EDITOR'S REPLY:

Dear Thelma,

We have had some strange letters to the editor, but yours is about the strangest. I wonder who your English teacher was cause the only thing that are worse than your grammer is yore spelling.

To answer your question.... No, Lisa Patman is not a real person. That is simply the name we gave to our little print-out computer. We have a simple computer which we feed ramblings from psychiatrist's files, and the computers belches out the "loose marbles" column each week. Some of the ones that you didn't like were composed after the computer was struck by lightning, but normally the machine functions like any strange, creative, abnormal person. You didn't really think that we would have a nut running loose around here that was capable of writing that column, did you?

Thanks for writing, Thelma, and be sure and write back anytime.

Board Approves Tax Contracts

The tax contract between the City of McLean and the McLean school district was approved and Superintendent Carl Dwyer presented the results of the TABS testing program at the regular meeting of the McLean school board Monday night at the school business office.

The contract between the city and the school calling for the school business office to take care of billing for city taxes was approved unanimously by the board. The contract calls for a flat fee to be paid to the school for the service plus any extra cost that is involved. The cost will be adjusted yearly according to the contract. President of the board, Jim Allison, commented that the service would not be a profit-making project for the school. "The city would have had to spend $10,000 or more just to have the parcel cards brought up to date," Shirley Johnson, business manager said.

After the contract was approved, Dwyer took the board across the hall to a classroom to show the results of the TABS testing program administered to fifth and ninth graders across the state of Texas last March. The presentation was mandated by state law to inform the public about the results of the tests. However, there were no parents, other than school board members, who attended the session. Dwyer said that the tests were criterion reference tests, which means that the tests had certain objectives the students were expected to have mastered and questions were geared to test that objective.

"The tests should not be used to compare schools or even students against each other," Dwyer emphasized. "The tests are designed to show each school what its weaknesses are so that they can be corrected."

each level. The ninth grade test is called an exit level test. Dwyer said, because it measures the minimum amount that a youngster should know when he graduates from high school. By administering the test on the freshman level, schools can determine a student's weakness and have three years to correct that weakness before graduation.

The tests are composed of mathematics, reading, and writing. If a student has mastered a certain objective, he can receive 100 percent on the test. Dwyer emphasized that even a 100 percent does not mean that the student is perfect but simply is achieving the minimum allowed.

On the ninth grade test, a student who correctly answered 30 out of 44 items on the reading and math portions, and who scored 13 out of 24 points on the writing portion was said to have mastered the criteria. Out of 20 ninth graders tested, 55 percent or 11 students achieved over all mastery in mathematics. In reading 65 percent or 13 achieved mastery. In writing, only 50 percent or 10 students achieved mastery.

In the fifth grade, 21 were tested. In math, 78 percent achieved the correct level, in reading 73 percent were at the correct level, and in writing, 100 percent had acceptable handwriting and 67 percent achieved a 3 or 4, making 100 percent acceptable writing. Dwyer explained to the board that since McLean only has one ninth grade class and one fifth

Bank Finalizes Plans For Park

Plans are being finalized for the downtown parking lot and park across the street from the American National Bank, according to Jim Allison, president. The bank has been planning to redo the area since the bank was remodeled last year. Allison said that the company which will pave the streets around the nursing home will pave the parking area. Allison said that Rex Daniel who was the architect for the remodeling of the bank has drawn up plans for the park.

The majority of the area will be covered with asphalt, but a gazebo will be built near the east side of the park. The area around the gazebo will be covered with astro-turf. A water fountain will be located near the structure.

The northeast and northwest corners of the park will have trees and shrubs. Allison also said that at least two and possibly three flag poles will be placed in the park.

"We want to place plaques as memorials to servicemen from McLean who have died in wars," Allison said. "We're hoping that the residents of McLean and anyone else interested in such a memorial will send a donation to the American National Bank War Memorial Fund, so that we can erect a plaque or a memorial of some sort."

Allison said that The McLean News will try to help ascertain the names of all McLean residents who lost their lives in war. "Anyone who knows of someone who should be included on the list should contact The McLean News because we don't want to leave anyone out," Allison said.

"According to the records we have now, the following names will be included: World War I, Andrew H. Floyd; World War II, James Everett, William B. Valle, J.C. McMahan, Delmas W. Collie, Andy Corbin, J.L. Hancock, Jack Bogan, Morse Ivey, Samuel Bogan Morse, Johnie Windom, Carroll Holmes, Buel Ellison, Jack Sharp, R.L. Floyd, and Roy Nelson; Korea, Ray W. Longino, Bill E. Hall, Daniel Wilborn Florey, and Lt. ... Hunt; and Vietnam, John Evans, Gary Back, Jim McCarty, and Val Sharp. We need the person's rank and branch of service also," Allison said. "If there are any additions or corrections to this list, please contact the McLean News at 779-2447 or Box H in McLean with the changes."

Allison said that he hoped that the park could be started in the near future. "I don't want to give you a date when it will be completed," he said. "But the work will begin very soon."

Local Grocery Store Robbed Tuesday

A 19-year-old New York man allegedly used his layover time on a Greyhound bus coming through McLean to rob Wilson's Venture Food store Tuesday about 3:40 p.m. Fareed Abdul Sultan of Manhattan, N.Y. came into the store and bought some food. When he paid for his purchases, he demanded the money in the cash register from clerk Linda McDonald. Mrs. McDonald at first refused to give the man the money, but he allegedly pulled a knife.

He took the money and boarded the east-bound bus.

Mrs. McDonald and another clerk Kathy Hembree contacted constable J.D. Fish who called Department of Public Safety trooper John Holland. Holland stopped the bus 12 miles east of McLean on Interstate-40. He called the bus driver off the bus, and asked him to help identify the man. Fearing possible harm to the passengers on the bus, Holland and the driver walked to the back of the bus saying they were checking the driver's import papers.

The driver stopped by the man who left the bus, and Holland pulled his gun and asked the man to leave the bus. Constable Fish came about that time with Mrs. McDonald who identified the robber.

According to law officers, the man took $426 in the robbery.

Sultan was arraigned, and was transported to Pampa by Gray County deputy Kelly Rushing Tuesday night.

According to Holland, Sultan boarded the bus in Albuquerque, N.M. and was travelling to New York.

Mrs. McDonald was not injured in the incident.

Greg Gabel Takes Buckles At Finals

McLean High School rodeo stand-out Greg Gabel capped his rodeo wins this year with a first place and a second place in the Tri State High School Rodeo Finals held in Amarillo last weekend.

Gabel won the average in steer wrestling with times of 7.740 Thursday, 3.920 on Friday and 3.728 on Saturday night.

He was second in the average for the finals in calf-roping with times of 16.528 Thursday, 10.650 Friday, and 11.123 Saturday.

Gabel was awarded first and second place buckles in the events Sunday at the awards banquet.

He finished the year with 58 points in steer wrestling, 24 in calf roping, 4 in ribbon roping, 3 in team roping for a total of 89 points. Roy Brooks of Canyon took the first place win in calf roping.

Other winners in the final rodeo for high school students were Landy Manns of Canadian winner in bareback; Haise Reed of Spearman in breakaway roping; Glynda Sell of Perryton in barrel racing; Glynda Sell of Perryton in pole bending; Haise Reed of Spearman in goat tying; Robert Esquada of Hereford in bull riding; and James Hicks and Roy Brooks of Canyon in team roping.

McDonald Wins Race

Jim McDonald pulled 56 more votes than his opponent Joe Billingsley to take the constable's job in precinct 5 in Saturday's run-off Democratic primary. McDonald had a total of 325 votes to Billingsley's 269.

In the May 3 Democratic primary, McDonald had 377 votes, Billingsley had 370 votes and the third candidate in the race, Ray Sharber, had 173 votes. In that election Billingsley led McDonald by 231 to 216 in McLean itself, but in Saturday's balloting McDonald won in very precinct.

The tally in McLean was McDonald 267, Billingsley 243; in Pampa, McDonald 26, Billingsley 14; absentee, McDonald 10, Billingsley 0 and Alanreed McDonald 22, Billingsley 12.

Tax Statement Will Combine City And School Taxes

McLean residents may find their tax statements confusing this fall, said Shirley Johnson, business manager of the McLean Independent School District, following approval of a contract between the City of McLean and the McLean ISD consolidating the tax collection, functions of the two entities. The school board and the city council approved the consolidation this week.

According to Mrs. Johnson, all city values will be raised to the same level as the school, but the city council will set the rate for taxation. The city will be taxing personal property for the first time, Mrs. Johnson said. She said the confusion for the taxpayers will probably result from the change of value placed on property.

"The new tax laws from the state mandate that a parcel card must be completed for each parcel of property, and that the tax statement must show the true market value, the assessed value, plus the tax rate, any exemptions, and taxes due. The state has required that all taxing entities tax on 100 percent of assessed value beginning in 1981. The city and school have both been using fractional values, Mrs. Johnson said.

She also said that tax payers may be confused because the school and the city's taxes will be included on one statement.

"The consolidation was made because the new state laws would require the City of McLean to spend as much as $30,000 to implement the new requirements," Stella Lee, city secretary said. "We would have to have parcel cards for each piece of property, rent a computer service, and train some employees so that they would be certified tax appraisers. The City is actually saving a great deal of money by going in with the school on the project."

The parcel cards required by law are very complete, Mrs. Johnson said. She said that her office has been working for several months to complete the cards and now had all rural cards updated, and would begin on city cards this summer.

"Each card has the measurement of the house, the type of construction, the type of utilities, the year built, the type of roof, the type of shingles, the type of exterior trim, the type of flooring, interior construction, the number of baths, kitchens and fireplaces, the type of air-conditioning, the size of the floor plan, plus a sketch of the plot of land, and a sketch of the floor plan of the house. So the cards are very complete and take quite a bit of time to fill out," she said.

She said that using the parcel cards the evaluations will be based on a grading schedule provided by the state which has houses ranging from a basic cabin to a class 6 home. The evaluations range from $1.25 per square foot to $14.50 per square foot, she said. The average in McLean, according to Mrs. Johnson, will be a Class 3 or about $4.85 to $6.25 per square foot. A few brick homes will be valued Class 5 at $8.25 per square foot to $10 per square foot, she said. She said the evaluations were still fairly low because the cost of new construction today averages about $35 per square foot.

The new system using the parcel cards will be fairer to everyone, she said, because each taxpayers tax will be based on exact measurements

OPINIONS

VIEWS ARE WRITTEN BY LINDA HAYNES, UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED - IF YOU HAVE AN OPINION ON ANY CURRENT SUBJECT WE WELCOME YOUR SIGNED LETTERS.

McLean Should Honor War Dead

The residents of McLean and other interested people have a chance to correct an error of long-standing. The American National Bank has included in its plans for a downtown park and parking lot a space for a memorial to the war dead from McLean. Such a memorial does not exist right now, and as far as we've been able to learn, there is not a permanent list of McLean's war dead anywhere for the young people to see.

In a time when our country is troubled by seemingly insurmountable problems abroad, and harried by continuing economic problems, at home it seems imperative to remind the future generations what patriotism is all about. The youngsters today are bombarded by negative viewpoints about the United States, and are constantly reminded by the media that our country has problems.

And it is good that our youngsters know the truth about our country. But the negative side is not the whole truth. We must constantly remind our youngsters that while we live in an imperfect country we still live in the best country in the world.

And we must never forget, and never allow future generations to forget, that hundreds of thousands of men and women have died to guarantee our right to live in this country.

What could be more impressive than for a youngster to walk in downtown McLean and see a memorial that lists the names of all the men from McLean who died in the wars? When he sees a familiar name ("Hey, I know some people here by that name!"), he will fully understand what kind of sacrifice has been made. Numbers do not impress youngsters, but someone that he knows, or someone with a familiar name will impress him.

Won't you help with this patriotic remembrance of those who "gave the last full measure of devotion"? Send your donations to THE WAR MEMORIAL FUND, American National Bank, McLean, Texas 79057. You may give your donation in memory of someone, if you wish.

grade class and this was the first year for the tests, it was difficult to make any judgement. "But we can possibly see a trend in that both groups were weak, for example, in fractions. This is one area that we need to improve our teaching."

Following a brief question and answer session, the board continued its regular business session.

A letter of resignation from Bob Glass, high school science teacher, was read and accepted by the board. Dwyer said that he, surprisingly, had had several applications for the position of band director, but was not ready to recommend anyone yet. The board also discussed several other applications received for various positions.

While discussing hiring new teachers, Dwyer showed the board a list of salaries paid by other schools in the area. "You can see why we have trouble recruiting teachers," Dwyer said. "I'm not calling for any action at this time, but I wanted you to be aware of the trouble."

According to the list, schools in the area pay from $700 to $3400 above state schedule for classroom teachers. McLean pays $250 above schedule.

Members of the board voted to approve the installation of three window units to cover the windows in the grade school. The specifications call for insulation and sheetrock on the inside, and insulation and sheet metal on the outside, leaving the top window open. The cost would be $568 per section. The board decided to try three sections, and see how it looked before approving any more repair. One board member said that he believed the repair would pay for itself in reduced fuel bills "probably in three years or less."

Attending the meeting were board members Jim Allison, Tony Smitherman, Darryel Herndon, J.C. McAnear, Lloyd Hunt, and June Suggs, Dwyer, Johnson, and principals Dorman Thomas and Ron Cummings.

probably holds the record for having the most children among her classmates. She has five! Anyone in the class of 1964 want to challenge her?

McLean's baseball season is about over. I hope you have had the chance to see one of the three age groups who play. All the games are fun to watch. I've been going to most of the T-Ballers games since I have a daughter and a grandson playing for the Kittens.

Last week in Skellytown the Kittens almost won a game (they have since won games from Miami and Lefors (but Skellytown was the first time they had even come close. I'm sure there is not more excitement at a World Series game than those little ones show when they hit a home run!

And talk about rabid fans! The moms and dads and grandmas and granddads are almost hysterical when the youngsters make a good play.

The game at Skellytown was particularly fun because McLean came to bat first and scored 10 runs without getting an out. In T-ball that's the end of the inning, so McLean went out into the field highly confident, but Skellytown proceeded to score 10 runs! The kids were good hitters, but neither team was too good at fielding. For a short while, I thought that the score of the game might be 60 to 60 since they played six innings, but I just didn't have enough confidence. At one point, McLean led 30-14, but their downfall came when Skellytown substituted some great big kids, and the game ended with Skellytown winning 40-34.

But everyone was happy. The kids were happy because almost every player got a hit, the parents were happy because the youngsters had done so well, and the coach was happy because nobody got hurt...Isn't it a shame that sports can't always be like that for our young people?

The city and school will try to give the public more information about the new type of tax statement before the statements are mailed out, she said.

By 1082 everything will be valued from a central office in Pampa, as mandated by Senate Bill 621, Mrs. Johnson said.

Part of the change in the taxing laws came from SB 621, and part from the "Truth in Taxation" legislation, Mrs. Johnson said.

"Some of the new laws are extremely confusing, but we will try to keep everyone informed," she said.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

GRASSHOPPERS:

It appears that there will not be a cooperative grasshopper spray program in Gray County this year. Land owners have just not expressed the needed interest to make a spray program get organized.

Nevertheless, a lot of Gray County residents are going to have grasshopper problems. The hoppers are generally still real small and are easy to kill in their hatching areas. These hatching areas are usually around fence rows and old overgrown waste areas that had a lot of hoppers around last year.

Whether you are a farmer, rancher, or homeowner, everyone needs to check for these grasshopper problem areas and I recommend you spray these areas right now before the hoppers move out to feed in other crops, range or gardens.

The following insecticides are approved for most crops, gardens and rangeland: Sevin, Diazinon and Malathion. In addition, toxaphene is approved for most crops and Pennac and Dibrom are approved for grasshopper control in rangeland. Be sure and check label directions. If you have questions about grasshopper control, call the County Extension Office-669-7429.

TERMITE SWARMING SEASON:

Spring is the time when many homeowners discover they have termites. This is the time when winged forms appear and swarm.

If winged termites are seen outdoors, usually there is no problem, since this is a natural occurrence. But, if they are found indoors, usually on a window sill, chances are good that an infestation has established in your home.

Termites can cause extensive damage to wooden parts of your home, so take some precautions.

Quite often termites and certain ants swarm at the same time and it's important to be able to tell the difference between these two insects. Carpenter ants swarm in the springtime and can cause some structural damage to wood. However, termites are much more destructive and require different control measures. Termites have a broad waist-ants have a narrow, constricted waist; termite wings are the same size and shape-winged ants have a front and back pair of wings of different lengths and shape; termites have straight antennae (feelers on their heads)-ants have elbowed antennae.

Termites may be attracted to your home by dead tree limbs, stumps, old lumber and other sources of termite food. These should be removed. If oil is above the point where wood or brick meets the foundation, termites have easy access to your home. Anywhere that wood meets dirt (siding, wooden steps) is a potential spot for termite entry into the home.

Termites also have the ability to build mud tunnels over non-wooden structures to reach a food source. These tunnels (about 1/4 inch wide) may extend several feet up concrete surfaces. On a slab home, these may be seen on foundation concrete between soil and brick. On homes built above the ground, these tunnels can be found on piers or pipes that go from soil to structure. The bath trap in homes built on a slab is another source of entry. Plumbing in this situation has contact with soil under the slab, and termite tunnels may be found in this area.

Although a thorough inspection is best done by a professional, a homeowner can make a quick check for termite infestations. If termites or damage is found, contact a local pest control company. This is one insect pest that should not be handled by a "do-it-yourselfer." Commercial pest control companies have the necessary equipment and experience to effectively rid a home of termites.

CONTROLLING WEEDS IN HOME GARDENS:

Weed control in the home garden depends on garden size, kinds of vegetables being grown, and types of weeds. Weeds (any unwanted plants) compete with vegetables for soil moisture and nutrients. They have extensive root systems and flourish under a variety of conditions.

Effective control of weeds depends on how they spread. Crabgrass and other annual weeds survive by seeds. Perennial weeds such as bermudagrass and johnsongrass survive both by seeds and underground plant parts.

Seeds are transmitted by wind, water or animals. They may also reach the garden in improperly prepared compost, manure or other organic matter added to the soil. Some weed seeds remain visible in the soil for years. They and underground storage parts contain stored food reserves to support weed seedlings until they emerge and are exposed to sunlight.

Herbicides or chemical weed killers are the least desirable home garden weed control. While they are a necessity in commercial crop production to reduce labor and achieve maximum yield, there is not enough margin of error to be used safely and successfully in home gardens. Also, most herbicides are effective on specific weeds in specific crops, and most gardens contain a variety of vegetables. Furthermore, herbicides are expensive, a gallon can cost $70 or more.

I think the best method is "hoebicide," or using a sharp hoe. Most gardens are small enough to be weeded with a hoe or by hand pulling. This is most effective when done regularly and when weeds are small.

Mulching makes weed control easier. A three-inch mulch layer (after it settles) controls annual weeds from seed and preventing many weed seedlings from reaching light. Also, those that do push through are easier to pull. Several types of mulches can be used. Grass clippings work well, but make sure they do not include weed seeds. Paper can also be used effectively. Black plastic is effective except against nutgrass which readily penetrates it. Clear plastic is ineffective since it allows light to reach the soil.

Planning garden crops so as to avoid excessive space between plants also helps control weeds. Open areas readily become infested with weeds.

Good managements, prior planning and a little hard work all add up to an effective weed control program. The fewer the weeds, the better the yield.

Do you like to serve spaghetti and meat occasionally? So do I, but I have gotten very lazy about using the canned spaghetti sauce. Last week, a member of the family showed me how to make that canned sauce extra special.

SPAGHETTI WITH MEAT SAUCE

By Sharon Haynes

Brown one pound of ground beef. Drain off grease. Add one jar of Ragu Spaghetti Sauce With Meat. Stir. Add 3 tablespoons Vinegar. Stir to mix. Add about one tablespoon sugar, and a tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Simmer for about 10 minutes. Meanwhile cook spaghetti as package directs.

Serve spaghetti with meat sauce poured on top.

If you decide to have a real Italian meal, you might serve the following dish for dessert.

TORRONE (Nougat)

1 cup blanched filberts
2 cans (4 1/2 oz.) blanched whole almonds
2 cups sugar
1 cup light corn syrup

1/2 c. honey
1/4 tsp. salt
2 egg whites
2 tsp. vanilla extract
1/4 c. butter or margarine, softened

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Spread filberts and almonds on cookie sheet; toast in oven for 10 minutes.

In heavy large saucepan, combine sugar, corn syrup, honey, salt and 1/4 c. water. Stir over medium heat until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring to 252 on candy thermometer, or until the hard ball stage.

Meanwhile, in large bowl beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. In thin stream, pour about one-fourth of hot syrup over egg whites, beating constantly, at high speed, 5 minutes, until mixture is stiff enough to hold its shape. Cook rest of syrup to 215 to 318 F on candy thermometer, or until a small amount in cold water forms brittle threads.

In thick stream, pour hot syrup over meringue, beating constantly at high speed until stiff enough to hold its shape. Add vanilla and butter, beating until thickened again about 5 minutes. With wooden spoon, stir in toasted nuts.

Turn mixture into buttered 11x7x1 1/4 inch pan. Smooth top with spatula. Refrigerate until firm.

Loosen edge of candy all around; turn out in large block. With sharp knife, cut into 1 inch pieces. Wrap each in waxed paper. Refrigerate.

Kunkel Family Holds Annual Reunion

The Kunkel family met last weekend for its annual family reunion. This year's reunion was in the senior citizen building in McLean. The family has been gathering each year since 1949 for a reunion.

The group had sandwiches and homemade ice cream Saturday night and met at noon Sunday for a lunch catered by Carrol's Barbecue of Shamrock.

The group attended church at First United Methodist Church in McLean. The family visits either the Methodist Church or the Baptist Church each year.

A business session was conducted after the Sunday luncheon and officers for 1981 were elected.

MR. AND MRS. GREGORY COOKSEY RIGDON

Back, Rigdon Wed In Ceremony May 24

Halcyon Diane Back became the bride of Gregory Cooksey Rigdon in a double ring ceremony on Saturday, May 24, in the Church of Christ at McLean.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Laverne Back of McLean and Richard Back of Oklahoma City. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Rigdon of Sylva, North Carolina, and the grandson of Mrs. Dorothy Rigdon of Topeka, Kansas, and Mr. and Mrs. L.C. Cooksey of Godley, Texas.

Dr. Robert Rigdon, father of the groom, officiated as the couple stood before an archway laced with salal greenery and centered with white wedding bells and Fiji mums. Candelabra flanked the archway. A Florentine gold candlestand holding the memory candle completed the setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a designer gown of candlelight silk organza scattered with alencon lace appliques decorated with seed pearls. Her mantilla fingertip veil of illusion was outlined with lace and seed pearls. The bride carried a lace handkerchief belonging to her late grandmother, Elizabeth Buchanan, and a small white satin bible traditionally carried by Delta Theta brides. Her cascade bouquet was of gardenias, white rosebuds and gypsophila.

Mrs. Billy Bennett of Brenham, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Misses Margie Rice, Austin, Janet Smith, Amarillo, and Julie Laird of Warren, Michigan, were bridesmaids. The flower girl was Joy Davis of Marshall, Oklahoma, cousin of the bride. The attendants wore powder blue dotted swiss gowns trimmed with blue satin ribbon and ivory embroidered lace fashioned with off-the-shoulder self ruffles and gathered skirts. The flower girl wore an identical gown in dusty rose and carried a basket of miniature garden flowers.

Serving as best man was Pete Bradley of Sylva, NC. Groomsman were Alan Brooks and Gary Oliver of Sylva and Corey Rodriguez of Fort Worth. Ushers were Alan Brooks, Gary Oliver, Steve Watts, Stinnett, and Steve Hill, Abilene.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Craig Cunningham of Lubbock. Candlelighter was Mrs. Chadd Mason, nephew of the bride, of Fayetteville, Ark. Special music was presented by a young men's quartet from Odessa.

The mother of the bride chose a mint green floor length gown with a chiffon capelet. The groom's mother wore a dusty rose floor length gown with contrasting rose tie at the waist.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church annex. The serving table was laid with an ecru lace cloth and with crystal appointments. The centerpiece was of gardenias, white rosebuds and gypsophila. Servers were Mitzie James of Odessa, Sherry Barron, sister of the groom of Fayetteville, N.C., Rose Helen Steel of McLean, and Katy Whiteside of Amarillo. Assisting were Stacie Smith, Teresa Wood, Rhonda Wood and Stefanie Houdyshell, all of McLean. Kristi Hook was rice girl.

The groom is a 1980 graduate of Abilene Christian University with a Bachelor of Science in Biology. The bride has attended University of Arkansas and Abilene Christian University.

After a wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico, the couple will be at home in Abilene, Texas.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Rigdon of Sylva, N.C., were hosts at a rehearsal dinner Friday night, May 23, at the Church of Christ annex honoring Miss Halcyon Back and their son Gregory, whose wedding was an event of 4 p.m., May 24.

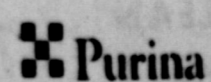

The tables arranged in U-shape were laid with white lace cloths and decorating the head table was an arrangement of white Fiji mums and blue carnations. Crystal candelabra and blue wedding bells with blue satin streamers completed the table decorations.

Guests included the honorees Halcyon and Greg, and Misses Margie Rice, Austin, Janet Smith, McLean, Joy Davis, of Marshall, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Willie Harris of McLean, Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Buchanan of Hobart, Okla., Pete Bradley, Alan Brooks and Gary Oliver of Sylva, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Back and son Chadd of Fayetteville, Ark., Mrs. Dorothy Rigdon of Topeka, Kansas, Mrs. and Mrs. Billy Bennett of Brenham, Richard Back, Laverne Back, and the hosts, Dr. and Mrs. Rigdon.

McLean Tigers Drop Two Last Week

McLean's Babe Ruth team, the Tigers, dropped two games this past week to league teams from Wheeler and Lefors. Coach Cecil Reynold's charges fell to the Lefors lads in a game at McLean by the score of 11 to 4.

Hits were scarce by both teams, as McLean had only four as did Lefors, but bases on balls were numerous by the pitching staffs of both squads.

The Wheeler game, also played at McLean, resulted in a score of 14 to 1 in favor of the Mustangs. Walks also played a prominent part in this contest, as the Tigers collected only two hits and Wheeler seven. Robert Swanner contributed a double to the Tiger cause and Andy Eck a single, but the McLean

LIBRARY NOTES

Ben K. Green
A Descriptive Bibliography of Writings by and About Him.
Compiled by Robert A. Wilson
After the death of veterinarian and scientist Ben Green in 1974, good friend Robert Wilson compiled this excellent collection of excerpts from the books written by Green, as well as articles and stories written about the famous westerner.

Those who have read Green's books will find this bibliography very interesting as it brings out the personality of the author and makes you feel as if you were a personal friend of the popular writer.

I am confident anyone associated with western lore will enjoy this book very much. It was donated to the Lovett Memorial Library by the library board in memory of W.W. "Slick" Boyd, as Green was one of Slick's favorite authors, and he often recommended and loaned the books to his friends for their enjoyment.

"Ben K. Green, A Descriptive Bibliography of Writings of and About Him," is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

Note: The box score in the Summer Reading Program now stands at Blue Team--19 points, Red team--7 points.

A most unusual and appalling accident occurred at Alanreed Saturday afternoon of last week on the occasion of the McLean-Alanreed baseball game, and one that will probably be remembered, at least by the principals, for many years to come. The game had progressed to the first half of the third inning and Weaver Voyles was at bat. Being a left handed batter, he caught a low ball a little too soon and sent it swirling into the crowd of players sitting back of the first base line, striking Dick Erwin a terrific blow on the cheek bone. The force of the blow knocked him a complete summersault and paralyzed him for the space of about a minute, during which time he was unable to get his breath and suffered severe convulsions. Voyles rushed to him immediately and others in the crowd came up and assisted in the work to bring him back to life. After he had rolled over, his body had become rigid and drawn up almost in a knot and it was the opinion of the crowd that he was dying. However, a few buckets of water dashed in his face brought back his respiration and his muscles relaxed, but it was something like an hour before he regained consciousness.

Tom McCarty last week finished up the work on a new well for D.M. Graham at the ranch.

4H TIPS FOR TOP-TASTE BARBECUED CHICKEN:
With the outdoor cooking season at hand, why not try chicken on your grill for a special taste? Nearly everyone loves chicken, especially when it's grilled outdoors. Chicken is economical and delicious and is a good source of protein.

Young people in the national 4-H food conservation and safety program offer these tips on how to make your chicken barbecue a success:
• Be sure coals are ash-gray before placing chicken on the grill.
• Spread coals evenly and place the grill surface 8-to-10 inches above coals to avoid excessive browning.

• Turn chicken often, using tongs to preserve inside juices.
• Do not put tomato-based or sugar-based sauce on chicken until the last 30 minutes of cooking. Then baste chicken with sauce each time you turn it.

• Pierce chicken with a fork only when you think it is done. If fork runs through easily, it's dinner time. Barbecued chicken is best when eaten the minute it's removed from the grill.

Clarendon College Offers EMT Course

Clarendon College has announced that an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) course has been scheduled at the Clarendon campus. Registration will be held in the college administration building at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, June 17. Classes are scheduled on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Registration fee is $40 plus books. This course consists of 90 classroom hours and 40 hours of in-hospital training. The Texas Department of Health will certify all persons satisfactorily completing the course and a certificate of completion will be awarded by Clarendon College.

Emergency Medical Technicians serving on ambulances have the greatest opportunity of any segment of society to alleviate human suffering at the scene of accidental injury or sudden illness and during transportation to a hospital, according to Loyd D. Waters, Public Information Officer. With proper training and experience, ready availability of equipment and supplies, radio communication with the hospital and medical staff, and a vehicle designed to meet the needs of the sick or injured, the Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) is equipped to serve as the most valuable lay member of the emergency medical care team outside the hospital, Waters said. Those interested in emergency care training should contact the Registrar's Office at 874-3571 for further information.

Loose Marbles

by Lisa Patman

School bells have rung for the last time this spring, signaling the release of countless offspring to the custody of their parents. If I understand it right, this brief respite from school is given in order that teachers might have a bit of time to recover before a new batch of students is sentenced to nine months with the pen. (In some unfortunate cases, teachers leave the school for the summer, only to be confronted with their own little darlings at home, but I think this is a simple case of no planning ahead.)

I don't know whether the board of education has really thought about what summertime vacations are doing to the minds of these children. Granted, kids do have some sort of chance if they are allowed to watch educational television, but as for leaving them alone with their parents for a good part of the day, I think perhaps it is disastrous.

I am, of course, speaking from personal experience. Oh, there was a time when I vowed to improve my children's minds through extra tutelage at home, and for several days doggedly chased them around the house reading "Go, Spot, go" to them. (The end result of this little experiment was that they hit me with their copies of Playboy). But for the most part my children have had to pick their way quite carefully through the trash pile of my words of wisdom in order to come up with anything that makes much sense.

Take, if you please, my intelligent bit of advice whenever one of my kids leaves the house. "Don't get run over" I say. Now what person in his right mind goes out intending to get run over? Perhaps a suicidal misfit might consider it but as far as I can tell most of the young people I know have enough sense to leave "getting run over" off their list of "Things to do while I'm out."

"Don't get run over" often goes hand-in-hand with "Or I'll kill you", a truly brilliant remark if I ever said one. The greatness of this remark lies in the fact that the kids will realize what a true dummy the parent is, and will probably figure out that most of the advice which issues forth from the wise old parent's mouth is, to put it bluntly, a crockful.

Other intelligent drops I have dripped include "Don't eat everything in the refrigerator" (even if they could, who would want to eat molded brussel sprouts), "If you don't eat all your food you won't grow up to be big and strong like your dad" (what right thinking young man truly desires a balding pate and a beer belly), and the all-time great "If you don't stop it, your face will freeze that way."

The only way I rationalize these idiotic ramblings is to believe that someday, someday, their faces will freeze that way, and I can say "I told you so."

Gone Fishin'

by Jeanette Fish

In our guilt-edged/guilt-edged way of life, there is never a day when it is really okay to say-- "I don't care! No sir! You have got to care 100 percent. 24 hours a day, with all your heart and rush home in time to hear John Chancellor enlighten you about anything you may have missed out on caring about because you hadn't heard it yet. Monday is blah. Tuesday, a moment of truth, this is your life, Sweetie. Wednesday, I must do something about this mess called my world day. Thursday is open. Friday, Well, it's about over and I don't believe I lived through another week. Saturday, Uncle Herman and Bill work on the plumbing and Aunt Du and four kids are waiting for me to cook. Sunday is the preacher reminding you of any worries omitted by John Chancellor.

Thursday would do real fine for an every week, no guilt, I just flat, plain, don't care, day. If you have raised a houseful of kids and are in your late 40's, you have gotten slightly used to the coffee table without a peanut butter sandwich turned upside down on it. You can walk past the clothes dryer without trembling. "Oh my goodness, will his gym shorts be dry in time for the game and what if they aren't?" It is the time of regular visits from grandchildren and "Don't worry honey, it was an old vase anyway."

You wanted to lose that vase. Why should you feel guilty about that? A vase filled with unwilting silk flowers that did not have to be watered. It was a friend. You dusted it lovingly. It never jumped out and said "mom, I'm pregnant!" Grandchildren! You don't have to love the little beggars everyday. It is Thursday. Say "I don't care! Go to your house! Get out of mine!--Let them walk home. Another Thursday. You are two-thirds through the week. Your own mother calls with "Honey, I know you are just about through canning those two bushels of peas and I am so glad the kids are over the measles. Guess what? Grandma is coming from California.

She wants to spend a week with you!"

I don't feel like seven days of Grandma's arthritis. I don't care if she did raise nine kids and Grandpa drank himself to death. Send her to a hotel. No, Mom, the phone connection is fine. I said--I don't care. Rainy Thursdays--"Oh Mom, (sob, sob) Me and little Horace are moving home. George is so mean to us. Boo, hoo, hoo.---Make up with George. Don't come home. I don't care if he knocked you through a plum thicket! That's right, Honey---sing it--I DON'T CAREEEOO.

We spend our lives being good mothers, feeling like bad mothers. Could anyone sit through four hours of Mickey Mouse and Star Wars in one afternoon and be a bad mother? Not me! The 15 year Sunday school battle--"I hate Sunday school, Mama. I won't go." A fray which has you arriving at church, rooting for the whale instead of Jonah. "Who cares? Don't go to church! Go to the Wil-Mart. Have your wedding there. I sure don't care." Thursday Romance--"Oh Mom, we are in love. Richard wants to marry me next week. Can you loan us five dollars to buy gas for the motorcycle so we can get a malt?" Five Dollars? Five Dollars? Take ten--your brother is getting married at the Wil-Mart. Buy malts for everybody. I don't care. Six days a week is plenty enough time to care, and love and be and do. But let Thursday come. Hit me with "Mom, I don't want to finish high school. Sue and I are bored. We want to move to a big city." and what you'll get is--"You're bored? I just worked 14 straight days with five minutes off. I don't have any clean underwear, the toilet is stopped up and you are bored. Good. Go to a big city. Move to Denver. I hear it's nice there. I don't care. I just don't care!"
