AROUND TOWN

Mayor Boyd Meador has announced that brochures on the City of McLean are now ready for distribution. These brochures contain information on the industries, hospital, library, churches and other facilities of the town.

It is hoped the brochures will stimulate an interest in McLean, with the possibilities of new industries locating here. This would mean an addition to the population, which any small town always welcomes.

If you are planning a trip, stop by the City Hall and pick up several brochures and leave them in motel rooms or restaurants along the way.

We know that McLean is one of the nicest towns in this part of the country, so let's enlighten other people on this well known fact!

Attendance at open house held in the McLean schools Monday night was fair, but there should have been many more parents and relatives to attend. If you were unable to come, you missed a fine opportunity to see what the school children of today are learning.

From the first grade on through high school, all sorts of exhibits and projects were on display for the visitors to view. We think congratulations are in order for these students, and especially the teachers for the fine jobs they are doing.

Congratulations are also in store for a number of Alanreed and McLean 4-H and FFA members for the splendid job they did in showing stock at the Gray County Junior Livestock Show and the Top o' Texas Junior Livestock Show held in Pampa this week.

Randy McCracken of Alanreed won high honors in the barrow show, while Mike Long of McLean showed the reserve champion in the steer division.

Other local young people won places in their respective classes. Frank Scales, who was injured in a car-train wreck Feb. 26, is still listed in critical condition at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo. He is located in the intensive care unit of the hospital, and it is reported that he shows little improvement.

March roared in like a lion last week, and the winds have blown steadily since the first day, with the exception of Tuesday, which turned out to be a nice spring day. In spite of the wind, the temperatures have been fairly mild.

St. Patrick's Day Festival March 17 In Shamrock

Shamrock, the Irish capital of Texas, is extending a warm, western welcome to neighboring cities, towns and communities to attend the 20th annual St. Patrick's Day Celebration on Thursday, March 17.

Launching this year's Irish Festival will be Hon. John Connally, popular governor of the Lone Star State, who will be guest speaker at the Pre-St. Patrick's Day banquet scheduled Wednesday evening, March 16, at the Armory.

Everyone is invited to attend the kick-off event and hear the Texas governor. Tickets, priced at $2.50 each, may be reserved by calling the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce.

The governor will remain overnight in Shamrock and view the gigantic Irish Parade at 11 o'clock St. Patrick's Day morning.

Featured in the parade will be some 30 elaborately decorated floats and a dozen or more bands and drill teams. The Irish Band Festival will be underway all day at the high school auditorium.

The downtown sound stage will be the scene of continuous program features throughout the day, ending with an Old Fiddlers Contest late in the afternoon.

Western entertainment at the Sheriff's Posse arena will include contests in headin' and heelin', calf roping and girls' barrel racing.

Twenty-two beautiful collets are competing for the title of Miss Irish Rose, who will be crowned in an impressive coronation at the Armory in the afternoon.

The celebration will end Thursday night with two dances. Willie Lo-Max and his orchestra of Amarillo will furnish music for the regular St. Pat dance at the Armory. Playing for a dance at Shamrock Skating Rink will be the Velasquez Bros. orchestra of Wheeler.

Randy McCracken, 4-H boy from the Alanreed community and son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy McCracken, took top honors with his grand champion Poland China barrow at the Top o' Texas Junior Livestock Show in Pampa last Monday.

The barrow was placed in the top spot over 125 other pigs. We salute Randy.

Mike Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Long, Hussey Ranch north of McLean, took reserve champion honors in the calf show. Faris Hess is the breeder of the Long calf. This is Mike's second year to show. He was in a similar position last year.

Jerry Harland, assistant county agent, praised both boys for the many long hours of work each of them has put in on his project.

We noted a marked improvement in the way Mike showed his calf this year. Betcha this old kid will take some top shows before he finishes his 4-H work.

CATTLE PRICES

Heard a fellow say last week the best way to make another $10 per head in feed lot cattle is hold them one more week.

He was speaking of the rapid rise in finished cattle prices. Stockers have even advanced faster within the last six weeks.

Light weight steer calves have advanced five dollars per cwt. during this time.

We know of some feeders that bought certain classes of feeders and placed them last fall in feed lot at prices in the $18.00 per cwt. bracket. Some of these cattle are being sold at $25.75 and up.

The same is true of wheat pasture cattle. This same class seems to have made more money than the natives that sold last fall at $25 and $27 per cwt.

The natives always do much better but there are times when they are over priced in relation to other classes. Two years ago they were very much under priced in relation to lower grades of cattle.

It is a matter of economics as to which one to buy.

We know of one individual that bought some lower grade heifers from Louisiana last fall for $18.31 per cwt. The cattle will bring over $25 on today's market. The owner has put over 250 pounds of gain on these cattle on wheat pasture.

They weighed in the 350 pound bracket at time of purchase. This is doubling your money in six months. No doubt this is a record situation. Even with this unbelievable profit per head this does not mean a person should get in a rut and decide this is the only class of cattle to run.

Two years ago it would have been a mistake to run this type cattle on wheat. Natives did much better profit wise.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Smitherman and family visited in Hart over the weekend with friends and relatives.

FFA And 4-H Take Top Honors In Stock Shows

In Monday's judging of fat calves, reserve grand champion honors were awarded to Mike Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Long of McLean, for his 843-pound medium weight Hereford.

Two other Alanreed young men who had high placings in their barrow classes were Steve Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, with a 5th place, and James McMahan, son of Rev. and Mrs. Leo McMahan, with a 2nd place.

Brad Dalton of the McLean FFA, exhibited the breed champion in the division for cross breeds and other breeds. Brad's Yorkshire had placed first in the heavy weight division of this class. Brad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Finis Dalton.

THE YOUNG SUFFER THE MOST

War-ravaged Vietnam has left thousands of casualties; even more homeless, hungry and poverty-stricken. This infant was found in a deserted village, left alone to die. Suffering from malnutrition, the child, safely resting in a Catholic Relief Services clinic near Saigon in a "hammock" made from empty flour sacks, is now being nurtured back to normal health. Twenty-four hours a day, every day of the year, Catholic Relief Services is at work in Vietnam and in 79 other countries of the world to help alleviate the sufferings of the poor, the hungry and the diseased. Your contribution to the 1966 BISHOPS' OVERSEAS RELIEF FUND APPEAL, March 13-20, will help continue this global work of charity. Send a donation to: Bishops' Overseas Relief Fund, Empire State Bldg., New York, N. Y. 10001. (Or to the nearest Catholic church.)

Mr. Bell liked to make things better...

After Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone in 1876, he did not rest on his laurels. He helped form the National Geographic Society, developed the basic method of making phonograph records on wax discs and pioneered a method of locating icebergs by detecting echoes from them. He made suggestions and contributions that helped give us air conditioning and the iron lung. For 46 years after inventing the telephone, he lived a vigorous and creative life.

Southwestern Bell likes to make things better, too... Six short years ago, we did not offer the Princess® telephone, Home Interphone, Wide Area Telephone Service, Centrex service, Data-Phone data communications service or Panel Phone. There was no electronic artificial larynx, no automatic dialer and no Speakerphone. Today, these new items help us provide the best telephone service in the world. But we want to make it better. That's our legacy from Mr. Bell.

JURY DUTY

Jury duty is an experience everybody ought to have. In a criminal case 12 jurors have a duty to do justice as each one sees it, and yet be unanimous. In most trials both sides have much to say, and the evidence is conflicting. The 12 jurors vary in their ability, temperament, character, education and their experience in the world, and in the question at stake. Yet a jury made up of both sexes, with wide age and educational differences, jobs and origins must all come up with the same verdict. Upon their verdict much depends—the life or liberty of others, and the public good. So it may takes days of talking among themselves, all to agree.

Jury duty calls for insight, common sense, courage, fact, fair-mindedness, patience (especially toward the jurors who disagree with you), good humor, tolerance, balance, willingness to hear others out and change one's mind, readiness to go over and over the facts to find something to bring agreement. In short, jury duty demands a "decent respect for the opinions" of others.

More and more women share civic duties, especially as jurors. Time was in Texas when women could not serve on juries. They still cannot in four states.

A jury finds facts. It hears and weighs evidence and then comes to a verdict. It does not make the law—the legislature does, and the judge "charges" or instructs the jury concerning the law applicable to the particular case it is considering.

The judge will tell you not to find the accused guilty until he is proved so under strict rules of evidence. If you have any "reasonable doubt"—not imaginary or far-fetched—acquit the accused.

Civil cases do not demand a moral certainty, merely the "preponderance" of what you regard as reliable and believable evidence

BACK TALK

Observing politicians reminds me of a story from the General Services Bureau. A Westerner who was celebrating his 100th birthday, was asked to what he attributed his longevity. He answered, "Remember the shooting of Pancho Veretto? Well, sir, I attribute my old age mostly to the fact that the police never did find out who killed Pancho."

The longevity of our Government will not be perpetuated by the attitude of our present day politicians, that a national debt is a national blessing. You and I know that this is not true. We must never lose sight of the fact that this is the people's government, made for the people, made by the people, and ANSWERABLE to the people.

Former Congressman Brooks Hays told of a bishop who advised a politician to go out into the rain and lift his head heavenward. "It will bring a revelation to you." Next day the politician reported, "I followed your advice and no revelation came, the water poured down my neck and I felt like a fool." "Well," said the bishop, "isn't that quite a revelation for the first time?"

NEWS OF CONSERVATION

By VAN MILLS

The following report was put out by the Texas Experimental Ranch at Throckmorton. This report has some very interesting information concerning stocking rates and different grazing systems under actual ranching conditions. Their five-year average of weaning weights of calves are as follows:

Heavy continuous stocking, 484 pounds; moderate continuous stocking, 499 pounds; two pasture rotation deferred, 506 pounds; four pasture rotation deferred, 522 pounds.

The desirable grasses were increasing in the two and four pasture rotation deferred pastures and decreasing under the heavy continuous stocking rate. The ultimate objective in range conservation and good range management is the highest possible yield of quality range forage. Range condition, range trend, range management and treatment practices and the economics of the ranching business all are anchored to range yields. The more desirable grasses we have the higher our grass yields will be. Most livestock are produced on the basis of pounds. We know there is a very close relationship between pounds of grass and pounds of livestock produced on a given pasture.

Several farmers have been inquiring recently about parallel terraces. There are four farmers who are now planning on putting in this type of terrace. In some cases it takes considerable engineering work to make the terraces parallel. Parallel terraces are much easier to farm since they eliminate all point rows.

O. R. Blankenship plans to construct a diversion terrace on his place west of McLean.

Screwworm Program Shows Infestation Increase for 1965

Texas farmers and ranchers detected more than twice as many screwworm infestations in 1965 as during the previous year, but the total was still negligible when compared to what they used to experience before the screwworm eradication program came along. Livestock authorities have estimated that up to one million screwworm infestations occurred annually in the southwestern United States before agricultural researchers learned the livestock insects could be eradicated by overwhelming them with billions of screwworm flies reared in a plant and sexually sterilized with atomic radiation. Sterile flies mate with fertile flies and prevent reproduction. Nearly 174 billion sterile flies have been dispersed during the past four years.

Statistics maintained at the screwworm eradication center, near Mission, revealed that 466 infestations were recorded in 53 counties during 1965. The previous year, a total of 223 cases were found in 65 counties.

The majority of the infestations were detected in counties adjacent or near the United States-Mexico border, leading eradication authorities to believe that most of them were the result of fertile screwworm flies migrating out of Mexico. In 1964, cases were scattered over much of the state, including the Panhandle and East Texas.

Also contributing to the increase in infestations, according to officials, were weather conditions on both sides of the border which were ideal for screwworms to develop and spread.

Screwworms have been eradicated from all states except California and Arizona, where eradication activities are currently underway, and a barrier zone of live sterile flies has been stretched across northern Mexico to prevent re-infestation. Screwworm outbreaks can be expected to continue to occur in states bordering on Mexico, officials declared, until this barrier zone can be extended farther south.

Eradicators hope to expand the barrier in the coming months and thus reduce outbreaks in the United States. They plan to disperse the majority of the flies produced in Mexico this winter and spring to wipe out colonies of fertile flies that could survive near the international boundary.

Mikid Green, student at WTSU, Canyon, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Green, over the weekend.

CITY BEAUTIFUL

Not long ago an eastern city banned the use of clotheslines in the front of the houses. Although a rebellious home owner challenged the validity of the law, it was upheld in court.

Legal experts reacted vehemently, both pro and con. For the clothesline case touched on a sensitive issue: may a city restrict the use of private property for the purpose of beautifying the community?

The issue arises in countless ways. May the owners of roadside property be forbidden to erect billboards? May the owner of an unsightly junkyard be forced to enclose it with a fence? May a home owner be required to keep his premises from becoming an eyesore to the neighborhood?

Clearly the city may act for reasons of safety and health. It may insist, out of regard for your neighbors' welfare, that your home must not become a firetrap or a source of disease.

But the law long looked askance at regulations that were even partly motivated by consideration of beauty. Safety and health were considered matters of necessity, but beauty only a matter of luxury—not urgent enough to justify government tampering with private property rights.

Besides, it is relatively easy to agree on what is safe and healthful. But what is beautiful? If the city could regulate in the name of beauty, couldn't it—for example—tell a home owner what color to paint his house? Where to plant his shrubbery? As one judge put it:

"Individual taste, good or bad, should ordinarily be let alone by government."

Nevertheless, there has been a gradual trend toward letting aesthetics play a larger role in municipal regulation. Beauty, if not yet as necessary as safety or health, is at least considered more necessary than it used to be.

"Our sensibilities have become more refined and our ideals more exacting," wrote one court. And "an eyesore in a neighborhood of residences might be as disagreeable noise, or odor, or a menace to safety or health."

States differ as to just how large the role of beautification may be. But they do agree that it may carry some weight.

"Beauty may not be queen," a judge observed, "but at least it is no longer an outcast, beyond the pale of protection."
