Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

VOLUME 77 McLEAN, GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1980 PRICE 20¢ NUMBER 18

The most important tenet in literature, and perhaps the most difficult concept to teach students, is the concept of a "universal idea." English teachers are forever asking their poor, belabored students to find the "universal idea" of a poem, short story or novel.

Simply, it means that some things never change. Human nature is basically the same today as it was several hundred years ago. I was thinking about that idea the other day when I looked at some quotations, many of them hundreds of years old, that could have been written in 1980, because they are still just as true today as they were then.

For example:
"These are the times that try men's souls: the summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of his country." Written in 1776 during the American Revolutionary War.

"Once harm has been done, even a fool understands it." Some political pundit commenting on Carter's handling of Iran? No, the words of the poet Homer, written somewhere around 700 B.C.

"Without recognizing the rules of Heaven, it is impossible to be a superior man." Billy Graham to his congregation? No, this is Confucius, the Chinese philosopher, speaking around 500 B.C.

"Silence gives the proper grace to women." A modern-day man chastising his wife? No, the poet Sophocles in Ancient Greece, around 400 B.C.

At any rate, you get the idea. Nothing ever changes apparently, not marriage, not people, not government. It's a shame that we can't learn from past mistakes, but apparently we cannot.

However, my favorite quotation comes, not from some ancient wise man, but from a member of my family. Her philosophy is, when we confront her with serious problems (or what we think are serious problems) "What difference will it make a hundred years from now?"

It helps keep a lot of things, good and bad, in their proper perspective.

Vivian Johns of Panhandle brought us a Christmas card which was given to him by his teacher Emmitt Smith at Alanreed in 1928. Included in the card were the names of his classmates at Alanreed then. I thought you might recognize some of the students in that class. They were Frances Seely, Turnett Greenwood, Herbert Guill, Joe Gonzales, Rush Turner, Mildred Guill, Ralph Palmer, Monta Gibson, Lottie Belle Burdine, Frank Hall, Opal Oakley, Bernice Johns, Leon Steger, Paul Hugg, Lois Burdine, Wayne Prock, Mary Estelle Green, Ester Davis, Lena Young, Pierce Castleberry, Joeldene Kiser, Hazel Warford, and Vaughn Warford (the last two were children of the last of the Alanreed Herald).

Council Approves Increase

The McLean City Council met in two special called meetings last week to read and approve city ordinance 197. The ordinance calls for a raise in the price the city charges for natural gas. El Paso Natural Gas Co. which supplies gas for the city, notified the city that the price was increasing retroactive to April 1.

The new rates the city will charge, following the final reading of the ordinance Friday, are as follows: city residents...first two thousand cubic feet, $6.50; each mcf thereafter or fraction thereof, $3.10, with a minimum bill of $6.50 per month; out-of-town customers...first two thousand cubic feet...$6.50, each mcf thereafter or fraction thereof, $3.25, with a minimum bill of $6.50.

All rates will be effective May 1, 1980.

Cubs Place Second In District

The McLean Junior High Cubs finished their track season with a second place win in the junior high district track meet in Groom recently. The McLean boys finished behind Claude in the meet.

Bill Yung To Speak At All-Sports Banquet

McLean High School's athletes will be honored at the annual All-Sports banquet Monday night at the McLean Country Club with the ceremonies beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speaker for the event will be Bill Yung, head coach of the West Texas State University Buffaloes in Canyon. McLean High School athletes who participated in rodeo, tennis, golf, track, basketball, and football will be introduced by their coaches with special awards given. Vester Joiner will present the most valuable girl athlete, Linda Haynes will present The McLean News Most Valuable Football Player Award, Jack Dorsett will present the Fighting Heart Award, and Ronald Cummings will present the Fighting Tiger Award and the Fighting Tiger Award.

Yung, who has guided the WT Buffs for three years, is responsible for the school's only two outright Missouri Valley Conference championships in history. The first title came in 1977 when most preseason prognosticators placed the Buffs near the bottom of the polls.

In 1979 Yung guided the Buffs to their second championship, even though the team started the season in last place. Yung received his second "Coach of the Year" honor this year.

Yung served as the Baylor Bear's offensive line coach for the 1972 and 1973 season. He was promoted to offensive coordinator for the 1974 season which has been termed the "Miracle on the Brazos" when Baylor shocked the Southwest Conference and walked away with the loop crown for their first ever Cotton Bowl appearance.

Termed the "best line coach in the business" by Baylor mentor Gran Teaff, Yung's player credentials almost match those of his coaching. An all-district high school performer, he was a three-year letterman at TCU under coaches Dutch Meyer and Abe Martin from 1953-55 and was a key member of the Horned Frogs march to the Cotton Bowl his final year.

After short stints as a TCU assistant and player-coach in the service at Fort Sill, Yung took over as line coach at Garland under former TCU teammate Chuck Curtis from 1964-67. While there, the Owls won the AAAA state title with such stars as Chuck Dicus, later a quarterback at Texas, and Gary Bareel, a standout defensive performer for Texas Tech and now one of Yung's assistants at WTSU.

A strong believer in and active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Yung tempers the stereotyped image of many collegiate coaches with his total commitment to the Christian way of life.

A deacon with the First Baptist Church in Canyon, he says his first move when he was offered the WTSU job "was to get down on my knees and thank the Lord."

Suggs, Killham Compete At Meet

Killham vaulted 10 feet, 6 inches for his seventh place.

OPINIONS

VIEWS ARE WRITTEN BY LINDA HAYNES, UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED - IF YOU HAVE AN OPINION ON ANY CURRENT SUBJECT WE WELCOME YOUR SIGNED LETTERS.

Want To Be President?

In some situations, you just can't win for losing. President Carter has certainly proved that old cliché in the past few days. He finally made a courageous move, and secretly ordered a long-planned rescue operation to be put into effect to rescue the hostages in Iran. It was a move which many people had been calling for since the crisis began. But with what has got to become known as the "luck of Carter", the operation collapsed because of the malfunction of equipment, and eight American service men lost their lives.

Carter surely knew the odds when he made the decision to allow the rescue operation. He certainly knew that if the operation succeeded he, and America, would be hailed as bold, courageous, inventive, and daring, as the Israelis were called following their much-publicized raid on Entebbe.

He probably also knew that if the operation failed for any reason he would be vilified, criticized, and condemned for the failure. The media has been somewhat reserved in heaping criticism on Carter, which is a refreshing change. Even the presidential candidates have been reserved about their criticism of the debacle in Iran.

But the criticism will come, and unless some miracle occurs and the hostages are rescued between now and November, Carter will very probably lose the election.

At this point, we don't have much choice but to stand behind the President and pray that the world situation doesn't deteriorate into war in the next few months. Maybe by the time November comes, our choices will be clearer and a decision will be easy to make.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

ALFALFA WEEVILS:

Alfalfa growers need to keep a check on the progress and development of alfalfa weevils. The larvae of the alfalfa weevil cause the most damage to alfalfa. The larvae start feeding on new leaves and buds at the tops of the stems and then work on down to older leaves. Their feeding skeletonize the leaves. Damaged leaves dry fast and the field takes on a grayish or whitish cast.

The young larvae are yellow with a shiny black head. Full-grown larvae are about 3/8 inches long. Their heads are black, bodies are green and they have a white stripe running down the middle of their backs.

The adult weevils spread their egg laying over several weeks and the larvae feed for 3 to 4 weeks so damage occurs generally during the first and second cuttings.

Chemical control is recommended when 25-30 percent of the terminals are damaged or when 25 to more larvae per square foot are found.

When larvae become abundant a crop would normally be cut, it may be advantageous to cut early instead of spraying.

Always cut plants clean and close. Remove all hay from fields as soon as possible. Alfalfa left standing and hay left on the ground offer the weevils food and shelter. Sunlight kills many of the larvae and new adults will leave clean-cut fields. If larvae are still abundant in new re-growth after cutting, then chemical control should be initiated. See MP-1014, Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Legumes and Grasses for insecticides and rates of application. Insecticides which are recommended are Guthion, Supracide, Sevin, Furadan, Diazinon, Malathion, Methoxychlor, Methyl Parathion and Parathion.

FRUIT INSECT CONTROL TIME:

With most fruit trees blooming, tree owners interested in having worm-free fruit to eat come harvest time, need to start a spray program.

For all fruit trees, spraying should begin when 75% of petals have fallen. Successive sprays should be at 10 to 14 day intervals for a total of two to five sprayings.

There are several general purpose fruit sprays that are on the market from the commercial companies. Materials containing a combination of malathion, methoxychlor and captan should give very good results. Several of the commercial sprays will have a trade name with fruit or orchard spray on it. Be sure to read the label, follow directions and remember any restrictions given on the label.

A more complete fruit tree spray schedule is available in the County Extension Office-Courthouse Annex, Pampa.

BRUCellosis PROGRAM: New Texas Brucellosis regulations were adopted by the Texas Animal Health Commission on February 29, 1980. The purpose of these new regulations is to bring about the effective control leading to eradication of the disease brucellosis from the cattle herds in the State of Texas. Also, to establish and maintain the State as a Certified Free State from brucellosis in accordance with State and Federal regulations.

The state has been divided into two control areas. All of the regulations will be in effect by July 1, 1980. Copies of these new regulations are available in the County Extension Office. Rules have changed and cattlemen need to read these new regulations. The object of most of this is to encourage cattlemen to get their heifer calves vaccinated between three and ten months of age.

IRRIGATION EFFICIENCY:

Irrigation farmers can obtain water meters from the County Extension Office to check their pumping rate. Meters are available installed in 6 inch and 8 inch flow lines. These are relatively short pieces of pipe which can easily be connected in aluminum flow lines.

HOME GARDEN FERTILIZATION:

Proper fertilizer management for home vegetable gardens is absolutely essential for success. Soils of the area are inherently well supplied with most of the essential plant food elements with the exception of nitrogen and phosphorus. Nitrogen is nearly always lacking in soils that have not been recently fertilized because this element is utilized in largest amount and because it is easily lost from the sandier soils through leaching. Phosphorus is used in lesser amounts and is not lost through leaching, therefore, lesser rates are desirable over a long time period after initial requirements have been met.

Home gardeners are encouraged to have their soils tested by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service Soil Testing Laboratory in Lubbock for evaluation of conditions before spring soil preparation. The County Extension Agent can supply information on sample collection and mailing. There will be a $4 charge for the analysis on which fertilizer-use suggestions are based.

If your soil is already high in all plant nutrients except nitrogen (frequently the case in old garden sites), the application of 1/2 pound (1 cup) of ammonium nitrate or 1/2 pound (1 1/2 cup) of ammonium sulfate per 100 square feet. In either case, work these materials into the soil ahead of planting. When plants are established and growing, additional nitrogen will likely be required. For tomatoes, peppers, summer squash, and okra, sidedress an additional cup of ammonium nitrate per 100 square feet of area when fruit begins to set by placing in shallow trench 6 to 8 inches on either side of drill. Cover with soil and irrigate. A similar rate can be sidedressed to cucumbers, winter squash and pumpkins when vines begin to run. Application to cabbage, corn, and broccoli should be made less additional nitrogen to peas or beans.

Last week was one of those week's when the gremlins were loose in the News office, and all kinds of strange things happened.

The funniest was a mistake in the story of the high school boys district track meet at Groom. I had Wade Kirk, who is a mechanic in McLean, running in the 800 meter run! Kirk told me that he was actually a high-jumper in high school, and hasn't run ten steps in many years. Of course, the runner was supposed to be high school senior Wade Smith! My apology to Smith for the mistake.

A second mistake was the omission of the junior high boys track results. The Cubs won second in the district track meet; and I just went to sleep and didn't get a story about their win. My apologies to them. I think from looking at the accomplishments of these boys that we will be printing their names with increasing frequency as they continue through high school.

Letters To The Editor

People of McLean.

This is addressed only to some people of McLean and I'm sure you know who you are. To the other good people, I'm sorry but this has to be said. I was awakened today at 6:30 a.m. by Mrs. Webb calling from Georgia to tell me that she had been receiving a lot of bad reports about my son, Ira Jay. To feebly explain her concern, Jay has rented a house from Mrs. Webb and as of today, has not even moved into the house yet. I asked her for the names of the good news writers but she chose not to reveal them. Mrs. Webb did tell me that she read the bad reports in the McLean News. I inquired as to whether she also noticed the same "Bad Killham" name in that same paper on a regular basis for sports and other school activities. She had not. She also had not noticed that certain names in this town are free from danger as far as being used in any news article that is bad. I use the word bad, because that was Mrs. Webb's choice of words.

Now, my good reporters, did you also tell Mrs. Webb that the bad Killham boy, who moved to this town at the age of 15, was guilty of the following crimes?

1. Was born with dyslexia
2. Was starting halfback football (Shamrock)
3. Was starting forward basketball (Shamrock)
4. Was top pole vaulter in District (Shamrock)
5. Attended church regularly
6. Had turned into the Shamrock Police some names of dope users as he felt that they were ruining their bodies
7. Had been told, due to dyslexia, that the only chance he would have to finish school would be through sports, as it would be next to impossible to learn to read well. Incidentally, this was told to us by the head of the Psychology Department, Dr. Waugh, at West Texas State University.

Now the only real crime committed up to this point in his life was being moved to the town of McLean. His family was asked here by a coach.

Following is a list of the things done to try and help this criminal.

1. He was ineligible for football the first year due to the move to McLean
2. He sat on the bench behind local boys in basketball and got his first lesson in being a good loser.
3. The pole vault pit was taken out and not put back which made it impossible to practice. By the way, he still set school records which still stand.
4. He was refused the chance to play football the second year because he was not here for two-a-day practices.
5. He was given special education in school and became quite proficient at the game of Monopoly. After two years of this, he finally gave up and quit school.

Well people of McLean, I'm sorry to have brought you a family of criminals. To the few of you who have nothing else to do but judge others, you are now reaping what you have sown. Good luck. God loves you. To the rest of you, love and kisses from your friendly plumber, J.D. Killham. Father of Ira Jay and proud of it. P.S. Please excuse any errors in the composition of this letter as I only finished two years of college.

She wore a chapel-length mantilla of imported white silk illusion and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Matrons of honor were Mrs. Ben C. Dateman Jr., the bride's sister, of Nashville, and Mrs. Paul Rice of Memphis.

A reception followed at the gardens with approximately 300 guests in attendance. After a wedding trip to Naples, Fla. the couple is at home at 35 Maywood, Jackson, Tenn.

PARENT POWER

A GUIDE TO RESPONSIBLE CHILDREARING

By Dr. Logan Wright

This new book by Dr. Wright is an amusing and instructive entry into the group of books written by those who may or may not be qualified to tell us how to raise our children.

"Parent Power" is full of interesting and common-place occurrences which plague all parents in the process of taking our offspring from infancy to adulthood, and Dr. Wright gives what I consider to be accurate and proper advice on meeting these problems to the advantage of the child and the parent as well.

"Parent Power" is based on the idea that parents must by one means or another take charge of their children and adopt a leadership posture with them before they can love and support them.

Dr. Wright presents his method in twenty-one concise principles, and helps parents develop skills they need to master problems which occur every day, and to put a stop to the all-to-prevalent nagging and lecturing so commonplace in parent-child relationships.

This is an extremely interesting and well written book, and the humor alone is enough to keep you turning the pages. Anyone with children or grandchildren should enjoy and profit from this volume.

"Parent Power" is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK IN McLEAN

Gone Fishin
 by Jeanette Fish

People who are handy at Arts and Crafts have a line--"It's so easy-I made it in fifteen minutes!" With imagination and Elmer's Glue, they can turn styrofoam and a tree limb into a working model of the universe. I knew a lady in Lefors who went down to the creek, drug home a piece of driftwood, glassed it, stained it and "was offered $200 but of course I wanted to keep it myself."

I went to the creek, drug the driftwood home and sprayed it gold. My mother walked through the room and said "for gosh sakes why did you let the kids bring that thing in the house? It is dead as a door Nail!"

Every so often I try my hand at the TREE LIMB AND ALL YOUR OLD JEWELRY INTO A HANGING LAMP TRICK. I forget that lamps are made by fools like me and the only thing I ever did with a tree was to sit under of fall out of.

Maggie Johnston gave me a pattern for a little rocking chair made out of 20 clothespins, Elmers Glue and "It's so easy." It was Easter week, a time when I am stricken with spring fever, love of home, little children and Easter egg dye, a feeling fostered partly by the benign instructions given by the Easy Daisy Easter Egg Dye Kit people with their: Boil clean white eggs, drop color tablet into vinegar and water, dip egg, dab with cloth.

Life is complicated, fraught with a 1000 dangers daily. Easy Daisy instructions are rare moments of security--boil, pour, dip, dab. The two little boys I love best in the world were in the kitchen dipping and dabbing. I sat down in the living room to make rocking chairs for all my loved ones, approximately 50 people.

I called my darlings from the kitchen to help me BREAK APART two packages of clothes pins--a thing which in the past had got them spanked. It is fun to break apart 100 clothespins and let the springs fly all over the room if you are 9 years old. If you are 46 and nervous as a witch, it tends to pare down the list of people you love enough to make a rocking chair for from 50 down to 25 in 10 minutes.

I salvaged my good mood as my helpers returned to "Fun Galore for the Whole Family" in the kitchen. Elmers glue folks are not your Easter Egg People. They don't want you to have fun, want you to know that gluing is serious business (clean dry surfaces at 60 degrees farenheit). They would really prefer that you not do this thing at all but if you insist--here is how it might work out.

I glued 5 pins together. The kitchen situation fell apart suddenly with "STOP THAT--I WILL NOT-----YOU BROKE MINE--I'LL BREAK YOURS--HOW YOU LIKE THEM APPLIES?-----OH LOOK YOU BROKE THE RAW EGG I DYED TO FOOL JAMES WITH---HA, HA---

They adjourned to the living room where they glued a rocker together in a half hour. It was crooked but looked pretty good. I went to bed. Two days later I sent the crooked rocker and one boy on a plane, home to California--"I want to take it to my mom"---

My cousin and her husband came from Tulsa the next day to visit and to show us their new motor home. Three days later, getting ready to leave--she noticed the rocker pattern, sat down and glued one up in 15 minutes.

She goes to a church where they meet every Monday night and make candy for the Lark and she thought these little rockers would be a great seller.

As they drove away--she was waving, sitting at the table in back of the trailer, gluing rockers together.

The next week it rained. Margie Fish came up to cheer me through a case of the flu. She brought two packages of clothes pins, three packages of Crazy Glue for Wood at $2.19 a tube. Guaranteed to glue your fingers together but not too fast for clothes pins.

Four hours later Margie held up a finished rocker. It looked pretty good, well I mean it didn't fall apart. The seat was crooked, slanted--Eric Heiden could skate down it but better not try to sit on it.

$20 for clothespins and glue for a grand total of one crooked rocker sent by plane to California, one rocker on its way to church in Tulsa, Margie heading for McLean with a rocker that would probably fall apart at the Alaneered city limits. I decided to cheer myself up, call daughter with "How did you like that little rocker I sent you honey?..." "Oh, et, uh, well I never got it, Mom. Tony had it on the airplane, a little girl stepped on it and broke it all to pieces. All I got was a sack full of clothespins."

I hung up the phone--sulked over to the couch, sat watching election returns.

 "HEY MOM, WHO DO YOU WANT TO WIN THE ELECTION?"
 "NOBODY! I HOPE THEY EVER SINGLE ONE OF THEM LOSE!"

McLean Lions Club Host Open House

The McLean Lions hosted an open house for their new Lions Den Sunday afternoon from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. The newly-remodeled building was redone by Lions Club members during the last few weeks. Lion Jim Hathaway, who spearheaded the project for the Lions, said that the club has carpeted the floor, redone the ceiling, painted the walls, installed a paneled wall, redecorated the bathroom, and installed a new kitchen. Hathaway said that the Lions had to borrow about $6,000 to complete the project which included the purchase of a cooking range and other appliances for the kitchen, but that several people had already offered to donate to the project.

Lions met Monday night for their first regular meeting in their new building. The entertainment for the ladies night at the club was provided by the Brass Ring, a musical group featuring Ron Price on the drums, Betty Adams on keyboard, vocalist Bonnie Brass, and bass guitarist Von Seltzer. The McLean group sang several popular songs for the group.

Special guest at the meeting was former District Governor, and a former member of the McLean club, Larry Fuller of Amarillo. Fuller addressed the Lions briefly at the close of the meeting which was attended by about 65 people.

Be informed.

The Texas Railroad Commission is far too important to the proper conservation and management of Texas energy resources to elect a Commissioner on the basis of vague information, mistaken identity or a general "feeling" about a candidate.

Make sure you know the facts before you vote!

Did you know Jim Nugent:

- Is uniquely qualified to handle the complex technical and legal matters that come before the Commission, thanks to his background in law and engineering.
- Has almost 20 years of service to Texans, first as a State Representative, now as our Railroad Commissioner.
- Successfully introduced and passed the first "ethics laws" for elected Texas officials... and completely revised the state's penal statutes improving criminal prosecution procedures without violating individual rights.
- Is supported by a broad cross-section of conservative, moderate and liberal Democrats who know he's the best man for the job!
- As a member of the State Legislature and as our Railroad Commissioner, is respected and known as a tough, independent and dedicated public servant who has consistently fought for the rights of Texas consumers.

Did you know that Jim Nugent's opponent, Jim Hightower:

- Has no qualifications to serve. His only background is having worked as editor of a radical left-wing newspaper (he calls himself an "investigative reporter") and working for a former liberal senator.
- Is the candidate of Ralph Nader, George McGovern, labor organizer Caesar Chavez and a group of Northeastern liberals intent on buying a seat on the Railroad Commission so the Northeast can continue to buy cheap energy from Texas.
- Is basing his campaign on hopes that the electorate will confuse his name--Jim Hightower--with well-known conservative Congressman Jack Hightower.

Jim Nugent has been endorsed by major newspapers* throughout the state. They have carefully considered qualifications of the two candidates, and have chosen Jim Nugent as the best man for the job.

*Jim Nugent has been endorsed by the Austin American Statesman, San Antonio Light, Houston Chronicle, Dallas Morning News and the Dallas Times Herald. As of April 22, no major newspaper in Texas has endorsed his opponent, Jim Hightower!

HOMEMAKER NEWS

HIGH AIR-CONDITIONING SETTING CAN WRINKLE CARPET:

Air conditioning thermostats set at 78 degrees F. or above during the summer may result in a "wavy" wall-to-wall carpet. The possibility of ripples developing in carpet increases as reduced cooling removes less moisture from carpet fibers. As moist air circulates over carpet, fibers absorb moisture from the air until their capacity is reached. Elongation or a lengthening of the fibers results.

Fibers absorb moisture at different rates. Wool cotton and jute absorb more than man-made fibers. Wool, for example, will absorb as much as 16% of its own weight, whereas only minute absorption takes place in polypropylene. As pile fibers and those used in the backing absorb moisture and become longer, the carpet gradually ripples or waves which are not only unsightly and dangerous to walk on, but result in premature wear on the carpet.

However, as moisture in the air decreases, so will moisture in the carpet fibers. The fiber will return to its shorter length, and ripples will eventually disappear. Therefore, when rippling is caused by excessive moisture and a "natural" lengthening of the fibers, the best remedy is to lower the humidity, either through use of a dehumidifier or a lower thermostat setting.

MEAT/POULTRY FOODS-----

Read Labels:
Read meat and poultry food labels. Any prepared food product such as canned spaghetti and meatballs or chicken pot pies containing more than 3% meat or at least 2% poultry is subject to government inspection rules. The labels of these products must contain certain information. This will help the homemaker to plan her meals so that family members are getting enough of the required nutrients. In addition, this information will aid anyone who is on a special diet and must know the ingredients present in the product, as well as the nutritive value of the food item.

Look for the following information on meat and poultry food labels:

PRODUCT NAME which must be defined in a truthful standard, the common or usual name or descriptive name. The product "beef with gravy" must contain at least 50% cooked beef, but "gravy with beef" must contain a minimum of 35% cooked beef.

INGREDIENTS must be listed in order with the ingredient present in the greatest amount listed first and so on down to the least. Spices may be stated simply as "spices" and "flavorings" without naming each.

NET QUANTITY must be an accurate measure of the contents, stated in pounds and/or ounces. The container weight is not included.

A USDA INSPECTION MARK must appear on all packaged meat or poultry food products that have been federally inspected and approved for wholesomeness. State inspection marks are required on state-inspected products.

FIRM NAME AND ADDRESS may include that of the manufacturer, packer, or distributor of the product.

SPECIAL HANDLING INSTRUCTIONS must go on the labels of perishable products. Examples are: "keep frozen" or "keep refrigerated".

NUTRITIONAL INFORMATION is not required, but some processors voluntarily put it on their labels. When used nutritional information is based on an individual serving. The label will state the size of a serving in common household term such as ounces, cups, slices, pieces; the number of servings in the container; the calories and the protein, carbohydrate, and fat content per serving; and the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances (U.S. RDA's) of protein and important vitamins and minerals.

OPEN DATING (a calendar date on packaged food) is not mandatory. When used, however, it must be easily read and understood. The date may represent the last date to sell, the last date of peak quality or the date of packaging or processing. The packer must indicate what the date represents.

If a PHOTOGRAPH OR DRAWING is on the label, it must accurately represent what is inside the can or package. For example, if five slices of meat are shown, the package must contain five slices of meat. If a product is shown in a serving dish or with a garnish not part of the contents, the picture must be marked, "serving suggestions" or "suggested serving."

WHEN NITRITE IS NOT USED, "uncured" must be part of the product name for meat products such as frankfurters, bacon, and ham-traditionally cured with nitrite. The statement, "no nitrite added," must also appear on the label, for example, "UNCURED FRANKS-NO NITRATE OR NITRITE ADDED." Unless such nitrite-free meats are preserved by other methods such as thermal processing, drying, fermenting or pickling their labels must include the warning: "NOT PRESERVED-KEEP REFRIGERATED BELOW 40 DEGREES F. AT ALL TIMES."

COUNTRY OF ORIGIN must be shown if the meat is imported. This applies to meat and meat products sold in the U.S. in the same form as imported. However, imported meat used as an ingredient in a meat product manufactured here loses its identity. For example, foreign beef that is combined with domestic beef in producing frankfurters or other types of sausage is not identified on the label.

COMPUTER SYMBOL consists of rectangular block of vertical bars over a code number. This symbol automatically registers the name and price of the item at special checkout counters now in use. The cashier passes the symbol across a scanner which reads the number and transmits it to a central computer. The name and price are electronically flashed on a screen next to the register and printed on the customer's receipt.

RECIPES OR DIRECTIONS FOR USE are neither required nor tested by USDA. METRIC MEASURE of contents are given for mass and volume measures. Household equivalents are also given.

PRESENTING A RAG TO THE MASTER

In The Kitchen

by Linda Haynes

Are you hungry for something really gooey, loaded with calories and easy to fix? If you've decided to indulge yourself this week, try this delicious recipe.

CARMEL-WALNUT CAKE

1 pkg. yellow cake mix

FROSTING

2 cups light brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 cup light cream
1/2 cup margarine
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla extract
Walnut halves

Make frosting by combining brown sugar, granulated sugar, corn syrup and cream. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until sugar dissolves and mixture comes to boil. Boil, without stirring to 236 F. on candy thermometer, or until a little dropped in cold water forms a soft ball.

Remove from heat. Add butter, but do not stir. Cool to 110 F. on candy thermometer, or until bottom of pan feels lukewarm.

Add vanilla. With wooden spoon, beat until frosting is creamy and barely holds its shape. Set pan in pan of hot water.

Put cake layers together with some of the frosting, then frost top and side of cake. Decorate with walnut halves.

SAFETY SENSE

Smoking can be dangerous to your house: a high percentage of America's more than 700,000 fires begin when a smoker falls asleep and the cigarette ignites the upholstered furniture. Install smoke detectors and keep them in good working order, and if you must smoke, take special care if you are drinking or drowsy.

FACTS & FIGURES

The principles of physical therapy have been part of the healing arts since the beginning of recorded time. The instinctive rubbing of a bruise or an ache is a basic form of physical therapy. As early as 3000 B.C., the Chinese used rubbing as a therapeutic measure.

Each day physical therapists work to overcome pain and physical disability. The more than 32,000 physical therapists in the U.S. are important members of the health-care team, points out the American Physical Therapy Assn.

KELLY'S KARS

Jim Kelly-Owner & Operator

Tired of the rising prices and hidden costs found at most new car dealers? Maybe it's time for you to get some straight facts about automobile values and just what's important in today's confusing transportation market. The people to see for straight talk and honest values are the friendly folks down at KELLY'S KARS located at 2617 Amarillo Boulevard, phone 383-4299. They are THE used car specialists!

With every manufacturer cutting corners, trying to get production up and costs down...quality must suffer. This is one lot where you can still get a car "built like they used to build'em!" Every vehicle that comes in is completely inspected and reconditioned before it goes on the lot, and the result is a better, more reliable car than even many new car dealers can offer.

Sound too good to be true? There's only one way to find out for yourself, and that is to drop in and see Jim Kelly at Kelly's Kars and look over his lot full of values. The writers of this 1980 Review know that you're in for a rare experience in quality and perfection. Oh yes...if you feel like trading in your "new" car, we won't tell.

Loose Marbles

Recently one of the television networks had a horror film festival in which all the old classics were shown to those of us who might be interested. After watching a couple of oldies but goodies I decided that what we really need are a few good horror films set in modern times.

Take for example a film called "Hubby Gets The Flu." Now there is a real spine-tingler for you. You could have gruesome shots of Hubby with his bloodshot eyes, his green-tinted skin, and unshaven cheeks. The sound track would be magnificently ripe with the thrilling, chilling sounds of moaning, groaning, screaming and other sounds Wife makes when she can't stand Hubby anymore. Of course, the proper ending would be an ax murder where Wife does away with monster Hubby. With that as the promised ending millions of housewives would be standing in line to get tickets for the flick.

Or how about the exciting movie "The Battle Of The Cobwebs" in which a struggling housewife fights giant ceiling cobwebs which appear only when her mother-in-law comes to visit.

Using personal experience, I know that I could write a good script for a movie. I would call it "The Pile Of Dirty Clothes That Ate A Housewife", a real treat of a film which would feature an over growing mountain of dirty clothes and its eventual victory over the poor defenseless homemaker.

If that isn't horrible enough, how about the scary "Mama Camps Out", the movie that shows a mother doing all the things she does at home, except without running water, central heat, electricity, or a dishwasher. Pretty terrifying, huh?

Not in the mood for horror films? Okay, how about that all-time favorite, the mystery? A good title might be "The Case of the Disappearing Socks" in which a clever detective could solve a problem which has bothered women since the invention of the washing machine...mainly, why is it that you can put two matching socks in the washer and when the cycle is over pull out either one lone sock, or two socks of differing colors? Obviously a case for Sherlock.

Another puzzler might be "The Case of the Empty Toilet Tissue Holder" in which an innocent woman finds herself trapped in a bathroom without any toilet paper. The solution to the problem of course is that a male has just vacated the bathroom. This fellow will have an I.Q. of 3000, will have earned doctorates from three leading colleges, will be a business genius, but will be unable to understand the workings of the highly complicated and confusing toilet paper holder, thereby rendering himself unable to deal with it. Wonder of wonders, the innocent woman will be able, through super human powers, to grapple with the difficult thing and refill it. A plot for a great epic picture if I ever read one.

These movies, and others, will be shown next fall on your favorite channel. Unfortunately, they will be scheduled opposite "Monday Night Football", so you will never get a chance to see them. But that's okay, too, because that brings up the idea of another script title "The Monday Night Football Murders" where the bodies of millions of American husbands are found sprawled in front of television sets still warm from the image of Howard Cosell. I can hardly wait until this one is released.

If anybody doesn't think it is dangerous to stop a jitney on a grade crossing, ask Sidney Kunkel, whose only flivver was completely demolished on the Main street crossing last Friday afternoon. Sidney had just loaded his light truck with express at the depot and started to town with it when someone hailed him and Sid stopped on the track to talk. About that time there was a flying switch made near the coal chute and a number of cars came down the track on which he had stopped. Somebody yelled, "Look out!" and Sidney went to start up his jitney and killed the engine. By that time the cars were so near that he had no time to do anything but get himself out of the way. The truck was wrecked beyond repair, but the express with which it was loaded was only slightly damaged.
