GROUP SEEKING SBA LOAN

The McLean Industrial Foundation is in the process of securing pledges of $37,000 to secure a Small Business Loan of $370,000 to build, furnish and operate a plant for Turko Inc.

Turko Inc. was started by (Turk) Androsakis, seeking to secure and develop the country.

At the present Turk has been on mineral deposits which can be used as mineral supplements for pets and livestock. Tests have been made by several agencies of the area, and are available upon request from Turk.

This industry will employ a minimum of 13 people, with the possibility of 50 employees.

To get this loan from SBA all citizens will have to put on deposit or sign a note for 10 per cent of the full amount. At present approximately $20,000 has been raised for this purpose.

Realizing that most people do not have cash to loan, the bank has approved for our personal note on collateral, thus allowing the McLean Industrial Foundation to borrow the $37,000.

To help in this project contact Jay Thompson, R. Brown, Ernie McCracken, Mike Johnson, Loyd Bybee, Jim McDonald, Boyd Meador or Mary Dwyer.

Willis spent 30 classroom hours on the two subjects. He has taken every vocational training course offered at the plant.

One-hundred sixty-four Southwestern employees were enrolled in 12 schools offering 524 classroom hours during the term just completed. All of the students attended the classes on their own time.

Willis will join the five other outstanding trainees on a week-long tour of their company's service area from July 24-28. The tour is designed to help the trainees understand how their work fits into the company's overall operation. In addition to the tour, Willis will receive a certificate of achievement for his record.

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 21 accidents on rural highways in Gray county during the month of July, according to Sergeant J. L. Dalrymple, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed, and six persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first seven months of 1972 shows a total of 124 accidents resulting in four persons killed, and 52 persons injured.

Region 5 of the Texas Department of Public Safety shows a total in July, 1972 of 713 accidents resulting in 34 persons killed and 388 persons injured as compared to the same month in 1971 with 564 accidents resulting in 38 persons killed and 324 persons injured.

The 34 deaths for the month of July, 1972 occurred in the following counties: Archer, 7; Lamb, 5; Lubbock 4; Choctaw, Farmer and Wilbarger, two each; Floyd, Hockley, Jack, Young, Castro, Childress, Deaf Smith, Donley, Hartley, Moore, Potter, and Sherman, one each.

Visiting in the E. M. Bailey home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Bailey and Allen of Kress and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hill and Valerie of Amarillo.

Districts has been filed.

The Petition asking for the special election has been presented to the county judges of Gray, Wheeler, Collingsworth and Donley counties. Presentation of the petition to the four judges was made necessary because the Alanreed School District extends into Donley County while the McLean District takes in part of Donley, Collingsworth and Wheeler counties.

Gray county Judge Don Cain of Pampa said that legally such a petition must bear the signatures of a majority of the legally qualified voters in each school district.

Judge Cain added that it is up to the proponents of the issue and their counsel to prepare the election order to prepare the necessary legal notices. Law requires that 20 days notice must be given in the form of a legal notice to be published in a newspaper or posted in a public place in the district before the election date.

Judge Cain mailed a letter to the two districts Tuesday with these instructions.

By law the election must be held on the same day in the two school districts.

The proposed merger would effect 19 elementary and junior high school students in the Alanreed district and about 350 students at all levels in the McLean district.

Even if the merger were approved, it would not be effective by the beginning of the fall school term.

High School students from Alanreed have attended McLean High School since 1954, when enrollment at the Alanreed School dipped below 55, the number of students required to operate a high school.

The Alanreed school at present has a staff of three teachers and will have an operating budget of $90,000 for the 1972-73 school year. The 1972-73 budget is $313,814 for the McLean schools, which have a teaching staff of 22.

Educational quality is one of the main issues in the proposed consolidation.

The question of a tax raise is one of the major issues in the proposed joining of the two districts.

The question of the use of existing facilities also arose in connection with the proposed union of the two school districts.

Gayton said that no new facilities would be needed to accommodate the small number of students which the proposed consolidation would bring to the McLean schools.

He added that if the union is approved, the contracts of teachers from the Alanreed district would be honored.

Commission Adopts Park Road Policy

Roads in state parks will be built with the environment as a prime consideration as a result of recent Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission action. The commission during its last meeting adopted standards and policies for park roads, and part of the new policy is that decisions will be avoided on delicately balanced life habitat, unique vegetation and historically archeologically significant sites. The engineer must be cognizant of environmental considerations during the design and construction of roads and parking areas."

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Nuclear power plants will be lighting up Texas within eight years and by the year 2000 will furnish a major part of the State's massive and rapidly expanding electricity demand.

State health authorities, who will assist the Atomic Energy Commission in supervising development of the plants and monitoring of their operations, say they expect six nuclear generating plants to be in operation in "Texas in the 1980's" with another nearby plant in Louisiana also furnishing part of the state's electrical needs.

"Failure to consider nuclear power as a necessary alternative source of electricity from the fossil fuel plants now in operation in Texas would be to ignore a pressing need and follow a road that would lead to a vast energy problem," said Dr. J.R. Maxfield, Jr., chairman of the Texas Radiation Advisory Board to the Texas State Department of Health.

The facets of that problem include potential power blackouts, brownouts, curtailed use of electricity by the public, possible higher prices, continued pollution from fossil fuel plants, and a vulnerability to the demands of oil-producing nations of the world.

"Texas will face the probability of electrical brownouts in the major metropolitan areas in the 1980's if we don't develop an alternative power source to fossil fuel," said Dr. Maxfield. "We will find ourselves in the predicament the east coast of the U.S. now faces, with brownouts and blackouts a fact of life."

"Texas is reasonably well-supplied with fossil fuel at the moment, but within the next 10 years we will be facing a crisis. If we don't move now to develop nuclear power as a generating source for electricity, the day will come when we will have to have a curtailment of power to industry and for the home. Limitations will have to be placed on these of air conditioning or refrigeration. Industry will have to be rationed in the number of hours its plant can run per day."

Despite this apparent desperate need for an alternative energy source, wherever nuclear power plants are under consideration in Texas criticism is heard, primarily from environmentalists, that the dangers of serious radiation accidents and unwanted environmental effects are too great. "Nothing could be farther from the truth, according to extensive studies and data accumulated over the past several years," said Martin C. Wukasch, director of the Occupational Health and Radiation Control Division of the State Health Department.

"The safety record of the 22 nuclear power plants now in operation in the United States is an even 100 per cent. The total operating experience of these 22 plants is equal to about 100 years, and there has never been a radiation release that exceeded regulatory guidelines. These nuclear plants are constructed with almost 'fail-safe' self-quenching safety mechanisms. And in normal operation, the nuclear plants emit less radiation to the environment than naturally occurring cosmic radiation. There is certainly no radiation problem posed by radiation emissions from the red granite in the State Capitol building, but the Capitol emits more radiation than would a nuclear power plant."

The knowledge that a nuclear power reactor contains many millions of curies of radioactive fission product has led to the conscious imposition of severe safety standards by designers and operators. The release of even a small fraction of this radioactivity in any circumstance, including a serious accident, is so unlikely by normal engineering judgment. Health officials have calculated the odds on the possible release of radiation from a nuclear power plant to the environment, even under conditions of a serious accident, to be less than the probability of a meteorite striking an individual on the surface of the earth.

Since Texas has become an "Agreement State" with the Atomic Energy Commission, the State Health Department will play a vital role in environmental surveillance and monitoring in the planning phase, the development and construction,

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Bad Guy" on Trial

Investigating the forgery of several checks, police uncovered enough evidence to bring a corporation official to trial. But they also discovered something else: he had been living with another man's wife.

Could this evidence be used against him in court? The judge said no, because it could easily turn the defendant into a "bad guy" in the minds of the jurors.

"The deep tendency of human nature," warned the judge, "is to punish not because (the defendant) is guilty but because he is a bad man and may as well be condemned now that he is caught."

This is why evidence of bad character usually cannot be used against the defendant in a criminal trial. Unless it has a direct bearing on the issues in the case, it is considered too inflammatory to be trusted.

On the other hand, if the defendant tries to prove that his character is good, that "opens the door" to rebuttal by the prosecution. For example:

A woman was accused of the fatal shooting of her husband. During the trial, she took the witness stand and swore she had always been a loyal wife to the deceased.

But two men were promptly summoned by the prosecution to give testimony about her extramarital escapades. The court held that their evidence was admissible, since she had already opened the subject by claiming to be virtuous.

What about proof by the defendant that his victim was a "bad guy"? In a murder case, the defendant tried to bring in evidence that the man he had allegedly killed was a rogue and a troublemaker. He said he wanted to prove that the man's death was no great loss.

But the court refused to allow this evidence, because it had nothing to do with the question of guilt or innocence.

"It is just as serious in the eyes of the law," said the court, "to murder a bad man as a good man."

and the day-to-day operations of nuclear power plants in the state. No other program comes under stricter state supervision. At least 15 state agencies will have the opportunity to review the environmental impact of these plants and advise the Executive Department, who in turn will advise the Environmental Protection Agency and the Atomic Energy Commission of any desirable of potential ecological problems.

Francis Luther Petty of Midland came in Monday of last week and spent the night with his mother, Mrs. Luther Petty, and they left Tuesday morning for Moberly, Mo., to visit their brother and son, Harold Petty and family.

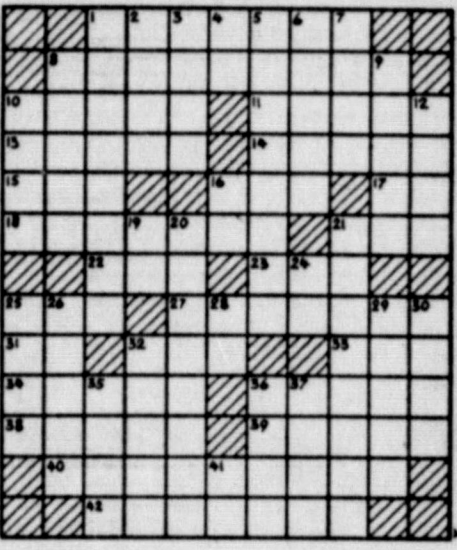

They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hutchinson of Mexico, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Berry Milburn, Joe Milburn, and Miss Jo Betty Donald of Columbia, Mo. They returned home Saturday afternoon and Francis left for his home Sunday.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Rep. Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty apparently will take over the House of Representatives speakership without opposition next January.

Withdrawal of Rep. Frank Calhoun of Abilene from the speaker's race last week, after concluding that Daniel was too far out front to catch, left the 31-year-old attorney from Liberty free of a major challenger.

Rep. James E. Nugent of Kerrville, who had planned to enter the contest earlier, endorsed Daniel.

Before Calhoun's withdrawal, Daniel claimed more than 100 commitments from House members or nominees.

"So many of the old and new members had committed to my opponent before I got into the race, that my continuance in the campaign would place a burden on my supporters that I do not feel justified in causing," said Calhoun.

Daniel, son of former Governor Price Daniel, came from a long way back to emerge as the shoo-in candidate for speaker.

When rep. Rayford Price of Palestine won the post in special session last spring after resignation of former Speaker Gus Mutscher, he was considered a cinch to keep the job during the 63rd legislature.

But Price was defeated for re-election to his House seat in the June 3 democratic runoff primary by Rep. Fred Head of Troup.

Daniel, meanwhile, had been busy rounding up commitments from incumbent lawmakers and new nominees. He tries to dodge being labeled a liberal and prefers the term "progressive". He has emphasized need for legislative reform and is pledged to hold speakership only one term.

SAFETY COURSE OFFERED
Texans who complete a new defensive driving course after September 1 can become eligible for a 10 per cent reduction in their annual auto insurance policies.

Texas Safety Association has accepted responsibility for coordinating the National Safety Council course. The course will cost about $10 or less per person, and the resulting credit is good for three years.

Individual savings over the three-year period are estimated at about $45- or $49 million statewide. Duplications are not allowed for the new course in addition to the driver training course.

In families with two or more cars, the principal drivers of each car will have to take the course to qualify for credit on all vehicles.

After the three-year period, the course must be repeated by drivers to continue qualification for the 10 per cent credit.

PARTIES CERTIFIED
Two new political parties, La Raza Unida and the Social Workers Party, have been certified for places on the November 7 general election ballot in Texas.

Secretary of State Bob Bullock said it was his only duty to certify the parties since they filed more than the required number of 22,365 signatures necessary for ballot position.

The American Party and the New Party, which did not file enough signatures, seek to get on the ballot anyway by federal court action.

La Raza Unida is waging an aggressive campaign for governor, with Ramsey Muñiz of San Antonio as its candidate. Both parties also have candidates for U.S. senator, lieutenant governor and most other major statewide offices.

SPECIAL SESSION COOLING?
Governor Preston Smith may be cooling a little bit on the idea of a September special session on insurance reform, but he insists the idea is still alive.

"I'm pretty flexible," said Smith. "If somebody can bring me in some facts that would show me there would be no purpose served in calling a session, I would not even pretend to be in a mood to waste $33,000 a day (estimated session cost) of the taxpayers' money."

On the other hand, Smith said, if he could be shown that legislation to reduce insurance rates could be passed, he would not hesitate to summon lawmakers back to work.

Main business of the session he indicated, would be a proposal for competitive insurance rates, which he said are in effect in 49 states. He seemed to be backing off his proposal to abolish the present insurance regulatory board.

"I don't know that we will attempt to abolish the board, he said. "If we come to the conclusion it would be helpful, we will. If we don't we won't. We'll know something about whether to call a special session in a couple weeks."

TO BUILD OR NOT TO BUILD

The Highway Department frustrated repeatedly in its plans to erect a new $20 million state headquarters near the capitol, has asked the attorney general to clarify whether it can legally proceed with construction.

After the department was ready to advertise for bids, the Legislature called for a re-evaluation of the site, which was made. Finding: the site was the best available. After that, the Legislature appropriated $1.5 million to the Parks and Wildlife Department to buy the building site (a barren city block which served as a parking lot and make a scenic park out of it. Governor Smith then vetoed the appropriation. That left the Highway Department confused as to what to do next. It can't desert the site without being paid for it.

Texas Outdoorsmen A Measure Of Their Worth

Every Texas hunter is worth about $2,07 1/2.

Isn't that figure sort of low? No, not when you consider that there are 795,446 licensed resident hunters in the state; multiply that by a two-dollar bill and loose change, and it comes to $1,659,548 in federal funds.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department receives federal money for Wildlife programs based on the number of licensed hunters in the state and total land area.

Texas is bested in the number of hunters by Pennsylvania's one million-plus and Michigan's 941,426.

Yet, Texas received the biggest share of Washington's money.

There are over 1,400,000 licensed fishermen in Texas and for this the state receives $671,750 or 45 cents per rod and reel.

California topped Texas in the number of fishermen with over 2,200,000 but both states received the same amount of federal money.

This should be done before school starts.

County Agricultural Agent
 Texas A. & M. College Extension Service
 By FOSTER WHALEY

Last week we attended a State County Agricultural Agent's meeting in El Paso. A lot of fine information was presented at this state meeting.

In traveling to El Paso we went through Southeastern New Mexico. I've never seen the abundance of excellent grass like this in New Mexico before. One fellow said they already had twice their normal annual rainfall. As usual cattle were very sparsely stocked. We returned by way of Dallas taking the route through Midland, Odessa and Abilene. The country had the best grass and crop conditions ever. Some of the cotton was weedy and late, indicating hail earlier. I am told conditions over much of the southwest are about the same. This means a continued strong demand for stocker calves. We saw few cow calf herds.

Even with fat cattle off three to five dollars per cwt-I can't see much drop in the price of calves. About two weeks ago light calves took a $1.50 drop. Last week they were right back to where they had peaked earlier.

There have been two most unfavorable cattle on feed reports. The first was as of July 1. This was a 23 state report that showed substantial increases in numbers on feed in every weight and sex group. Heifers under 500 pounds showed a forty five percent increase. This indicates to me ranchers are not holding back heifers and increasing their mother cow herds. A continued shortage of beef on down the line.

A recent six state cattle on feed report as of August 1st showed continued heavy placements on feed. Eight percent more cattle were placed during month of July in the six chief cattle feeding states. As of August 1 there were eighteen percent more cattle on feed in the six major cattle feeding state. This indicates to me a further pressure of fat cattle prices. Most people coming out of feedlot are still showing nice profits. Although the fat market has taken a sharp drop over the last few weeks, the price of fat cattle is still higher than when the cattle were placed on feed.

If you are waiting until the market breaks to buy replacement calves-My opinion is you will have a long wait.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bailey and Valerie Hill visited relatives in Oklahoma City last week.

A promising new treatment for acute heart attacks, intravenous infusion of sodium nitroprusside, was announced recently by a research team at the Washington, D.C., Veterans Administration hospital.

After six days in the hospital for the pesticide burns on my eyes, face and throat (set up in last week's article) I returned to my home in McLean, and nine weeks later was well enough to dismiss the woman who was caring for me.

Surely to spray so deadly a salvo against anyone should be considered a criminal act, and as such should be investigated and the criminal arrested. But when the incident first happened, I called an officer and tried to get him to come to my house to see my face, he said he wouldn't know what to do for my eyes, and he couldn't help me. So he didn't come, and so far as I know no one ever made the least effort to apprehend the criminal.

Somehow, all these activities against justice cost money. In this case I had to pay for six days hospitalization, two doctors, one for the treatment of damages to eyes, and the other for treatment of burns on face, hands, throat and treatment for diabetes, plus other expenses. An estimated expense for me of more than $500.00. To say nothing of the life time damage to my health and eyes. Of course, the Great American who fired the shots at me, had to pay for the pesticides--or did someone else take on that expense? The man, no doubt, had heard that I was a Communist: As I have been stated, I am not a communist and have never been one. Is there any difference in damaging a person's eye with a pistol shot and damaging the eyes with pesticides? Would the officer have come to me, had I told him I had been shot?

As I told you before, it was discovered, while I was in the hospital, that I had diabetes, an important tidbit in this story. All my enemies had to do was to start circulating the story that all that burn on my face, throat, eyes and hands was from diabetes rash. And, of course that I was lying, I have never been sprayed with dust--it was all diabetes. (It is my understanding this was started by a member of the medical profession). The three burned holes in the cornea of the left eye could not possibly have been caused by diabetes. All burns and rashes must be conveyed by and through blood vessels and since there is not a blood vessel in the cornea. The cornea could not have contacted the diabetic rash any more than could a piece of clear plastic laid over the rash contact the disease.

Diabetic rash is much like the rash that appears just under the skin on a baby's face. Diabetic rash spreads. It may start out with one small pimple, and in a few hours may cover a considerable portion of the body. But the burns caused from chemical burns does not spread, but remains only where it is touched by this chemical.

(I hope I'm right about this. I learned it in an advanced physiology class taught by J.H. Horton in the McLean High School, nearly sixty years ago. I had no way to make research on the subject. So, I took a chance on my memory. Since I wrote the article about the various dusts being sprayed at me I've been sprayed between thirty and forty times with dusts with urine in it. For some twenty years the rule is--if I leave home so the vandals can't come into my house and vandalize or steal mostly they don't spray me at night. This last week, I've been sprayed every night about twelve o'clock. I think the mauler is under the house. Ruby Cook 33-1c

Three men were driving through the countryside very late on a pitch black night. Two were in the front seat and the other in the back, half asleep. Suddenly the driver asked the man in the back to look out the rear window and see who the crazy driver was behind them. For the past five minutes he had been trying to let him pass and, to top it off, his car had only one light on. The man looked out the back and then said very excitedly: "No wonder he can't pass you--he's on tracks!"

"Is that you, Sam?" the wife called out to the late-returning and somewhat inebriated husband. "All I know," grumbled Sam, slamming into the buffet, "is that I'd damn well better be."

Clergyman: "Isn't there a still, small voice, madam, that tells you what to do and what not to do?" Mrs. Laffwell: "Oh, that thing? I never listen to my husband!"

"Now son... stand like this, then simply push your feet like... HELP!"

Easter Seal Society Prints Leaflet For Stroke Victims

The Texas Easter Seal Society announced a new education leaflet Understanding Stroke for stroke victims, their families and friends. It has been published by the National Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults to help clear up many commonly held misconceptions about one of man's oldest illnesses.

The publication is the first in a series of health education leaflets being produced by the Easter Seal Society as an integral part of its public service program.

Stroke patient rehabilitation is a major Easter Seal activity. Understanding Stroke, developed under the guidance of the Society's professional advisors and counselors, was designed to reinforce service programs offered in Texas by affiliates in local communities to persons disabled by stroke.

"This new leaflet is in keeping with the current trend to help educate the public about the medical aspects of frightening illnesses according to Maynard I. Shapiro, M.D., a member of the National Easter Seal Society's Professional Advisory Council. ## Adult Education Is Real Part Of F. Phillips College

Adult education has since the beginning of Frank Phillips College twenty five years ago been a real part of the college. F.P.C. operates on a philosophy that "teaching" is its primary reason for being, and one of the finest traditions the college has is providing special learning opportunities for adults. It takes courage to enter college when you are five, ten twenty or more years past the usual starting age for a freshman.

The adult who starts to college after a long lapse of time in his formal training definitely knows what he wants. It may be just a change in routine, a change in profession, training for advancement in a career or maybe just a challenge.

Many courses can be taken by those not interested in a degree. Many life enrichment courses are offered in many fields.

The whole pattern of life can be changed by again entering school after many years away from the classroom. It is challenging, it's fascinating, and it's stimulating.

Frank Phillips has many courses to offer to adults this fall, also several new courses.

Courses in Law Enforcement Science, Mid Management, Real Estate, Insurance and Nursing are now being planned. These courses will add to those courses in Drama, Business, Art, Bible, Electronics, Literature, and many others.

Registration for the Fall Semester at Frank Phillips College is August 31st and September 1st.

Antelope Population Shows Increase

Antelope counts by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist indicate a healthy population increase for adult animals and an excellent fawn crop west of the Pecos River.

Adult animals increased approximately 23 per cent over last year, and more than 59 per cent of adult does had fawns. Biologists say this is extremely good considering that yearling does, who are sexually immature, are counted as adults.

The total 1972 population is 11,108 animals. This represents a 32 percent increase in does, a nine percent increase in bucks and 23 per cent increase in fawns.

The Veterans Administration periodically advises veterans that the agency is not affiliated with private cemetery operators offering veterans burial plots "free" or at "nominal costs."
