Just Between Us

We've seldom seen such enthusiasm for a luncheon speaker as the Lions Club showed Tuesday for Red Males.

The response to the Cheyenne, Okla., banker's talk on soil and water conservation was most pleasing to Males, who claims he's not a public speaker—but only has a story to tell.

It isn't often you find a business man willing to take his own time—and spend his own money—to spread the word about anything, no matter how interested he may be.

But Red Males, whom we've known for five or six years, never turns down an invitation to present the talk he gave here Tuesday noon, if it's at all possible for him to accept.

This was sort of a "slack" period for him, since he ordinarily doesn't make speaking engagements during the summer months. Thus, he was able to accept on such short notice.

Coming up right away are two talks like he gave here in Atlanta, Ga., and Nashville, Tenn. All he charges for his services on even these long trips is mileage. He refused to accept anything from our Lions Club.

He's truly a dedicated man and a "conservation evangelist."

Smoky Price brought over the following editorial from the bulletin of the St. Paul Methodist Church of Abilene, entitled "Teenager, Go Home."

"We hear teenagers complain, 'What can we do? Where can we go?'"

"The answer is: Go home! Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk, wash the car, scrub some floors. Help the minister, rabbi or priest, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick, the poor. Study your lessons. And when you're through, if you're not too tired, read a book."

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your city doesn't owe you a recreation center. The world doesn't owe you a living. You owe it your time and energy and your talent so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick or lonely again."

"You're supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibilities your parents have carried for years. They have nursed, protected, excused and tolerated you. They have denied themselves comforts so that you could have luxuries. This they have done gladly, for you are their greatest treasure."

"Teenagers, grow up and go home."

Slaughtering Plant Opened in McLean

Opening of the new McLean Zero Slaughtering and Cooling Plant was announced this week by Glen Curry and Carl Watson, owners.

The plant is located in south McLean, and is the most modern to be operated here.

The new 24 by 30-foot, concrete block building houses the latest and most sanitary equipment. The plant is government inspected.

Curry, who also operates the McLean Zero Locker Plant, said processing of meat will continue to be done at the locker plant. However, the new building also contains a cooling room.

Cubs Rip Shamrock For 20th Straight

Quarterback Joe Magee scored all three touchdowns here last Thursday as the McLean Junior High Cubs clipped Shamrock's young Irishmen 20-0.

H. L. Waldrop counted two points on a conversion.

Magee tallied his first TD in the second quarter, then added one in each of the last two periods.

Right Guard Val Sharp was the Cub's outstanding defensive player.

The victory was the 20th straight for Coach R. L. Cline's Cubs, who have won the district junior championship three straight years.

Tonight the Cubs are scheduled to face Wheeler in another non-conference game here. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

Groom Falls to Tigers; White Deer Tilt Next

McLean Ranked Panhandle's Best

The McLean Tigers turn their sights on the ever-tough White Deer Bucks Friday night after overpowering Groom 49-0 for season win No. 3 last week.

Ranked sixth in Class A ratings among Panhandle teams, the Bucks are expected to be the toughest squad the Bengals have had to contend with all season.

And White Deer, tied by Lefors last week, will have the added advantage of playing on its own gridiron.

Game time in White Deer will be 8 p. m.

The Tigers last Friday earned a first-place rating in Class A over the Panhandle by avenging a loss suffered at the hands of Groom last year. The Groom Tigers never got to play on McLean's end of the field all night.

Tommy Herron, seeing his first duty of the season, had a field day in the halfback slot, chalking up three touchdowns and grinding out numerous yards.

Two for Jim and George Halfback Jim McCarty and Fullback George Patton ran for one TD's apiece, and Quarterback Tommy Willingham came up with a "golden tee" during the evening, kicking five conversions and passing to Patton for two more points after.

Patton did his usual impressive job on defense, as did most other members of the squad, to leave Groom pointless.

Herron got his first touchdown just 2:15 into the opening quarter. Groom fumbled on the kickoff to set the stage, and McLean possessed on the ball on the visitors' 19.

Herron scampered to the end and McCarty got to the four. Herron picked up two more and then carried across on the next play.

Willingham's kick was straight and true, and the local Tigers had a 7-0 lead.

It wasn't long before McLean was moving toward the goal line again.

Philip Flowers fell on a Groom fumble on the visiting squad's 35 to put things in order for the next rush downfield. McCarty did the honors, slashing through the right side of the line for 22 yards.

Again Willingham's kick was good—McLean 14, Groom 0, 5:36.

The advisory committee is composed of the presidents, first vice presidents and secretaries of each club in the zone.

Next meeting will be at 2:30 p. m. Nov. 5 in Clarendon's Lions Hall.

FUNDS ASKED FOR VICTIMS OF HURRICANE

Donations are being accepted by the McLean Red Cross chapter for victims of Hurricane Carla in coastal counties of Texas.

McLean Red Cross chairman, Mrs. J. C. McClesky, said the fund effort is being conducted by the Red Cross chapter.

It was pointed out that 95 percent of all contributions will be used in assisting victims of the storm damage which lashed the Texas coast last week.

McLean Red Cross chapter is already set up and an additional administrative program will be necessary.

According to a Red Cross "Disaster Bulletin," an estimated 40,000 homes were damaged or destroyed by Hurricane Carla in an area stretching from Port Arthur to Corpus Christi.

Survey teams traveling by car and helicopter also counted more than 900 farm buildings, 875 other buildings, 340 boats and house trailers destroyed or damaged.

Winners of the children's photograph contest were Sherry Kay Glass, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Glass, McLean, has been named first place winner of the children's photograph contest sponsored jointly by Lucas Studios of Irving and The McLean News.

Doors to the new firm opened for business last Saturday, but Owner Cecil Crawford said this week that it would be sometime before a formal grand opening is held.

Rainfall Total For 1961 Drops Behind Last Year's Amount

McLean's rainfall record for this year continues to slip farther behind the amount for the same period in 1960.

Weather records maintained by Pete Fulbright show the city has received a total of 20.21 inches of moisture since the first of the year, compared to 22.14 on this same date in 1960.

A cool shower Tuesday dropped .08 inch on the city and boosted the amount for the month of September to only 31.

September, 1960, saw 2.73 inches of rain in McLean, and through the 21st of the month 1.70 inches.

Temperatures are showing a gradual decline here and across the Panhandle, reaching down to the low 50s.

The Weather Bureau reports that readings will continue below normal during the next several days, with the possibility of showers.

Even though the lack of moisture is leaving lawns and grasslands dry and powdery, cotton farmers in the area who survived hails during the summer would prefer the heavy rains held off for a time yet.

County Agent Foster Whaley reports that the cotton crop needs plenty of sunshine and warm weather at this stage to complete its development.

Arrangements are in the process of being made now with the various companies represented in the store, and a grand opening is to be scheduled later.

Manager of the new business—described by long-time residents as the finest furniture store ever for McLean—is Ben Dye, who moved here from Eltek, Okla., early this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Dye are operating the store. Crawford lives in Erick where he operates another furniture store and has other business interests.

Large Selection

Crawford and Dye invited McLean and area residents to visit the store and examine the large selection of furniture, appliances, carpeting, paints and linoleum.

Installation buying will be available for customers who desire.

"We represent many leading manufacturers of fine furniture," Crawford said, adding that the store here now makes it possible for residents of this area to buy at home what they previously were forced to go elsewhere to find.

Among the furniture manufacturers represented are Tell City, Kroehler, International, Simmons, Flexsteel, Sprague, Carleton, Bassett, Sealy and Lane.

Dye is experienced in carpet installation and in most cases will be able to give one-day installation.

Firemen to Meet

McLean volunteer firemen will hold their regular meeting at 7 p. m. today at the fire station, according to Fire Chief Boyd Meador.

Conservation Is Stressed

Preservation of natural resources is just as much a part of "our national defense" as weapons, L. L. (Red) Males, soil conservation lecturer from Cheyenne, Okla., said here Tuesday as guest speaker at the Lions Club annual Farmer-Rancher Day luncheon.

Males, Cheyenne bank president recognized as one of the nation's leading conservationists, presented a color-slide-illustrated talk that has put him in popular demand as a speaker all over the United States.

Because of his activities in the conservation field, Males in 1959 was named the National Association of Watersheds' first "Watershed Man of the Year."

He has been a member of the Upper Washita Soil Conservation District in Oklahoma for several years.

Fishermen—not fish—break fishing tackle.

When the truth wins out, you will discover that the "big one" that broke the line wasn't so big after all.

Let me relate the story of an angler who lost a "huge" redfish in the surf near High Island on Bolivar Peninsula. Although this took place several years ago, it will illustrate the point of this column.

I won't embarrass the angler by naming him. But here's the story. He hooked a redfish—and in short order the fish broke the line. The angler boasted that the fish was a real monster because he was using brand new 35-pound test line.

Within an hour after the fellow lost the fish, some beach seiners about a mile down the beach brought in their net. One of the fish trapped was a redfish complete with a hook in its mouth, a long wire leader, and about 10 yards of line.

The angler, who happened upon the scene, identified the terminal tackle as his. The beach seiners, in view of this unusually large catch—that got away—gave him the fish.

Now comes the corker. That redfish weighed exactly 11 pounds. It was a far cry from the 40 or 50 pound monster implied by the angler.

Sure enough the angler's line was brand new. His rod tip and guides were in good shape. So the line wasn't weakened by fraying.

Truth of the matter is that the fisherman—not the fish—broke that 35-pound test line.

Here's how it happened.

When the fish made its run for freedom, the angler feared he might not have enough line on the reel. So he hauled back as hard as he could to check the run. Naturally the strain of the fish pulling in one direction and the angler jerking in the other, parted the line.

Fish losses like this happen every day. It's the result of excitement and inexperience. Usually the angler could have landed the fish by playing it.

Redfish aren't noted for long runs. Their runs are short, 20 to 30 yards at most, before they change directions.

So if that angler, who felt that the line was getting near the end of the spool, would have walked down the beach with the fish—or even waded out into the water, he might have landed it.

Many line breaks occur because the angler fails to periodically check the line for frayed spots.

Let me point out here that line fraying usually occurs in the first few feet of the line. And here's why.

Every time you cast out, tremendous pressure is exerted in contact with the rod tip. Eventually this will fray and weaken the line. Play it safe by cutting off a few feet of line every time you make a trip. Thus you will get rid of that part of the line subjected to heavy pressure and the greatest wear in casting.

You should frequently check the rod tip top—particularly if you use nylon or monofilament line. These lines are extremely hard and in heavy fishing will wear grooves in the tip top.

Agate tip tops will crack and chip, and the sharp edges will cut the line. Replace faulty tip tops immediately.

Rust on the metal tip top will ruin a line. If you can't clean the rust off, replace the tip top.

Line comes in various pound tests. Its strength will remain constant unless the line is abused. This is particularly true with linen lines used in salt water fishing. Linen line stored wet will rot quickly.

It's better to practice good line maintenance than to lose a fish because of line neglect.

Regardless of the strength of the line, you weaken it every time you tie a knot in it. The degree of weakening, however, can be minimized by learning to use the proper knots.

The simple, ordinary square knot will cut line strength about 50 per cent. Obviously a line testing out at 35 pounds will break at about 18 pounds at the point of the knot.

Best knot to use is the blood or jam knot. It's tied simply by running one end through the hook eye. Twist this end at least five times (preferably eight or ten times) around the standing end of the line. Then slip the end back through the loop between the hook eye and the first twist. Now run the end back through the big loop just formed and pull the knot tight.

It's easy to tie. It forms a neat knot that will not slip. But more important, it decreases line strength at the point of the knot only by about 20 per cent.

For example, with 35-pound test line, this knot will reduce line strength at the point of the knot by a little more than seven pounds. For the sake of round numbers, let's say eight pounds. The weight needed to break the line would then be 28 pounds—which is a long way from the 18 pounds required to snap the line if a square knot is used.

A rod with the wrong kind of tip action will cause an angler to break lines.

The rod tip is a shock absorber. It takes up the shock transmitted by a fish on a sudden run, or the shock transmitted when the angler hauls back hard to bed the hook in the fish's mouth.

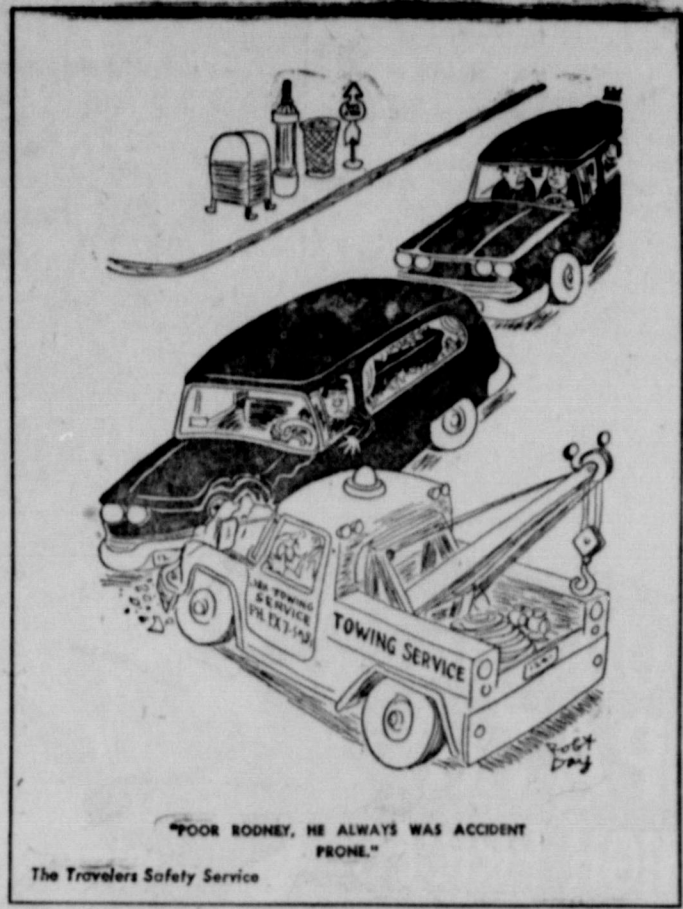

A sudden tip allows the strain of the sudden shock to be transmitted to the line gradually.

With a very stiff tip, the strain on the line is quite sudden. Result: Pop goes the line and the fish goes free.

Next time you lose a fish, don't blame it all on the size of the fish. Stop and consider how you played the fish.

Then examine your tackle. If your tackle is okay and you "played it" right—perhaps you did lose a big one. Maybe even a record-breaker!

HOPKINS P-TA IS DISBANDED

HOPKINS—(Special)—The Hopkins P.T.A. executive meeting was held in the school cafeteria Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Monroe Finney, president presided.

The executive board voted to have no P.T.A. organization this year, due to the small number of families—a total of 21—and to the number of students, 31.

The committee felt an active P.T.A. would work a hardship on the students and teachers to try to provide the kind of programs usually held.

However, there will be several programs during the year—among them the Christmas program, open house, assembly award night, end of school picnic and others the faculty may determine.

A committee was appointed by Mrs. Finney to dispose of the P.T.A. funds on hand, the Girl Scout funds and the Cub Scout funds. This means the Hopkins school group will need a new sponsoring organization.

Members of the committee include Harry Garrison, Mrs. Buster Sublett, Mrs. Monroe Finney, Mrs. Jimmie McCracken, Mrs. Bruce Glen and Mrs. Tommy Adkins.

Present for the committee meeting were Mrs. Finney, Mrs. McCracken, Mrs. Ginn, Mrs. Sublett, Mrs. Johnny Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, Mrs. Adkins, Mrs. Daniel Rose, Mrs. R. L. Chance, Mrs. Bonnie Palmer, Mrs. B. J. Spadlin and Mrs. James Shaw.

Mrs. Amos Page and James and Jill visited with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dwyer of Lubbock over the weekend and attended the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tedder were in Amarillo last week.

GETTING READY FOR THE FAIR

years. It is in this district that the world's first upstream flood control program is located.

The results of this Sandstone Creek project and the losses caused by high-intensity rains and flooding in that area in the early 1930s were the subjects of Males' address.

He cautioned farmers against continued cultivation of land which should be returned to grass. And he showed ranchers the damage that results from overgrazing rangeland.

Males declared that the greatest loss from flooding, "next to human life," is damage to farms and ranches. This fact, however, is usually ignored by news media reporting on floods, he pointed out. "If you multiply the town damage from a flood by three, you have just about the amount of damage to lands and to farmers," he said.

Males praised farmers in America for being able to produce the abundant crops they do.

"If you pick up Life, Post and other leading magazines and metropolitan newspapers, you'd think farmers should hang their heads in shame for producing a surplus of food," Males said.

Actually the surplus is only two to eight per cent, he pointed out.

"That's a comfortable margin in any other business," he added.

He urged "our generation" not to "leave our children a mess of sterile land, but to make every effort to protect it."

Members of the Lions Club had as their guests at the luncheon farmers and ranchers from the McLean area.

Grandson of McLean Woman Dies After Highway Accident

William Grady Rhodes, grandson of Mrs. W. M. Rhodes of McLean, died early Sunday morning in the Adair Hospital in Clarendon, of injuries suffered a short time before in a one-car accident five miles north of Clarendon on Highway 70.

Young Rhodes, 18-year-old son of Mrs. Rosa Lee Rhodes of Clarendon, was a passenger in a car which went out of control and overturned about 12:30 a. m. Sunday.

Funeral services for the youth were held Monday afternoon in the Clarendon First Methodist Church. Interment was in Citizens Cemetery at Clarendon.

Rhodes was born on Sept. 1, 1942, in Clarendon and had lived there all his life.

A senior in Clarendon High School, he was a member of the First Methodist Church.

In addition to his mother and grandmother living here, he is survived by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grady of Brice.

Herron ran a punt back to the Groom 14 a short time later to put the Bengals in position again. McCarty galloped to the eight and Dickie Crockett to the three, before Patton took over and finished the march. Willingham's kick was good again—21-0, 6:39 remaining in half.

McCarty Scampers

To open the second half, McCarty took Groom's kickoff on McLean's 15 and raced all the way to the visitors' 28 before being halted. McCarty and Herron teamed up to move to the 10, from which point Herron raced wide to the left for another score.

Willingham's kick was true—McLean 28, Groom 0.

Early in the third quarter McCarty capped a 45-yard drive with another score, and Patton hauled down a Willingham pass for the two extra points.

McLean recovered a fumble on Groom's five to get in position for another. Herron crossed over left tackle for it, and Willingham's kick was good. Just 3:45 remained on the clock, still time for another score, and Patton got it three minutes and 34 seconds later. Willingham's kick was no good.

15 Rural Mishaps Occur in August

Fifteen rural accidents were investigated in Gray County by the Highway Patrol in August, Capt. J. W. Blackwell, the patrol's supervisor for this area, announced this week in his monthly report.

The wrecks brought death to two persons, injury to 14 and caused property damage of $9,910.

The rural traffic accident summary for Gray County from January through August of this year shows a total of 103 crashes. As a result of these, six persons have been killed and 65 injured, with property damage estimated at $32,224.

With the starting of school, Capt. Blackwell reminds all motorists of the state law regulating traffic in regard to school buses.

"The driver of a vehicle upon a highway outside of the limits of any incorporated city or town upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall stop the vehicle immediately before passing the school bus, but may proceed past such school bus at a speed which is prudent, not exceeding 10 miles per hour, with due caution for the safety of such children."

LIONS CLUB PROGRAM

Jack Shelton, your editor, is to be congratulated for bringing the program of the year to the McLean Lions Club this week.

L. L. (Red) Males made one of the most inspiring talks on the watershed program in the Cheyenne, Okla., area that I've heard in some time. It is a shame that every farmer and rancher couldn't have been present to hear the fine remarks and the excellent color slides he showed.

Our McClellan Creek watershed will be very similar to their project.

RUSSIANS IN COUNTY

Last week I had a call from Roy Hickman, foreign agriculture advisor, Texas A & M College, regarding four Russians visiting Gray County on Monday of this week.

My first reaction was why should we be showing the Russians a better way to do things? But in an effort to cooperate, I told Mr. Hickman I would escort them about our county.

They were here, three animal husbandrymen and one professor and head of the leading agricultural college of Russia.

The head of the agriculture college was 65 years of age. We spent one full day showing them outstanding farms. They were the most eager people for knowledge I have seen.

We had an interpreter from the State Department and a representative of the Agricultural Research Service with them. I took them out to Johnny Johnson's farm and he told them how he operated a 1,650-acre farm and hired less than 1,400 hours of labor a year.

The fellow from our State Department and our interpreter told me Johnson was producing more products than they were on one of their collective farms that employed 350 to 400 agri workers.

I asked the professor what he thought of the Johnny Johnson farm. His answer was "most impressive."

I discussed the national situation with them and many other international political matters. I also asked the professor what chance he thought I might have being elected to Khrushchev's job if I should come over there and run on the Democratic ticket.

His reply was: "About the same chance he would have running on the Communist ticket in this country."

When I asked them if they were permitted to criticize their government, they said when the party congress met they brought forth criticism. When I asked how many actually belonged to the Communist Party, they admitted that less than half of one per cent belonged.

I was convinced when they departed that this was the only way we have of showing them our way of life. Should we run up the iron curtain on them as they did on us after World War II, how could we ever show them how much better our way of life is than theirs.

I think we should never turn down an opportunity to show them how successful we have been in our way of life. I asked the professor how much he was paid and I was rather surprised he made around $12,000 a year.

I jokingly told him if he would bring his money over here we could run it into a million and get filthy rich. I thought he was going up through the pickup cab in laughter.

Mrs. Frankie Dorsey and Mrs. Marine Cooper of Anaheim, Calif., arrived today for a visit with their son and brother and his family, the E. B. Dorseys.

Plucky Stevie Helps Science Toward Answer to Arthritis

Stevie Vardol gives blood sample to laboratory nurse.

For plucky Stevie Vardol, 10, life much of the time is just an unhappy succession of giving samples of his body to science.

But Stevie, who would rather be swimming and roller skating in Minneapolis (if he only could) than spending endless hours in the Children's Rheumatism Clinic of the University of Minnesota Medical School, doesn't feel sorry for himself. He knows he is doing a job that must be done; that the doctors' appraisal of the tissue samples from his swollen knees, specimens of knee-joint fluid, and of his blood may in time prevent in other children the affliction that befell him three painful years ago.

Stevie has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis in the knees, hands, wrists.

Throughout the nation, another 30,000 Stevies—or their small sisters—also suffer each year from this excruciating disease. With March of Dimes funds, The National Foundation (which made possible development of the Salk polio vaccine) is today supporting the University of Minnesota's Children's Rheumatism Clinic with a research grant. Other arthritis research projects are under way at the Rockefeller Institute, at New York University, the University of Buffalo and at other famed scientific institutions, all financed by the March of Dimes.

Additionally, The National Foundation has established arthritis study centers at Columbia University, the University of Rochester (N. Y.), the University of Texas at Dallas and the University of California at San Francisco.

The doctors confidently tell Stevie they will solve the enigma of rheumatoid arthritis in time, and find a preventive, given enough support. But they don't delude this valiant little boy or his puzzled father and mother who ask, despairingly, "Why should this happen to us, to Stevie?" The medical scientists look him squarely in the eye and say, "We just can't promise we'll make you well again. But then again, perhaps eventually we will."

Stevie's stout answer is to roll up his sleeve for another ten cc's of his blood (which contains an abnormal protein, a mark of his disease); or to pull up his trouser leg to give up another specimen of lubricating fluid from his knee.

In the laboratory, Stevie's blood is compared painstakingly to normal blood in the incessant search for an answer to what is wrong with Stevie and with the other 30,000 children. Perhaps what is wrong is an abnormal development of antibodies. Antibodies are the substance that combat bacteria. Then, samples of the connective tissue around his knees are studied and photographed under the giant electron microscope and compared to normal tissue.

Stevie doesn't cry although his doctors say that the pain he suffers at times beggars description. He is not a "guinea pig" in the full medical sense of the term. But the resolute and uncomplaining bearing of this young gentleman of only 10 is evidence that he knows he is a volunteer of the fight against the nation's No. 1 Crippler—arthritis which, in one or another form, strikes at 11 million Americans.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dickerson of Springfield, Mo., visited their parents, the Glen Deermans, in Pampa and the A. M. Dickersons of Lefors, recently.

Glen Hix is in Highland General Hospital for observation and may have an exploratory operation.

Last week I knew I was forgetting some of our college kids, and sure enough I forgot the two who live closest to me. Henry Wayne Neff and Everett Smiley moved to Borger this past week where they are enrolled in Frank Phillips College. Everett works for the Union Store there.

The Hopkins PTA has had the most outstanding meetings of any PTA I have ever attended. It is with fond memories and a touch of regret that we disbanded. It was a source of pride to see the programs that our children were in each month, and to enjoy the fine fellowship of all the community.

Pacts depend on the people in them. Nations of people sign peace treaties and are at war within a decade. On the other hand, some phones a proposition and asks, "Okay?" You reply, "Okay," and deal pleasantly on that basis for generations. The next day, you and your attorneys begin negotiations that take a year in completion, and even then, your attorneys cannot relax lest the pact be breached. You lift an eyebrow to a redhead; she nods and that's they way it is from then on in the home you set up together. While, down the street, some husband has to shoot his way out of a triangle. Pacts are made to serve people and never are any better than people.—Silver State Post, Deer Lodge, Mont.

From the Library

By MRS. ERMA HESTER

Have you met Mr. Jerry Day of the high school English and history departments? Well, he is really on the ball! Last week he brought four classes at different times during the day to the library for a brief orientation on the use of the library and for personal guidance in selection of books for the students' respective requirements.

It is good to have teachers who show such active interest in the students' ability to find and read the right kind of material. Knowledge of library facilities is important in high school and is essential in college. My thanks to Mr. Day.

To issue 22 library cards in one week is rare for this library, but that we did last week. A lot of those went to the high school students who visited with the classes.

By the end of the week I hope to have a new supply of book marks. So don't "dog-ear" those books . . . just wait a few more days.

Did you see the lovely arrangement of dahlias that Bob and "Madam President P-TA Dorothy Ayres" sent down for the public to enjoy? That was last week, and they are responsible for the beautiful colors that has been here all year.

LIBRARY HOURS:
Closed all day Sunday and Monday.

Open Tuesday through Friday at 8:30 a. m.; closed from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m. for lunch; close 3 p. m.

Saturday—Open 1 p. m. and close at 5 p. m.

Thanks, Ayres. We all appreciate your gifts.

Boy, weather like this (Tuesday) sure makes you want to curl up with a good book. Doesn't it?

Books checked out, 309; total fines, $4.08; new borrowers, 22.

Mrs. Yvonne McClellan has been hired as manager of the McLean housing project, Ed Lander Place. It was erroneously reported in last week's McLean News that the new manager is Mrs. Yvonne McCracken.

Mrs. McClellan began the manager's duties last Friday, succeeding Martha McPherson, who resigned.
