

The Peripatetic View by CEC

It seemed as if they were bolting down the last plank in the rodeo arena grandstand just before the crowd gathered for the first performance. It was a close race, but the new arena was ready when the celebration started.

Many people deserve a lot of praise for the construction of the new rodeo arena in McLean. It's one of the best in the state, and will stand for years to come. It was undertaken as a joint project between the Lions Club and the Roping Club, but many other individuals and firms not connected with the two organizations did much work on the construction.

It is a tribute to the people who had a part in the building of it, and is a monument to the men who conceived the idea and didn't rest until it was accomplished.

Such undertakings as this insure a future for McLean. It ascertains that there are plenty of men willing to share themselves to accomplish something worthwhile.

The new arena is a big asset to McLean, and community appreciation should go to every man and firm that contributed toward its completion.

I learned two things on the trail drive last Friday and Saturday. The first is that the old time cowboys had two powerful attributes—one was their strong will power, and the other was an awesome strength in another part of the frame which I was never able to obtain.

I also saw for the first time in my life the "best part of a Golden Spread Day." This period of time, according to my calculations, occurs a few minutes after you go to sleep. The only "best" I could discern from it was that it is the "best" time to go back to bed.

A computer would show that I rode my horse 80 miles straight west and 40 miles straight up and down, making a total of 120 miles traveled.

But the venture was a success in that a goodly amount of publicity was drummed up for the rodeo and celebration. And judging from the opening night crowd, I believe the publicity was abundant.

Parked Car Hit By Motorist

One person was hospitalized Monday when a car traveling east on Highway 66 crashed into a parked car belonging to Bill Bailey which was next to the curb on the left side of the highway.

According to reports, the driver momentarily reached for the glove compartment, and the car swerved into Bailey's car.

Two persons were riding in the car, but only one was hospitalized. His condition was not listed as critical.

NEW PLANS IN POSTAL SYSTEM TO SPEED MAIL DELIVERY

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield this week announced sweeping movements in mail transportation that will mean better mail service for McLean and 124 other communities in the Amarillo and Lubbock metropolitan areas, covering over 37,000 square miles.

Discussing the program at a meeting of postmasters in Amarillo, Geo. A. Gray, regional operations director, said that 900,000 people in the 40 Texas counties would benefit by better mail service.

Barring infrequent delays in media of transportation and occasional distribution errors, first class letters mailed at designated collection boxes or in the post office before 5 p. m. on a business day will be delivered on the first delivery at any office in the area on the following business day.

"Tests just concluded," Gray said, "proved the mail pattern to be highly successful. Approximately

66 Rodeo, Roundup, Celebration Underway

New Arena Ready

McLean's 66 Roundup and Rodeo was off to a start in a newly completed arena that ranks as one of the best in the state.

The new arena was conceived, planned and promoted through the ideas, efforts, and work of local persons who were willing to work hard enough to see the desires materialize.

Constructed all of steel, the arena was built through the efforts of the McLean Lions Club, the McLean Roping Club and numerous businesses and individuals who contributed of their time and means.

Following the show in 1959, it was decided that the old arena was obsolete and inadequate, and the grounds were improved for use in the Little League program in McLean.

So to provide for a new and better site for the rodeos, the organizations and individuals undertook the total construction. Through generosity of many persons, nearly all material was donated, and only skilled professional help was hired by the rodeo association. All other labor was contributed. And additionally, much of the professional aid was contributed by firms and individuals in the interest of the project.

Through this combined effort, McLean has one of the most modern, efficient, and convenient arenas in which to stage its annual rodeo. Because of such facilities, McLean can continue to boast one of the top rodeos of the area, and also furnish ideal conditions for the quarterhorse show, which is an added feature of the celebration.

The arena will be adequate to furnish the needs of the annual affair for decades to come, a truly worthy contribution to the McLean community.

APPROVED QUARTERHORSE SHOW SET FOR FRIDAY MORNING

McLean's second annual American Quarterhorse Association approved quarterhorse show will be held at the rodeo arena Friday at 10 a. m.

According to director Neville Back, the show this year should exceed that of last year, which was the first to be held in conjunction with the 66 rodeo and celebration.

Many entries have been received for the show this year, including some of the top quarterhorse stables in the tri-state area.

This year an "Open Gelding" class will be added to the show, with entries needing no registration. This will be the first year that such a class will be in the itinerary for the show.

Included in the entrants for this year's show are Jimmy Rondalls of Montoya, N. M., Joe Kirk Fulton of Lubbock, O. G. Hill of Hereford, Bill Stockstill of Pampa, J. W. Hastings of Wichita Falls, and Reed

Hill of Canadian. The show is expected to be one of the best of the year to be staged in the Panhandle-South Plains area.

REV. RILEY MOVES TO PAMPA

Rev. Jack Riley, pastor of the McLean Methodist Church for the past four years, is moving this week to Pampa. Rev. Riley will become pastor of the St. Paul Methodist Church there.

Rev. Riley preached his final sermon in McLean Sunday, and he, along with his family, is moving to Pampa today.

C. S. Rice suffered a broken rib and bruises Saturday night in his home, resulting from a fall.

OLD FIDDLERS TO COMPETE ON SATURDAY

Saturday at 2:30 p. m. the 1960 "Old Fiddlers Contest" will be staged on Main Street in McLean, immediately north of the 66 Highway north-west intersection.

An annual affair, some of the top talent among old fiddlers in the area will be on hand to compete.

A certificate will be awarded to the champion after all contestants have displayed their talents.

McLean's 66 Round-up, Rodeo and Celebration is now underway, promising one of the best attended, and most publicized ever promoted in McLean.

This year's celebration includes four big nights of rodeos in addition to the AQHA approved horse show, old fiddlers contest, old settlers reunion and other festivities.

Heading off the celebration was a parade Wednesday afternoon at 5 p. m., opening the four-day affair.

The rodeo is two-go-round, with an $1800 purse in six events, including saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, double mugging and bull dogging.

All performances of the rodeo will begin at 8 p. m., and will continue through Saturday night.

Friday at 10 a. m. the quarter horse show will be held, and Saturday at 2 p. m. the old fiddlers contest will take place. The horse show will be at the new arena, and the fiddlers contest will be on Main Street north of the Highway 66 north lane intersection.

Rodeo headquarters is Ellison Chevrolet Company.

DAVID CROCKETT

CROCKETT TO PLAY FOR WEST TEXAS

David Crockett, McLean's all-regional fullback, has signed up to play for West Texas State College in Canyon, it was announced recently.

Crockett graduated this year as one of the most highly touted gridsters to come from McLean. He is a four-year letterman; was named a total of five times during his high school career as "Player of the Week"; was named on the all-district team two years and was on the all-regional squad his senior year.

In addition to the above honors, Crockett received the McLean News "Most Valuable Player" award after last season. The award was determined through a vote of team members.

In joining with West Texas State, Crockett will be a part of an all-out attempt for a top football squad. Newly appointed head coach of the Buffaloes, Joe Kerbel, has a sparkling record as mentor of championship teams. His program is reaping some of the finest football talent in the Panhandle and South Plains areas. Sports seers look for West Texas to be a grid power in the coming season under the hand of Kerbel.

Crockett, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Crockett.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

Church membership is of great importance. Christ died, and through His death purchased the church. (Acts 20:28) When we consider that the church cost Christ His blood how can anyone say that membership in it is not important?

The church is composed of Christians, members of Christ's body. They have been added to the church by the Lord. (Acts 2:47) They have been added because they have obeyed the gospel of Christ as it is stated in Acts 2:37-47 and in Gal. 3:25-27. Hence to say that church membership is unimportant is to say that it is unimportant to be a Christian. For the same thing that makes one a Christian makes him a member of the Lord's church.

Membership in the Lord's church does not embody membership in any denomination, however, for His church is not a denomination. Those who teach and practice New Testament Christianity are not members of any denomination. The church is the body of Christ. Col. 1:18; Eph. 1:22-23. There is one body, Eph. 4:4-5. Jesus is the savior of that body, Eph. 5:23.

Churches of Christ were in existence nineteen centuries ago (Rom. 16:16), and those who are teaching and practicing the same things today are members of that same church. Congregations of that church in different localities were known as churches, but not divisions within the body of Christ. John 17:21; 1 Cor. 1:10-13; 1 Cor. 3:1-11

We plead with men to lay aside party names, creeds and doctrines and hold membership in the church of the New Testament. The word of God is sufficient to guide us. 2 Tim. 3:16-17. Are you a member of the Lord's church?

THROTTLING OPPOSITION

The following editorial is reproduced from Christian Economics:

"Two years ago the Bureau of Internal Revenue ruled that privately-owned power companies could not spend money before taxes advertising the benefits of free enterprise. At about the same time, the Tennessee Valley Authority must have spent at least $100,000 for the distribution of its 25,000 word pamphlet extolling the virtues of socialized power.

"Government departments and government-owned enterprises spend millions and millions of dollars brainwashing the American people into believing that socialized power and other socialized businesses are good.

"When a private enterprise spends pre-tax money for advertising, the public, through loss in taxes, pays about half of the bill. When government departments or government-owned enterprises, such as the Tennessee Valley Authority, spend money advertising in defense of socialism, the taxpayers pay 100% of the bill.

"Apparently, what is sauce for the goose is double sauce for the gander.

"Late last year, the Supreme Court upheld the ruling of the Bureau of Internal Revenue . . . Government is choking off the means by which those who believe in freedom would tell their story to the public."

EXPERIENCE STILL BEST TEACHER

The citizens of the communist countries have no means of changing the economic system under which they live. They have no vote, in any real sense of the term. The state, with all its apparatus of ruthless power, sees that they obey—or else.

But there are free countries where, in past times, socialism has made tremendous strides. And in certain conspicuous cases the pendulum has now swung the other way.

The outstanding example is England. The Labor Party, once transcendent with its program of total nationalization, is out of power, and many competent observers believe that, unless it materially modifies its position, it will continue to go down hill and into eventual extinction as a political force. The Conservative government, reelected last fall with a far heavier Parliamentary majority than even the most sanguine expected, is following a policy of all-out encouragement to private enterprise. The British people, and particularly the younger people, have proven with their ballots that this policy has majority approval and enthusiasm.

Now Sweden provides another example. Her leading party, the Social Democrats, has in past times urged a program of total nationalization comparable to that of the British Labor Party. But, apparently a great change is about to take place. A new proposed program states: "The Social Democratic Party will support those forms of enterprise and ownership which best serve material progress and human welfare. It will favor public ownership and public control of natural resources and enterprises insofar as they are necessary to safeguard important interests of the citizens. . . . It will encourage private enterprise in those fields in which it proves able to combine efficiency and the will to progress with responsibility toward the consumers, the employees and the community. . . ." This, in the light of the party's past position, marks a very important switch indeed.

Britain and Sweden have had a long and costly experience with socialism. Now they are beginning to turn their backs on it. May we be wise enough to learn from their examples.

AGRICULTURAL CHEMICAL PROBLEM

Roscoe Drummond, one of this country's most widely syndicated columnists, recently wrote: "There is more than meets the eye in the appeal of Aled P. Davies, vice president of the American Meat Institute, that Congress appropriate eight to ten times as much money for government research to develop new and harmless chemicals and insecticides than the Department of Agriculture has requested."

Mr. Drummond went on to point out that Mr. Davies, as a spokesman for the meat packing industry, "is not disposed to think that the best solution to everything is to turn to Washington." But in this instance there is nowhere else to turn. Chemicals which are effective in destroying pests sometimes leave a residue in animals which is harmful to humans if eaten. In the great majority of instances, the amounts are minimal. However, as Mr. Drummond observes, "but because these pesticides are sometimes carelessly used by farmers, there is danger of sudden crisis in the meat industry which would make the 'cranberry incident' of last November seem like a toy firecracker compared to the Hiroshima bomb."

The amount of money involved is not large, by governmental standards. The Department of Agriculture has asked for $1.5 million for chemical research. Mr. Davies thinks the allocation should not be less than $12 million and preferably $15 million. The goal is to produce non-toxic chemicals, which leave no harmful residue in livestock. That is a goal of interest to everyone—producers, packers, processors, retailers, and, above all, consumers. The funds allocated should certainly be adequate for the job.

ap trouble is that we might have to settle it ourselves. This might be another version of the expression that "Folks who live in glass houses should never throw stones."

Someone else has said: "Worry is the interest we pay when we borrow trouble." It is true that most of our worries are about things that never happen. By the same token, most of the things of a bad nature that happen to us come about because we failed to worry soon enough.

Another put it this way: "The trouble with the future is that it is getting shorter all the time." Some folks worry about getting old. Actually, if we weren't getting older we wouldn't be getting anywhere at all.

The trouble with writing on the subject of trouble is that we have trouble finding a piece to stop.

Comment from the Capital —

DOES AMERICA WANT HOFFA-LAWS?

by Van Neff

Is Congress representing American citizens these days, or is our chief law-making body destined to be dominated by the interests of a determined and powerful labor leader who answers to no one?

This is a natural question today. James Hoffa, President of the powerful Teamsters' Union, just sent his lieutenants a special memorandum, with instructions for immediate action. It includes a "purge list" of Congressmen who "must go."

This raises another, far more important question. In how many of these United States, do the states' Congressional districts, in Mr. Hoffa's entitled to decide who shall represent all the citizens and voters?

Here is what Mr. Hoffa's "list" is based on:

Sidney Zagri, heading the Teamsters' new multi-million-dollar political-action Department of Legislation and Political Education, supplied Hoffa with the dates of primary elections in each state, each Representative's voting position both on the original Landrum-Griffith labor-reform bill, and their voting record on the final weak bill — as well as the number of Teamsters' officers in each Congressman's district. Lastly, the information tells the percentage by which each House member won in 1958.

With such facts, it was easy for Mr. Hoffa to see at a glance which members of Congress were voting as the Teamsters' top command desired or dictated. And the Hoffa memorandum makes it clear that pro-labor means pro-Hoffa. As for the purge list — there are 56, and Hoffa's orders are definite — they must "go."

This type of "purge" is a brutal, vindictive pressure-play that has been tried from time to time by many men in influential positions. It nearly always comes from one whose accumulated power has removed him in a subtle, often sinister way, from the basic traditions of the country and its citizens. A President, a famous and beloved figure, once tried to "purge" the Supreme Court. He failed. Has the time now arrived when a man with notorious underworld associates, blatantly dedicated to his own very special, sometimes shady, interests and powers, can succeed where an infinitely greater man could not?

Added to the fundamental insolence and outrage of the "purge list" itself, is the scope of Mr. Hoffa's instructions to his lieutenants. He outlines a positive program, naming names — too many to give here — and provides instructions for either support or defeat. His instructions to the local leaders are massive and impudent — only a single state, he feels, is today immune from his program. This state is South Carolina, and Mr. Hoffa says of this state — "no possibilities — solid Dixiecrat bloc." The word "possibilities" used in this connection describes clearly Mr. Hoffa's intensely personal approach to these Congressmen elected by all the American people.

The Hoffa memorandum ends with the names of fifteen Congressmen who must get unlimited Teamster support. Mr. Hoffa tells his local men to act directly — these Congressmen are, it seems, "hard-core Congressmen (who) should be contacted by the local union leadership in their districts . . . to assure them of Teamster all-out support."

Here we have the ultimate in blatant, don't-give-a-damn-for-anyone political pressure by a powerful, rich labor Baron who feels he answers to no one.

This raises two questions in the average American citizen's mind. First: just where does such a labor-leader come off? And second: If these chosen, blindly-pro-labor Congressmen are assured of Hoffa's complete support, and it helps elect them, then who can assure the rest of us that we don't face a future where every law that governs us is to be flatly and exclusively pro-labor — in fact, nothing but a Hoffa-law?

McCARLEY-PARKER VOWS READ

Miss Peggy McCarley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. McCarley of Lefors, became the bride of Gene Parker, son of Mrs. John Parker of Happy and the late Mr. Parker, in the Lefors Methodist Church May 28 at 7:30, with Rev. C. P. McMaster as officiant.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white lace and tulle over taffeta, featuring a scalloped sash and neckline with long sleeves closed with tiny covered buttons with points over the wrists.

Judy Terrell of Plainview was maid of honor. Mrs. Jerry Pflug of Lefors and Miss June Henderson of Dallas were bridesmaids.

John Parker of Amarillo, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Don Parker of Amarillo and James Parker of Happy were groomsmen. Ushers were Larry Sexton of Happy and Lester McLean of Spearman.

Stevie McCarley of Pampa, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Jimmy and Bonnie Jones of Pampa, wearing frilly orchid nylon dresses, were candlelighters.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the civic center.

The bride graduated from Lefors High School in 1958, attended West Texas State College two years, and is now working for the American Quarterhorse Association in Amarillo. The bridegroom graduated from Happy High School in 1956, and will graduate next semester from W. T. S. C., after which he plans to teach and coach. The bride plans to continue her collegiate work.

I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving.—Oliver Wendell Holmes

CEMETERY UNDERGOES DECORATING

"Lefors Memorial Heights" now adorns the entrance to the Lefors cemetery, over a gate flanked by brick pillars and a cattle guard.

Most of the work was completed for Memorial Day by the Lefors Art and Civic Club, sponsors of the project, and other citizens of the community.

In addition to the sign erection, graves were cleaned and mounded, grounds were cleaned, mowed and watered.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

Follow Simple Rules in Automobile Accident

Vacation time is here. Soon millions of people will be driving about the country, and automobile accidents will occur with increasing frequency. What should a person do when involved in an accident?

At such times it is hard to keep your wits about you and know just what to do. It is therefore a good idea to plan in advance just what you would do in event of a smash-up. Here are a few simple rules that every driver should commit to memory:

1. STOP! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.

2. RENDER AID. If anyone is injured: (1) Render first aid. (2) Stop bleeding. (3) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. (4) Do not move an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.

3. PROTECT THE SCENE FROM FURTHER DAMAGE. You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers, unless they are properly warned. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlight beams on the wrecked vehicles.

4. CALL AN OFFICER. Police, highway patrolmen, sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.

5. GATHER INFORMATION . . . WRITE IT DOWN. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess—be specific. Measure skid marks. Stop off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver—and he must do the same.

6. BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU SAY. Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no admission. You may learn later that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted. Whatever you say, make it factual.

7. SEE YOUR DOCTOR if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.

8. CONSULT YOUR LAWYER IMMEDIATELY. The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interview or statements to investigators or adjusters for the other side.

9. INFORM YOUR INSURANCE COMPANY PROMPTLY. Failure to do so may void your policy.

10. REPORT THE ACCIDENT to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury, death, or total damages exceed $25.00.

An official accident report form may be procured from the police, sheriff's department, highway patrol, or state department of public safety.

PER CENT OF FOOD DOLLAR SPENT FOR BREAD AND PER CENT OF NUTRIENTS CONTRIBUTED IN DIETS

Source: Unpublished data from Household Economics Research Branch, Agricultural Research Service, Food Consumption Surveys, 1948.

Enriched white bread, representing 85 per cent of all bread consumption in the United States, is the best possible nutrition buy. Dr. Robert S. Harris, Massachusetts Institute of Technology health authority, told a wheat marketing seminar held recently in Highland Park, Ill.

"A dietetic miracle happened in 1941 when enriched white bread and flour became the law of our land," Dr. Harris said. "Penny for penny, enriched white bread, farina, macaroni and spaghetti are the best nutritional buy. A government study shows that the people spent 4 per cent of their food budget for bread in 1948, and with it bought 10 per cent of their nutrition."

In a nutrition test of 45 most popular breads in 18 bread-eating countries, Dr. Harris found that enriched white bread leads all types of white bread and breads made from partially refined wheat. Only one bread, a semi-white bread of Finland, containing 12 per cent milk, had a higher overall nutritional rating. The breads were analyzed for 22 nutrients.

"Few of the foods competing for space in the stomachs of the American people are as nutritious as enriched bread and other enriched cereal products," Dr. Harris said.

50 YEARS AGO THE OLD SWIMMING POOL WAS A DANGEROUS PLACE FOR SWIMMING BY MOONLIGHT.

MODERN HOMES HAVE THEIR OWN SWIMMING POOLS, ILLUMINATED BY L.P. GAS LAMPS. NIGHT SWIMMING IS SAFE, AND THE GLOWERS CREATE THE CHARM OF YESTERYEAR.

" Area Observations "

By Ed Eakin in Quanah Tribune-Chief:
The small towns of Texas are losing in the race of population and progress because of their own loss of civic spirit and cooperation to keep abreast of the times.

So says Sociologist Reagan Brown of the Texas A&M College Extension Division.

And so be it. Add this to the mass exodus from the farms that has been going on for the past 20 years and you have the modern version of the Vanishing American—the rural towns and villages.

The only silver lining that Brown can see is the signs of a revival of spirit with some adopting community programs aimed at aiding their future economic and civic growth. And it is to be hoped that we do. But we are working against a trend that is older and broader than even Texas. No one has ever told the story of the little town better than Oliver Goldsmith in his "Deserted Village" 200 years ago.

In spite of the continuous flow of population to the cities, a lot of people, the Chief included, prefer small town atmosphere.

For instance, we live in Quanah by choice, preferring the friendly, neighborly spirit to the hustle and bustle—and coldness—of the metropolis.

But we still prefer a GROWING small town to one that is static or slowly wasting away. During recent years, Quanah has shown signs of staging a comeback to the boom days of 1910 to 1930, when the population in Hardeman County reached 14,000.

But if Quanah is ever to grow to any extent, the only answer lies in new industry. More so than most small towns of our size in Texas, Quanah is blessed with industrial plants. Many of our more enterprising citizens are attracted to Quanah by these same industries and become leaders in the community.

Sooner or later, Quanah must have an industrial foundation. We must provide land and buildings for industry. But at present, we can be improving our streets and water and sewer systems, providing better schools, encouraging new homes, enhancing our city parks and playgrounds, and yes, building a library.

We believe in Quanah very strongly. We believe it has a future simply waiting to be carved out by an industrious citizenry. We will need capital to develop our city. But more than capital, we will need imaginative leadership which can visualize the acres of diamonds that lie around us.

From H. M. Baggary's column, "Country Editor," in Tulsa Herald: No one grows old merely by living a number of years, according to a quotation from one of our exchange papers. "People grow old by deserting their ideals. Years may wrinkle skin, but to give up enthusiasm wrinkles the soul."

Something else that wrinkles both the skin and the soul is an ever present gremlin around every newspaper plant known as the typographical error.

figures of a number of Texas towns, Amarillo's 1950 population came out 54,246 on the original proof. This error was marked for correction. It should have been 74,246. It was corrected, all right, but in the correction, the city's 1960 population was reduced by 10,000, to 127,083. And of course this figure appeared just above Lubbock's 1960 figure which was 128,068.

No doubt Lubbock loved this typographical error and would have given its Great Plains Life Insurance building had the figures only been correct. But they weren't, and Amarillo still tops Lubbock by about 9,000 Republicans.

If there must be typographical errors in a newspaper, why do they have to show up in the most embarrassing places? That is the unanswerable question around any newspaper office.

After the paper was out, we saw several other obvious errors in the census figures, so maybe we had better forget about the whole thing as we regret that we ever brought up the subject. For instance, we note that Memphis appears larger in 1960 than in 1950, according to our figures. We don't know the correct figures, but we do know that Memphis is one of many communities which lost in population.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Trew and sons have moved to Perryton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Mantooth and children, Ricky and Julie, of Canyon spent the week end with the Odell Mantooths.

Little Miss Becky Stribling of Mesquite spent last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Mantooth. Mrs. Stribling and son, Lindsay, came Saturday for a week's visit with the Mantooths.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Hughes spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. M. T. Hughes, and sister, Mrs. O. A. Armstrong, and husband in Coleman.

Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Langham were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Langham and girls of Pampa, and J. E. Langham of Wayside. The Wes Langhams also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Miller.

HOW TO BE HAPPY

The ingredients of happiness are so simple that they can be counted on one hand. First of all, happiness must be shared. Selfishness is its enemy; to make another happy is to be happy one's self. It is quiet, seldom found for long in crowds, most easily won in moments of solitude and reflection. It comes from within, and rests most securely on simply goodness and clear conscience. No one is known to have gained it without a philosophy resting on deep religious principles.

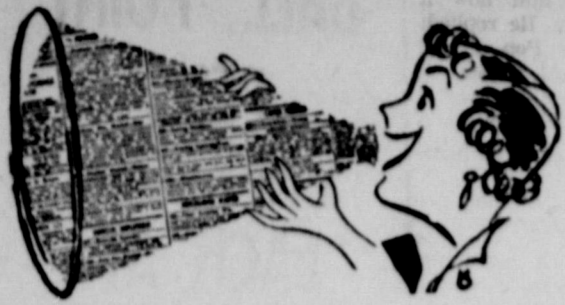

It cannot be bought; indeed money, strange as it may seem, has very little to do with it. It was Thomas Kempis who wisely said, "a modest, Godly, competence sufficeth."

TO VOTERS OF PRECINCT 4

I want to thank all of you for your courtesy shown me during the commissioners campaign. I have made every effort to see and talk to you personally. I am sure I have missed some of you, but I will try to see you before Saturday, June 4.

If elected as your commissioner, I promise to represent this precinct in commissioners court so as to be the most beneficial to everyone and to the precinct.

I am taking this means to ask your vote and support in the Saturday second primary election for Commissioner of Precinct 4.

Quotable Quotes

BILLY GRAHAM: The world is facing the greatest crisis in modern history! A group of fanatical madmen are in control of a nation that could destroy civilization. The summit meeting in Paris demonstrated once again that we cannot do business with Communism any more than we could with Nazism. A few of our leaders are expressing a fear in private that the Communists may push the 'button' some time this summer!

H. Marvin Pollard, professor of medicine at the University of Michigan, on the signs of decline: "A man with an aging state of mind is one who turns to the obituary page before he looks at the sports page, and in a restaurant looks at the menu before he looks at the waitress."

Congratulated my son on his 13th birthday, and asked him how it felt to be a teen-ager. He replied: "All right, I guess, Pop—except for the reputation."—Al Roper

Self-trust is the essence of heroism.—Emerson

The grandest of heroic deeds are those which are performed within four walls and in domestic privacy.—Richter

At mail call a SPAR eagerly opened a letter from her Navy pilot, whom the Navy had managed to keep at opposite ends of the continent during her entire enlistment. She acted dismayed, and her roommate asked, "What's with the fly boy?"

"He's a war casualty."
"A casualty! What happened?"
"A WAVE got him," she sobbed.

There'll be less danger of a casualty with your car if you let us service it regularly. Our workmen are carefully trained and we use the best of products—Chevron, of course!

Single Dose Pinworm Product Effective

DETROIT—A new drug that is more than 95 per cent effective in eliminating pinworm infection with a single dose was introduced this week to the medical profession.

Parke, Davis & Company, said the new strawberry-flavored liquid climaxes nine years of research and the screening of more than 5,000 compounds, and may well contribute to the removal of pinworm as a health problem.

Clinical trials with more than 500 children in the U.S. and Canada show the curative value of a single dose of Povan was virtually 100 per cent effective within one week. Povan is available by prescription only.

Pinworm is an intestinal infection which disregards socioeconomic levels and is prevalent in some 20 per cent of the population of the United States. Although the infection can be transferred readily from the child to all members of the family, it is still most common in children with thumb-suckers and nail-biters being most susceptible.

The typical symptom is anal itching.

The infection may be transferred from person to person by direct contact; by handling contaminated objects; and by breathing airborne worm eggs as a component of house dust.

Eggs from the worms contaminate the bedclothes and even the air from which others acquire the infection. For this reason, treatment of all members of the family where one or more is infected is considered the most effective means of parasite eradication.

Cleanliness, physicians agree, is one of the main factors in controlling the spread of pinworm infection. Sanitary precautions alone, however, have been inadequate in eradicating the infection. Povan, according to Parke-Davis, has proven effective and may well give the physician the most efficient medicinal agent yet available.
