CATTLE PRICES

It appears cattle prices have topped out after a steady climb for the past two years. There have been some slight roll back but generally the market has trended upward. The fat market has taken a $2.50 per cwt. turn backward. Stocker replacements have not fallen back nearly so severe.

There are several reasons for the sharp break backward. The pressure was beginning to build on the powers to be to place some restrictions that would turn cattle prices back. The price commission was considering recommending price controls on live beef cattle.

Even through cattle prices had only reached 92 percent of parity, the import gate was let down completely. The Dept. of commerce placed an embargo against shipping hides out of the country. The long range affect of this will be more severe than the short range.

Nations to which we had been exporting hides will turn to more dependable sources. This will hurt our balance of payment program. I don't know how many pairs of shoes a cow hide will make, but I'd bet it would be only pennies a single consumer would save on a pair of shoes. I didn't hear of a single consumer group that raised any protest on this issue. So I don't believe it was the consumer that brought that pressure in this cast. The things that furnished the triggering mechanism for this price down turn was the July 19th cattle on feed report for 23 cattle feeding states. There was a big increase reported in every weight and sex category.

There were 30 per cent more steers weighing over 1100 # which indicated we were approaching a surplus situation in the feedlots.

There were 45% more heifers on feed weighing less than 500 pounds. To me this indicates some good breeding stock might be a paying proposition over the years to come. Now for my best guess on the fall market. Fats will continue under pressure. We might even back up $5 per cwt from where we topped out. The stocker and feeder market won't be pushed back nearly as much as the fat market. But is already showing signs of weakening. There will be a large number of speculative cattle feeders that will need big incomes shifts this fall. A lot of ranchers that don't play the feedlot will be needing to

The first city-wide evangelistic crusade in McLean history will be launched with a prayer rally at 8 p.m. Saturday. Six McLean churches are working for a large attendance at the kick-off of what should be the largest evangelistic effort in McLean history.

When the rally begins a round-the-clock prayer vigil, which began for the services at 9 a.m. Saturday, will be in its eleventh hour continuing until 9 a.m. Sunday morning.

Local singers, as well as out of town groups, will appear during the service. In addition to heart-warming gospel music there will be testimonies and prayers presented and led by local residents.

At the rally the evangelist for the crusade, Truman C. S. Skaggs, pastor of Central Baptist Church in Phoenix, Ariz., will be introduced. Don and Mona Kinder, music leaders for the crusade will be presented, also. Crusade choir members will be in the choir area. Ushers and counselors for the crusade will be recognized.

The first service of the crusade will be at 8 p.m. Sunday in the stadium. The crusade will be held through Thursday night with three services scheduled daily. Morning services will be held at 6:30 a.m. each day at the First Methodist Church. Coffee and doughnuts will be served. At 10:30 a.m. there will be a service at First Baptist Church. And at 8 p.m. the main service will be held each night in the stadium.

Organizers of the mammoth effort have encouraged each family in McLean to share in the prayer rally and each of the services in the five-day McLean Evangelistic Crusade.

move income forward to 1973. They will withhold the already short supply of available feeder steers. Soon after Jan. 1, 1973 might be a good time to pickup your replacement needs of stockers for 1973. We will still have best year on record when all the figures are compiled for 1972.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Property tax reform may be one of the big issues before the 1973 session of the Texas Legislature.

This is the prediction of Texas Research League in a newsletter analyzing the subject.

The property tax, notes TRL, is the largest source of revenue for support of the government in Texas. Collections exceeded $1.4 billion in 1970 and rose $220 million between 1968 and 1970.

Recent federal and state court decisions holding public school finance systems based on locally-imposed property taxes unconstitutional focus new attention on such taxation. The decisions stimulated interest of House and Senate committees on extensive reforms.

Criticism of the revenue source and proposals for reform may center on these factors as pointed up in the TRL study:

Administration is inequitable. Different standards apply to different types of property.

There are too few professionally-trained assessors, and many tax offices lack even the most fundamental tools such as tax maps and appraisal cards on each parcel of property. Furthermore there are far too many tax offices and districts. (Given an "impossible tax law" to administer, local officials do remarkable well, according to a Tax Policy Committee study.)

Personal property--tangible and intangible--is particularly difficult to assess. Some states have given up attempting to tax all property, and recognize this fact in basic laws.

Taxpayers are at a marked disadvantage in redressing grievances over illegal or inequitable assessment in the courts. "ABOLISH BOARD"

Former State Insurance Board Chairman Larry Teaver says the best way to promote insurance regulation reform in Texas is by the drastic remedy of abolishing the Board.

Teaver was rejected for Board membership by the state Senate, and apparently has returned to Gov. Preston Smith's staff.

He told an interview panel that insurance industry influence cannot be removed from regulation without getting rid of the Board which he charged is industry-dominated.

The former chairman suggested the present three-member Board should be made a nine-member, part time citizen board or than an elected insurance commissioner be chosen to head the regulatory agency.

DEATH PENALTY REVIEW SOUGHT

Texas and Georgia will ask the U.S. Supreme Court to review its decision declaring the death penalty, as it is most often applied, unconstitutional.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has received a request from the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles for an official interpretation of the June 29 Supreme Court decision. The Board also wanted to know if the death penalty actually had been declared unconstitutional. Some justices hinted a constitutional death penalty provision may be possible.

The Board will continue to follow the procedure of not recommending commutation for the 45 inmates on death row until it receives a formal request from the prisoner, judge, district attorney and sheriff in each case. DEER SEASON

White-tailed deer season opens November 18 and lasts through January 1 in most counties subject to regulatory authority of the Parks and wildlife Department.

Regular season in the Trans Pecos is from November 24-December 10.

In portions of Terrell and Pecos counties, seven additional days have been added for whitetails only, with the season opening November 18 and continuing through December 10.

Opening date for all deer hunting in the Panhandle is November 18, and closing date is December 3. COURTS SPEAK

The Court of Criminal Appeals held Texas judges can no longer deny bail in murder cases due to a U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing the death penalty.

The State Supreme Court held cigarette vending machine companies must pay taxes on cigarettes they stock piled just before a 1969 tax increase.

The High Court upheld a $4,400 judgement for a workman in Nacogdoches County who was injured by a falling tree limb's knocking him into a power saw.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company can build a parking lot in a residential area of Spring Valley, Harris County, the Supreme Court ruled.

A dispute over sale of Red Ball Motor Freight Inc., and advancing of nearly $2.3 million to a new parent corporation will be heard by the Texas Supreme Court.

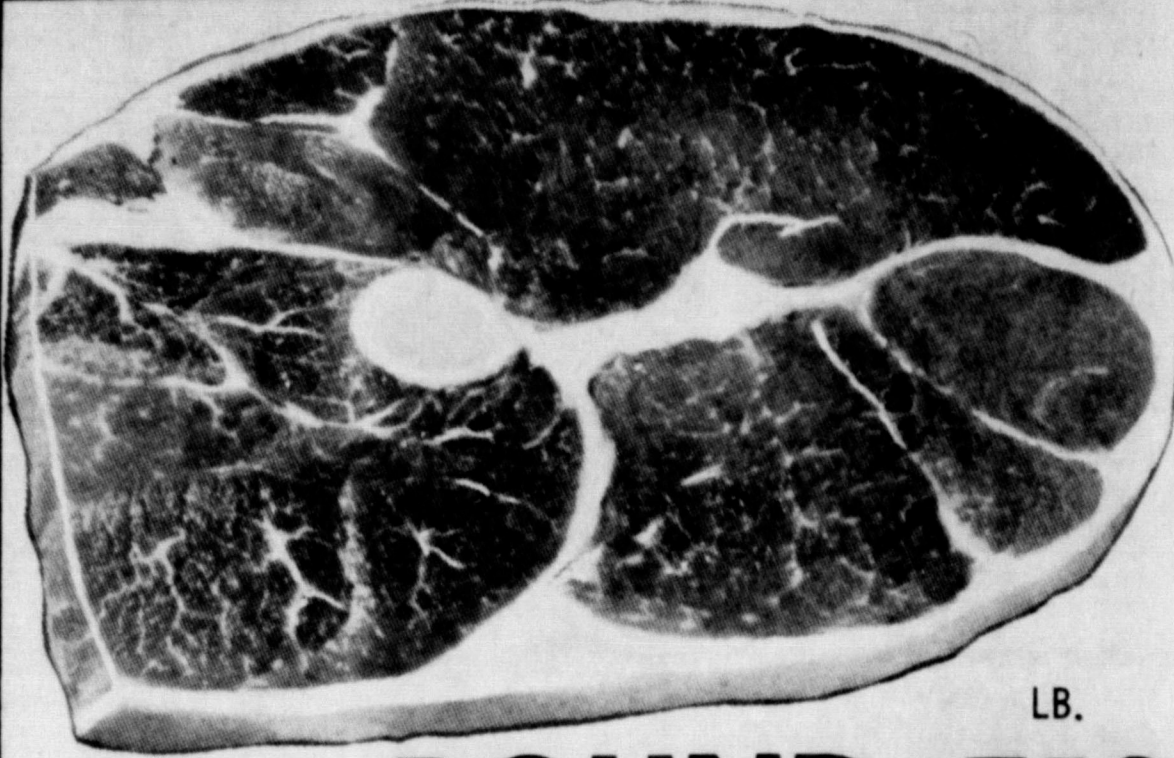

A Nueces County man can recover for damages to his property from Hurricane Celia, though he was past due in payments on his insurance policy, the State Supreme Court held.

CITRUS BLACK FLY THREAT ENS

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White warned that the citrus industry in the Rio Grande Valley may be wiped out unless the citrus black fly is brought under control.

White said the fight against the insect has been going on for more than a year, and that eradication measures are a nuisance to Brownsville area residents.

Ground spraying of infested trees is necessary every two weeks. If not controlled, the fly can defoliate and kill a citrus tree within two years. The insect is now contained in trees in Brownsville. There have been only outbreaks of the pest in the U.S., once in Texas in Most of the McLean students have their records up to date, but there are still several who need to get these completed.

Students Must Have Immunization Records To Enroll

Billy B. Adams, Elementary Principal, reminds parents of McLean school students that immunization records for each student must be completed and on file in the office of the grade school before the student can enroll in school this fall, 1972-73.

All students are urged to get their immunizations up to date in order to prevent confusion this fall.

Students whose immunization records are not complete will not be able to enroll for the fall school term.

The records must be on file in the school office in order to comply with a state law, passed by the last session of the Texas Legislature.

The following immunization must be completed: FIRST GRADE THROUGH SIXTH GRADE

Diphtheria, Pertussis, (whooping cough), Tetanus (DPT) or Tetanus and Diphtheria (TD) at least 3 doses of DPT or TD, of which at least one dose received since fourth birthday.

Oral Polio-at least 3 doses of Oral Polio, of which at least one dose received since fourth birthday.

Measles (Red) - One dose or history of measles illness.

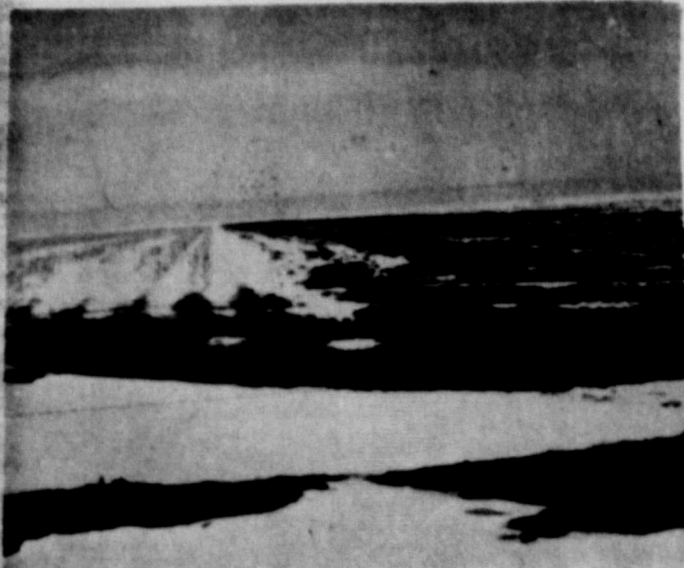

Rubella (3day)-One dose of Vaccine.

JUNIOR HIGH AND HIGH SCHOOL

Diphtheria, Pertussis (whooping cough), Tetanus (DPT) or Tetanus and Diphtheria (TD)-At least one dose in the past 10 years.

Oral Polio-at least 3 doses

Surface Residue Protects The Land

By Rodney Hyatt

Surface residue protects the land against wind, runoff, and splash erosion, reports Rodney Hyatt, soil conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service. Nothing can take the place of continuous cover for protecting cultivated land against wind and water erosion. Ground cover is a two-sided job, says Hyatt. First, a crop must be grown that will yield sufficient amounts of residue, such as small grain and sorghums. Second, the residue should be managed to protect the soil until the next crop produces ample cover. If year round cover can not be practiced, residue should be left until seedbeds are prepared for the succeeding crop stated Hyatt.

How can residue be maintained to protect the land? Tillage operations should be held to a minimum, because some residue is destroyed with each operation. On the other hand, burning residue destroys soil cover and organic matter quickly.

Hyatt said, bonus benefits of crop residue management are: (1) increased moisture penetration, (2) reduced evaporation, (3) added fertility from organic matter, and (4) increases moisture by holding winter snows.

To the housewife, soil cover means less time spent cleaning due to blowing dust being reduced.

For quail, pheasant, and other wildlife, residue furnishes a nesting area and protection from their predators and adverse weather conditions.

Information concerning minimum and no-till farming operations in Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District can be obtained by contacting the Soil Conservation Office at the Gray County Court House Annex.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Fairly Free Private Enterprise

Curbside flower vendors became so numerous in a certain community that the regular florists began to complain about the competition. Finally, the city council passed a tough licensing law aimed at knocking the street vendors out of business.

But when the new law was tested in court, it was held null and void. The court said the city simply had no power to regulate a business as harmless as selling flowers.

Private enterprise, while not wholly free, still has considerable vitality. A city's "police power" does not include blanket authority over all kinds of business activities, just because they happen to be within the city limits.

On the other hand, a city may indeed impose restraints on a business that has a real potential for harm.

Consider the case of a man who started a telephone answering service. According to a city ordinance, he and his employees were supposed to submit to photographing and fingerprinting. Challenging the ordinance, the man said it was unfair to "single us out."

But a court saw two ways in which a telephone answering service could be harmful:

- 1) by the misuse of confidential information about subscribers; and
- 2) by the encouragement of immoral activities.

Upholding the city's requirements, the court said:

"There is a reasonable basis for distinguishing this type of business from others that are not regulated."

Another ordinance, covering private detectives, went still further. Under its terms, they had to put up a special bond and get a character clearance from the police department.

But again, a court decided there were enough possibilities for mischief in this line of work to justify the city in taking precautions. As one judge put it:

"A statute to promote the public safety is valid, although it may interfere with individual freedom. Individual freedom must yield to the public good."

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

When the month of August rolls around, thousands of Texas mothers suddenly realize that only a few more weeks remain until school begins.

Parents with youngsters beginning school for the first time this September look forward to school with a little more excitement, and many mothers whose first-born are going off to school may be a bit bewildered by it all.

In addition to the million-and-one chores that must be performed in getting the youngster ready for school--new shoes, clothes, health examination--most school districts require proof of age for beginning students. A certified copy of a birth certificate is usually requested, reports the Texas State Department of Health.

This fall there will be a quarter-million new first graders in the schools throughout Texas, with the total public school enrollment expected to reach 2.8 million. Continued growth of the school population is expected for the next two to three years, according to the Texas Education Agency.

Anticipating the rush of birth certificate requests, the Records and Statistics Section of the Texas State Department of Health has been prepared for it. Requests already are pouring in.

It takes a sizeable staff just to open the thousands of letters received daily, let alone search out a requested certificate, remove it from the thick volume, make a certified copy, mail it out and then return the original certificate to its place.

Years of experience have eliminated nearly every bottleneck. The operation is smooth and fast. Usually the copy is mailed within a day of two after the request is received.

One bottle neck is still remaining, however, is the individual who makes the last-minute request. Parents are requested to stop now and write for a certified copy of the birth certificate, or contact either the city registrar where the child was born or the county clerk in the county of birth.

If you write the Texas State Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, 410 East Fifth St., Austin, Texas, be sure to: include the child's name, place of birth, date of birth, and the parents' name (including the mother's maiden name.) The State Health Department fee for a certified copy of a birth certificate is $2.00.

A record 2.7 million tons of wood fiber, most of it once burned or used as land fill, will be recycled by Georgia-Pacific in 1972, for the making of paper, boxboard, other paper-composed products, and briquets.

Weekly Food Buys

"It's time to visit food stores to check for this week's best food buys," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

"In general," Mrs. Clyatt advised, "look for best values on forequarter cuts that require moist heat and longer cooking." She listed chuck roasts and steaks, ribs, round steaks and ground beef.

According to the Texas A&M University specialist, pork prices rank about the same as the past two weeks, Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks, end cut loin roasts, hams, picnics and pork loin generally boast best values.

"Fryers, in excellent quality, continue as a bargain in most meat departments," she said. "Frozen turkeys stock most markets at prices you can't afford to pass up."

Mrs. Clyatt added that egg supplies are ample and prices about the same as last week. Grade A large size egg still offer the greatest combination of quality and economy.

Best buys in vegetable sections include potatoes (both white and red), head lettuce, cabbage, carrots, tomatoes, dry yellow onions, corn, cucumbers, green peppers, radishes, and green onions.

"Okay, we've landed, now let's get out and look at this old moon!"

My two small boys are at it again. Today, the old gray stump is a spaceship. Tomorrow it may be a fort or a castle. More practically, at lunchtime it's a picnic table.

Right now the side yard is my sons' world. Behind a picket fence, they roam the seas and sky in imagination, the sound of their voices reassuring me of their safety.

It won't always be this way. Someday, they'll leave the back yard forever, swashbuckling through a world of schools and camps, friends and parties.

How strange it will be—not to guide their every footstep. Where am I to get the courage? Fortunately, I can answer my own question. I have my church, and so do my boys. As a source of great goodness, it will guide them all their days.

HAVE you read the article in the September 1965 issue of Reader's Digest, about how the communist use the underground tunnel warfare system to destroy its enemies? Believe me, I could have written that article almost word for word in and through the experiences I have had in McLean. The title of this article is THIS IS GUERRILLA WARFARE. It was condensed from the book THE NEW FACE OF WAR by Malcom W. Brown. I here-by promise to purchase a copy of this book and to prevent it to the McLean Library. If you will allow it, of course.

Vines For The Landscape

Summer weather brings on the search for ways to improve landscapes, making them cool and inviting. One way of accomplishing this is through the imaginative use of vines.

Dr. William C. Welch, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that vines offer an interesting variation in plant form. All woody or herbaceous plants that require some support for their development may be classes as a vine. Vines may be used in several ways--on walls, arbors or other designed structures. Interesting effects may be achieved by placing a well selected vine on a wall and allowing it to spill over the other side.

"The value of vines in the landscape may be practical or esthetic," notes Welch. "The practical value is in the shade and privacy they provide. Muscadine and grapes give an added bonus in the form of fruit."

Temperature is the deciding factor in determining the kind of vine that can be grown successfully in a given area, explains the Texas A&M University specialist. A vine that freezes down during the winter in one area may be evergreen in another area. "To grown successfully vines must be well adapted to the environment in which they are to be grown."

Effectiveness is achieved in their use as part of an overall landscape plan. Properly used, they can add a new dimension to any landscape, contends Welch. For information concerning vines adapted to a certain area, Welch suggests consulting the county agricultural agent or a local nurseryman.
