled in a blue sheath dress with a tiny white lace on the sleeve and sleeves. Her accessories were white with a white sash presented by her mother.

"So what happened?"
