MORE CHOPPING TO DO

A roll call vote in the House that failed by four votes to override President Eisenhower's veto of the REA bill (to strip from Agriculture Secretary Benson the authority to pass on Rural Electrification Administration loans), may mean as much to America as did the cackling of those geese in Rome a few centuries ago.

In sustaining President Eisenhower's position of never having been overridden, and having made every veto stick, the 142 Republicans out of the 148 in the House (six defected) voted as might have been expected, but the four Democrats who saved the day by exactly that number were the real heroes. For posterity, we might mention they are Joseph Barr of Indiana, Harold B. McSween of Louisiana, William Jennings Bryan Dorn of South Carolina and David S. King of Utah.

With his axe remaining bright, untarnished and without a nick, the President should feel he can swing it with more confidence than ever. And, with the liberals (liberal with our money) running the nation's law foundry, there will be plenty of chopping to do if appropriations are held within several billions of the Chief Executive's cherished budget.

In fact, our President might start on the bill passed by voice vote the same day giving the Department of Health, Education and Welfare $131 million more than he asked for — a staggering total of $3,348,472,281 for activities that have no proper place in the Federal Government anyway!

One swallow, they say, doesn't make a summer. But just one crow makes tough eating for the spending-happy majority.

Directors of Gonzales Hospital Seek Answer To Financial Problems

Gonzales — Directors of the Southwest's oldest rehabilitation hospital for the physically disabled will meet May 2 and 3 to decide the basis for continuing operation in the face of a large deficit.

This hospital, the Texas Rehabilitation Center of the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation, has treated more than 5,000 handicapped persons since its first building was opened in 1941 and depends on private contributions for a major part of its operating money.

The Center's directors are chosen from every part of the state in recognition of the fact that patients have come from 217 of Texas' 254 counties.

This year's annual directors meeting will start with general sessions and committee meeting in the Driskill Hotel in Austin, May 2, and continue Sunday, May 3, at the Warm Springs Foundation located between Luling and Gonzales, off Highway 183.

More than three-fourths of the Centers' patients have seriously disabling conditions such as those resulting from strokes, spinal cord injuries, cerebral palsy and muscular dystrophy. Patients undergoing rehabilitation treatment for the effects of polio seldom number more than one fourth of the hospital population.

A non-profit, charitable hospital, patients are accepted regardless of their ability to pay, their race, color or creed. Admittance is granted if the treatment program will be of value to the patient and if the patient has a doctor's referral. Custodial cases are not accepted.

Fall in love with your car again

Remember how proud you were of your new car when you saw it in the showroom? We'd like to do all we can to keep that car as close to new as possible.

We know that next to your home, it's your biggest investment and therefore deserves the best care in the world. To us this means more than just keeping it supplied with top-quality gasoline and oil. It means extra service—the kind of service that makes your car a pleasure to drive while you own it, makes it worth more when you trade it in.

Making friends with your car is our business. And making that friendship pay off for you is our job in America's competitive and progressive oil industry. So why don't you bring your car in today — and find out for yourself that we mean all we say!

TODAY—OIL BUILDS for your TOMORROW!

Chevy pickup pulls through "bottomless" pastures to keep stock fed!

At the Hall Bros. Dairy Farm, Montgomery, Ala., they say this 4-wheel drive Chevy will go anywhere to keep stock fed—even through hub-deep muck that makes it a fight all the way. And get after a full year of it—no mechanical trouble of any kind!

That Chevy pickup may not win any beauty awards (till it's cleaned up). But it's sure walking off with the top prize for dependability. And that's standard Chevrolet procedure. Put a Chevy truck to work and it keeps on working until you say quit. Not before. We aren't claiming that every Chevrolet truck is turning out to be a miracle-worker and averaging 100,000 miles before a valve job. (Even though some are going 150,000!) You're sure to find, however, that you can't buy more truck dependability at any price. And that's borne out by the fact that more truck owners put their faith, and their pay-loads, in Chevrolets than in any other make. Take your lead and schedule figures to your Chevrolet dealer. He'll specify the best way to handle both and save in the bargain.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

Now's the time—see your local authorized Chevrolet dealer for a real truck buy!

HOW TO TELL BAD NEWS

Anonymous

Mr. H. "Ha! Steward, how are you, my old boy?"

How do things at home?"

Steward "Bad enough, your honor; the magpie's dead."

H. "Poor Mag! So he's gone. How came he to die?"

S. "Overeat himself sir."

H. "Did he? A greedy dog; why what did he get he liked so well?"

S. "Horseflesh, sir; he died of eating horseflesh."

H. "How come he to get so much horseflesh?"

S. "All your father's horses, sir."

H. "What! Are they dead, too?"

S. "Ay, sir; they died of overwork."

H. "And why were they overworked, pray?"

S. "To carry water, sir."

H. "To carry water! and what were they carrying water for?"

S. "Sure, sir, to put out the fire."

H. "Fire! What fire?"

S. "O, sir, your fathers house is burned to the ground."

H. "My father's house burned down and how come it to get on fire?"

S. "I think, sir, it must have been the torches."

H. "Torches! What torches?"

S. "At your mother's funeral."

H. "My mother's dead!"

S. "Ah, poor lady! she never looked up, after it."

H. "After what?"

S. "The loss of your father."

H. "My father gone, too?"

S. "Yes, poor gentleman! he took to bed as soon as he heard of it."

H. "Heard of what?"

S. "The bad news, sir and please your honor."

H. "What! more miseries! more bad news!"

S. "Yes, sir; your bank has failed, and your credit is lost, and you are not worth a shilling in the world. I make bold, sir, to wait on you about it, for a thought you would like to hear the news."

A USEFUL INVENTION

One of the most useful inventions to be invented is the sunglasses. Have you ever stopped to think of the many uses of a single pair of them?

The most common use is to keep the sun out of your eyes. Why, everyone wants a pair of sunglasses when in the sun. Some people wear them to keep other people from recognizing them.

And then some even wear them after dark. If you know why, please notify me.

I have heard tell of people putting them on the minute they awake in the morning. How about that?!

Doctors even prescribe sunglasses for eye diseases such as pink-eye.

Some of the boys have the new kind that looks like a mirror on the outside. That's so the girls can put on lipstick. They apparently are useful in the classroom also. (You can't tell where the wearer is looking.)

Do your eyes feel tired. Go buy a pair of sunglasses.

BY a vote of 5 to 4, the Supreme Court this week struck at what has long been considered the basic tenet of our freedom.

It has long been held, back to the origin of English common law, that a man's home is his castle; that the home may be protected from invasion without due process of law, by the exclusion of those persons whom the occupants wish to exclude.

This is written into our Bill of Rights thusly: "The rights of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized."

This has long been held to mean that the home might not be invaded without good cause and except in unusual or critical circumstances; ie, only officers in direct pursuit of a person whom they have reason to believe has committed a crime, or officers summoned to the home during an unlawful disturbance, may be admitted in the absence of a lawful warrant.

But by the 5-4 vote, the Supreme Court has now said it is not always necessary for an officer to have a warrant to enter a person's home. The case came about because of a Baltimore man refused to allow a Health Inspector into his home to inspect for rats, in the absence of a warrant. Whether the Baltimore man had reason to doubt the man was an inspector, whether he just disliked Government officials in general, or whether he just wanted to remain undisturbed so that he might take a shower, read a book or bake a pizza pie is really not important. The basic point is, he chose not to have his home invaded without the process of law, and in so doing he exercised his privilege under the Bill of Rights. The inspector could have gone to Court, declared his reasons for needing the warrant, and returned a few hours later to fulfil what he considered his duty. Surely the public interest or public health standards would not have been harmed by this few hours delay in order to give the Baltimore man due process of law and protection of his individual rights.

The intent of the Bill of Rights in this regard was to protect the private citizen from harassment from hordes of government agents, whether they were sheriffs, policemen, tax collectors, soldiers, truant or welfare inspectors, or whatever, without due cause. It was written to protect the insignificant few as well as the many; not to make it easier for Governments to examine or probe or inspect, but to afford individual liberty to the people; to maintain the dignity of man.

Perhaps the decision may seem a small thing to some. But who is to say if a health inspector can come into your home without a warrant that the sheriff, the policeman, the tax agent, the military may not follow? To be sure the Court in its decision attempted to set down strict rules for entering a home without a warrant, under certain conditions; but in the end, the power is left to mere man, subject to human frailties, likely to violate the rights of individuals, to gain his goal of the moment.

It appears to me, and to many other Congressmen to whom I have talked as well, that the Court took a dangerous step in this decision to permit the home to be invaded without due process of law — whatever the reason. Some Members are talking about spelling the right out in legislation, but I don't know how it can be made clearer than the way it is now written in the Bill of Rights.

Watch Dale Robertson in Tales of Wells Fargo on NBC-TV Monday Nights

Along with the most talked about style on the road today goes performance new even to owners of previous Buicks... and too great for you to miss.

Buick '59 is livelier yet smoother, more powerful yet thrifter, as any previous Buick owner will tell you. And credit goes to the turbine smoothness of Buick transmissions, plus the new responsiveness of Buick "Wildcat" engines.

At the wheel, too, you'll find new handling ease and finned-brake sureness that owners put high on their "most liked" list.

But that's far from all these owners tell us. They talk about new operating economy from the most efficient power plant on the road today. About quality of finish and detail, and of quietness that even beats the best of Buick heretofore. They speak of reliability... and they speak of the pure pleasure of owning a Buick '59... in ways that warm the heart.

But the best spokesman for Buick '59—and what it can do for you—is a Buick itself. Why not go to your Buick dealer and get the inside story, today?

Notes From The County Agent's Office
 By Pete W. Jacoby
 Spring brings a variety of hungry insects and it's time to stock the garden shelf with ammunition to protect flowers, shrubs, grass, and trees from damage, says Sadie Hatfield, extension specialist in homestead improvement.
 There is no miracle insecticide. You will need at least four different packages on the shelf. Include DDT, chlordane, poison bait and malathion, suggests the specialist.
 Malathion spray or dust will kill aphids, lace bugs, and red spider mites. Use a spray for white flies and young scale in the crawling stage.
 A 10 percent chlordane dust will kill cut worms, leaf-eating caterpillars, sowbugs, termites, flea hoppers, grasshoppers, cedar bag worms and many kinds of beetles. It is our best control for red ants.
 A 10 percent DDT dust will control thrips, blister beetles and other beetles, army worms and many other worms. It also kills some of the insects mentioned above such as lace bugs, pill bugs, sowbugs and termites.
 Use bait on slugs and snails. It also kills sow bugs and other insects. Finely ground bug bait is as effective as the large pellets and is not eaten by birds.
 To get best results from insecticides, read directions on the package carefully and follow them as given. Also check for safety precautions in use. Some insecticides are very deadly.
 In 1957, 236 of Texas' 254 counties sold some wool under the incentive payment program. This and other information is contained in a miscellaneous publication released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station titled, "Sales, Incentive Payments and Prices for Texas Wool."
 Texas produced 39,409,000 lbs. of wool in 1957. Only 57 percent, or slightly more than half, of the wool produced was reported for incentive payments during the 1957 marketing year. The remaining 43 percent, was not sold, primarily because of an unfavorable market, and was carried into the 1958 marketing year.

 A total of 14,830 producers filed applications in 1957, an average of slightly more than 60 per county. The number of applications ranged from 1 to about 750 per county. The average number of pounds per producer was 1,520.
 Texas wool growers received slightly less than $2,000,000 through the incentive payment program on shorn wool for the 1957 marketing year.
 143 Crockett County producers marketed 1,775,879 pounds of wool in 1957 on which incentive payments were made. Gross sales in Crockett County amounted to $1,097,324.30 and they received net incentive payments amounting to $131,079.20. Average price before incentive payment was 54.1 cents per pound and 61.5 including net incentive payment.
 Crockett County ranked second to Val Verde County in pounds of wool marketed in Texas in 1957. 181 producers in Val Verde County marketed 1,851,314 pounds of wool and received 70.2 cents per pound with incentive.
 The top fifteen counties in Texas ranked as follows in pounds of wool marketed: Val Verde, Crockett, Terrell, Uvalde, Gillespie, Coleman, Kinney, Mills, Tom Green, Burnet, Lampasas, Menard, Coryell, Pecos, and Edwards.
 How much of a problem is the infertile bull in our beef herds today? According to a recent survey approximately seven percent of the bulls in Texas are infertile. These bulls represent just as much financial investment as bulls doing a satisfactory job of settling cows.
 The survey was conducted by the Department of Animal Husbandry, Texas A&M System, in cooperation with over 100 beef cattle producers at 33 Texas locations. Information was gathered on 1,389 bulls. No attempt was made to select bulls of certain ages or breeds, or from certain parts of the state.
 Bulls were rated for fertility as satisfactory, questionable or cull. Of all bulls tested, 84 percent rated satisfactory, 9 percent questionable, and 7 percent cull.
 This and other information is available in a new bulletin released jointly by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, entitled "Testing Bulls for Fertility."
