Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

VOLUME 77 McLEAN, GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1980 PRICE 20¢ NUMBER 2

One of the most important accomplishments of 1979 was accidentally omitted in a recent editorial. I forgot to mention the fact that the McLean Young At Heart club, the local senior citizens group, purchased their own building last year with the help of the townspeople. This was a major achievement for our town, and I certainly want to include this in the list of accomplishments for the city.

January is a special month for gardeners. Around the first of that month each year, the mails bring stacks of beautifully colored wish books for the gardener. There is something very comforting about sitting in a warm house with the winter winds howling outside and browsing through pages of bright pictures of flowers, trees, and delicious-looking vegetables.

According to the catalogs we've received, now is the time to plan for your spring garden and order your seeds. With prices increasing every day, I imagine that more and more people will take up the habit of growing their own vegetables. The old-fashioned skill of drying fruits and vegetables will probably become more and more popular, too, as skyrocketing utility bills make freezing fresh produce more expensive.

One of the problems for McLean gardeners is that the fertile soil in this area usually produces more vegetables than a single family can eat or preserve.

Why don't we begin thinking of a plan to use those excess vegetables for the betterment of our town?

If each gardener would bring his left-over produce to a central area for sale, then those who don't like to garden could have fresh produce in the summer, too, for a good price. Since most of us usually have to

Committee Approves Certificate For Pampa Hospital

The Panhandle Health Systems Agency governing body will meet tonight (Thursday) to give final approval for the certificate of need application for construction of the Coronado Community Hospital in Pampa.

The review committee of the group unanimously approved the need application last week after Ruth Magee of McLean a member of the committee, made a motion for approval.

Officials of Highland General Hospital and the Hospital Corporation of America presented a short synopsis of why such a new facility is needed in Pampa. Guy Hazlett and Allen Cannon of Highland General and Richard McCaskill, HCA vice-president for development, and Richard Miller, president of Earl Swenson Architects which designed Coronado Community, attended the meeting.

Highland General was leased to HCA in April with a contract understanding that a replacement facility would be built within 30 months. Before such a building can be built, however, a certificate of need application has to be approved by both PHSA and the Texas Health Facilities Commission. If approval is granted by PHSA's governing body next week, the THFC will have 90 days to make a recommendation.

Hazlett, Highland General administrator, reiterated much

JOE BILLINGSLEY

Billingsley Makes Bid For Constable

Joe Billingsley has announced that he will run for the office of constable for the McLean precinct in the May 3 Democratic primary.

The 43-year-old Billingsley has lived in McLean 14 years. He attended schools in McLean, Okla. High School in 1954.

He has been in agriculture and business since living in McLean. He is currently the owner and operator of Joe's Shamrock.

He said "I think that I can do things to help McLean and the surrounding area, and if elected, I will do my best to be fair to all concerned."

Though he has no previous experience or training in law of what was said during beginning testimony in a meeting with the committee Dec. 6.

"We are applying for a bed-for-bed, service-for-service replacement facility for Highland General Hospital," he said. "It would cost $16 million and take 20 months to renovate Highland General, but it would cost only $13 million and take 18 months to build a replacement facility."

Hazlett explained that 40 percent of the funding for Coronado Community Hospital would come from equity contributions by HCA. The final 60 percent would be obtained through a 20-year mortgage at 10.5 percent interest rate.

Richard McCaskill of HCA testified that when his group was contacted about leasing Highland General, HCA evaluated for existing problems.

"After we had examined Highland General, we began looking for alternative solutions," McCaskill said. "One of these was renovation of the existing facility. To renovate a $3 million premium would have to be paid.

"But it would be $3 million less to build a replacement facility, unencumbered by the existing facility," he explained.

During the Dec. 6 meeting, Gray County officials had testified that with the hospital losing more and more money Highland General threatened to bankrupt the county. Because of that and after investigation, the county decided to lease the hospital to HCA for $2,275,000. (Information for the preceding article was taken from THE PAMPA NEWS.)

Singing Group Visits McLean

You don't have to leave McLean to have a unique experience! At least that's what Ruth Magee and Lena Clifton and some other McLean residents discovered last week. Mrs. Magee and Mrs. Clifton went to Gately's Cafe for lunch, and noticed a large chartered bus parked outside. When they entered the cafe, they found a group of about 25 or 30 people singing! The group was the Frank Gonzales Crusade, who had just finished a tour of Mexico and were travelling across the country giving religious concerts.

The leader of the group told Mrs. Clifton and Mrs. Magee that they performed in various places, but did most of their work in an effort to rehabilitate criminals and dope addicts. The group is leaving on a tour of the Holy Land in the next weeks, he said. The singers performed two songs for the assembled diners, much to the delight of the patrons, Mrs. Clifton said.

The Indiana-based group was heading for a concert in Oklahoma City that night, according to Gonzales.

Farmers Urged To Report To ASCS

Gray County producers are urged to report any changes in farming operations for the 1980 year to the ASCS office right away, stated Miss Evelyn Mason, county executive director of the Gray County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

"It is necessary to keep records up-to-date on changes in operators on a farm and in the farm ownership," Miss Mason said. Farmers who have changed operators in 1980 or sold or bought a farm should contact the office, she said.

Failure to report changes in farm operations may cause delays in signing up for new programs, according to Miss Mason.

FBLA Begins Convention Plans

The McLean Future Business Leaders of America met Monday night, Jan. 7 in the grade school cafeteria for their regular meeting. A delicious supper of Mexican food prepared by Mary Groves was heartily enjoyed by the group.

A brief business session was held during which the club voted to purchase the Master Cleaners building with the idea of remodeling the building for a permanent Lions meeting place. A campaign has been started to raise the necessary funds to complete the project, and it was felt by all that it would not only create a permanent home for the organization, but improve the looks of that part of the city by the planned improvements to the building.

About 20 Lions were in attendance presided over by vice-president David Haynes.

Seedlings Are Available To Texans

In The Kitchen

by Linda Haynes

After the many hours spent on holiday cooking, I'm sure that most of you are like me and are looking for some delicious, quick recipes now. I found an interesting book in the Pampa library recently which had a collection of recipes which each contained less than four ingredients.

I copied some down and have tried these three. I think you will like them too. PIQUANT SWISS STEAK 2 lbs. round steak 3T oil 1 1/2 3/8 oz. pkg. French's Spaghetti sauce with mushrooms 2 8 oz. cans tomato sauce Brown meat in vegetable oil. Put meat in baking dish. Combine spaghetti sauce and tomato sauce with pan drippings. Heat and pour over steak. Bake at 350 degrees for about two hours.

SPINACH-BACON SALAD 1 10 oz. pkg. fresh spinach, thoroughly washed and drained 1 medium head cauliflower 1/2 cup Lawry's Canadian Bacon Flavored Salad Dressing. Combine cut up spinach, cauliflower, thinly sliced onion rings. Heat dressing and pour over salad.

FRIED APPLE RINGS 2 large baking apples 4 T butter 4 T cinnamon sugar Core apples but do not peel. Cut each into four rings. Melt butter in skillet and place apple rings in single layer. Cook slowly for five minutes. Turn and cook for five more minutes. Sprinkle with cinnamon sugar.

HOMEMAKER NEWS

Advertisers of energy "savers" must back up their claims, and consumers can ask for this proof. A new Federal Trade Commission ruling says energy-savings claims in advertising must have facts to prove them. For example, if an ad says "Storm windows will cut fuel consumption by 25 percent," you can ask for information that supports that claim. This also means we may see different wording on ads, so claims will be easier to prove. Here's a possible: "Storm windows may reduce heating and cooling bills." That's acceptable, since it's fairly simple to back up.

WOOD-BURNING STOVES: Before yielding to the lure of the wood-burning stove, consider a few factors. Consider cost of wood vs. cost of gas or electricity. Wood must be free or inexpensive to make the most of a wood-burning stove. Avoid fire hazards through proper installation and use. Be sure the stove is made of sturdy material such as cast iron or steel. Look for stoves listed by Underwriters' Laboratory (UL) or other recognized testing laboratories.

Check the stove for cracks or other defects. Install the stove to comply with local fire and building codes. Select a corrosion-resistant steel stove pipe of suitable gauge. Install dampers according to manufacturer's directions. Choose seasoned - at least six months - wood, preferably hard wood.

LIVING WITH CHANGE...ESTATE PLANNING: "Controlling Change" is a new estate planning letter series available free from the Gray County Extension Service. The letters are designed to inform families about ways to avoid hardships and frustrations when settling an estate.

Letters in the series will cover: 1) "Federal Estate and State Inheritance Taxes" and "Setting Your Household in Order"; 2) "The Importance of a Will" and "Cost of an Estate in Probate"; 3) "Community and Separate Property in Texas" and "Texas Laws on Descent and Distribution"; and 4) "Gifts and Trusts: Effective Estate Planning Tools" and "Charitable Gifts."

Enroll by January 18th by calling 669-7429, or writing to Elaine Houston, County Extension Agent, Star Route 2-Box 33, Pampa, Texas 79665.

HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS: •The microwave oven proved more energy efficient than several other appliances in a recent Canadian study. The microwave saved, on the average, 22 percent more than the toaster oven, 33 percent more than the electric range elements, 41 percent more than the electric frypan, and 57 percent more than the conventional oven. •Substitute plain yogurt for sour cream in recipes and save about one-fifth of the calories. Both are made from acid-producing bacteria action, but the main difference is in terms of fat content. Yogurt has approximately two to three percent fat compared with about 18 percent for sour cream. •If a room is small, consider a loveseat rather than a long sofa since the loveseat's smaller size is better suited to the dimensions of the room. •To save fuel, avoid extended idling when starting a cold engine. As soon as your car is driveable, accelerate gently and drive moderately for a mile or so. Your engine will warm faster, and you'll save fuel. •When your marriage seems to lose ground, refresh your memory of the pleasant times by thinking about things you used to do, would like to do more often, used to do with your partner, but stopped, or would like to do now.

•Make croissants from stale bread-coat with melted butter and favorite seasonings, then toast in a 300 degree F-oven until lightly browned and dry. •Medication taken by an expectant mother will, in most cases, also effect the fetus. Consult your physician regarding taking medicines during pregnancy. •To soften hard lumps of brown sugar in a microwave oven-proof container, add a slice of bread or apple, cover lightly and heat about 15 seconds. Moisture from the bread or apple usually does the trick. •Mayonnaise is a combination of an oil and water solution stabilized with egg yolk. It contains 65 percent vegetable oil. Salad dressing has the same ingredients with a cooked starch paste replacing the egg and only about 30 percent oil. •Clean the exterior of copper cookware by rubbing the surface with a lemon rind dipped in table salt. Leave this on for a few minutes, then wash in hot, soapy water. Rinse thoroughly and wipe dry. •Remove leftovers from the table immediately after eating and refrigerate to prevent growth of organisms that cause foodborne illness. •When using an unvented gas space heater, always keep a window or door cracked since the heater depends on adequate air flow to prevent carbon monoxide accumulation. •Wipe off the outer areas of your self-cleaning oven before setting the cleaning cycle. That includes the oven frame and the door liner outside the oven seal - since they get enough heat to bake on any soil. •Don't use hair spray while wearing a hearing aid-the spray can cause damage to the microphone.

Dr. Norman W. Naugle notes that younger pupils, usually through the sixth grade, can do math problems with just a little help. Somewhere in between something happens and people lose their interest in math, says Dr. Naugle. Later in life, this creeps up as math anxiety and causes some students to fail math courses even though they may be perfectly capable in other areas.

To combat math anxiety, Naugle has developed a self-paced program for those who may not have as an extensive high school math background as other students and who may need to work at a slower pace.

Agricultural programs attracting more women

COLLEGE STATION — A growing number of women are entering non-traditional fields in agriculture — at least that is the trend at Texas A&M University, which has the nation's largest agricultural enrollment for a single campus.

Thirty-one percent of the students enrolled in Texas A&M's agricultural programs are women. Animal science, wildlife and fisheries sciences and agricultural economics are the most popular degree programs for these women. Next in popularity are the more traditional fields such as horticulture, food science and technology and floriculture.

Tarleton State ranks low in cost

STEPHENVILLE — Tarleton State University, part of The Texas A&M University System, is on a Bottom Ten list — but glad to be there.

According to the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, Tarleton State is ranked among the least expensive colleges in the nation in terms of tuition and required fees.

Tarleton required a median charge of $374 per student this year, the survey indicated.

Gone Fishin'

by Jeanette Fish

Between Christmas and New Year's Day there is a national fluctuation, hovering around euphoria (it's over, ennuï is that all there is?) and downright depression (mirror, mirror on the wall-how come I look like that turkey I just ate?) Then comes January 4th and FEDERAL INCOME TAX FORMS. Before filling them out, most people observe a decent period of mourning.

Not my husband. By January 4 and 1/2, last year's bills were scattered on the dining room table in 14 stacks. I was summoned and arrived at the bloodletting with a lighted candle, chanting OOKA POO OOKA POO (guaranteed to bring inner peace to mountaintop Gurus) but has little effect on a man intent on a recap of 1979--THE SINS THEREIN--who has perfected the art of lowering his head, giving direct-I AM SENATOR FISH--YOU ARE A COMMUNIST--dirty looks, over half moon eyeglasses.

I maintained mental and emotional distance by pretending to be looking back through a pair of cheap binoculars. This year would be different. I had read How To Take Charge of Your Life, three times. I was ready. Should I be Maureen O'Hara--haughty--icy? (binoculars phooey--this is eyeball or tobacco road?) or Tobacco Road's Jane Darwell, angelic smile, gazing skyward right after Henry Fonda croaked from hunger and bullet wounds.

My interrogator picked up the 1979 phone bills with his "I told you a thousand times not to pour bare grease in the sink" look. (using his elbow to support the old trick shoulder-football, 1936)

Panic! Do something! Faint? No! Pitch forward on top of those neat little stacks of bills and you'll never be deductible again. My brain swung into action--Leave, that's it! Start a new life. Travel at night. Stick to the woods. Calm down! Look attentive. By now he was at full stroke, standing erect, waving that index finger which has been present at more lectures than a Harvard professor.

To show I was truly penitent I picked up the tax booklet and read it--Really read it.

Page 1--SOME TAXPAYERS RECEIVING UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS MAY FIND THAT PART OF ALL OF IT IS TAXABLE. That's Page one. It's downhill the rest of the way.

Page 2--WHAT IS EARNED INCOME?--Wages, Salaries, tips. Well I'll swan. For this they wrote a book? I remember earning it.

Page 2 is a lot of talk about ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME. Do not read this. It makes your stomach hurt. Your income was grossly adjusted before the book was printed.

The booklet sandwiches the

It's good to know there's something we can depend on.

Almost all of us depend on electricity in our homes, factories, and offices to provide for more jobs... greater productivity... and a higher standard of living. Yes, electricity plays a big role in the scientific and technological developments that make these things possible.

The constant striving for these innovative and advanced ideas and achievements of tomorrow means we will need more electricity. That's why Southwestern Public Service is continuing the building program of new electric generating plants that use coal as fuel. Because it's good to know there's something we can depend on.

Loose Marbles

by Lisa Patman

For those of you who take an interest in psychology, there is a new fact which has just been uncovered. As most of us know there are three main types of craziness—paranoia, schizophrenia, and manic-depressive. Well, fellow nuts, a whole new category has been added—remodeling.

Remodeling, in layman's terms, is the condition a person gets in when he can actually delusions that he can actually make an old house look new. Usually this is accompanied by the fantasy that he may get the old house looking like new in a short amount of time, like three or four years. An accompanying illusion to the dreaded state of remodeling is that the poor crazed person actually believes that carpenters, bricklayers, paper hangers, and painters will perform their appointed tasks when they promise.

I have been in the state of remodeling for about six years now, and my psychiatrist says I am improving. I no longer describe my house as war-torn Germany, and I have stopped writing love letters to carpenters whom I have picked out of the yellow pages. In fact, I have taken one of the first steps to recovery. This horrible cure is worse, I understand, than going off heroin cold-turkey. It is known as (shudder) Doing It Yourself.

Doing It Yourself is a long involved process in which one finds one's hair turning a sort of kaleidoscope of colors, depending on the shades of paint one is applying to the walls of the above-said house. Another side-effect is a noticeable change in the color of the skin on the hands, fingernails, cuticles, and in severe cases, the elbows. Oddly enough this only occurs when a door has been stained.

Then there is the old wallpaper syndrome. You may have noticed people in this state—they walk around with bits of the stuff stuck to their clothing, trailing from their heels, pasted on the tops of their heads. Unfortunately the paper they just applied to the bathroom wall will have already fallen off.

And as with any other mental problem, even if you are getting well, you will have set-backs. In the case of remodeling these depressing set-backs may happen quite often. For instance, if you have just remodeled your two-story house, have just put up the final piece of wallpaper, and have all your pictures hung in exactly the right spots, the hot water heater will do something interesting, like explode, or leak, or decide to wash your ceilings.

If you have been smart enough to remodel a one-story house, have just refinished your last piece of molding, vacuumed your brand new carpet, and arranged the last piece of reupholstered furniture, the plumbing will back up in the bathroom and ruin the carpet you were stupid enough to install there.

If you were smart enough to settle for linoleum, having taken into account the unpredictability of plumbing, an electrical storm will come along and knock out, and subsequently ruin, all your new kitchen appliances for which you have forgotten to get insurance.

And of course we all know that if you are suffering from remodeling you will be overcome by a strange desire to repaint the entire interior of the house. Just about the time you get to the last wall you will turn around and find jelly stains on the first wall you started with.

However, to give you some hope, the doctors tell me that there is good news and bad news about remodeling. The bad news is that you never really get through. The good news is that remodeling is so bad it makes the plague look good.

TEST FOR TOTS

Is your child among the half a million preschool children in America with vision problems?

A simple home eye test, available free from your state Society to Prevent Blindness or the National Society to Prevent Blindness, 79 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016, could help you find out.

It consists of a chart with E's pointing up, down, to the left and to the right—plus instructions. If your child can't see as far as the third line with each eye, arrange for a professional eye examination.

1980 CROP FERTILIZER PRACTICES:

Fertilizer prices have increased, and this situation requires the producer to re-evaluate 1980 fertilizer practices. Reports are that fertilizer costs will be from $20 to $30 per ton higher for 1980. Increases in energy costs and transportation costs are responsible for this new price schedule. With this information on hand, the producer must become more keenly aware of crop fertility needs and the residual soil fertility levels.

Soil testing offers two methods to manage fertility inputs for 1980. Having a good understanding of what fertilizers are required allows the producer to apply only what is needed. This knowledge prevents unneeded production inputs. Secondly, a good soil testing program provides the farmer information on residual or carryover fertility levels in soils. Taking advantage of residual nitrogen or accumulated phosphorus often allows the producer to reduce fertility inputs during a given year.

Anyone interested in soil testing can obtain information sheets, information for sampling, and mailing cartons at the Gray County Extension Office, Courthouse Annex, Pampa.

ENERGY UPDATE

THE IMPACT OF ALTERNATIVE POLICY REACTIONS TO THREE MILE ISLAND

In the wake of the Three Mile Island, Pennsylvania nuclear power plant accident, there have been increasing demands for cutbacks in nuclear power. An analysis recently completed by National Economic Research Associates, Inc. (NERA) indicates such curtailments would have substantial economic, energy, and environmental impacts, which should be considered if the role of nuclear power in the US is to be reassessed. The NERA Electricity Supply Optimization Model (NESOM) was used to evaluate the effects of two policies that would curtail nuclear power. The first would prohibit any additional nuclear generating capacity beyond that currently on-line, the second, and more severe policy, would require all nuclear capacity to be decommissioned by 1985.

If no new nuclear capacity were to come on-line, electric costs in the year 2000 would increase by $11 billion to $18 billion above the levels that would occur if nuclear capacity were to continue to expand. This would represent a 5 to 6 percent increase in revenue requirements for the electric utility industry. The increase in costs would be $18 billion to $27 billion if all existing nuclear plants were decommissioned—a 7 to 9 percent increase in industry revenue requirements. If there were environmental or other institutional limits on the ability of the industry to build new coal-fired plants, the increase in electricity costs for 2000 would be even higher—$27 billion if there were no nuclear plants and $37 billion if existing plants were decommissioned. This would result in an increase in revenue requirements of 10 to 15 percent.

Nuclear curtailments could also cause oil and gas consumption by the electric utility industry to increase substantially. If oil prices were to rise at about the same rate as prices in general through the end of the century, oil and gas consumption in 2000 would be increased by an additional 2.2 to 2.6 million barrels of oil equivalent per day if no new nuclear capacity were constructed, and by 2.8 to 3.2 million barrels per day if existing nuclear capacity were decommissioned. Should expansion of coal capacity be limited, then additional oil and gas consumption would be as high as 6.0 million barrels per day.

The curtailments in nuclear power would also result in substantial increases in sulfur dioxide emissions. In the absence of any new nuclear capacity, emissions in 2000 would be increased by 2.1 to 2.9 million tons or 11 to 15 percent. If existing nuclear capacity were decommissioned, emissions would be increased by 2.6 to 3.5 million tons or 14 to 18 percent. These increases would offset, to a great extent, reductions in emissions expected to be achieved under the 1977 Amendments to the Clean Air Act.

In announcing my candidacy for re-election to the Office of Sheriff of Gray County, Texas, I do so with the thought of giving you the same efficient administration that I have given you in the past. The business in the office of sheriff has increased considerably in the past several years, both in criminal and civil work, and I have kept the cost of administration at a minimum compared to the sharp increase in the business of this office.

For years I have been honored by you, the people of Gray County, Texas in serving you as sheriff and I am very proud to have served you in that capacity; and would like to continue serving you, as Sheriff of Gray County in the future.

I, along with a very fine group of concerned and dedicated deputy sheriffs and office personnel that have been with me for years, wish to welcome and solicit the support and cooperation of the people here who have helped us earn for Gray County, Texas, the reputation of being one of the cleanest areas in the state.

I feel that I am familiar with and understand the problems of the office and I also have a fine staff of deputies that I am very proud of and we will do our best to give you, the citizens of Gray County, Texas, the courteous service and protection that you rightfully deserve.

If you are in accord with the policies of impartial law enforcement that have prevailed in the past I ask your continued support of this program in the future.

Thanks in advance for your cordial consideration. I am,

The VCR--A Video Time Machine

by Michael Cross

A new product, the VCR, or video cassette recorder, will permit you to arrange your TV viewing schedule with unprecedented flexibility with no conflicts and without missing a favorite program or programs. The VCR operates under principles very similar to your home or automobile audio cassette recorder except that it can record the TV picture as well as the sound -- and it does both with a very high degree of fidelity.

Surprisingly, a VCR is much easier to operate than most audio cassette recorders due to its highly automated control and monitor circuits. The programming you select is recorded onto a video cassette similar in looks to an audio cassette but larger in size. Depending on the specific cassette and VCR you choose, you can record up to seven hours of programming.

The VCRs allow you to decide at which point in your day or week you will view a program. You no longer need to watch "Tuesday Night at the Movies" on Tuesday evening. You can record it and watch it Thursday afternoon. And the so-called "programmable" units permit the user to preset channels (even different channels), recording times and the length of the recording itself up to two weeks in advance. Once set, the VCR will turn itself on, and off, at preset times and channels and record whatever program is being broadcast -- and will continue to do so, as preset, for the remainder of the preprogrammed time. These VCRs act almost like a time machine, or a time-shift device, putting in your hands the decision as to what to watch at whatever time it is most convenient. The VCR's electronics act as those of a television receiver without a picture tube, picking up the same broadcasts as your TV set. So you may watch a program on one channel on your TV while simultaneously recording a broadcast on another channel.

But the VCR is not merely a device to record broadcasts; it may also be used as your personal "movie house" in that you may rent or purchase video cassettes ranging from the latest feature movies, to great screen classics, to classic nostalgia films, to lessons on various subjects.

And with either a black-and-white or color video camera and a blank video cassette you can record almost any event in your home -- be it a black-tie dinner party, holiday celebration or a child's birthday -- and play the recording back instantly on your home TV screen. The new portable VCRs are light enough to be carried on a strap over your shoulder and can take you outdoors to record graduations, sports events, family picnics or vacations. Since they are battery operated, their range of operation is unlimited.

VCRs readily and easily hook up to the back of your TV set and are compatible with virtually all TV sets.

Texas A&M medical school trains rural doctors

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University's College of Medicine, the state's newest, is designed to produce "primary care" doctors -- family, internal and general practitioners -- for nonurban areas of Texas, where medical help has lagged in past years.

About 60 percent of Texas A&M's first medical school graduates are expected to enter such practice, but it will be 1981 before the first M.D. degrees are issued here.

Texas A&M's medical students, who are younger and score higher scholastically than the national average, receive two years of predominantly classroom training at College Station followed by two years of clinical training in Temple at Veterans Administration and Scott and White hospitals.

The concert is sponsored by the Community Concert Association, and is the second concert of the season for the group. [Photo Courtesy of Shamrock Community Concert Association]

Tommy Dorsey Orchestra Will Play In Shamrock

The mellow sounds of the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, under the direction of Buddy Morrow, will fill the Shamrock High School Auditorium Jan. 15 beginning at 8 p.m. in the second concert of the season for the Shamrock Community Concert Association. The new Tommy Dorsey Orchestra was formed in 1974 with the blessings of Dorsey's widow, Jane Dorsey. Buddy Morrow, one of Dorsey's favorite trombonists, became the conductor in 1977.

LIBRARY NOTES

ON THE AIR IN WORLD WAR II

By John McVane

"This is London, John McVane speaking" were well-recognized words to Americans during the early days of World War II.

All who heard his voice learned to accept his reports as factual and up to date as possible during those trying times. In fact, only he and Ed Murrow had the honor of being able to broadcast without prior censorship.

In this book, you can follow McVane in his coverage of everything from the London blitz, the famous raid on Dieppe, and his coverage of the North African campaign, to his landing with the troops on Omaha Beach on "D Day." McVane's brilliant covering of the European part of the war relates with unusual perfection everything from the invasion in Normandy to the link-up with the Russians in Berlin.

The entire book is written in flawless style and relates many interesting vignettes hitherto unrelated to the public, and will be of extreme interest to anyone who participated on World War II, or has an interest in the many occurrences which occurred to produce the eventual Allied victory.

"On the Air in World War II" is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

Three other new books which have recently arrived at the library and should be of interest and use to all are: "Common Cures for Common Ailments" by Albert Marchetti, M.D., (A doctor's guide to non-prescription, over-the-counter medicines and his recommendation for their use.), "The Tranquilizing of America" by Richard Hughes and Robt. Brevin. (Pill popping and the American way of life), and Wigder's Guide to Over-The-Counter Drugs" by Neil Wigder, M.D. (a critical comparison of the effectiveness, cost, and safety of the most popular and widely advertised brands.)

Be prepared for tax audits

COLLEGE STATION — While most people worry about the once-a-year income tax filing deadline, a Texas A&M University accounting professor reminds that Internal Revenue Service auditing is a year-round affair.

In addition to reiterating that honesty is the best policy, Dr. Larry Crumbley has two suggestions for anyone about to be audited: Never send or give original records to the IRS, and if a special agent is conducting the audit, get a lawyer.

Crumbley advised making copies of records and giving them to the agent or the IRS. "If you give the original documentation, there is the risk of the agent losing it," he says.

Turkey popularity increases

COLLEGE STATION — Turkey meat isn't just consumed during the holidays anymore, according to a Texas A&M University poultry expert. Each American will eat more than 10 pounds of turkey meat throughout the next year, says Dr. Bernard J. Marquez.

Two major reasons contribute to the turkey's rising popularity. They're one of the most cost-efficient birds around, currently selling at an average of 69 cents a pound in Texas. Turkeys are also being used more extensively in processed meat products such as turkey ham, turkey wieners and turkey salami.

HOW'S YOUR HEAD FOR CURRENT EVENTS?

Can you match these six famous faces with their most notable names?
1. Arizona Governor Bruce Babbitt
2. Comedian Dan Ackroyd
3. Fashion designer Gloria Vanderbilt
4. Pope John Paul II
5. British Prime Minister Margaret Roberts Thatcher
6. Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker

These six are among the 25 people considered to be the most intriguing in 1979 by those experts on people the people at People Magazine.

According to that publication, Governor Babbitt may be a politician to watch. His hard work and to some, surprising conclusion on the Three Mile Island Incident, and his growing reputation for decisive action, makes him regarded by some as a rising political star, makers in People's list in Ackroyd, perhaps best clude actresses Bo Derek and Meryl Streep, author Tom Wolfe; singers Deborah Harry and Joan Baez; First Lady Rosalyn Carter and another political wife Joan Kennedy; "Palimony" lawyer Marvin Mitchelson; Chrysler Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Lido Iacocca; TV personality Johnny Carson; Megan Marshack the late Nelson Rockefeller's friend; actor Sylvester Stallone; sportsman Willis Stargell and Sebastian Coe; Stan Mooneyham Soviet dancer and defector Aleksandr Godunov; the Reverend Jesse Jackson and Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. You can see why these people can seem intriguing in the year end issue of People Magazine, available at newstands.
