Kitty's Korner

There's lots of poltrickin' going on around these parts these days, what with the races for the 21st Congressional District (U.S.) and the 70th Representative District (State) wide open. We sincerely regret the loss of Congressman O. C. Fisher and of State Representative Hilary Doran. However, we've met some interesting new faces in the various candidates who have seen fit to visit us.

We don't make it a habit to endorse candidates in these races. We've always felt that at the local and district level our subscribers were smart enough to figure out which fellow to vote for and probably knew as much about it as we did.

We are going to make an exception in the U. S. Congressional race. We like John Poerner. Not that we have any particular bias toward any of the other candidates. We just think John is the type of conservative, country boy legislator we need to represent us in Washington. We feel he will be responsive to us rural folks as well as to city dwellers. We are impressed with his work in the Texas Legislature and feel that he has the background to do a good job for our district.

We'd appreciate your giving him some consideration when you mark your ballot May 4.

We have decided that the FFA and 4-H Range Judging teams should not have to go (CONTINUED ON LAST PAGE)

Skiles Is Speaker At Historical Meeting

On Monday evening in the Auditorium-Coliseum, some fifty members and guests enjoyed hearing Guy Skiles of Langtry, Texas, reminisce about his life in that fabled area, where he has lived since about 1903. He has worked as a cowboy on ranches in the United States and Mexico, on the railroad, and has been a guide for many notable people as they explored the rivers and caves. He was introduced with an original poem, "Guy Skiles," by Ted M. White, vice-president and program chairman of the Historical Society.

The authenticity of Mr. Skiles' stories is obvious and his unique, humorous manner of sharing them with his listeners is a delight to hear. There were stories of Judge Roy Bean, of course, such as the one about the Fitzsimmons-Mayer Prize Fight which, after much publicity, lasted only one minute. But it was the staging of this fight that made Roy Bean the fabled character that he became. It was also Roy Bean, Skiles said, that made Langtry, where last year more than 103,000 travelers visited the State Museum which has been erected there.

The building of the railroad from San Antonio to El Paso, one crew starting from the east and one from the west, was an almost unbelievable feat for it was completed in little more than two years--1881-1883--with only hand labor, horses, carts and shovels. The western crew was composed largely of Chinese, at one time numbering more than 4,000 workers whose mortality rate in the construction was estimated to be at least 49%. The eastern crew was made up of many nationalities but the majority were Irish. The numerous construction camps along the right-of-way were the scenes of many events and Mrs. and Mr. Skiles exhibited numerous items that they have gathered from such sites. Also, they had most interesting Indian artifacts from the numerous caves they have explored.

The stories of life on a remote ranch in Mexico brought laughs, especially when he told of trying to get a snake-bitten cowboy to a doctor. With (CONTINUED ON LAST PAGE)

"We need your response more than ever this year and the Ranch is counting on your generosity to help them meet their obligations in caring for these boys."

GIVING PRESIDENT NIXON CREDIT

President Nixon no doubt could empathize with a lament of Brigham Young, the 19th century Mormon prophet and colonizer. In a letter to Jefferson Davis, Young spoke of the "utter uselessness" of trying to vindicate his character from attacks against it: "When the vile slander is fairly refuted, and truth appears in the most incontestable manner, it is permitted to lie quietly upon the shelf to slumber the sleep of death."

President Nixon's character likewise has been under constant bombardment and, with Brigham Young, he can fairly say that even the praiseworthy things he does seem to be overlooked by those seeking his political downfall.

Here, then, for the record. It was President Nixon who, after a decade of U.S. fighting in Vietnam, extricated our forces from that country and orchestrated the return of some 600 American POWs early in 1973.

It was President Nixon who created Henry Kissinger, our globe-trotting super solver of the world's problems. Without the skill and courage of a Richard Nixon, there could be no Henry Kissinger. Kissinger received the Nobel Peace Prize but Mr. Nixon earned it.

It was President Nixon who last year presided over the first major turnabout in the nation's growing welfare rolls in 20 years. Through insisting on tighter management practices at both the Federal and State levels of government, 255,000 persons — many of them welfare cheaters — were removed from the rolls of the program of Aid to Families with Dependent Children, saving the U.S. Treasury 800 million annually.

And it was President Nixon who, when faced recently with nearly a half-million-dollar tax liability, quietly agreed to pay it rather than contest the amount as virtually any other American taxpayer would have done.

Mr. Nixon's administration obviously has had plenty of problems. But let's not forget it also has had some outstanding successes.

SIMPLIFY THOSE TAX LAWS

Now that April 15 has come and passed, we wonder whether it is safe to relax just because we beat the deadline with our income tax returns.

It used to be, in those good old days, that anyone with a fair amount of common sense could do his own income tax return. Now and then, of course, it would be necessary to get a little professional help. But generally speaking, if you were on a salary or were self-employed, it was a nuisance and perhaps a headache to complete tax forms, but that was about all. Once you had it done you could feel the matter had been put to rest for another year.

But not now. All you can do is sit around uneasily, waiting to see if the other shoe is going to drop. Or, more precisely, waiting to see if the Internal Revenue Service will decide it wants to audit your return.

Now they even have computers. And what a computer can do to you! It can look over your report and, for a reason known only to those who run those horrible machines, decide you are going to have to explain the whole thing. Worse than that, you are going to have to come up with receipts for every penny.

The big trouble as we see it is that the income tax laws are so complex that they need a major review and simplification.

Each year the number of tax reports that are audited increases. And, each year more and more people are hiring accountants, lawyers, and tax experts to help them with the pages and pages of required forms.

But the laws are so incredibly complex that even the experts differ on interpretation of the various clauses. As a result, many a taxpayer has found himself facing an audit after doing everything he could to file an honest report.

We can only come to one conclusion. The income tax laws have gotten out of hand and should be rewritten and simplified before another year rolls around.

In a stroke of generosity, the House, just before its 10-day recess, approved an addition to a supplemental appropriation bill which calls for an extra $154.5 million to provide 100,000 additional "public service" jobs for unemployed. This multi-billion dollar manpower program was authorized last December. It is described as a glorified WPA-type program, sure to grow because with its high pay rates many of those thus employed will choose to remain unemployable elsewhere.

Second Chance For Turkey Hunters

Miss getting a turkey last fall? You've got a second chance at the end of April when spring turkey season rolls around in 39 counties.

April 27 - May 5 is set for most counties: Archer, Baylor, Bell, Blanco, Brown, Burnet, Callahan, Clay, Coleman, Comanche, Cooke, Coryell, Crockett, Dallas, Denton, Eastland, Ellis, Hamilton, Jack, Johnson, McCulloch, Menard, Mills, Montague, Palo Pinto, Parker, Schleicher, Shackelford, Stephens, Sutton, Tarrant, Throckmorton, Val Verde, Wichita, Wilbarger, Wise and Young.

A special April 21 - 29 season also is scheduled for Bandera and Kerr Counties. Hunters may take one turkey gobbler during the spring turkey season.

Department officials say that there should be ample adult gobblers this year in both the Edwards Plateau and Possum Kingdom Regulatory Districts. Overall numbers in the southwest Edwards Plateau are down because of low production last spring but this will affect only the amount of yearling turkeys in that area.

This is only the fourth year of the springtime gobbler season and indications are that the hunt is gaining in popularity with both hunters, as outdoor recreation at a time of little traditional hunting, and with landowners as a source of income.

Wildlife biologists say that the Rio Grande turkey is an underutilized resource in Texas and probably more birds die of natural causes each year than are killed by hunters.

One turkey gobbler is capable of mating with many hens, so reproduction of the flock is not hindered by spring hunting. But don't get the idea that spring turkey hunting is a piece of cake.

The key to a successful spring hunt is the ability to imitate the call of a lovesick turkey hen. As with other types of game calling, unskilled turkey calling is worse than none at all.

A deer rifle can double as a turkey gun. The .22 rimfire, while illegal for use on deer, is permitted for turkeys and is adequate in the hands of a marksman.

Many hunters prefer a shotgun loaded with number six shot for a head shot, but if hit in the body, the birds are difficult to bring down and buckshot might be more effective for long shots.

A turkey's eyesight is extremely keen and concealment is necessary and movement must be kept to a minimum. Blinds or camouflage clothing are essential to success.

Turkey, like quail, cannot be stockpiled. The status of the population at any time is directly proportional to the quality of the habitat.

When times are good, populations flourish. These populations decline when drought and food shortage prevail.

Legal hunting has little to do with the annual ups and downs in turkey numbers.

Land use plays a much bigger role in the dynamics of the turkey population.

Dobra Says:
Restoring old leather can put "new life" in many objects. Leatherbound books, boxes, dressing cases, trunks, leather-upholstered furniture and tables with leather tops are a few examples.

To treat "dead" leather--the powdery, slightly rotten kind--apply a mixture of 30 parts castor oil to 20 parts alcohol. The next day, treat it with pure castor oil. If dry, crumbly and shrunken, a treatment with saddle soap sometimes will make leather flexible again. Apply saddle soap with a small, almost dry sponge. Use a soft brush to work soap into crevices.

Restoration also includes replacing weak or rotten stitching with thread coated with beeswax. Consumers can wash dirty leather--if they're careful. Some stains will run, so check a small area first--before tackling the whole job. Also determine how the leather is fastened together. Washing it may melt adhesives.

When cleaning leather, use pure soaps--not too much warm water--and wipe carefully. Not all leather can be restored. When leather is severely deteriorated, replace it with old leather of a similar color and finish.

Consider your figure when selecting a zipper for a garment. Many dress patterns call for a 22-inch zipper. However, homesevers might actually need other lengths.
For example, a short person may find an 18- or 20- inch zipper better proportioned--and more comfortable. A taller girl, on the other hand, may need a longer zipper for convenience when dressing or undressing. Thus, a 24-inch zipper makes a better choice for her.

Other factors also influence zipper length. For one, consider hip width--especially for pants and skirts. This dictates how much room a person needs to get in and out of a garment.

Another factor to keep in mind is garment design. If a skirt's zipper shows below the jacket hem, the outfit loses some of its appeal. To avoid this, use two shorter zippers--applied in two seams. Or, utilize a hidden zipper that's completely inconspicuous.

Mrs. Skalak is Honored At ASU Honors Program

Kathryn F. Green Skalak of Ozona, wife of Joe Skalak, coach in the junior high tennis department, was one of several hundred students at Angelo State University who were honored during the University's seventh annual Academic Excellence and Honors Program held recently in the Houston Harte University Center.

Mrs. Skalak, a senior elementary education major, received recognition for Scholarship. A 1969 graduate of Reagan High School, Big Lake, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Green.

Recognition for Academic Excellence is awarded to juniors and seniors who have maintained a 3.75 or better grade point average throughout their university work and who have been nominated by the departments in which they are majoring.

Recognition for Achievement and Leadership is given those students who have made outstanding contributions to their departments and who have been nominated by the departments in which they are majoring. Students honored in this category must have maintained a 2.50 or better grade point average.

A reception for the honorees and their families was held following the evening program.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

As flower show time approaches each year, we are all apprehensive when a freeze, hail or tornado alert is given. Last week when the hail started I thought, there goes our flower show, but it lasted only a few minutes. For the last three or four years we have had one or the other. Fortunately, the three most featured plants in our area that everyone seems to enjoy most were about at their peak of bloom.

The peonies, iris and roses didn't seem to have known there was a drought for over six months. They and many other colorful flowers presented a beautiful and artistic show.

After the flowers of Easter lilies fade, cut back the plant 3 or 4 inches and transplant outdoors. They will continue to grow outside, but the annual flowering date will be later than forced plants.

Don't be alarmed if evergreens such as abelia, live oak, photinia, loquat and magnolia are shedding their older leaves. Mature leaves are being replaced by new growth.

Dahlias and Chrysanthemums should be divided and replanted this month. To grow large dahlia flowers, allow only the top bud to develop on each stem. New growth buds occur only at the end of the dahlia tuber connected to the underground stem. When separating be sure each tuber includes a portion of the underground stem along with a new growth bud.

Plant in deep, fertile, well-drained soil in a location that gets full sun for at least 6 hours each day. Carefully cut the tubers apart with a sharp knife. The hole should be about 24 inches wide and 18 inches deep for each plant. With 2 parts soil, mix 1 part organic matter (peat moss, leaf mold, compost) and 1/2 cup of complete fertilizer (6-10-5) to fill each hole. Space tubers 3 to 4 feet apart if large size flowers or exhibition type. For smaller type, space 2 feet apart.

Plant in a horizontal position about 5 inches deep, with growth bud pointed upward beside a sturdy stake which extends 6 feet above the ground. Cover the tuber with about 2 inches of soil and fill in the remainder of the hole as the shoot develops. Each month after planting, fertilize with 1/2 cup fertilizer per plant. As the plants grow larger, increase the rate to 1 cup.

Adequate moisture must be provided during the growing season to promote vigorous growth and flower production. This may mean soaking the soil once or twice a week during dry periods. A mulch will help to conserve soil moisture. Allow only four main branches to develop. Tie to stake as the branches grow upward.

Junior 4-H Grass And Range Judging

The Ozona Junior 4-H Grass and Range Judging team was in San Angelo last Thursday for the Annual Range Judging Contest.

Will Hoover was third high individual in junior range placings and fifth in junior over-all high.

The junior team won second in the team placings, with team members Will Hoover, Melinda Hokit, Cliff McMullan and Les Hale participating.

The 4-Hers were accompanied by coaches Cyndie Corbell and Bill Hoover. Mrs. Hoover was also present on the trip.

The 4-H team will go to Odessa Saturday, April 27, for District 4-H Elimination contest and will participate in the Grass Judging Contest.

Tomatoes Will Thrive In Hanging Baskets

AUSTIN--Hanging baskets of tomatoes are educational, decorative and their contents taste good too.

"They are a wonderful way to teach small children who have never been near a farm to appreciate growing the food they eat," said Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Hanging baskets take care, White said, but there is no threat of serious insect or disease problems. Artificial sterilized soil is used and the plant, in its hanging basket, is removed from easy contamination.

Though tomatoes can be started from seed, it is best to buy young plants and transplant them. Small fruited varieties are best. They should bear fruit in 45-60 days.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture gives the following tips for a flourishing plant.

Use any container that will hold at least two quarts of potting soil. Plastic bottles or gallon-size milk containers will do. Cut the tops off if necessary and punch four or five holes in the bottom for drainage. Tie a cord or hemp bag around the container to make a hanging basket. Attach a pie pan or a commercially available drip catcher to the bottom to keep excess water from dripping on the floor.

Use bagged potting soil, adding to each bushel of mix four ounces of pulverized dolomitic limestone, four ounces of 20 percent superphosphate and two ounces of 5-10-5 fertilizer. Mix thoroughly. Add enough water so that the soil crumbles in large masses but is not soggy.

Cover the drainage holes with coffee filters or some similar porous material to hold soil place. Line the container bottom with two inches of coarse material--washed cinders, crushed rock, shredded plastic containers--to permit easy draining. Cover with a half-inch layer of a finely crushed substance. Fill container with moistened soil mix to within an inch of the top.

Hold the potted tomato plant on its side and tap gently until the soil ball and plant fall out. Remove the network of roots on the bottom of the soil ball. Place the soil ball into a freshly-dug hole and firm it into the surrounding media to insure adequate water movement and knitting in of the root system.

Place the plant wherever it will get at least six hours of direct sunlight daily. Water immediately after planting with a solution containing one-fifth the fertilizer recommended for houseplants. Wait to water again until the leaf color changes from dark to pale green and the plant begins to wilt. Each time you water--every three to seven days--wait until the plant wilts and use the same amount of water and fertilizer.

Pick off yellowing or damaged leaves. As the plant develops, remove some branches to prevent crowding and to promote development of new flowering shoots. Turn the container every week so the plant develops symmetrically and all tomatoes receive equal light.

"Your bonus for this effort will be delicious vine-ripened tomatoes," said White, "plus some new understanding of what it takes to raise them."

Screwworm Season Due For Crockett Co

Livestock producers should be aware that 1974 has the earmarks of an extremely bad screwworm season, and should make every effort to reduce the number of outbreaks. This word comes from County Extension Agent, Pete Jacoby.

Program officials are asking producers to refrain from livestock surgery or other man-made wounds to prevent screwworm infestations. The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association has pointed out that at least 30 percent of this season's cases have resulted from dehorning, branding, docking and similar practices.

County Agent Pete Jacoby urges all livestock producers to support the screwworm eradication effort by carrying out three key practices: 1. inspecting their animals frequently, 2. treating all wounds found with an approved product, and 3.

collecting and sending worm samples from wounds to the USDA Screwworm laboratory at Mission, Texas, for identification. The post office box is 969.

As cases are confirmed, sterile screwworm fly treatment is initiated by the USDA. "It is vitally important for program officials to know where cases are happening in order to begin the sterile fly treatment before cases are too numerous," the County Agent reminds.

As spring migrations of fertile flies from south of the Rio Grande continue, the cases move northward across Texas rather rapidly. Already, positive cases have been confirmed as far north as Brown and Haskell counties, so all southern, central and west Texas areas should watch for screwworms, says Jacoby.

OHS Band Plans Spring Shearing In Poor Boy Supper

A meeting of the Ozona Band Boosters was held in the band hall Thursday evening, with Sonny Kirklen presiding.

Claude Montya, treasurer, reported a balance in the bank of $166.00.

It was decided that the Committee for the Poor Man's Supper would meet Wednesday, April 24 at 3:30 p.m. in the band hall.

Lane Scott, band director, announced that 147 students had pre-registered for next year's High School band.

Scott announced also that the Junior High School band concert will be held at 2:30 p.m., Thursday, April 25, in the auditorium and that they had planned a varied program for the entertainment of parents and friends.

Tickets are now on sale for the Poor Man's Supper to be held in the Civic Center on Tuesday, April 30 from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., with funds raised going toward the purchase of the special audio-visual teaching aid for band students, and not toward end of the year band activities as was formerly reported.

The annual band concert will be held at the football field at 8 p.m., following the Poor Man's Supper. Students are preparing many surprises and excellent entertainment for Ozona residents attending the concert, and it is hoped that there will be a big turnout for both the supper and the concert in appreciation for the many hours of hard work and practice put in by band members.

The Band Sweetheart will be named at the concert and the John Philip Sousa Award will be given.

"Spring shearing of goats and sheep is under way in Crockett County and 1974 promises to be a profitable year for the mohair and wool producer," Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

Though production figures for the 1974 season are not expected to equal the spectacular 1973 yields, goat and sheep raisers can look for substantial increases over previous slump years.

Sheep shearing, underway for the 12-month clip, is expected to run into the first of June. Producers in the southern part of the state who clip twice a year have completed their first clipping.

BARBECUED BEEF TURNOVERS

Make a two-crust recipe for pastry and store in refrigerator while making this sauce.

2 cloves of garlic
1/2 green pepper
1 small onion
2 Tbsp. butter
2 Tbsp. brown sugar
2 cups chopped leftover roast beef
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 c. catsup
1/2 c. cold water
2 Tbsp. vinegar
2 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/2 tsp. black pepper
1/2 tsp. hot pepper sauce

Chop garlic, pepper and onion finely and cook in skillet with melted butter until wilted. Add remaining ingredients and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Put 2 cups chopped leftover roast beef in bowl and add enough sauce to moisten well. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Roll pastry on floured board to thickness 1/8 inch. Cut into 9-inch squares and put mound of filling in center of each. Brush edges with water, then fold into triangles and seal edges together with a fork. Bake on cookie sheet for 15-20 minutes or until brown. Serve with remaining sauce.

Experts expect wool shearing yields to be down a little from last year's production, due principally to West Texas drought conditions.

Prices are quoted as fair for wool, with wool sold at a recent Sanderson sale averaging $1.80 per pound for the better quality wools.

January exports of wool top and raw wool, clean basis, totaled 1,375,636 lbs. and 380,254 lbs., respectively. Texas produces 20% of the total U.S. wool production, which is more wool than any other state in the nation.

"Goat shearing has been completed statewide with adult hair bringing an average of $1.40 per pound, and young goat hair going for $1.54 - $1.70 per pound," Commissioner White said.

With Texas producing about 97% of the U.S. mohair, state-wide exports of mohair in January totaled 272,926 lbs., clean basis.

Prices received for wool and mohair made tremendous jumps in 1973 over previous figures. A combination of increased world demand and the worry of decreased supplies of synthetic fibers due to the energy crisis helped bring about the surge of 1973 receipts.

Prices for the 26,352,000 lbs. of wool sold in 1973 averaged $3.88 a pound, compared to $3.48 a pound in 1972.

The 9,930,000 lbs. of mohair sold in 1973 averaged $1.87 per pound, jumping from $1.83 a pound in 1972.

Congressman Fisher (right) and the only man he's endorsed in 32 years, Nelson Wolff.

"Nelson Wolff is a man of character and principle. Conservative minded with an urban-rural outlook. I plan to vote for him."
Congressman O.C. Fisher

"Nelson Wolff would make a good Congressman."

But then he should. For the past four years, Nelson Wolff has been in Austin working for his constituents. Learning what the legislative process is all about. Learning how to get things done. How to write a bill, get it through committee and passed. He's an experienced and effective legislator. Congress needs this kind of experience. So do the people of the 21st Congressional District.

"He knows the district."

Nelson Wolff was raised and educated in the 21st District. He works in the district, a citizen-legislator. As a cattle rancher, he knows the needs of the agricultural industry and the necessity to develop these areas. As the owner, along with his father and two younger brothers, of a lumber business, Nelson Wolff knows the city, too. He has an urban-rural outlook.

"He knows how to get things done."

For the first time in 32 years, Congressman O. C. Fisher is endorsing someone for public office. Nelson Wolff. Because Nelson Wolff knows how to get things done. And now, more than ever, we need men with experience and know-how. Congress is no place for a beginner.

Nelson Wolff for Congress
Know-how/where we need it most, when we need it most.

Small wonder America's No.1 selling compacts come from Plymouth.

Plymouth Duster

Duster - sticker priced less than VW Super Beetle, Toyota Corona, Datsun 610, Mazda RX-3, and Mustang II.

It's true! Plymouth Duster carries a lower sticker price than all of those other economy cars. But Duster offers a lot more. Read on! You'll see.

Duster seats 5, not 4.

Those other small cars only seat 4 people. But our Duster carries 5.

Easy small-car parking and handling.

Duster doesn't forget that it's a compact offering small-car maneuverability. It's big inside, but small outside.

In recent USAC tests, Duster's Slant 6 got better gas mileage on the open road than the Nova and Maverick 6. And in city driving, even got slightly better mileage than the 4-cylinder Mustang II.

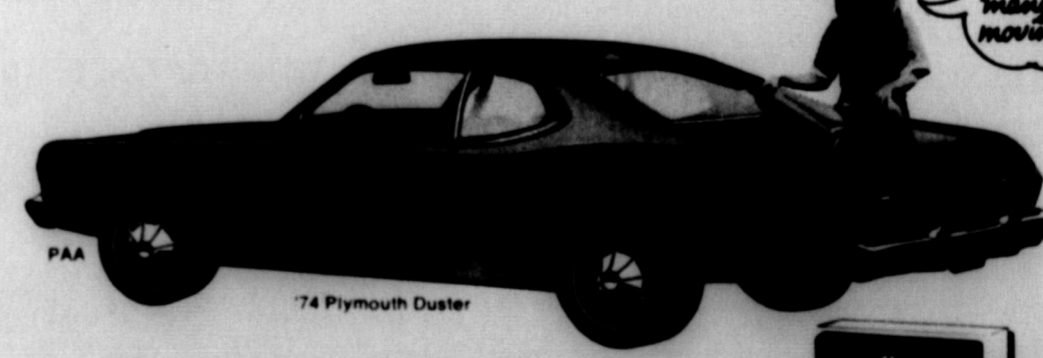

The tests were sanctioned and results certified by the U.S. Auto Club. All of which proves that Duster's an economy car superstar.

A trunk larger than Pinto and Vega combined.

Duster not only gives you room inside. It gives you room out back, too. Over 19 cubic feet of trunk space ... comparable to many larger cars.

In '73 Plymouth took over the lead in compact car sales - and still is No. 1.

With so much going for them, small wonder that America's No. 1 selling compacts come from Plymouth ... and that's the way we mean to keep it. Come in and let us show you what we mean.

Soil Conservation Essay Wins Second In Regional

(Ed. note - The following soil conservation essay, written by Dan Crowder, won first place in the senior division at Ozona High School and second place in the regional competition last week.)

Soil is the strength of any country. Soil is the top covering over most of the land surface. It is hard to realize that it takes years to form soil. It is a combination of minerals, rock particles, and living things-decayed.

When our country was first formed, the early farmers destroyed much soil. They knew a limited amount about crop rotation, contour planting and fertilization.

It was in 1935 that our government saw a need to establish the Soil Conservation Service within the United States Department of Agriculture to help control the balance in soil. The main purpose of this agency is to help farmers and ranchers reduce their loss of soil by flood and erosion. There are federal, state and district departments to help with this plus equipment they will loan.

To understand the importance of soil one should realize how it is formed. There are two general ways. One manner is the action of weather on rock, breaking it down very slowly to soil. The other method is by river and stream deposits. These processes take years to form one inch of soil.

Air, water, animals, and plants make the value of soil. It is believed that six times more plant food in soil is washed away by rain than by growing crops. Soil is the loose material on top of the earth to the geologist, the material to erect buildings on, and the material to build roads, earth dams and airstrips on to the engineer. To the farmer and most of us, it is the material to grow all kinds of plants. Plants feed cattle, sheep, goats, etc. These animals provide meat for our tables and wool for our clothes. Plants are grown, harvested, and processed, and we eat them in all forms. Nearly all of our foods at one time are plants grown in soil. When the soil is unable to grow good crops, there will not be enough to feed our people. Therefore the strength of any nation is in the soil and we say, "Our Soil, Our Strength."

We don't know where they got the dirt they covered it with several months ago, but it evidently had a wealth of weed and wild grass seed in it. They scalped it with mowers last week and watered it and, lo and behold, it's ankle high to a giraffe already. However, we prefer the lush carpet grass which has covered the park in past years.
