Lefty Walker Wins Commissioner Post By 10-Vote Margin

Judge Hamilton Heavy Favorite In Run-Off Primary Saturday

C. O. (Lefty) Walker, Ozona ranchman, emerged victor by a margin of 10 votes in Saturday's run-off primary election for the office of County Commissioner from Precinct 2.

In the high school box, Williams was ahead 73 to 67 for Walker. Midway Lane box gave Walker 25 to 11 for Williams and the Powell Field box gave Williams the edge 23 to 18.

The closeness of the race between the two men was emphasized for tabulators at the courthouse Saturday night as returns dribbled in from the boxes. The vote margins swapped from one to the other candidate as the returns were tabulated, the final total giving Walker a ten-vote margin.

Judge Robert W. Hamilton of Midland, victorious over J. Edwin Smith of Houston for a place on the Texas Supreme Court, was a seven-to-one favorite of Crockett County voters. He polled 257 votes to only 36 for the Houston candidate.

A total of 310 votes were registered in Crockett county.

Athletic Booster Club Plans First Meet Tuesday Nite

Membership Drive Under Way; Barbecue Supper Tuesday

The ticket drive for the Ozona Booster Club rolled into high gear this week and went over the hundred mark Tuesday as plans for the first get-together of the season were polished up.

Plans are now complete for the club to meet at the football field at 5 p. m. Week-End Rains Bring Heavy Moisture To Big Part Of Crockett Co.

Rains, again coming at the week-end, last Saturday and Sunday brought more bountiful moisture to a good part of Crockett county and other areas of West Texas.

In a heavy downpour Saturday night and Sunday, Ozona received 2.36 inches of rain. Similar heavy rains fell to the south of Ozona but the heavy showers did not extend far north of the city. Lesser amounts, too, were received to the west and east.

The almost weekly showers which have visited Ozona and a limited area around it throughout the month of August to date will put that usually dry month in the running for rainfall honors so far this year.

Mrs. Bettie Robertson of Houston, art teacher in that city, is here for a visit with Mrs. Charles Williams, Sr., one of her students.

Spelunkers from Grottoes in all parts of Texas will gather in Ozona this week-end for the Saturday morning start of the two-day third annual convention of the Texas Region, National Speleological Society, with members of the Ozona Grotto, composed mostly of teenagers, as convention hosts.

Caving enthusiasts from as far away as Tennessee and Georgia will attend the convention. From Tennessee will be Roy Davis, editor of the NSS News; Don Black, vice president of the National Society; Miss Barbara Munson, treasurer, and Lewis Lammon. From Atlanta will be Thomas A. Engle of the Atlanta Grotto and possibly others from that city, Mills Tandy, convention chairman, said.

Delegates will register in the high school auditorium lobby from 8 to 9 Saturday morning, the opening session of the convention starting at nine and continuing until noon, being devoted to lectures on subjects of caving. Convention sessions will be in the auditorium.

Opening the discussion will be Royce Ballinger, a member of the Ozona Grotto, now living in Monahan, who will describe the 60 Ranch Well Water Cave. Bob Money of Corpus Christi will speak on "Possibilities of Food Contamination and Food Poisoning During Caving Trips." Cave Conservation will be the subject for Bart Crisman of Abilene and Speleo Diving will be discussed by Jamie Spence of the University of Texas, Austin. Cave Insects will be the topic for Dr. O. G. Babcock of Sonora, retired government entomologist.

The afternoon session will start at 1:30 p. m. with a lineup of nine speakers on interesting phases of cave exploration. All Youth Night At First Baptist Church Planned Sunday Night

Special emphasis will be given to the youth of First Baptist Church next Sunday. Rev. Troy Dale pastor announced this week.

A record attendance is being planned for the Sunday school hour and the entire evening service will be in charge of the youth.

This will be the close of a full-time youth program for the summer under the direction of L. D. Casey. Mr. Casey will be present for the services on September 7, but then returns to Baylor University to resume his work — gaining his degree next spring. The Sunday evening service will be a high hour for everyone, as the public is cordially invited, the pastor said.

Tuesday evening of the past week, the youth of First Baptist church were hosts to the Castle Gap Association Youth Rally. There were 95 present for this meeting. The Ozona youth presented the worship program as well as led in a youth fun and fellowship meeting following. Watermelon was served on the lawn of the church.

The pastor invites everyone to be present for all the services on Sunday.

Looking from the top of the cooling tower can be seen the addition to the plant now under construction. The steel frame work, equal in height to a four story building, has been completed and brick are being laid for the walls. In the background is the existing plant building.

WTU RIO PECOS GENERATING PLANT EXPANDS TO KEEP PACE WITH PERMIAN BASIN GROWTH

For the second time in four years the generating capacity of West Texas Utilities Company's Rio Pecos Power Plant located in extreme northwest Crockett County, ten miles southeast of McCamey, is being increased to provide additional electric power for the oil fields of the Permian Basin.

Construction on the addition of the plant building to house a 33,000 KW turbo generating unit was started last fall, and at the present time, highlayers are completing the walls of the main building. When completed, it will reach a height equal to that of a modern four-story building.

Heavy equipment, already started arriving by rail and is being unloaded at the plant site from the trucks which run from the main line to the plant. Last week, the Westinghouse condenser, weighing more than 280,000 pounds, was unloaded and moved into position under the turbine pedestal. Both the steam drum and mud drum of the giant boiler have arrived, and workmen have started erection of the boiler. These two pieces of equipment weigh approximately 60,000 pounds each.

The largest piece of equipment, the turbine generator, will arrive in three sections — the Allis Chalmers steam turbine, the rotor and the generator. They have a combined weight of about 530,000 pounds.

WTU's Rio Pecos Plant is one of five steam generating stations which furnish electric light and power for 160 cities, towns and communities in West Texas and is connected with more than 3,300 miles of hi-lines.

The original plant, which consisted of three 6,000 KW generating units, was built in 1927 by the engineering firm of Ford, Bacon & Davis for the Pecos Valley Power & Light Company. Construction was started in May, 1927, and was placed in operation in August of the same year. The great Yates oil field was discovered in Pecos County near the town of Iran in 1926, and three years later, the Bakerfield pool was discovered. There was a need for an abundance of electric power for the oil fields, and the Rio Pecos Power Plant was the answer. At that time, there was no transmission line to bring power for 160 cities, towns and

INTEGRATION IS EVOLUTION

The widely advertised collision of the irresistible force and the immovable object, scheduled for the opening of school in Little Rock, Ark., has been postponed by an agreeably rational double-take by the Eighth US Circuit of Appeals in St. Louis.

Earlier, this seven-judge court had reversed, by a six-to-one decision, the order of US District Judge Harry J. Lemley granting the Little Rock school board a two-and-a-half-year delay in desegregating. Chief Judge Archibald K. Gardner, who wrote the dissenting opinion in the Lemley reversal, announced the stay and said it is granted to permit appeal to the US Supreme Court — which will reconvene in special session this week.

On the day before the latest action of the Appeals Court, President Eisenhower opened his news conference by reading a rather ponderous statement on the Little Rock impasse to the effect that "there can be no equivocation as to the responsibility of the Federal Government" in maintaining order and "compliance with the final orders of the court." This written statement, said to have been carefully drafted by the Department of Justice, was widely taken to mean that the President would again implement integration with Federal bayonets if he felt it necessary.

At the close of the written statement, the President added informally: "I continue to insist that the common sense of the individual and his feelings of civil responsibility must eventually come into play if we are to solve this problem." These words seemed rather out of harmony with the bristling language he had just read. On August 7th he had stressed that "mere law will never solve this problem."

In the writer of Southern maneuvering to retain control of its schools and its traditional social structure and still remain within the Supreme Court's interpretation of the Constitution, a single fact stands out in a sea of uncertainty. There will be no integration at Central High School when it opens. But there will be little education absorbed in Little Rock or anywhere else in the nation, North or South, where the High Court's irresponsible decision of 1954 has provided an unending field day for those who would destroy us by setting race against race in a section against section.

Attorney General Rogers' idea of swearing in shoals of informers as Deputy US Marshals is not likely to help. And, until the conduct of their own internal affairs is returned to the states, there can be no solution. In their own time, and in their own way, the several states will evolve integration. There is no other way.

BOAKING THE RICH WON'T PAY THE BILL

The entire taxable income of all American taxpayers who earned more than $10,000 in 1956 was only slightly over $11 billion. The government relieved them of a little more than $6 billion of this through the basic and progressive tax rates. But had Uncle Sam confiscated the entire amount, the additional $5 billion would have been only enough to run the government for about 25 days.

Present higher tax rates, in addition to making the rich, discourage people from trying to become rich, and a lot of enterprising talent and human effort are lost to the nation.

It is the way every man should see a woman dress — Pat Hutton.

TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE

Whatever other benefits may flow from the unanimous approval of the Arab nations' Middle East peace plan by the emergency session of the UN General Assembly, we can now hope for our Marines and Paratroopers to be out of Lebanon soon — perhaps by the end of September.

And in the same context we are glad to know that our delegation "thoroughly" approves the Arab countries' trying to deal themselves with the problem of protecting the independence of each of them. We, too, would much rather have the Arabs working at that chore than ourselves or the British or the Norwegians — or even the Russians.

But still, adoption of the Arab resolution by a vote of 80 to 0 does not make us innocent bystanders in the Middle East. Point three of the four points calls for "An economic development plan along the lines proposed by Mr. Eisenhower on August 13 and by Mr. Hammerskjold on August 8". However, as long as we're playing Santa Claus around the world, we might as well fill the Arabs' stockings, too.

The plan also requires each Arab state to pledge that it won't interfere in the affairs of the others; requests Secretary General Dag Hammerskjold to work out the early withdrawal of US and British troops; and delicately suggests that the Arab nations quit screaming at each other over their respective state radios.

We feel sure that all Americans will feel grateful to the Arabs for undertaking to do their own laundry — will wish them well and endorse their idea of working together so we won't have to hold them apart.

According to the U. S. Bureau of Advertising, ADVERTISING ranks first with women, over all other newspaper content, for interest and readership! Women actually read ads in preference to anything else in the newspaper. (For that matter, ads rank third with men for readership!) And reading the newspaper is a favorite habit with American women.

L. J. Kittle, who was seriously injured in a mysterious accident at the ranch recently, is reported improved this week. Mr. Kittle had started to bridle a horse and forty minutes later regained consciousness. He was lying beside the corral fence, both sides of his head bruised and bleeding and his neck injured. The horse was standing beside him, a rope around its neck. Mr. Kittle was alone at the ranch and it was near six hours before he could reach the house and telephone for help.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS From State Capitol

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Austin, Texas — Labor Day weekend is, by custom, summer's last fling. For millions it's a chance for a little more swimming, fishing or boating before school starts. But for safety officials, it's a headache. They spend the weekend picking up the pieces, tending to the score of those for whom this "last fling" was really the last.

Department of Public Safety statisticians who base their "guesses" on grim experience, predict 25 traffic deaths in Texas over the holiday weekend.

Out to beat the odds is a combination of public agencies and private organizations cooperating in a drive spearheaded by Gov. Price Daniel.

Texas Traffic Safety Council, the Governor's Highway Safety Commission and DPS will be assisted by several statewide civic organizations and trade associations in emphasizing the importance of careful driving.

DPS will have 700 patrolmen on duty with two radar speed units in each highway district.

No Special Session — Governor Daniel said he would not call a special session of the Legislature to extend unemployment payments to jobless Texans.

Atty Gen. Will Wilson recently ruled that Texas could not take advantage of a new federal plan to advance states money for 12 additional weeks of unemployment pay without a special law by the Legislature.

Governor Daniel pointed out that (1) the recession seemed to be easing, (2) the Legislature would be in regular session in less than five months and (3) more than half of the some 34,000 who had used up all their unemployment benefits were housewives, students or others only temporarily in the labor market.

But State AFL-CIO President Jerry Holleman sharply criticized the governor's position. He declared the state's unemployment workers have already lost $8,500,000 by Texas' failure to act.

Daniel retorted that the additional federal benefits were offered as a loan, not a gift, and would have to be repaid by Texas taxpayers. "It is not a matter of picking up free money."

Bigger Oil Flow — For the third straight month, Railroad Commission set the September allowable at 3,173,736 barrels a day on a 12-day producing pattern.

This will be a 228,302 barrel-a-day increase from August.

Oil production, cornerstone of the state's economy and prime source of tax revenue, was in a deep slump for more than a year. As demand dwindled and crude oil stocks piled up, the Railroad Commission was forced to make deeper and deeper cuts in permitted production. During April, May and June an all-time low of eight producing days was maintained.

Upturn began in July with nine days of production, continued in August with 11 days. At the hearing to set September production, the major craver asked for 14 days, saying his company's crude stocks were at the lowest level in 19 years.

Referees — A credentials committee has been appointed to settle any hassles that may come up as to which delegates shall be seated at the Sept. 9 Democratic convention in San Antonio.

Convention delegates announced by Executive Committee Chairman Jim Lindsey, are: Tom Sharp, Longview; James P. Bailey, Houston; Harry Blackburn, Mineral Wells; Arthur Harris Jr., Bay City; Mrs. Dorothy Gurley, Bay City.

Notice of convention (at least five are necessary) must be submitted to the committee in advance of the convention. Hearings will be held the day before the convention.

WHY Rx PRODUCTS ARE YOUR BEST BUY!

You take home a small bottle from our pharmacy and — in a few hours — your child is getting better. You buy the new drug your doctor prescribed and your rash soon disappears.

You've gotten used to buying drugs like these for just a few dollars. All the wealth in the world couldn't have bought them last year or the year before. We think you'll agree that what you pay for today's drugs is really a small price for the returns you get in health and comfort.

We expect to stock many more "miracles" for you soon. Last year alone, $400,000,000 was spent to make sure of this... $400,000,000 that paid for the talent, the time and the materials for medical research.

Almost one-third of that $400,000,000 was spent by the drug manufacturers. That's more than one-fifth of their profits before taxes. No other industry spends so much of its income on research. And in the next 5 years, some drug manufacturers expect to increase their research expenditures by as much as 300%.

That's your assurance that today's wonders won't cease... that the new drugs will be on our shelves when you need them.

Report to the People
by Congressman J. E. RUTHERFORD

THE CONGRESSIONAL Leaders have set late Saturday night, August 23rd, or the wee-hours of the following morning, as their adjournment date target. I hope they score a direct bull-eye on the target as I am ready to return to West Texas.

This has been a hectic session of Congress. It has been a session of controversy, crisis and challenges. It is always hard to get 100% in anything. It's difficult to get 100% good, or 100% bad, legislation. I am pleased to report, however, that once again I made a 100% voting-attendance record, and did not miss a moment of Congressional activity.

Since we seem to be a matter of hours away from adjournment as this is written, this will be the last regular Report to the People as it is written only during the time Congress is in session.

THE BIG NEWS DURING what appeared to be the final week of the session was not what the 85th Congress did but what it refused to do. Within the space of a single afternoon the House turned thumbs down on two major bills: the Kennedy-Ives Labor Reform Bill (which earlier had roared through the Senate with resounding 88 to 1 approval) and the Omnibus Housing Bill.

Both of these controversial measures were brought up under "suspension of the rules" in the House, meaning that a two-thirds majority was necessary for passage.

The Housing Bill almost made it, the vote ending 251 to 134 for passage, but it fell short of the required majority by a half-dozen votes. This came as something of a surprise, since the House was acting on a compromise version calling for approximately $1 billion as compared to the original bill which contained a potpourri of provisions calling for $2.4 billion to carry out various housing programs and related projects.

But the Labor Reform Bill was a horse of a different color. Republican Senator Ives of New York, co-author of the measure, said lobby-like opposition to it from "uninformed and misinformed business leaders and unethical labor leaders" brought about its defeat. With 137 Republicans voting solidly against the measure (compared to only 41 Republicans for; 61 Democrats against, 149 Democrats for) the final count doomed attempts to enact labor reform legislation at this session of Congress. The bill failed to gain even a simple majority in the midst of a partisan debate on the House Floor, as 190 members voted for it and 198 voted against it. The required two-thirds necessary for passage was obviously lacking from the outset.

Although the 85th Congress has shown much harmony between the political parties, it went a-beggin' during the Labor Reform Bill debate. Leading Republicans attacked the Democrats for trying to pass what they termed "a politically-inspired bill" by the use of "gag rule proceedings."

Democratic leaders counter-charged the Republicans paid only lip service to labor reform legislation, would not actually support a bill for that purpose and had rather have a "no reform" issue in the approaching Congressional campaigns than a bill, designed to bring about needed reforms.

When you push aside the political charges and counter-charges, one cold fact remains: defeat of the Kennedy-Ives Bill delays labor reform to another day, kills the matter for the present.

WASHINGTON Roundup: House and Senate Conferees have reached agreement on an $887 million National Defense Education Bill. Killing the President's proposal for outright Federal scholarships, the group set up loans to needy students, recommended a program of improved teacher education and purchase of science-teaching aids—The House also passed a Future Scientists of America bill, to establish clubs along the order of the present FFA clubs, for youngsters interested in science. States Right's took a blow to the chin when the Senate, by a razor-thin margin of 41-40, sent a Supreme Court curbing bill back to Committee. This late in the session, that action doomed the bill to death. The House had earlier enacted a similar measure. This the final session of the 85th Congress, all bills not enacted into law will die with adjournment. Some of the major measures not enacted this year may reasonably expect to be called up for further consid-

Biggs AFB Bombers To Fly Low Level Training Missions In This Area

Biggs AFB, TEX. — Strategic Air Command all-jet medium bombers from this base will begin low-level navigation training over several areas of the Southwest on Sept. 2, Col. S. E. Manzo, commander of the 810th Air Division here announced this week. All the missions will be flown during daylight under clear weather conditions, Col. Manzo said. The route which the aircraft will follow has been planned to avoid populated areas, and has been approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. The route will take the planes north of Ozona, between Ozona and Barnhart. Missions will be flown at approximately 500 feet above the ground by B-47 aircraft of the 97th Bombardment Wing here, the colonel said.

"Pilots of the aircraft flying these special training missions are required to fly the prescribed course exactly to avoid undue disturbance to people on the ground," Col. Manzo said. "The exercise," he continued, "is for the purpose of training SAC bomber crews in low-level navigation." The aircraft used for the training are not supersonic. Low-level tactics will begin approximately 20 miles northwest of Alpine, Texas. The aircraft will fly from this point in a southwesterly direction for approximately 40 miles, then turn northeast, passing just south of Marathon, Texas. At a point about 15 miles south of Big Lake, Texas, the airplanes will turn and go due east until they reach a point about 10 miles west of Brady, Texas, where they will turn and fly due north to a point 15 miles southeast of Haskell. The aircraft will then proceed on a northwesterly course until they are about 13 miles southwest of Childress. At this point they will fly a course directly to Amarillo, ending their low-level tactics at a point about 20 miles west of Memphis, Texas and about 60 miles from Amarillo. When they pass over Amarillo on a simulated bombing run, they will be at bombing altitude, several thousand feet above the ground.

Low-level exercises, such as this, are part of the Strategic Air Command's continuing training program to maintain a highly skilled, long-range striking force.

Football —

Don Powers, a squadman last year, will be counted on for additional help but has not put in an appearance as yet.

Up front, Coach Sonny Cleere is toughening up some of his best looking interior linemen in years but the thought of defensive ends is one causing great concern.

B. B. Ingham, Leslie Deland,
Ronnie Beall, Dickie Flannagan, Robert Rodriguez and Mark Baggett offer the most talent that position has seen in several years even if Johnny Cooper is shifted to end as seems likely.

At the guard position both of last year's starters, Billy Bob Holden and Kenneth Deland, are returning plus a third letterman, Adolfo Rivera, who played some defensive end last year. Tommy Porter, a real scrapper, and Wayne Albers, a soph, add depth to the position.

At center, B. B. Ingham is back and Ronnie Beall is being given a try and no trouble is being expected here.

The defensive ends are the current headache. Mark White and Jake Young, two of the best in the league last year, both departed with diplomas and only Adolfo Rivera and Don Powers, the latter of whom has not reported, gained any experience at the post last season. Joe McMullan, a squadman, and Jimmy Doran, a soph, plus Johnny Cooper, a senior tackle, are expected to take up the slack.

None have valuable game experience.

On offense, the ends may prove once again to be one of the Lions' real k. o. weapons. Jerry Jacobs, who scored 12 touchdowns last fall, is back bigger and stronger and as fast as ever but Humberto Cervantez failed to make enough grades last spring and is being replaced by Jim Williams, another tall, fast receiver.

The defensive halfbacks and safety post are expected to be filled without too much trouble but a third linebacker is going to be needed in some defensive patterns.
Dizzy Reeves and Billy Bob Holden are back but Cervantez is missing.

In summing up the situation the Lions do not have good over-all depth and lack a big boy in the backfield. There are no proven defensive ends and the quarterbacking situation is still open to question, all of which is on the negative side.

On the positive side, the Lions will have great speed in the posts where speed is most commonly expected and seems very deep in both numbers and experience in the vital mid-line positions. The backs have both speed and experience and the offensive ends are real rabbits likely to go all the way any time.

Over all squad experience is better than average and from there it's anyone's guess what will happen.

NORTH MOTOR COMPANY

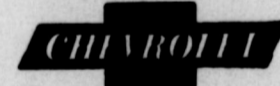

Avenue E and 9th St. — Ozona, Texas

There's nothing like one of these Chevies to give you a fast case of new-car fever. But, low-priced as they are, you're likely to find yourself sold on one before you've even considered the cost.

That's because Chevrolet is the only honest-to-goodness new car in its field—new to look at, with a beautiful new Body by Fisher; new to ride in, with two completely new suspension systems; new to drive, with a wider-than-ever selection of engines and a solid, road-smug Safety-Girdle frame. Yet all the V8-powered Chevies shown here—plus six even lower priced 6's—cost less than any comparable models in the leading low-priced three. Talk it over with your Chevrolet dealer.

Texas Spelunkers -

by Harvey Jackson of Corpus Christi and "Speleothesms" will be discussed by George W. Moore of the Yale University department of geology who is presently in charge of an exploration at Carlsbad Caverns for the Geological Survey.

The public is invited to all sessions of the convention but the uninitiated spelunker probably will be most interested in the Saturday night program which will start at 7 p. m. It will be devoted to showing of movies and slides of caving in France and in the U. S.

Three films of cave explorations in France, made available through the cultural exchange agency of the United Nations, will be shown. Slides of caves in Texas will be shown by Bart Crisman, and James Quinlan will show a series of slides of caves in Virginia and West Virginia. Mills Tandy of Ozona will show a fascinating collection of slides taken of Texas and New Mexico caves, many of them snapped in caves in this area discovered by the Ozona group.

Sunday afternoon will feature a meeting of the Board of Governors of the Texas Region in the high school library, and at 8 p. m. the convention will come to a close with a banquet at El Sombrero Cafe. Featured speaker at the banquet will be George W. Moore of Yale University, who will speak on the "Importance of Earth Tides and Bacteria to Speleology."

A post-convention field trip to Abyss Sinkhole, 35 miles northwest of Ozona will be available to spelunkers and others interested Monday morning Sept. 1. The 100-foot vertical entrance shaft will be descended by parachute harness rig such as that used at the Devils Sinkhole. Parties will leave from the high school building at 9 a. m. for the sinkhole site.

In addition to movies and slides, there will be a display of speleological equipment such as speleodiving equipment, fossil bone displays, cave insects under microscope and pictures from the 1958 NSS photo salon. These exhibits will be displayed in the gymnasium Saturday morning and again Sunday afternoon.

Fashions From Mohair Fabric To Be Featured By San Antonio Store

The week of September 8th will be "Mohair Week" at the "Greatest Store in the Greatest State" when Joske's of Texas goes all out to present the exciting new fashions made of mohair. For the first time in history, mohair fabrics are being acclaimed by leading designers of women's apparel.

Not only does Joske's plan on full window displays during the week, but on Tuesday, September 9th, at the Menger Hotel in San Antonio, they are having a Style Show Luncheon at which time the latest fashions of mohair will be modeled. The present Miss Mohair, Gail Nichols of Uvalde, and her Court will be guests of honor at this "Coronation Luncheon."

The Texas Angora Goat Raisers Committee on Promotion hopes that Joske's will receive the deserved support of the producers in this, their first attempt to introduce this miracle fiber to the public.
