The first blast of warm, balmy spring weather always has a marked and amusing effect on the populace. During the past few days there have been more sidewalk philosophers and fewer working people than has been evidenced since last spring.

There's something about the weather that stirs a man up and makes him want to get a lot of things done without doing anything himself.

Whatever the spring fever disease may be, it goes by more names than any other ailment. One trip up and down Main Street shows that everybody is down with it and each has his own personal name for it. One friend calls it the "Izzrazz" and another called it the "Heebies." I'd say from noticing the age span between the two that spring fever brings on the Izzrazz to people under 40, and the Heebies thereafter.

Election for school board and city officials is upon us. It's time when we all go vote for the persons we'll enjoy cussing periodically for the next year. Being an elected official is a precarious thing. By popular vote you fill a position in order to make the decisions for the people, and then likely the people will be trying to impeach you before you get a half dozen of these decisions made.

School boards especially are gaining more notoriety with time. In Houston one member of the board attended a meeting of the group and while he was there he was attacked by persons carrying clubs, and when he arrived back home somebody had blown his kitchen away from the house with a do-it-yourself bomb. It's no cinch.

And in Ralls, the entire town is up in arms against the school board. They made a decision about the system that didn't meet with too much approval, so now the paper is filled with nasty letters calling everybody ugly names, etc. It's beginning to look like people don't expect elected officials to do much, except to furnish a definite place in which to rail all complaints. And on the city level you'll have to give all the candidates credit for trying to help the community. They're certainly not there to make money or win any popularity contests.

Two more businesses have done extensive remodeling. The office of S. A. Cousins Insurance Agency is renovated and Williams Appliances is getting a facelift. If somehow we could blow up or burn down two or three ugly, empty ones then Main would really be shaping up.

QUIP OF THE WEEK: Children are perceptive. During the past week a McLean woman became so irritated with her small son's puppy that she finally yelled and said she was going to wring its neck. The boy studied the dog and his mother for a moment and then replied, "Come to think of it, I don't really think you are."

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: Around every dark cloud there's a silver lining—Hiding the next black cloud.

Retail Merchants Slate Opening

McLean's Retail Merchants Association should be in operation the early part of April, it was announced by officials of the organization this week.

During the past few days the charter has been prepared and all legal details handled in the beginning of operation. Last week it was announced that Mrs. Betty Norwood would serve as manager and secretary, using a part of the City Hall as office space.

With the beginning of the association, it was urged that all persons realize that the purpose is not to exercise undue or unwarranted coercion in any credit proposition, but rather to protect the interests of both the merchant and the consumer.

Efforts will always be made to protect the businessman from fraudulent acts, whether it be hot check artists or the willful ignoring of obligations. Another purpose will be to aid all persons who have credit rating to utilize that credit to the fullest extent. The association strives to aid and enhance good business whether it be on the part of buyer or seller.

When the operation of the association begins, more information concerning its operation will be furnished. As set forth in the by-laws of the new organization, it calls for the following purposes to be served:

1. To encourage, stimulate, extend and promote business in McLean.
2. To effect a closer association of business and professional men and to advise and cooperate with civic clubs and other organizations to the end that McLean will be a better place in which to live and work.
3. To control promiscuous solicitation by groups and individuals who victimize merchants by seeking advertising, donations and contributions for unjustified purposes.

Dicennial Census to Begin Soon

Advance report forms for the 1960 census of population and housing will be distributed by the post office this week to all households in this area, District Supervisor Clyde Cook announced.

The advance report form is a new census-taking device which is designed to speed up the field canvass and provide more accurate statistics. Distribution of this form before the start of the house-to-house canvass gives the family a chance to assemble information about each member in advance of the census taker's visit. The district supervisor urges all residents to fill out their forms and have them ready for the census takers when they start their rounds on April 1.

The advance report form contains seven questions about every person in the household and six questions about the household's dwelling. The household information asked for is name, address, sex, color or race, month and year of birth, whether married or single, and relationship to head of the household. The information required about the dwelling is the number of rooms, cooking facilities, plumbing, if rented or owned.

At every fourth household, the census taker will seek the answers to additional questions covering population and housing characteristics which are being asked of a 25% sample of the nation's population. The sample population questions include inquiries on country of birth, schooling, employment, income, and related items. The additional housing questions relate to rent or value of dwelling, heating equipment, water supply, and other facilities and equipment.

The district supervisor pointed out that information about individuals and their homes furnished to the Census Bureau is kept confidential under federal law. Only statistical totals and averages are published. No individual person can be identified in published reports and census information cannot be used for regulation, investigation or taxation.

The McLean Lions Club annual beauty contest will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Municipal Building, with the winner to represent the local club in the Lions district convention in Borger to be held soon.

Editorials

A MINOR WRONG

During the past week I was emphatically informed that this paper, along with 95% of the other newspapers, had been doing a grave injustice to our Rural Electrification Administration.

The points in objection to the REA editorials were that:

- 1. The farmer was in definite need of being serviced by electricity.
2. Private utilities WOULD not bring this service to the farmer.
3. If we ourselves pay taxes, then why shouldn't these taxes be used to help a necessary element of our society and economy.

4. The REA has not cost taxpayer money, but has been self-supporting.
5. Supposing that the principal employed in the REA is wrong, then it is still unfair to be critical so often because so many more wrongs of greater proportion are in existence or have been in the past.

It was also brought out that a private utility company is one of the McLean News' largest advertisers, and consequently had inadvertently, or otherwise, dictated the hostile policy toward the REA.

Before any answer is given to the questions, it might be best to qualify the editorial opinion that has been expressed in the past by the McLean News.

First, there has never been, nor will there ever be any malice directed toward the farmer because he is an REA user. Also, there is no insinuation that the work by the REA was not beneficial, or necessary, or helpful.

The editorials directed toward the REA were to bear out an opinion that when the government has in the past, and is presently going billions of dollars in the red every year because they are supporting companies in competition with privately owned companies, then something is wrong.

Constitutionally, our government is set up to protect the inalienable rights of its citizens, with a guarantee of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Perhaps this attitude could be considered anti-government, but at a time when personal-income taxes are staggering, and still our nation is plummeting deeper in the hole with every passing year, it hardly seems a "reactionary" attitude to become "anti."

Supposing that the idea of government subsidy is sound, then what could explain our present situation? Any answer to this will be happily printed upon receipt of same.

In answer to the above statements of protest, it is willingly agreed that the REA may not be the largest or most flagrant of misguided government spending.

The annual loss of government owned companies is 38 billion dollars.

Another staggering instance of such subsidies brought to my attention was when General Motors workers struck and labor-management negotiation ran into weeks and months.

But our attitude is that if the leftist trend continues the time is approaching when government control will be absolute. When this time comes, we will all a-ford of our means annually so that the government may dole back out in equal proportions to all.

It would be impossible to arrive at a "pure" system of free enterprise. Wrongs are committed by both the concerns operating as such as well as by a liberal government. We feel, however, that when dollars are TAKEN from tax payers, and applied at any point that the government sees fit, whether private companies OR government owned, then the control of the people has vanished entirely from our government.

We will, however, attempt to distribute our critical editorials among MORE government injustices. To cover quite a problem.

Area Observations

LOCKNEY BEACON: Seems that there is no limit to what some bureaucratic authorities will do in order to "throw their weight around." Take the case up in New Jersey when the "authorities decided that the little 4-year-old girl was too smart for her foster parents so she should be given to someone with a higher IQ, and maybe with more money to provide the "cultural interests" the little girl needed.

If limitless debate actually was devoted to the subject at hand, it might be defensible. But when it is devoted instead to preventing any discussion of the subject at hand, as in the case of the filibuster, then it is indefensible, undignified, and undeniably demagogic.

Our schedules are based on too much entertainment. Youngsters grow up with the idea that they need to be entertained in their leisure hours... yet there's no place or time allotted to work. The word is old-fashioned.

CANADIAN RECORD: United States Senators like to think of the Senate as a dignified forum where deep thought can be given... with unlimited time for discussion to public issues.

Teach Them (at home) to Work. PITTSBURGH GAZETTE: From several speakers of late we've heard the recommendation, "Teach your kids to work."

Some still have chores to do and they are better off because of it. For they are learning to place a value on work, while hundreds of others are being uneducated in this field of endeavor.

Out near Wathena, Kansas, farmer Milt Rounchy tends 800 acres with only one helper—his 1960 Chevrolet pickup. The truck almost never runs on Kansas' fine state highways—instead it averages about 3,500 miles a month on unimproved back-country trails or on hauls into the fields, off the road.

longer. It is a field of education being neglected in the home, not the school.

End of Time. CECIL O. WAGGONER in the CLAUDE NEWS: In a personal letter from Howard B. Rand, editor of Destiny Magazine, he says in part:

"I personally have a very strong feeling, as I analyze the march of world events, that perhaps, before this year, 1960, has run its course, startling developments are very likely to occur, causing a sudden awakening to the realization of the 'full seriousness of what we will be facing.' It will result in a spiritual awakening that will exceed any similar movement of the past.

Coincidence? Jesus said: "And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come." Matthew 24:14. Then I read this news story: "For eight weeks Evangelist Billy Graham toured East, West and Central Africa by plane. He appeared there as millions of persons around the world have seen him—Bible in hand, preaching in simple words the simple essentials of Christian faith."

Church Of Christ 4th and Clarendon Welcomes You

PRINCIPLES OF THE RESTORATION MOVEMENT

W. E. Garrison has stated four principles of the endeavor to restore New Testament Christianity which very well explain our purposes today.

1. They were alike in "aiming to simplify the complexities of Christian faith and in going back of the creeds and the traditional practices of existing churches to the plain teaching of the New Testament.

2. "They believe that this was easy to understand, and that the divisions of Christendom would disappear if Christians would only agree to speak as the apostles spoke and to do as they did."

3. "They believed that man was sinful and needed God's salvation; but they did not believe him to be so depraved by 'original sin' that he could not, by the act of his own intelligence and by his own free will, accept the means of grace that have been provided."

4. "They wanted all the churches to unite on the basis of the simple and clear requirements of discipleship as given in the New Testament, leaving all doubtful and inferential matters in the field of 'opinion,' in which every Christian should exercise liberty, and scrap the machinery of synods and bishops, for which they found no warrant in scripture."

There is but one way taught in the New Testament, Eph. 4:3-5; Paul pled that we would follow it, 1 Cor. 1:10; Christ prayed that we might walk in it, John 17:20-21; and we will when we all start sowing the same seed, Luke 8:11. This will be done when we all lay aside human doctrines and preach only God's word.

WALTER ROGERS REPORTS To the People

THE GAS BILL

A recent letter from a member of Congress to President Eisenhower and the President's reply have caused much discussion in the oil and gas industry. The letter from the Congressman, in effect, asked the President what he intended to do about recommending legislation to free the gas producers in this country from utility-type regulation. The President answered that he strongly favored the elimination of public utility-type regulation of producers of natural gas. This all sounded very good and built up some high hopes among the oil and gas people. However, the President went on further to say that if those in control of Congress gave some indication that they would join in his effort, he would support the legislation. This meant, in effect, that he did not intend to send to the leaders of Congress a recommendation as to the type of gas legislation he would sign. The usual procedure has been for the bill to be sent to the House of Representatives. Without the help of the President at that time, it is very doubtful the bill would have passed. The reason is that many of the members in the Congress do not come from oil and gas districts and do not fully understand the problem involved. Their districts are made up primarily of consumers of gas and, consequently, their vote for a gas bill can cause them much criticism, because their constituents have been misled as to the purpose of such a bill. The gas bill which passed in 1956 required a tremendous amount of work on the part of those of us members who are familiar with the problem, and we felt sure that we had answered one bureaucratic problem. However, the President, to our utter dismay, vetoed the bill. By so doing, he completely pulled the rug out from under those members of his own party who had followed his suggestions and recommendations. When he vetoed the bill he stated that it was a good bill, but that he was vetoing it because of some reported irregularities in outside activities while the bill was being considered by the Congress. In other words, he permitted an act of alleged corruption in the Nation's Capital to influence him into vetoing a bill which he had recommended and thereby punished every honest gas producer in this country, including a good number of small independent operators who have helped to build the economy of the Panhandle of Texas and our general area.

Because the rug was pulled out from under them as outlined above, many members here feel that those members who found themselves landing on their head after following the President's recommendations, will be somewhat suspicious unless the President sends the bill to the Congress setting forth his views on the subject and indicating that he does not intend to veto it.

I write this information because I want the people to know the truth and actual facts concerning these transactions. There is a lot more to this story, but I have written it as concisely as I could in order to keep within the confines of the space available.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Joe McDonald, Manager

Remember when people thought one telephone in a home was sufficient? Oh, yes, to top this, they also thought that the hallway was the best location. Centrally located they would say. I wonder how it would change our lives if we tried to locate other utilities and appliances centrally at one location in our homes. Only one place for gas and electricity . . . why, it's ridiculous! Just stop and think how many clocks, for example, that you have in your home . . . let's see, one in the kitchen, one in the bedroom, one in the living room, and one in the den. They aren't centrally located in just one spot are they? Then you say, if we locate other things where they will be most convenient, why not telephone service?

Certainly, your telephones should be conveniently located! We say that you should have telephones in the areas of the home where you spend the most time. And for the life of me . . . I don't know why for years we tried to convince ourselves that a hallway was a good location when a recent survey indicates that a fulltime housewife spends 65% of her time in the kitchen alone. Not too convenient I would say.

You know where you need telephones in your home, don't you? . . . in the living, working and sleeping areas. This is modern, up to date, 1960 type service. So if you have one telephone in your house located in the hall, don't just sit there brooding because you've been accused of being old fashioned . . . call the business office and we will recommend to you the best, most modern, and efficient service to fit your needs.

PICK-A-PHONE . . .

"Sure be nice when the spring flowers start blooming," a fellow down the block said the other day. "Just looking at their colors makes me feel good."

"Say," I said, "since you like color so much I have a suggestion."

"What's that?" he asked.

"A color phone. You have a wide choice, red, white, green—nine altogether." Almost as an afterthought I added, "You can pick your phone from . . . a garden of colors!"

That did it. "Now you're talking my language," said my garden-loving friend. He chuckled. "Colors of the garden in my house with color phones. Think I'll get one—maybe even two."

Why don't you do as he did? Treat yourself to color phones.

IT'S SMART TO LOOK UP THE NUMBER

"The best way to learn and remember something is to look it up." . . . That's what a teacher told me years ago when I asked how to spell a word.

It was good advice then. It's good advice now. When you want to know a number, for instance, the best thing to do is look it up in the directory.

Incidentally, if you'd like a free Blue Book for keeping frequently-called numbers, just phone the telephone business office.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

CIVIL DEF. GROUP HAS MEETING

P. F. Blankenburg, head of civil defense group in Lefors, directed the first meeting of the group for 1960, Tuesday night, March 22, in the civic center for the purpose of refreshing the minds of committee chairmen, members and citizens of the community on their duties in case of a tornado and to stress the need for an educational program for self-survival in case of an atomic bombing or radio active fallout. Blankenburg stated that a program on the latter will be held as soon as he can compile information and data on the subject.

Mrs. Libby Shotwell of Pampa was present to explain the duties of Red Cross after a tornado.

The siren signals were reviewed. One blast is for fire, two for a fire meeting, and three for storm warning. Discussion was held on an all-clear signal, but none was decided upon. Another meeting was set for Tuesday night, April 12, at 7:30.

Talks were given by Sheriff and Mrs. Rufe Jordan. John Archer, fire chief, explained that the new radio equipment for the ambulance and fire trucks will be on hand to be used in all emergencies. WE SEEK GOD'S FORGIVENESS

"For their sake I consecrate myself, that they also may be consecrated in truth."—John 17:19.

In an upper room in Jerusalem the night before His crucifixion, Jesus communed thus with His Father in the presence of His disciples: "For their sake I consecrate myself." Our loving Lord was preparing to lay Himself upon the altar of sacrifice.

If we would follow Christ and take our Christian vocation seriously, we, too, must engage in an act of self-consecration. Counting the cost, we must devote ourselves wholly to God and His service.

A certain emblem in art perfectly expresses the response that befits us Christians in view of what our Savior Christ has done for us. The emblem is an extended open hand which holds a heart ablaze in flame. These words explain the symbol: "My heart I give Thee, Lord, eagerly and sincerely."

Let us remember Jesus Christ and worthily respond to His deepest desire. Let us give our whole personality to God in passionate consecration. Then, and only then, can we begin to live as Christ's men and women, dedicated to His service.

A Corral Full Of Stories

By Joe Evans

AN ESSAY ON THE COW:

"The cow is a female quadruped with an alto voice and a countenance in which there is no guile. She collaborates with the pump in the production of a liquid called milk, provides the filler for hash, and at last is skinned by those she has benefitted.
 "The cow's tail is mounted aft and has universal joint. It is used to disturb marauding flies, and the tassel on the end has unique educational value. Persons who milk cows and come often in contact with tassel have vocabularies of peculiar and impressive force.
 "The cow has two stomachs. The one on the ground floor is used as a warehouse and has no other function. When this one is filled, the cow retires to a quiet place, where her ill manners will occasion no comment, and devotes herself to belching. The raw material thus conveyed for the second time to the interior of her face is pulverized and delivered to the auxiliary stomach, where it is converted into cow.
 "The cow has no upper plate. All of her teeth are parked in the lower part of her face. As a result, she bites up and gums down.
 "A slice of cow is worth 8c in the cow, 14c in the hands of packers, and $4.50 in a restaurant that specializes in atmosphere."
 "The cowmen can get into more tight places, have more reverses and disappointments and still continue to smile than any people

I know of. They are grateful, they are resourceful and it takes a lot of hard knocks to stop them; a part of their religion is to never quit. There is a very small percent of cattlemen that hasn't been broke sometime during their business career. They are used to it and don't complain. They are always hopeful and look to the future with optimism.
 Some friends were consoling one of the old pioneer cowmen who had been a big operator and had lost everything he had, including his home. He said to them, you don't need to sympathize with me, I'm all right. I'll come back. I came here fifty years ago with only 65c and asthma, and I still got my asthma."

Sunday guests in the home of Mrs. O. K. Lee were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Street and boys of Matador, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lee and children of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Turner and daughter of Stinnett, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Carter and children of Skellytown and Mr. and Mrs. James Lee and son of Borger.

the history of the "RULING CLASS" or... rulers of history have not ALL been Kings

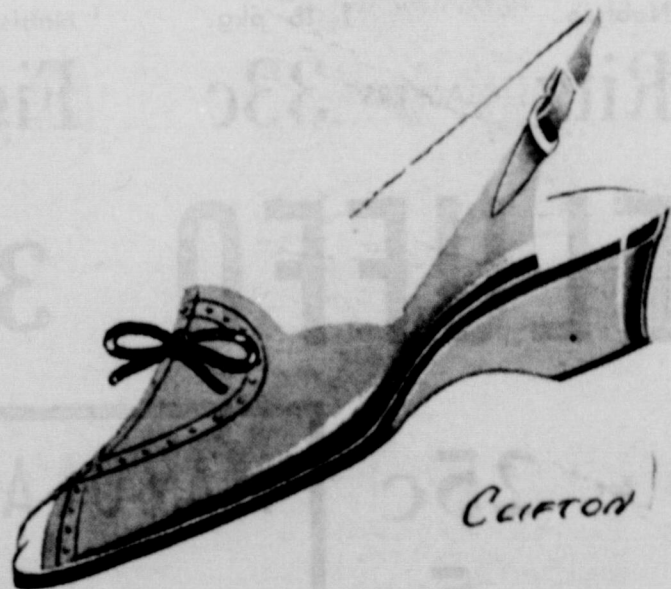

IN THE MIDDLE AGES THE CHIEF SOURCES FOR WRITTEN MATTER WERE THE CLOISTERED MONKS. THEY PAINSTAKINGLY HAND-LETTERED VOLUMES OF RELIGIOUS AND HISTORICAL WORKS... AND THEY HAND-RULED REAMS OF PARCHMENT SCROLLS. THEY WERE INDEED "RULERS" WITHOUT KINGDOMS.

LATER, RULING MACHINES, CONSISTING OF ROWS OF INKED PENS OR DISCS, WERE USED TO APPLY RULED LINES TO CONTINUOUS ROLLS OF PAPER.

TODAY'S NEW "RULER" IS HIGH-SPEED, ACCURATE AND ELIMINATES THE CONTINUOUS-LINE OPERATION OF THE RULING PENS. NOW IT IS POSSIBLE TO PRODUCE NOTEBOOK FILLER PAPER WITH A PRE-PRINTED NAME FRAME FOR NAME, SUBJECT AND DATE... AND THE LEFT AND RIGHT MARGINS ARE WITHOUT LINES, LEAVING CLEAR SPACE FOR INDIVIDUAL NOTATIONS.

FARMING AROUND

By Mark Welsh

SOME people think it's dangerous to educate women, but we live dangerously these days. It's pretty generally agreed that Mark Welsh of the house do as he pleases with what's left? Do you? I don't either. When a woman is so smart she gets all but 10% of the family loot, you can see how dangerous she would be if she got any smarter.

Togetherness Is for the Birds
 What you don't know hurts less than knowing something for certain that isn't so. Until recently, the book said a poultry laying house had to be large enough to allow three square feet per bird of a light breed and four square feet for heavier bird. Then someone built a poultry house with a flat floor and covered only 1 1/2 square feet per bird. He debarked the birds; they couldn't peck each other, but in controlled ventilation, provided plenty of food and water space, fed a high quality diet containing antibiotics and did many other things to help birds produce eggs with speed, comfort and efficiency. Now the man who wondered if the book was right has found death loss is lower, egg production is higher and eggs are cleaner. The psychologists advise "togetherness" in family relations, but it's for the birds, too.
Yields From Starter Solutions
 The use of starter solutions to stimulate freshly-transplanted vegetables in cold soil is one of the cheapest methods of obtaining an extra 20 to 30 percent increase in yields. Starter solutions provide readily available nutrients in the root zone. Some of the benefits derived are early maturity and greater yields of high quality.

a sober judge . . . nowadays is hard to find

"He was like the cock who thought the sun had risen to hear him crow."—George Elliot

If you felt the ground shudder gently along about last Friday it wasn't an earthquake . . . 'twas the dry bones of poor old Judge Roy Bean turning in his grave.

The "Law West of the Pecos" even in wildest legend, ain't got nothing to equal the lack of it south of Amarillo.

The good Judge Roy (Bean) Stevens of that locale had his day—and what a day—in court last week, and right here and now I predict the show will hog the Oscars this year for the best dramatic production.

The judge's modest testimony before the camera will undoubtedly earn him the "Best Actor" award of the year. The rest of the witnesses' testimony earned him the "Worst Actor" of the year award.

But it was nice of the judge to show up in the first place . . . he had to break a couple of dates to make it, you know . . . one at recess and the other at the high school lunch hour.

The only hitch was that Mr. Stevens was obviously unprepared for his moment of stardom as he had considerable trouble recalling some of the highlights of his career. He did remember his name, though. I never got a look at him standing up, so I don't know if he remembered to wear pants that day or not. I suppose it was only stage fright.

But you have to hand it to the judge. I understand that the hearing he had his friends in the Liquor Control Board selling drinks to the visiting newsmen and Lester Davis giving 8 to 5 odds that the judge could talk the investigating committee into posing nude before the day was over.

Anyhow, the venerable magistrate has decided to retire on account of his wealth, and rumors have it he's writing his memoirs already. It's going to be called "Satan Place" or "Gone With the Sin."

At any rate it might be well to commend the two Amarillo television stations—KGNC and KFDA—and the Amarillo Daily News for their excellent coverage of the gambling and vice hearing last week.

It was the most fascinating thing I have ever seen on television. I understand that both stations sacrificed a great deal of advertising to bring the hearing in its entirety.

Of course they will gain considerable good will from this gesture, but nonetheless it was the best civic service they have ever given the public, as well as a job well done.

And perhaps this is a good example of how television and newspapers (in most instances) actually complement rather than compete with each other as far as news reporting is concerned.

For example, I watched the whole hearing on TV and yet I was anxious to read the account of it in the Amarillo paper each day.

This is even more the case on less sensational stories that TV does not cover play-by-play. In those instances television gives us the "headlines" so to speak, but this only serves to whet the curiosity of most people so that they want to buy the next paper and read the whole story.

You may "hear it first" on radio or TV, but you don't get the whole story unless you read a paper. Besides, who ever heard of wrapping fish in an old TV newscast?

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams of Amarillo are the parents of a daughter born Wednesday, March 23. She has been named Judy Annette. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Williams of McLean and Mr. and Mrs. Perry of Alexandria, La. She has one great-grandmother, Mrs. W. M. Tibbets of McLean.

Looking forward to the enjoyment of some worked for and well earned reward is sometime the best part of the experience. Most of us can remember the first debt we ever made and how hard we worked to make the payments. With great anticipation we looked for the time when the last payment would be made and the ownership of some piece of property would be full and complete. Likely as not, when the day finally came there were other and bigger hopes and dreams taking place in our mind.

Someone has said that "Pursuit is greater than possession," or some words to that effect. This may not be completely true but the value of our looking forward with hope to a better and happier tomorrow is the main thing that keeps us plugging away day after day at the job of living.

It is a funny thing about life anyway. By the time we grow tall enough to reach the cookie jar on the cabinet, we have ceased to care for them so much. Then in just a few more years we are not supposed to eat them and we begin that craving all over again.

It may be the little house on the corner that we call home that makes it a pleasure to work hard at the job in order to make our payments on time. We may dream of a vacation in the summertime with the fish jumping and charging at the bait that makes the days pass in a hurry. It could well be the hopes for the future of our loved ones that makes the job easier. What could be more worthwhile than this motive?

Whatever our reason, it is this hope, this looking forward, that keeps each of us keeping on.

SUCCESS is a ladder that cannot be climbed with our hands in our pockets.

Success can come in many ways: Social, love, and even wealth. It matter not just so it brings us hope, happiness and health.

If we have to work for our success that is not punishment but a reward.

Some people are so busy learning the tricks of the trade that they never do learn the trade.

If we try to walk while sitting down all that we can do is kick. The above reminds us of a neighbor we once had. He had a habit of parking the wheel-barrow under the old hand pump to the well, and while resting during the noon hour he would lie down in the wheel-barrow underneath the pump handle and pump away on the water for the livestock. Folks passing by called it laziness.

Reckon we couldn't rightly judge him without knowing more about what went on in his thinking.

It might just have been that he could pump water, kick with both feet, sleep with one eye open, and give we neighbors something to talk about, all at the same time.

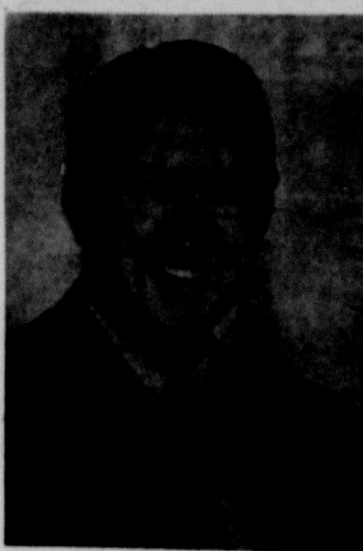

Well arranged time is the surest mark of a well arranged mind.—Sir Isaac Pitman
