Unofficial Census Count Shows 1,810 In McLean Area

An unofficial count by census enumerators revealed this week approximately 1,810 persons in the McLean area. The total figure is complete for persons in the city limits proper, but the count is not yet completed in rural areas.

According to Mrs. Jim Morris, enumerator for families in the city limits, a figure of 1,310 was reached. Mrs. Morris stated that this was everyone except for a few families that were out of town and were enumerated elsewhere. She added, however, that if anyone had been missed, to please contact her.

In rural areas, Mrs. Roy Hess had enumerated a total of 533 persons, but all of these were not in the immediate area of McLean. Areas still to be enumerated by her are south and west of McLean. A figure of 800 is expected to be reached before the rural districts are completed. The count for McLean does not include the outlying communities, but does take in the industrial and agricultural population in the immediate surrounding area.

BAPTISTS SCHEDULE REVIVAL

McLean's First Baptist Church will have a revival meeting during April 21 through May 1. It was announced this week by Rev. Jesse Leonard, pastor. Morning services will be held at 10 a. m. and evening services at 7:45 p. m.

Evangelist Paul Carlin is scheduled to be the preacher, and Joe P. Weldon, a student of Wayland Baptist College, will lead the singing. Weldon's home is Kelton.

Evangelist Paul Carlin is a native of Houston. Like many other young men, Paul was sucked into the underworld of the great city at an early age. His unfortunate experiences with narcotics led him into youth crime. The Houston police finally broke up the narcotic ring Paul was involved in and he was indicted by the grand jury. With this charge hanging over his head, a young lady invited Paul to attend a revival. With much reluctance he accepted and was converted. Some four months later he surrendered to preach.

Since that day in 1952, Carlin has preached in some 200 Southern Baptist churches. In 1953 he gave his testimony before 15,000 people at the Southern Baptist Convention. Thousands have crowded churches, to hear his story. His preaching is to hear his story. His preaching is simple, Biblical and forceful.

Mary of Scotland gave a pretty good estimate of the importance of prayer when she said: "I fear the prayers of John Knox more than an army of ten thousand men."

BOND ISSUE VOTE THIN MARGIN OPPOSES NEW SCHOOL BUILDING IN ALANREED

A thin two-vote margin determined Saturday that no bonds would be issued for the construction of a new school in Alanreed. The election, which took place at the school tax office in Alanreed, polled 47 against the bond issue and 45 for.

The school would have been to replace the present structure. As new facilities are needed in Alanreed, the thinking was consolidation as opposed to building a new and adequate school.

Also at the election, two more propositions were decided. One determined that a maintenance tax would be initiated and the second determined that some old existing bond obligations would be dispensed with. The former carried by 64-24; and the latter by 49-35.

For the past several years, the high school students at Alanreed have consolidated with McLean, while grade school students attended the local school.

National Credit Week Slated

All phases of the American custom of buying on credit will be publicly discussed and examined during National Retail Credit Week to be observed nationally from April 24 through April 30.

The purpose of National Retail Credit Week, which is sponsored jointly by the National Retail Credit Association and the Retail Merchants Association here, is to encourage sound credit sales and to impress upon credit customers the importance of meeting all obligations.

Every community, where National Retail Credit Week will be observed, will benefit by the highlighting of the important role of consumer credit in national and local economies.

David Blair, president of the National Retail Credit Association, stated recently that the merit of personal credit cannot really be evaluated. It is more than a temporary substitute for cash. It is a practical convenience which, when used intelligently and properly, serves as a symbol of integrity and a source of personal prestige.

The objectives of National Retail Credit Week are to "encourage the broad use of consumer credit consistent with sound business principles and the welfare of the community and to counsel and protect the consumers against the tragedy of going into debt beyond their ability to pay."

"The intelligent use of credit," Blair pointed out, "brings many of the good things of life within reach of those who might never enjoy them if they had to defer each purchase until they saved the necessary cash."

Blair urged consumers to guard their credit as a sacred trust because "it will serve you during your entire lifetime as the means for obtaining the many goods and services you consider necessary for a wholesome, healthy and comfortable life."

TEEN TOWN FRIDAY
Teen Town will be held Friday night, according to sponsors.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Mastooth visited in Weatherford, Okla., Sunday with his mother, Mrs. R. A. Mastooth.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, our national and local economy is largely founded on consumer buying, and

WHEREAS, this ever-increasing consumer purchasing is facilitated by the use of credit, and

WHEREAS, a greater number of persons in all walks of life are enjoying the many goods and services of the present day through various kinds of sound credit arrangements, and

WHEREAS, it is necessary that the public be acquainted with the importance of the proper use of credit as a relation of mutual trust, and

WHEREAS, it is most desirable and necessary that credit consumers be encouraged to use their credit wisely and to protect their credit record through the prompt payment of all credit obligations,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, John C. Haynes, Mayor of McLean, Texas, do hereby proclaim the period of April 24 through April 30, 1960, to be NATIONAL RETAIL CREDIT WEEK and urge all our citizens to pay their obligations promptly, and strengthen the economy through a wise and proper use of credit in meeting their needs and desires.

Dated at McLean, Texas, this 21st day of April, 1960.
JOHN C. HAYNES, Mayor
McLean, Texas

I read recently a publication that had as its text a recent research on the responsibility of the press. The subject matter dealt extensively with the fact that the public could be led astray, and often were, with colored news stories, or with news stories that were not factual at all.

For instance, it was brought out that most reporters are underpaid and hungry, which leads to a tendency on their part to fabricate most anything in order to create a big story. After that, the routine is that with bigger stories comes more prestige and therefore more dollars. Wage scale for reporting is supposed to be climbing, which should in time eliminate the situation that has existed in the past of the journalist working for starvation wage and love of the job.

The "informed source" was the largest offense, according to the publication. It said that in many cases the "informed source" was no more than the person who heard it from someone else who heard it from—etc. This, states the researchers, is one reason why newspapers so often disfigure a situation.

They cite the example of the two poverty stricken reporters who finally flipped a coin to see which one would attempt to assassinate the president. The other would be handy with a camera so he could syndicate the pictures and thus make enough money to support his family.

The research also says that no one should accept one paper's opinion, but check many places in order to arrive at the truth.

They wrap it up by recalling the instance of the English butler who announced: "Calling on the madame are four journalists and a gentleman."

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK—
"The problem is no longer whether or not we'll go broke—but just how gracefully we can do it."

"Knitting is a fine thing for the woman; they have something to think about while they talk."

"We are so busy sometimes getting enough to live on that we forget to collect things to live for."

POLITICUS—"An ounce of subsidy will earn you a pound of tax."

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stubbs of El Paso spent the last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stubbs and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barker. Sunday guests in the Stubbs home were Mrs. Stubbs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cook of Lubbock.

Sea Food Dishes—Southern Style

Sea food dishes are a specialty of Southern cuisine. Salads, chowders, gumbos, appetizers, stews, pies and scallops are all ways in which Southern homemakers feature fish. Casseroles are popular, and usually call for sea food combined with a well seasoned sauce. To make a sauce which is always creamy smooth in texture, homemakers know the value of Carnation evaporated milk as an ingredient. Its better blending qualities create the velvety texture. Extra milk nutrients are added because evaporated milk is a concentrated form of milk.

Try these recipes developed in the home service department of the Carnation Company.

SOUTHERN CRAB SCALLOP

(Makes 4-6 servings)

1/4 cup butter	1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup chopped celery	1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup all-purpose flour	2 egg yolks, beaten
1 1/2 cups (large can) undiluted Carnation evaporated milk	2 6 1/2-ounce cans crab meat, drained and boned
1/2 cup water	1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce	Lemon slices

Melt butter. Add celery and cook 5 minutes over medium heat. Add flour; blend. Gradually add evaporated milk and water and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper; mix well. Cool slightly. Stir in egg yolks and crab meat. Turn into buttered shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 20 minutes. Serve garnished with lemon slices, as desired.

CORN AND SHRIMP CASEROLE

(Makes 4 servings)

3/4 cup (small can) undiluted Carnation evaporated milk	Salt and pepper to taste
3 eggs, beaten	1 1/2 cups whole kernel corn
1 teaspoon prepared mustard	1 pound shrimp, shelled and deveined
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce	1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup water	1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper
	1/4 cup chopped onion

Combine evaporated milk, eggs, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, water and salt and pepper; blend. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Turn into buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 1 hour, or until set.

A survey we'll vouch for Surveys will prove most anything, we guess. We just read one that said people visit the neighborhood pharmacy more than any other store. Well, we can believe that... we see our friends lots more often than, say, the folks at the shoe store. That's because of the variety of products we sell and the extra hours we're open. And, of course, in time of illness we're your source of medication... prepared to the highest professional standards.

WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT MAKE?

Many people honestly feel that one can be a Christian without being a member of the church. This feeling has arisen chiefly due to the idea that there is some error in all churches, and that none of them are teaching and practicing all the truth as it is taught in the Bible, therefore one can be saved outside as well as within them.

Although this may be true of churches built by men, it is not true of the church built by Christ. Christ built His church, (Matt. 16-18). He purchased it with His own blood on calvary's cross, (Acts 20:28). He is its head, and it is His body of which He is the Savior, (Col. 1:18; Eph. 1:22-23; 5:23). It is His holy bride, and He gave himself up for it, (Eph. 5:23-27). All the saved are added to it, (Acts 2:47); and it is through the church that the name of God is glorified, (Eph. 3:21).

When we teach and practice what was taught and practiced by Christ and the apostles we will be members of the church that Jesus built. To do anything more would be doing too much, and to do anything less would be too little, (Rev. 22:18-19).

We can see from the above scriptures that it does make much difference to the Lord whether we are in His church, and whether we are obeying the truth. We should all search the scriptures, find the Lord's way, and abide in His teaching.

"FOCUS ON NRC WEEK"

America's vast economic growth and high standard of living are often attributed chiefly to our leadership in mass production of goods.

A factor often overlooked, but of equal importance, is the ability of the American consumer to buy on credit. The National Retail Credit Association is appropriately calling attention to this fact through its sponsorship of "National Retail Credit Week," April 24-30, 1960.

The individual consumer's purchasing power would obviously be only a fraction of what it is today if he had to pay cash for everything. For the individual this would mean a lower standard of living. For the economy as a whole, it would reduce the demand for all types of goods and services and, result in a vicious spiral, reducing employment of those who produce goods and thus further impair the nation's total purchasing power.

Aside from purchases which are financed on deferred-payment plans, the buying power of responsible people is increased by credit extended through stores, and by doctors, dentists and other purveyors of goods and services, in the form of the charge account or open credit.

The nation's credit leaders encourage responsible people to establish personal credit as a means of convenience and prestige. But they also recommend that credit purchases be carefully budgeted and kept within the individual's ability to pay, and that credit accounts be paid faithfully as agreed.

TIME FOR MORE GROWTH

Now that the city election is over and the first council meeting with new members completed, it's time to get the shoulders to the plow and make way for more improvements and growth in the community.

McLean is entirely too small for factions, and where factions operate there is seldom much accomplished.

There are problems which are presently being solved, but more that will arise in the future. Making a community attractive for new residents and profitable for present populace is a complex and never-ending situation. The advantages we have must be retained and new ones must be gained.

Many communities such as McLean stand on the border line of continual progress as opposed to the ranks of the forgotten small communities. The former situation is enviable, but must be had through constant effort, and at many times considerable investment.

A glance at a few communities near McLean can ascertain that when the minority that opposes any change whatsoever is heard too strongly, then all must be deprived of many advantages.

And strangely enough, when the few that are not benefitted directly by community progress win the battles, they are generally the first to feel the bite of an unhealthy economy.

RANDOM THOUGHTS ON THE AMERICAN SCENE

by Vant Neff

Seems to me we get some funny ideas about fame here in America. Someone gets to be a sports champion and the first thing we ask him is his advice on political matters. It's the same thing that makes Premier Khrushchev an authority on dancing. They say he didn't like the dancing in "Can-Can." Too racy. Sat smiling while they made one whole scene, though.

If Fidel Castro thinks maybe we're jerks, sometimes it seems easy to agree. Here we are paying more for Cuban sugar than all the rest of the world, yet Castro can thumb his nose at us whenever he wants. But every dictator has to have a scapegoat, and Castro doesn't have Batista any more - so it looks like the United States is taking Batista's place as the whipping boy. To get back to that sugar - we pay Mr. Castro a price that makes him many millions a year more than we need to pay him at the regular world-price. His attacks make a body wonder how he'd react if we paid just what Russia pays, for instance - if the United States was only paying just what it had to pay for sugar?

As far as most countries in the world are concerned, we're rich old Uncle Sam. Maybe they even call us Uncle Sap behind our backs. But it's interesting to see how many countries want us to invest in all kinds of businesses there. They're all smiling when they talk to us about investing. But all this smiling gives us something to wonder about - how long after investment comes Expropriation?

When President Eisenhower meets Premier Khrushchev at the Summit, there's bound to be a lot of surface good will. And that's fine. Of course, if there's any agreement signed, that's something else again. What can you expect from an agreement when it's signed with a man who has a lifelong record of breaking his word - who, when he doesn't like an agreement he's signed, simply tears it up?

Used to be that the smaller countries of the world found peace and continuing prosperity in getting along with their bigger neighbors. It made for a happy world, that's for sure. But times have changed. Nowadays our smaller neighboring countries, when they feel things aren't going to suit them at home - their officials start shouting about how badly the big United States has been dealing with them. Well, a map of Europe brings a good question to mind - what would happen if Finland, for instance, raised the voice to huge Russia? It makes you wonder what would happen if some of our smaller neighbors today, who seem to be so all-American, were to do their own thing about Russia. Would it be the Premier would be so tolerant about it, like he is?

Why back in the twenties, when there was a lot of talk about people in the United States being poor, the government was then, largely, a big spender to eat. But it came to that now. In the newspapers, that from the very first, the Russians have kept millions of dollars stashed all over the world, simply for the purpose of converting people to every walk of life to the Soviet Communist idea. The working propaganda fund, they tell us, is bigger today than it ever was. Just makes you wonder how many people in Communist-dominated countries are getting as poor and poorly-clothed and ill-fed as

Came on a wonderful thing the other day, how lots of companies in America are starting programs, or already have them, to teach their employees about politics. Time was when politics was a dirty word in business, and the change is a good one. Because today politics teaches our everyday lives all the time. And the more we all know about politics these days, the better citizens we're bound to become. And where better to learn about politics than among the people we work with?

WALTER ROGERS REPORTS

SUGAR

Last week I introduced three measures designed to provide additional domestic production of sugar. At the present time, domestic production of sugar is limited. The growers of sugar, both cane and beet, in this country produce approximately 55% of the domestic consumption. The remaining 45% comes from such countries as Peru, the Dominican Republic, Mexico, and other countries, including Cuba. Cuba, as most of you know, enjoys the biggest percentage of the 45%. At the present time she is authorized under the law to provide approximately 30% of our entire need, which is about 66 2/3% of our imports of sugar. This sugar coming from Cuba is purchased at a price about two cents above the world market, but is still several cents below the United States market. The United States market has different ranges, depending upon whether you are trading in the Northeast, the Southeast the Gulf area, the Chicago-West area, or the Pacific Coast area.

The three bills which I have introduced are designed to accomplish one result. That is to provide the sugar growers of this country with quotas which will permit us to produce a larger percentage of our domestic consumption. As a starter, I propose to increase our domestic consumption from approximately 55% to approximately 63%. This would no doubt result in lessening the amount which Cuba furnishes this country. However, it is not intended as an economic sanction against Cuba, nor any other country. It is designed to make it possible for us to utilize our own productive ability and to assist those farmers who can and want to grow sugar beets. We in the Panhandle can grow excellent sugar beets and it occurs to me that we should be allowed to do so. Another of my bills would do away with the acreage controls in the production of sugar beets. At the present time acreage allotments are dependent upon marketing quotas given to sugar producing mills which marketing quotas are in turn dependent upon the percentage of our domestic sugar consumption which can be produced in this country, which is 55%. If the acreage controls are removed it will provide a free competitive economy between the areas which can grow sugar beets. This competition will be in the nature of the contracts the sugar beet growers are willing to make with the sugar mills. It will provide a means whereby those areas having little or no acreage allotments will have an equal opportunity to bid against other areas. The third bill is designed to make it possible for the farmers in this country to obtain the right to grow and produce that amount of sugar represented by the increased demands each year. In other words, at the present time let us say that because of the annual increase in population we would need an additional 100,000 tons of sugar. As the law presently stands, only 55% of that 100,000 tons increase may be produced by domestic growers. The other 45% is allocated to foreign producers. It seems to me that at least the increase in the domestic consumption should go to our own people. The bill also provides that 85% of the increase is to be allocated to those areas which presently do not have extensive production of sugar beets.

The sugar situation is a highly complicated matter and will take a lot of exhaustive work to get it corrected. However, regardless of the length of the journey, it can never be accomplished unless the first step is taken. I hope that my bills will be the first step in correcting a situation which I feel is somewhat unfair to our own native people.

THE PARKING PROBLEM The parking problem in this country is certainly presenting a dilemma that indicates a change in living conditions. Only the other day we had before us a bill providing for the United States to enlarge one of its National Park areas by purchasing 2.76 acres of land at a price of some $600,000, the land to be used for parking purposes. In the questioning, I developed that the high price of the land was because there was a hotel located on it. This pointed up to me that the age-old problem of parking the body had yielded to the new problem of parking the car. Perhaps they intend to sleep in the cars.

WHEAT SPRAYING Many inquiries have come into the office concerning the use of 2-4-D spray on wheat. I conferred with the Food and Drug Administration and the Department of Agriculture and was given the following advice: The only criteria in using 2-4-D is that there be no detectable residue at harvest. Both agencies advised the most positive assurance is to follow directions on the label, which has the nearest thing there is to Department of Agriculture sanction. No danger is anticipated on wheat sprayed in its present stage. I understand the most danger occurs when wheat is sprayed within two or four weeks prior to harvest.

I pass this information on to the wheat farmers and will be glad to enlarge upon it if you will call upon me.

ECONOMY PROVED IN MOBILGAS RUN!

CORVAIR BY CHEVROLET DRIVE IT! GET OUR DEAL!!!!

A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,061.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U. S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.

Things Corvair gives you that America's other compact cars can't: Practically flat floor... real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17.6 cu. ft. of extra storage space. Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride. Rear-engine traction... that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels. You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition - rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic - those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. Operating costs take a nose dive the day you take delivery of a Corvair.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

JURIES, OLD AND NEW
Speaking before the juries—the beginning of jury trials—goes way back to Greek colonies about 600 B. C., in lawsuits over lands seized by tyrants.

Soon after Athens itself took over such oratory, but seems never to have worked out rules of evidence or control of the trial by a judge. Jurors often booted or cheered the parties, talked together, and shouted at speakers. What one man knew or thought he knew about the case he told his neighbor.

All evidence could go: Personal knowledge, hearsay, prejudice, and a juror's opinion.

The Athenian juror had power: Each "dicast" (a juror chosen by lot) was both jurymen and judge.

Jurors sat in many courts; the smallest had 201 dicasts, the largest one such as tried Socrates had 601. (The odd man broke tie.) The jurors heard and decided their cases out in public, often amid swarms of citizens and foreigners.

One day to each case; and the accused—like Socrates—had to prove his innocence.

Each juror earned one obol a day—about three cents.

Each juror swore: "I shall vote according to the laws of the Athenian people and the Council of the Five Hundred; but as to things about which there are no laws, I shall judge as best I can without favor or enmity. I shall judge as to things at issue and shall listen fairly to both the accuser and the defendant. These things I swear by Zeus, by Apollo, by Demeter. May there be blessing on me if I keep my oath; but if not, let three be ruin for me and my family."

Today as yesterday our juries are under fire. Some say juries waste time, people won't serve; jurors make stupid mistakes. Let experts do justice, critics say.

Such things hold true only if citizens forsake their right to serve.

Only a free people can enjoy the privilege of jury duty. A Greek thinker once said that the mark of a citizen, as opposed to an alien, was his right to share in administering justice.

When jury duty calls, think of yourself as seeking truth, hearing all the evidence, heeding the court's instructions, following the lawyers' arguments, and laying aside prejudice.

THE DROUTH OF 1934

In all our experiences through the fifty years in the cattle business in West Texas and New Mexico, 1934 was the most universal drouth we have ever seen. It extended practically all over the United States, and it got dryer and dryer and finally never did rain. If there is anything worse than war, it is a long drouth when you own several thousand cattle. Nothing can whip a cow man like an extended drouth.

A certain very fine Christian man owned a ranch in West Texas during this time I mentioned in 1934. He had faith to believe the Lord would provide if he only did his part. His cattle were dying around the headquarters and he and his cowboys were kept so busy they hadn't had a chance to look over all the range. One particular part he hadn't heard from in some time, so he sent one of his cowboys to look it over and report back to him. This old boy was gone all day; it was long after dark before he returned. The boss waited up for him to learn the news. While the cowboy ate his supper at the bunk house, this owner of the big ranch sat there on the end of the bench and asked questions. "Well, Jim, how does it look where you were today?" The cowboy said, "It looks bad. I never saw enough grass all day to build a bird's nest; the water's dried up and there's dead cattle everywhere. If it don't rain purty soon I don't know what we'll do." The good Christian cattleman replied by saying, "I guess the Lord will send us rain when we need it bad enough." The old rough cowboy poured out another cup of coffee and said, "Well, if he don't know we need rain now, he's a damn poor cow man."

WESTERN HOSPITALITY

One time there was an eastern lady who got off the train at Willcox, Ariz., to eat breakfast at a lunch counter. The conductor notified the passengers that they would only have five minutes to eat. This lady ordered a cup of coffee and when it came it was in a thick, heavy cup, black as ink and boiling hot. She made the remark that she was doubtful if she would have time to drink this coffee and catch her train. An old cowboy that was sitting next to her shoved his cup over and said, "Here's one, lady, that's already sauced and blowed." That's what I call real western hospitality.

Trew, Mrs. Allie West and the Nephews were Mr. and Mrs. John Trew of Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Martin and children of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Trew and children of Perryton.

WHENCE COMETH MY HELP?

By Kenneth McCall, Presbyterian pastor

"My help cometh from the Lord, who made heaven and earth." Psalm 121:2

The time in which we live is characterized by the struggle for power. We are reminded constantly of the struggle of nation against nation. Daily headlines reveal the growing power of our destructive weapons, enough power to destroy a great portion of the inhabited earth. With this vast power in our grip, we easily convince ourselves that we are the masters of power, the creators of all we possess.

From whence cometh the power to live, and to love? Consider again with the psalmist, the source of our help. Acknowledge with him that our help comes from God who made heaven and earth. Our life, our hopes and dreams, and all we possess are given to us by the ultimate creative power of God.

Jesus said, "All power is given unto me in heaven and earth." He who would know the creative source of life and the redemptive power to live it, will find it in the love and mercy of Christ our Lord.

"Area Observations"

CURRY COUNTY TIMES:
Do We Want Responsible Government? A national committeeman of one of the great political parties is quoted as saying, "The voter doesn't care whether government is responsible. The voter wants to know what it is doing for him." The judgment is a cynical one. But that does not mean that it is wrong, or can easily be disproven. Indeed, some of the most successful political figures of the last generation have followed the dictum almost exactly. And the present burden of debt and taxation, along with the steady decay of individual freedom, individual responsibility and basic individual morality is, in part, their monument.

What remains to be seen is whether the majority of voters have just drifted with a tide, or have not recognized it for what it is, or honestly "don't care" whether government is responsible." If the last is the case, this country is done for, and the only thing to speculate about is when the final curtain will come down on what used to be called the American Dream. The one hope is that the voter will recognize what welfare state government is doing for him—and will revolt before the last battle is lost.

CLAYTON RAND IN WIT AND WISDOM: The authors of "The Thief in the White Collar," Norman Jaspas and Hillel Black, claim that white collar thugs steal about four million dollars in cash and property from their employers each working day in the year.

This billion dollar a year business thrives as an inside job. Workers begin snitching a little, and then become bolder. Unfortunately, few of them are ever brought to justice, not more than 10%, for their employers let them off easy to keep from embarrassing their families.

The prevailing pilfering has gained such momentum that the vice president of a Wall Street brokerage firm recently cheated the company's electric brain. He beat the electronic computer and his company out of $250,000.

The government squeezes the taxpayers, and the taxpayers falsify their tax returns in a futile effort to get even. Public servants encourage graft in the form of kickbacks, labor union bosses steal from their members and members steal from their employers and farmers rob the soil bank.

In free America criminals force us to spend each year four and two-thirds times as much on them as we spend on all forms of education. If stealing is now a way of life, and cheating in college has become as common as reported, why shouldn't we be giving courses on the subject to improve our techniques?

HAMLIN HERALD: Isn't it funny. When the other fellow takes a long time to do something, he's slow. But when I take a long time to do something, I'm thorough. When the other fellow doesn't do it, he's lazy. But when I don't do it, I'm too busy. When the other fellow goes ahead and does something without being told, he's overstepping his bounds. But when I go ahead and do something without being told, that's initiative!

When the other fellow states his side of a question strongly, he's bullheaded. But when I state a side of a question strongly, I'm being firm. When the other fellow overlooks a few of the rules of etiquette, he's rude. But when I skip a few of the rules, I'm original. When the other fellow does something that pleases the boss, he's polishing the brass. But if I do something that pleases the boss, that's cooperation. When the other fellow gets ahead he sure had the lucky breaks. But when I manage to get ahead, man, hard word did that! Funny, isn't it—or is it?

Sunbeam or Stardust

Spelling adventure, England offers exhilarating combinations of both sports car and classic tailoring. Perfectly adaptable for both town and country, rain or shine, the Saxony feather-weight coat with its high patch pockets is perfectly teamed with a matching equally light-weight spring topper in Shepherd's plaid. Both are tailored in London by Rodex. Appropriately they are shown with the newest and neatest 1960 sports car... the Sunbeam Alpine.

Week end visitors in the Ladd and Rippey homes at Heald were Mrs. H. C. Nelson and Janice of Dimmitt, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Holder and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Milligan and baby of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Reneau and Mrs. Nida Rippey Green attended Easter services and quarterly conference at the Lela Methodist Church Sunday.

'Just about everything we own WE BOUGHT ON CREDIT!

Is there another way?'

Just ask any American housewife... and most likely, she will frankly admit that most of the things in her house were bought on credit.

Rich and poor families... people in all stations of life... prefer to buy on credit because it's convenient... and because they can enjoy what they want to own RIGHT NOW... without waiting.

The only thing that can take away this wonderful advantage is neglecting to pay your bills as agreed. So by all means:

Buy Now, Pay Later... BUT PAY ON TIME!
