Employees Should File New 4-W Form

Why most employees should file a new Form W-4, Withholding Exemption Certificate, is the subject of a special one-page IRS fact sheet, Document 5642, now available from employers.

The reason for filing a new W-4, according to Elis Campbell Jr., IRS district director for the Dallas District, is "to enable employers to withhold the correct amount of income tax under the new withholding system that will go into effect May 1."

Under the system established by the recently enacted Tax Adjustment Act of 1955, the withholding tax on wages will be more exact than in the past. Withholding rates instead of the present flat rate of 14 per cent.

Beginning May 1, the amount of tax withheld will depend on (1) marital status, (2) the number of exemptions claimed on Form W-4 filed with an employer and (3) the amount earned.

"After May 1," Campbell explained, "an employee will be treated as a single person—and thus have more tax withheld—unless he files a new Form W-4 indicating he is married. Widows and widowers, too, will be concerned with filing a new Form W-4," Campbell continued.

"For withholding purposes they are considered married for two tax years following the death of a husband or wife, but will be treated as single if they do not designate 'married' on their Form W-4."

Sample tables in Document 5642 show weekly amounts under both the old and new systems. By examining the comparative figures, most persons will be able to determine how many lawful withholding exceptions to claim in order to prevent too little or too much being withheld from wages for tax purposes.

Extra copies of the employee fact sheet, Document 5642, may be obtained from the nearest IRS district office.

Bill Rodgers of Dallas returned to his home Sunday after a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rodgers.

Texas Oil Industry 100 Years of Age

As Texas celebrates its 100th anniversary as an oil-producing state, Gray County shares in the development that made the Lone Star State the No. 1 energy source for a booming American civilization.

In 1866 Lyne T. Barret—a man most history books forgot—drilled the first Texas oil well near Nacogdoches at a depth of 106 feet. In the 100 years that followed, the search for oil and gas spread to every county in Texas, and today Gray County is one of 210 which produce oil or gas.

Barret and other pioneer Texas oil men left a legacy for Gray County that can be measured at approximately $4.4 million a year, based on statistics compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

During Texas' first century of oil production (29 billion barrels), Gray County has contributed approximately 504.4 million barrels, its record dating from 1925.

The latest U. S. Bureau of Mines figures (1964) show Gray County produced more than 12 million barrels of crude oil valued at $35.6 million; and 79.4 billion cubic feet of natural gas worth about $9.8 million. The 1965 output would be approximately the same, preliminary estimates indicate.

Gray County ranks 24th among the Texas counties producing oil and gas. It includes one of the state's 97 fields which are classified as "giants" with ultimate recovery estimates in excess of 100 million barrels—the Panhandle field.

Payrolls, distribution of royalty checks to local landowners, new drilling ventures and tax payments are some of the ways by which oil and gas revenues are injected into the Gray County economy.

One of the most important "crops" harvested by Texas ranchers, farmers and other landowners is the royalty interest from oil and gas operations. These payments are at the rate of approximately $5.7 million a year in Gray County. Many more thousands a year are paid in lease rentals and bonuses on acreage which operators hope will some day yield oil or gas.

In addition to sharing the tax load for local schools and levels of government, oil and gas producers and royalty owners send some $2.3 million a year to the state treasury in severance taxes. Oil taxes account for $1.6 million; gas $689,000. Several schools in this county depend on the oil and gas property taxes for a sizeable part of the annual locally-raised budgets. Some examples: Alameda, 91%; Hopkins, 80%; Lefors, 96%; McLean, 67%.

Triggered by the first discovery in 1925, the search for oil in Gray County is still under way. The Oil & Gas Journal reported 138 wells were drilled in the county last year. Results, 113 oil wells, 7 gas wells, 14 dry holes, 4 service wells. Oil men and other investors risked an estimated $6.9 million in Gray County to drill 447,000 feet of hole. Some $1.1 million disappeared forever in dry holes.

The Texas Employment Commission reports an industry payroll of about $108 million a year for Gray countians who are directly employed by oil and gas firms. This, of course, is only part of the total employment created by petroleum operations for many other workers in related service and supply jobs.

One of the most significant technological developments of the last two decades has been the high recovery of liquids like butane and propane from natural gas. Six plants operating in the county process approximately 266 million cubic feet of gas a day, which gives added value to gas production here.

Petroleum refining and production of chemicals from oil and gas account for a large part of the total value created by manufacturing in Texas. This country's manufacturing industry includes one petrochemical plant.

To a motorist who still hasn't put a Tiger in his tank.

You're a skeptic. Good. Then you're going to be a good customer, if we can ever win you. We showed you proof on television that High-energy Enco Extra cleans your carburetor while you drive.

(Probably you said, "So what? My car still runs.")

We told you it improves firing power, helps prevent hot spots and misfiring and gives you the high octane to help you take off like a cat.

(You drove right on by.)

It's frustrating to develop a gasoline that gives this kind of performance and then not even have you try it.

Did you know new High-energy Enco Extra is more powerful than aviation gasoline of just a few years ago?

That the Tiger is now the favorite of motorists all over the world? And that Jimmy Clark became the World's Champion Race Driver with a Tiger in his tank?

So why not "Put a Tiger in Your Tank?" "Happy Motoring!"

NEWS OF CONSERVATION

By LYNN McDANIEL

Creed Lamb of McLean has completed sowing about 55 acres of creeping lovegrass on his farm north of McLean.

Eben Warner and Blake Laramore, Artie and Robert Sallor, J. J. Railsback, J. A. Quirk, Drew Word and Leslie Darsey have seeded grass this spring also. George Philpott is planning to start seeding grass in a few days.

Now is the time to be planting grass. The seed would have a better chance if it had been planted before this last rain fell.

The pastures planted to grass should be deferred for the full growing season following range seeding. The small plants should be allowed to establish a good healthy root system and allow the leaves to manufacture food to be stored in the root system for the next year. This food stored will be used next spring when the grass puts out shoots for the new year's growth.

Two tanks have been staked on Neil R. and M. T. Johnson ranch. These tanks are under construction now.

The experiment station at Throckmorton has been working with a rotation deferred grazing system. This system consists of 2, 3 or 4 pastures with each pasture receiving a deferment for a period of time each year. This type of system has improved the range-land and the carrying capacity has increased on all pastures. The calves sold from this system have been heavier than the calves from other pastures. Many ranchers in Gray County Soil Conservation District could adopt this system and use it very profitably in their ranching operations. If you are interested in this type of system come by the soil conservation office and we will be glad to help you develop a rotation deferred grazing system.

The McLean P-TA held its regular and final meeting for the school year May 2.

The mothers who will have children in the first grade next year were special guests.

After the business session, Mrs. Leslie Talbert's expression students presented the program. Those giving readings were Hickman Brown III, Norma Page, Kelly McClellan, Linda Talbert and Linda Sue Smith.

Claude Zevely conducted the installation ceremony for the new officers for 1966-67. Those installed were Zella McClellan, president; Inell Zevely, vice president; Leota Tally, secretary; Ruth Talbert, treasurer; Ruth Capps, reporter; Collene Mertel, parliamentarian.

Erma Hester, retiring president, expressed her appreciation to all those who had worked with her and in the interest of the P-TA.

FFA NEWS

By JAMES HARKINS, Reporter
Have you people ever been to a FFA meeting or convention? No. Well, let me tell you about some of the things that happen.

There is the election of officers, sweethearts and perhaps some talent. Outstanding members are recognized and awarded for their accomplishments.

Our own local chapter attended the Area 1 convention in Lubbock last weekend. These 11 boys attended: Garry and Terry Bible, Danny and Wayne Jackson, Lonnie and Quinn Easley, Earnest Smith, Harold Calcote, Gary Phillips, Eddy Finley and James Harkins. They were accompanied by Mr. Nelson Christie.

We stayed at the In Town Inn in Lubbock. This place had a heated swimming pool in which most of the boys stayed when they were not out sight-seeing.

All of the boys report an enjoyable time at the convention. It was an experience for everyone, and especially Eddy Finley, as he was running for area president. Wayne Jackson and James Harkins represented the chapter as voting delegates.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to say thanks to all my friends for all the nice things done for me during my stay in the hospital. It means so very much to me. May God bless each of you.

By FOSTER WHALEY
After the extremely cold weather this week we have decided we were wrong about Bryan McPherson's planting sudan so early. We figure it must be some type of winter variety he planted. No one has reported that he has turned in his cattle on this sudan yet. E. T. Duncan and I decided it was too early to plant either sudan or cotton when you had to wear a pair of long handles, two pairs of trousers and an overcoat to keep warm while you were planting.

Time slips. It wasn't any time until we were talking about harvesting our cotton crop and now we are beginning to talk about planting a crop.

POISON GRAIN

We have had a number of calls for poison grain for different purposes. Certain policy changes by the rodent control service prohibits county agents from handling poison grain. However, we will lend our assistance by seeing that the grain is obtainable through Joe Taylor's barber shop. If you will leave your name and the number of pounds of grain you need, we will help him in obtaining it. Poison grain should not be used inside the city limits.

CATTLE PRICE

Stocker cattle prices are responding to the downturn in slaughter cattle prices. We look for the slaughter cattle market to level out at about its present level. It could show some slight improvement.

Our crystal ball says there won't be much change for two to four months. There is a good chance you will see an improved market after then. Much of the extreme optimism has subsided in the stocker and feeder circles.

When cattle go up too fast, they sometimes fall the same way. This is what happened to the slaughter market. There will be some feeders that will have a negative margin in finished cattle two months from now because they did not heed cattle on feed reports and other data available to them.

Orville and Larry Cunningham of Abilene spent Friday night with their mother, Mrs. R. O. Cunningham.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank the fire department and everyone that helped in the fire that was at our place.
