Trustees Accept Smitherman Resignation; Discuss New 20-Hour State Ruling

I've had several people ask me about my trip to Dallas ... mostly women friends whove mostly women friends who've wanted to know every little detail.

Well, let me assure you that I had a wonderful time while gone. The Neil Diamond concert that Sally and I attended began shortly after midnight and he sang non-stop until almost 4 a.m. Of course, that was a little hard for me to handle, but I "forced" myself to stay and endure (and enjoy) the entire show.

Saturday was spent shopping, trying out a new restaurant and then attending the Moe Bandy and Joe Stampley concert in Ft. Worth. That concert began and was over earlier, so we were able to catch up on our sleep some Saturday night.

We spent most of Sunday visiting and getting ready to catch my plane at Lovefield.

There was one damper thrown on the weekend. Saturday night, while making my nightly phone call home, I discovered that Charlie had come down with the flu and was quite ill. My in-laws, Wayne, and Kristina assured me longdistance that they had the problem well under control, and I was even able to talk to Charlie on the phone for a while, calming my frantic nerves.

The best part of the weekend was being able to visit nonstop for three days with Sally. We still enjoy each other's company, and found we had endless subjects to discuss and discuss and discuss.

The husband of one of my friends told me he hoped I had an awful time, otherwise he'd never hear the end of it until his wife would be able to make a trip such as mine.

Sorry! I had a wonderful time and I thoroughly recommend it!

I was reading in one of my many Christmas magazines bombarding our mail box that we should all eat, drink, and be merry...without gaining wieght. I didn't even have the heart to read the article and discover whatever previously unknown secrets the author was going to share with me.

I knew without reading the article that the author led a pretty sheltered life.

MISD trustees met at 5 p.m. for their regular monthly meeting Monday night at the school business office.

The board moved into executive session at 6 p.m., to discuss personnel, and re-opened the meeting at 7:50 p.m.

Monta Jean Smitherman's resignation was accepted by the board.

The board took no action on filling Mrs. Smitherman's position at this time.

In other business, coach Jack Brewster was re-assigned to take the position of head basketball coach, due to the absence of head basketball coach Jack Routt. Brewster's salary was also raised from $2500 above state to $3750, which was the amount Routt was receiving.

Trustees approved the November minutes, the check report, the financial statement. tax assessor's report, the delinquent tax collections, and the cafeteria report.

mittee was approved. Teachers will be asked to examine science and math books for grades 1-8 to fulfill the ESL (English as the Second Language) requirements. The books will be written in Spanish, and are required by the state.

The committee will also be looking at new books for biology, computer literacy, and data processing.

Listed on the committee are Carl Dwyer, Charles Turner, Bell Hughes, Lela Kennedy, Evelyn Sanders, Barbara Stalls, Betty Skipper, Francis Adamson, Cynthia Howard, and Jerry

Don Cook. The committee will study the books from January through March. After which time their recommendations will be made to the board of trustees.

The board approved changes in the 1984-84 budget, adding $43,080 in revenue from the sale of equipment, delinquent tax collections, and interest received.

Included in additional expaenses were bus physicals for substitute bus drivers, telephone expenses, equipment, and building improvements, totalling $39,650.

Superintendent Jim Rutherford informed the board about unexpected telephone expenses from AT&T.

The school received a bill from AT&T for equipment located in the high school, elementary, gymnasium, band hall, and old agriculture buildings that was no longer in service. The bill averaged $114 per month for the broken, unused equipment.

Rutherford contacted the company, requesting the removal of the equipment and will inform the board as progress is made in the situation.

The board also learned of a recent visit from the state fire marshal. The marshal asked the school board to add a few exit signs, and the otherwise "checked out really well" Rutherford explained.

The board discussed the strong possibility of McLean's receiving a handicapped child after the first of the year, and the adjustments that would need to be made in some of the school's facilities.

Bench Whittler's

after.

As I am writing this (Tues.) there is supposed to be front coming to end our spring-like December weather, and return us to more normal weather for this time of year.

The Whittler's Bench bunch was talking about snow this morning, and I'm sure many of us would like to see a white Christmas. We started remembering snowy winters of the past, and it was established that the winter of 1911-12 was certainly one of the worst in memory. 1907 and 1915 were also named as bad ones, as well as 1918, when so many died of the "Spanish influenza."

My first memory of a society-being able to get to the cake house for cow feed for almost four days. Of course, there have been stopping snow was in April of

1938, when several McLean

women (among them, my aunt Pearl Bogan) were stranded between here and Amarillo and suffered frostbite as a result.

There was also a really bad one in the very early 1950's, because I vividly remember not other moderate snows, some of which driftly badly, and I am certainly not hoping for another one like 1038, (or was it 1937?) but I wouldn't mind about six inches of wet snow for the wheat with the absence of wind and a couple of warm days

I asked the boys on the bench how much snow they would like * and J. W. Meacham measured about a quarter of an inch with his fingers, and my father said he would like to see so much snow we would have to dig down to grease the windmills!

Well, we may or may not have a white Christmas, but we can always put on a copy of that greatest record of all time by the greastes singer of all time, Bing Crooby, and have our White Christmas

I was born near Wainut Ridge (Strawberry), 1921.

We moved south of Alanreed

Several families came from that area of Arkansas to live in the Alanreed-McLean area. Huggart McLaughlins, Sharps, Turners, Watsons and others.

We moved 2 1/2 miles SW of McLean in 1928, on Highway 66. That dirt road is still there. Only three houses remain in this historic road from McLean to Alanreed...two of these at Alanreed.

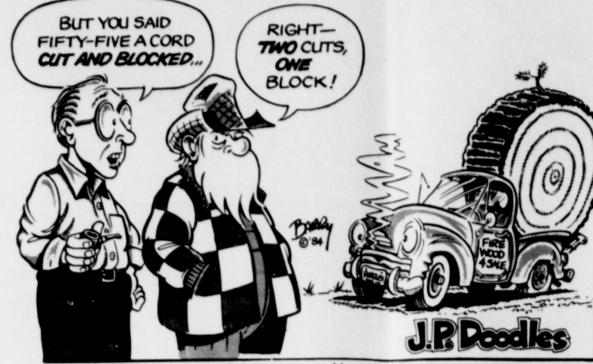

Last April I presented a program to National Art Education Association Convention in Miami. I showed slides showing of old 66 looking East from Cambell Hill. A young teacher from New York and one from Pennsylvania were almost in disbelief that this was once the famous US 66.

Perhaps your paper could stir up interest concerning the history of the road. It is today as it was in 1928. When was it opened? Perhaps it could be declared an historical highway. Some cross country travelers might like to travel it just to get a "feel" of the way things were.

I would like to see markers placed at the house sites where families had lived along this road. I will furnish porcelain enamel signs for this if information can be obtained.

My respect for my teachers in the McLean schools caused me to become a teacher also. My formative years in the depression era on a dry-land farm near McLean were difficult. I have forgotten the weeds. I only remember the flowers I am sure there are many former citizens of McLean-Alanreed area-like myself-who have a deep sincere love for things as they were and are. In the jungles of the South Pacific WWII, two fond memoties kept me going-home and school.

It is from the pleasent memories we former citizens can find cause to contribute in our individual ways to the wellbeing of McLean today and tomorrow. On this day I will mail a check in memory of my son Mark, to the Alanreed-Mc-Lean Historical Museum. I see the museum as a focal point for the future of McLean. Ruth Magee's insight in making an appeal for contributions to the museum is commendable. If we cannot take pride in our heri-

Among my memorable experiences was an interview with Will Lewis in his home in Dallas in 1949. He cam to the Panhandle in 1885, and bought the RO after Rowe's death in the Titanic.

Another memorable experience was last year's reunion in McLean.

I believe we all had the same feeling: It is good to be back from whence we come.

I love McLean and its people. Small towns are the heart, foundation, backbone of America. People everywhere are beginning to realize this.

Opinions

During the last called meeting of the City Council, city fathers met with the full-time city employees to discuss salary increases. Each employee was individually interviewed in executive session. When councilmen re-opened the meeting, not all of the employees received raises.

For the second consecutive year, city secretary. Stella Lee and city superintendent Bob Glenn were denied even a meager increase in salary.

The council did not personally inform these employees as to their decision, leaving them to discover the fact by reading the minutes or the coverage in the newspaper. And no reason has been offered to them as far as I know.

In fact, withholding their raises was completely left out of the minutes, even though the council obiviously had to make the decision sometime!

I am not particularly arguing about the lack of raises for these two long-time dedicated employees, alothough I do feel it a grave, terrifying injustice.

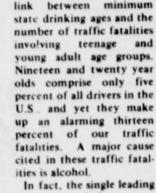

I am horrified and insulted as to the council's calloused treatment of two of our employees.

To let the newspaper be their main source of information concerning their salaries and not to even given these two any type of explanation concerning this decision is a mon strous blunder.

I wonder how these councilmen would feel if the shoe was on the other foot

AUSTIN - Recent studies have confirmed a direct cause of death for persons aged fifteen to twentyfour is alcohol related traffic fatalities. Approximately fourteen persons under the age of twentyfour die every day from alcohol related crashes compared to three to four between the ages of twenty-five and forty-four. One American loses his/ her life every twenty minutes because of alcohol related traffic accidents. In response to these staggering figures, the United States Congress has recently passed legislation to influence the individual states to set twenty-one as the minimum drinking age across the nation. The National Minimum Drinking Age Act requires the federal government to withhold five percent of individual state's federal highway funds if that state has not enacted a twenty-one year old drinking age law by October 1, 1986. If the state does not pass such a law by October 1, 1987, an additional ten percent in federal funds will be with-the greatest amount faced by any state. With the current budget crisis facing our state, it is clear that some sort of tax increase would be necessary to recoup this threatened loss of funds. The main issue, however, is not merely the saving of federal funds, but rather the saving in human lives that would be brought about by an increase in the drinking age. Evidence from other states has shown that raising the minimum drinking age to twenty-one results in a significant saving of lives among the nineteen to twenty group. In Texas, our past success in raising the minimum age to the current nineteen has resulted in a twenty percent reduction in the number of persons eighteen and under involved in alcohol related traffic fatalities. As the sponsor of this legislation in 1981, I feel that it is again my duty to seek passage of new legislation to raise the minimum age to twenty-

Therefore, I have recently introduced Senate Bill 21, relating to raising Texas' drinking age in compliance with the National Minimum Drinking Age Act. The fight for passage of this legislation will not be an easy task, and we will enlist the support of concerned persons throughout the state. But the final goal is a valuable one, for it is the goal to save the lives of our most valuable asset the teenagers and young adults that will lead Texas in the decades to come.

Riders of the Long Road

Stephen Bransford 1984 marks the bicentennial of the founding of Methodism in America, and this historical novel is a stirring tribute to it's heroic pioneers, the circuit riders, whose lives were filled with hardship and travail, and who were sustained only through courage and faith. Based on the adventures of the most famous of these preachers on horseback "Riders of the Long Road" vividly brings to life this amazing chapter in America's history.

Stephen Bransford, the author, himself the son of a lumberjack preacher, presents a factual although intensely interesting story of a revenge-seeking young man, who hopes to atone for the abandoment of his mother and himself in the wild, lawless land of Kentucky in 1784.

The fast-moving story is full of surprises, new unexpected enemies, and innocent where evil was expected as well as a thrilling love story and a chronicle of the spreading of the Gospel in an impossible murderous land trying to enforce that ruling were discussed.

The rule, according to Monday's Amarillo Daily News, states that, "any student wanting to take part in any school sport or other extracurricular activity must have a passing grade of 70 for the past six weeks. A grade lower than 70 in any one course automatically suspends that student from sports, band or other activities. including practice session, for the next six weeks.

'The rule also limits practice and travel time for any sport or extracurricular activity to eight hours per week or a total of 20 hours. Travel to and from the first game or performance of the week would be counted as two hours no matter how long ot took."

Local school officials are waiting for some type of interpretation from the state befroe proceeding with the enforcement of the rule.

The meeting was adjourned at 8 p.m.

Attending were board members Jake Hess II, James Hefley, Joe Magee, Darryel Herndon, Loyd Hunt, John Holland, and Thacker Haynes; superintendent Jim Rutherford; principals Dorman Thomas and Ron Cummings; business manager Shirley Johnson; and Kathy Grimsley across the street from him handing him candy everytime he walks into the McLean Variety.

Or how about a sister who makes the best fresh pies and homemade bread this side of the Mississippi? Or a motherin-law who's famous for her fudge, a mother who makes the best pecan turtles in the world, a granfather whose divinity can't be beat, a step-mother who makes the best (and only) sweet potato casserole I've eaten or a couple of aunts who bring millionaire cakes or the best chocolate pie to the holiday festivities!

I haven't even started on our three grandmothers...whose specialties include chocolate ruffle, fresh pecan pie, banana nut bread, pumpkin piesm monkey bread and enough french desserts and candy to satisfy every sweet tooth around. This poor man was either delirious when he wrote his article, or his family eats things like bean sprout pie, tufu cake or yogurt surprise.

Now if he'd written an article entitled "How To Gain Only 30 Pounds During The Christmas Holidays". I might have at least skimmed the article!

Senator Sarpalius Introduces New Bill On Legal Age

Senator Bill Sarpalius announced the introduction recently of Senate Bill 21, relating to raising Texas' legal drinking age in compliance with the National Minimum Drinking Age Act. The United States Congress has recently passed the National Minimum Drinking Age Act, which would deny Texas an estimated $100 million in federal highway funds if the minimum legal drinking age is not raised up to 21.

'This potential loss of funds is the greatest amount faced by any state," Sarpelius said. "The main issue here is not merely the saving of federal funds, but rather the savings in human lives that this bill would bring about," Sarpalius added. Senator Sarpaliu, who sponsored and passed the current law that raised the minimum age to 19 in 1981, said that "Texas Department of Public Safety statistics show that the number of persons 18 and under involved in alcohol related fatal crashes was reduced by 19.4% drinking age took effect." "Moreover, the number of 17 year old drivers involved in alcohol related fatal accidents dropped 30.8- from 1980 to 1983," Sarpalius said. The number of 19 year olds involved between this same period stayed the same.

"Evidence from other states has shown that raising the minimum drinking age to 21 results in the savings of lives among the 19 to 20 age group, Sarpalius stated. Additionally, the Senator said that raising the minimum age to 21 is widely supported by the public, among both teenagers and adults.

"A recent Gallup poll showed that more than 60% of 18 to 21 year olds favor raising the drinking age to 21," Sarpalius said, "and a full 80% of the general public support such a Senate Bill 21 would raise the minimum age to 20 on September 1, 1985, On September 1, 1986, the legal age would automatically increase to 21. Senator Sarpalius said that "Anyone 19 years of age, on or

"Those in opposition to raising the legal age state that it will not stop teens from obtaining alcohol," Sarpalius said, "but the truth is that it will go a long way towards lowering the number of teens drinking and dying on our streets and highways.

Senator Sarpalius said that "Nineteen and 20 year olds make up only 5% of all drivers, but they make up 13% of our traffic deaths."

Panhandle Health Care Schedules Free Clinic

RN Dorothy Wilson, representative from Panhandle Health Care. will be on hand to take the blood pressure.

Before hanging strings of lights, spread them on the floor and check for frayed or bare wires, cracked insulation, loose connections, and damaged plugs or light sockets. Check extension cords for wear or damage and don't run them across walking areas. Test lights before putting them on the tree. Unplug them before making repairs or replacing bulbs. Overloading circuits with too many lights can cause fire. Follow manufacturer's instructions about the number of lights allowed on one circuit. Choose a fresh, green tree, trim its base and keep it in plenty of water. If the needles are brown and break off easily, it could be a fire risk If you buy an artificial tree, make sure it has been tested for flammability by Underwriters Laboratories (UL). Place your tree away from the fireplace or other heat sources and out of the traffic pattern. Never string lights on a metallic tree. Light strings with damaged insulation can electrically charge a metallic tree. Instead, shine unattached colored floodlights or spotlights on the tree. Always turn off lights before leaving home or going to bed. You'll save money and be safer, too.

> Do not use inside lights on the outside. All outside lighting equipment, including lights, cords and plugs, should be waterproof and made for outdoor use. Also, hang sockets downward and don't leave a socket empty. When hanging lights on the rooftop or in tall trees outdoors, stay clear of electrical lines. Make sure you or your decorations don't come in contact with them. Should you receive a CB radio or television this Christmas, let a qualified serviceman install the CB base unit or television antenna for you. This delicate job is best left to the professionals.

Be sure electrical toys are tested for safety. Look for the UL mark.

The Cubs, however, were able to grab that sweet, elusive victory, dfeating the Bandits 31-19.

McLean jumped out to take command of the game 9-4 by the end of the first quarter and kept the lead throughout the remainder of the game.

Lefors managed to keep within four points of the Cubs throughout the third quarter, but McLean out-paced and outshot the Bandits, and moved on to take the comfortable 12-point lead and victory.

It was the first district win for the Cubs, after previously losing two-and-three point games. Kyle Woods, Calle Holwick,
