Arizona Town Damaged by Water.

Bisbee, Ariz., Aug. 25.—Bisbee, for the third time in three weeks, was yesterday visited by a cloudburst. The damage is estimated at $25,000. The bursting of a subway at the head of main street caused the damage.

When it burst a wall of water six feet deep swept down the street, carrying everything before it. A number of houses had their foundations weakened.

The Grand hotel is condemned and the guests moved out. The town is now without fire protection.

The worst flood of the season occurred here when a wall of water many feet deep swept down through the city, tearing the subway to pieces. All trains are late. No lives are reported lost, but thousands of dollars damage is due to the rain.

The postoffice was flooded. The rain began at 4:20 o'clock and ceased at 5 o'clock. It was in the shape of a cloudburst.

W. R. Smith Nominated.

At the democratic convention of the 16th congressional district at Sweetwater last Saturday, the canvass of the returns showed that Congressman W. R. Smith, of Colorado City, had a majority of 7,605 votes over J. F. Cunningham, of Abilene, his opponent, and the present incumbent was declared the nominee by the convention, at which Mayor Joseph U. Sweeney, of El Paso, was chairman.

The canvass of the vote showed that Cunningham carried only five out of forty-nine counties over Smith. These counties were Irion, Jones, Schieffer, Stonewall and Taylor, the latter Cunningham's own county. Two years ago Smith's majority over Cunningham was about 167 votes and only a faction vote in the convention.

W. C. Martin, of Roby, Texas, was elected chairman of the congressional district executive committee for the ensuing two years.

Corn Bulletin

The State Commissioner of Agriculture will issue a bulletin on corn about September 20. This bulletin presents the latest information on the methods of producing corn. Such topics as good seed, best varieties, cultivation, and feeding corn on the farm are discussed. Every one interested in increasing the yield of his corn should immediately write for a copy of this bulletin. It is free. A card addressed to the Commissioner of Agriculture, Austin, Texas, is all that is necessary.

The Commissioner of Agriculture still has on hand copies of the Pecan Bulletin and copies of the proceedings of the 3rd, 4th, 5th, 9th and 10th sessions of the Texas Farmers' Congress. These proceedings contain many valuable articles on fruit and truck growing, corn and cotton culture, stock raising, etc. While the supply lasts copies of any of these bulletins may be had upon application to the Commissioner of Agriculture, Austin, Texas.

Republicans Nominate.

The republicans held a congressional convention at Sweetwater last Saturday, but the representation was not large. Attorney Boynton, of Agson, Texas, a cousin of Charles Boynton, United States district attorney for the western district of Texas, was declared the republican nominee for congress for the 16th congressional district.

W. M. Satterwhite, of Monahans, was here yesterday.

New Ice and Fuel Company.

A mass meeting attended by about forty or fifty citizens was held at the opera house Wednesday night for the purpose of organizing a stock company to engage in the fuel and ice business in Big Springs. P. C. Caylor was elected chairman and W. F. Wright secretary of the meeting.

After the object of the meeting was stated by the chairman a permanent organization was perfected and the capital stock of the company was fixed at $5,000. Already about $3,000 has been subscribed and a committee of three was appointed to solicit the balance of stock. It was decided that the stock be sold in shares of $10 each no one being allowed to take over ten shares.

A committee of three was appointed to draft the constitution and by-laws of the company and the following directors were elected: Pete Johnson, S. A. Hathcock, W. F. Wright, C. D. Read, and P. C. Caylor.

It was decided that 50 per cent of this stock be paid up and the board of directors apply for a charter.

Fine Display.

There is a very fine assortment of farm and garden products on display at the J. L. Ward Drug and Jewelry Co.'s store, consisting of cotton, corn, maize, Kaffir corn, tobacco, June corn, shelled, pepper, etc., all of it coming from the farms of J. S. Norris and Mr. Bowman. It is a fair sample of what this country will grow and all farmers that wish to contribute to the display are cordially invited to do so. It is a good place for an exhibit of this kind and the firm is giving its space for the sole purpose of letting the public and especially strangers see what can be done in an agricultural way in Howard county.

Turned Down.

The committee appointed by the commercial club at a called meeting last week to solicit funds with which to assist the Farmers Union to build a warehouse here, succeeded in securing $850.00. This amount and the lease on ground upon which to erect the building was offered the Union at the meeting at Moore school house last Saturday and was promptly turned down. We understand that Coahoma has offered a bonus for the warehouse but secured a promise of secrecy from the Union as to what that town offered.

Go to Reagan's new store—next door south of Gary & Burns.

Sunday's Fire.

The fire alarm was sounded about 5:30 o'clock last Sunday afternoon and the people responding found the residence of Ellis Douthitt in the south part of town occupied jointly by the families of H. L. Arnold and L. J. Tankersley on fire. The fire originated from the kitchen flue and had gained considerable headway when help came, and the house was perhaps nearly half consumed before the flames were extinguished. Nearly all the household goods were taken out, but the damage to them will amount to about $500 between Messrs. Arnold and Tankersley. The damage to the house will be in the neighborhood of $1250.

This fire is another argument in favor of better fire protection. The firemen did splendid work in keeping the fire under control and saving what they did of the building, with only one hose to use. We need better equipment for fighting fire; our volunteer fire company is good as can be found anywhere and they should be given a better chance to show what they can do.

A Sudden Death.

E. C. Vaughan, aged 75 years, died very suddenly at his home in this city Tuesday evening at seven o'clock. He was on the streets in the forenoon; apparently well and only complained of being unwell a short time before he died.

He leaves a wife and several children to mourn his loss. One son lives here and is an employe of the T. & P. railroad. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock at his late residence after which the remains will be laid to rest in the Masonic cemetery.

A Paris man who remained in the air with a flying machine for 20 minutes gets a prize of $2,000 awarded to the aeroplane that should float for a quarter of an hour or longer. But it will take more of a flight than that to convince a skeptical world that aerial navigation has been proved practicable.

It may seem a very important matter in England, where court and official etiquette is an overwhelming issue, but it does look silly in American eyes to hear these grave speculations as to whether a long and brilliant naval career is to be closed because an admiral at a social function doesn't want to shake hands with a member of the cabinet.

Cactus, instead of petroleum, is the mosquito exterminator that is being tested by the sanitary authorities of Gaboon, French Africa. The thick, gummy leaves are cut up and macerated in water, and the sticky paste so formed is spread over stagnant pools, giving the isolating layer that destroys the mosquito larvae by preventing them from coming up to breathe.

An Italian captain recently navigated his ship up the Tiber, from Ostia to Rome, in order to attract attention to the necessity of dredging the river and developing the old port at its mouth. He touched ground several times, and had to wait till the rain raised the water in the river before he could return to the sea. The harbor at Ostia was not very good even in the days of the Caesars, but modern engineering skill might find a way to prevent it from filling up with silt.

A year or more ago it was decided, as a measure of economy in time, to omit stamping letters on the back with the name of the receiving station and the time of receipt. The brief trial has not resulted satisfactorily, and at the instance of business men of New York, and of Postmaster Morgan of that city, the department has decided to return to the old practice. The back stamp was a useful check upon the speed and accuracy of postal employees.

A terra cotta statuette, about 21 inches in height, representing the goddess Venus, has recently been discovered in the island of Monemvasia, in the prefecture of Lacedaemonia. The statuette is similar in many respects to the Venus of Milo, and the conservator of the National museum at Athens has expressed the opinion that it is a reproduction by a local sculptor of the statue now in the Louvre. The Venus of Monemvasia holds a mirror in the left hand, while the right supports a garment around the hips.

An Old Document.

A very interesting document was sold in a London auction room last week and purchased for $500 by Mr. Quaritch, to add to his literary scalps. It was a marriage contract between the Marquis Desmoutiers Desnerville and his 16-year-old spouse, Mlle. de la Brise-Damilly, lady in waiting to Mme. Elizabeth, before the full court of Versailles in 1785. Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette signed the document, which is covered with the names of the noblesse butchered at the guillotine. But the age of chivalry has gone. It went with the revolution for France and this autographed contract has had a varied experience. Who of its signers ever imagined then the paper would pass over to America and be held there for years, only to return to the other side of the ocean to be sold in a London auction room for a mere song. Mr. Quaritch also secured at the same time the portion of another marriage contract conjuring up the scene at the court of Louis XIV., for it bore the signatures of "Le Roi Soleil," and of the Dauphin and the Duc de Bourgogne, with that of Francoise d'Aubigne, who controlled history as Mme. de Maintenon. Alack the day! According to the London Telegraph, "all these signatures are clerly save hers, written in the petulant hand of a mistress-femme." Since the old nobility of France no longer exists, the marriage contracts of its ancestors count for nothing save for the autographs they bear.

Causes of Poverty.

Some people are poor because their ideas are larger than their purses. They think the world owes them a living. They do not keep account of their expenditures. They try to do what others expect of them, not what they can afford. The parents are economical, but the children have extravagant ideas. They prefer to incur debts rather than to do work which they consider beneath them. They risk all their eggs in one basket when they are not in a position to watch or control it. They think it will be time enough to begin to save for a rainy day when the rainy day comes. The only thing, declares the New York Herald, the daughters accomplish is to develop fondness for smart clothes and expensive jewelry. They do not realize that one expensive habit may introduce them to a whole family of extravagant habits. On a moderate income, they try to compete in appearance with a wealthy neighbor. They believe they have not been able to make much in the business they understand best, but have thought that they could make a fortune by investing in something they know nothing about.

Proprietors of public places are getting a new light on the subject of treating the uniform of Uncle Sam's men with respect. A manager at New London, Conn., who was "called down" for excluding a sailor has had a change of heart. He and others in the place have agreed that hereafter the jacksies shall be welcomed. Possibly the announced intention of the naval officers to cut off New London as a port of call had something to do with the matter. But there is better understanding all around. The residents of the Pacific coast set a good example in showing courtesy to the enlisted men of the battleship fleet, and the effect has been excellent.

Cuba is taking a step which may be of importance as affecting the future of that island. Many of the more progressive Cubans, including gentlemen high in official position, are convinced that what the country needs is immigration which will supply the necessary means of developing the natural resources of that section. Cuba is rich in agricultural, mining and manufacturing possibilities. An organized effort to secure such immigration is now being made, and on the outcome will depend important results. Cuba with good government and industrial expansion should be prosperous and happy.

TERRIBLE FIGHTING FORCE TO SUPPLANT WARSHIPS

By RUSSELL WOODARD

(BRITISH HISTORIAN)

Expert Discourses on Japan's Navy Increase, and the Probabilities which Airships Hold Forth for the Dogs of War.

JAPAN is doubling its fighting strength on water. The eyes of the whole world are on the oriental kingdom, for the Japanese admiralty has started a decided innovation in accomplishing that purpose. An almost unbelievable amount of cash is not expended in this movement, but the Russian vessels, captured in the Russo-Japanese war, are being re-equipped, re-armed, more guns are being installed and the general appearance and strength of the entire navy, including the craft which were under the mikado's jurisdiction before the war, is being heightened. Into Japan's plans are being thrown the most modern ideas and every possible weakness, noted in the recent war, is being banished in the strengthening process. Since the recent installation of a new Japanese cabinet, a part announcement of plans has been will recall the session of parliament which dealt with the last British naval budget, the largest in the history of the nation. Emperor William of Germany, it was reported at the time, addressed a personal communication to Lord Tweedmouth, who had charge of the naval end of England's welfare, asking the latter to cut his naval budget. This story was not denied, but talk of it was so avoided by officials that the British public to-day believe that the letter actually was received. It aroused criticism from all Britain. It is said that the kaiser realized that the two biggest nations of the old world must keep pace with each other in this line, and perhaps feeling that a large expenditure by Germany was not advisable, realized that the only avenue of exit from such a possibility was to see the British budget reduced.

President Roosevelt's feelings on the matter were amply told in the record of the last congress when he tried to get that august body to appropriate for four new warships. However, there were too many men of peaceful and public buildings inclinations among the wearers of the toga and they dealt a solar plexus blow to the project, from which it only half recovered—to the extent of two warships. Both of these vessels have already been launched.

With Japan, the little terror of the far east, burnishing up its navy, the probabilities are that the powers may go even farther next year in expenditures for warships, and the only block to the great amount expended seems to be the devising of some new mode given to the world, and by the exertion of bits of imagination here and there naval experts declare they foresee one of the strongest navies which ever kicked up spray in the Pacific. Here's the way it's being done, this being the official announcement given out by the Japanese admiralty bureau at Tokyo:

"The Japanese admiralty has decided upon a large scheme of rearmament instead of building new ships, the armaments of the old will be altered so as to bring them into line with the most modern ideas and with the requirements indicated by the war with Russia. Thus vessels of the Mikasa type which have hitherto carried four 12-inch guns and 14 six-inch will henceforth carry four ten-inch instead of 14 six-inch, so that their principal armament will be brought up to eight pieces of heavy caliber. In fact, their fighting strength will be doubled. Similarly in the case of vessels like the Retvisan, taken during the war, their new armament will consist of four 12-inch and four ten-inch pieces, the latter being substituted for the 12 six-inch which these vessels originally carried.

"When the programme is carried out it will have the advantage of creating a thoroughly homogeneous fighting force.

"First-class cruisers are to be added to the navy. These ships will have a displacement of 18,500 tons with a horse power of 44,000 and a speed of 25 knots. They will be 450 feet long over all with 80 feet beam and a draft of 25 feet. Their armor will be seven inches and their armaments will consist of ten 12-inch guns, some six-inch and ten 4-inch. One of these ships is to be built at Kure."

Every year naval efficiency is reaching a higher plane and experts declare it to be a physiological certainty that a more powerful mode of warfare on the water must come. That has been the trend of events from time memorial. One may go back into history to the days when the Norse-men fought from rafts. Later came their crude canoes and then the Vikings. Several hundred years elapsed and big nations fought from behind bulwarks on wooden ships. Efforts were then made to put speed into the sailing vessels. The discovery of the steam engine helped this. Then came the eventual discarding of wooden vessels. This was brought about in America when the battle between the Monitor and Merrimac was fought and the fight in itself marked a step in naval warfare. The Merrimac embodied an idea up to that time unthought of in its armor of steel rails laid half a foot or more thick on its sides and top. No shells of that time were found able to pierce this arrangement. But the Monitor came along with its revolving turret, ironclad, and, northerners say, bested the Merrimac. Right in that battle were two steps in naval progress, and Capt. Ericsson, whose family tree dates back to the times of the Norseman, was the inventor of the biggest move towards a high standard of efficiency when he perfected the revolving, armored turret.

What this invention will be one can only guess and most of to-day's guesses are poor. From present indications, however, the airship is to be a factor, and when the inventor turns out an aeroplane which can carry men and shells in sufficient quantity to do real damage, then our impressive battle-ships will be melted into steel ralls.

Each year the powers are putting more money into their marine fighting apparatus, and Germany and England, more especially, are eyeing each other's naval budget in an anxious matter. Most readers of foreign news of warfare which will render warships useless.

Of course every country maintains a land force, but all realize that the best move against an oncoming enemy is to beat them to the battlefield, and as a consequence, the usual approach being water, the navies of the world are strengthened to their top-most point. Russia has not yet recovered from its set-to with the mikado's subjects, but the scrap left the Japs with a few more battle-ships and a splendid plan for strengthening their navy without expending great sums of money and contracting new loans.

Going farther into the probabilities of the new style of warfare which seems imminent, we may have battles of the air—a very dangerous mode of scrapping to the uninterested spectator below. Probably that would be the deadliest sort of combat known, for in "sinking" an airship every man aboard would undoubtedly be killed by hard compact with mother earth.

Then, on the other hand, perhaps there will be no future wars, at least among the large and civilized powers. Of course the barbarians will break out occasionally, but among the bigger nations there are now so many peace-bodies that one has to walk about carefully in order not to encounter doves of peace, minus feathers. There are dozens of international peace and arbitration societies whose one theme is "don't shoot," and these hold sessions annually. It is said that they really cement relations between countries and the time may come when they will become so numerous that conflict will be impossible without slaying brothers. The Hague tribunal is another medium of the big powers, always ready to decide little disputes which threaten to develop into "international complications."

As a consequence it looks dark for the dogs of war and just as inky for the men of peace, who would keep the canines tied. But come what will, within a generation or two the world is to be given some new fighting force which will astound the nations, not in the secret, to such an extent that there will either be an entire cessation of all hostilities or some two will get together and one will be made such a beautiful example of that the watching nations will decide that Gen. Sherman was right about war.

From Day to Day.
A solemn proverb haunts my mind,
With meaning deep and vast,
The mill will never grind again
With waters that are past.

Take the lesson to thyself,
Loving hearts are true,
Golden years are passing by,
Life is ebbing, too.

Learn to make the most of life,
Lose no happy day;
Time can never bring thee back,
Chances swept away.

Love while life shall last,
The mill will never grind again

The College Farm Boy Maker of New Prosperity.

Throughout the country the benefit of education at the agricultural colleges is beginning to assume an importance in the eyes of the farming communities which it never had before.

The boys who come back to the farm imbued with the idea of scientific farming are making records for themselves which causes the old time farmers to open their eyes.

The experienced farmers who thought they knew all about corn growing for instance, are finding that these lads who come back from school with a scientific knowledge, as to the best methods of preparing the soil, selecting the seed, and doing other things of vital importance, are growing crops that are record-breakers.

The yield that the average college boy secures from his experimental corn field is so great that his corn is immediately in demand for seed among the neighbors who see how much better success he is having than they have had, and while they will not be able to produce a good crop from his seed alone they are beginning to follow his methods of cultivation and the result is an increase in the quality and quantity of the corn yield.

One farmer's son in Wisconsin is said to have cleared $6,000.00 from his seed corn, this amount being in excess of his father's entire income from the whole farm. Another college farm boy secured $30.00 per bushel for his seed corn, and so it goes.

The average American farm boy is not only a substantial and responsible young man, but he is filled with an ambition to do better things than have ever been done, in whatever he undertakes to do; and twenty years from today, the neighborhoods where the finest crops are produced and where the best and most productive farms are located, will point back to the time when the boys were first sent to agricultural colleges as the beginning of this new prosperity, which is dawning upon the farmers of the country.—Oklahoma Farmer.

Farming No "Snap."

I often see wild yarns telling how a mechanic with $300 to $400 can make a good living on a few acres of land, or a stenographer or school teacher can earn enough to support a family with chickens on a town lot.

People who are ignorant of the farming business are often lured by these silly stories to throw up their jobs and try it. Any kind of farming is serious business and requires a lot of technical knowledge, and it cannot be learned in a day or a year. If a mechanic is so situated that he can get a piece of land near his job on which he can experiment, keeping close to the payroll at the factory meantime, he will be able to tell in a year or two whether it is a good thing or not.

Go very slow and when you venture on farming or chicken raising stick close to some other kind of job that will keep the meal tub supplied till you are sure that you can succeed. Then go at it for—all you are worth.

Is Not a Minor.

Alfalfa, this comparative new plant for America, is as old as the hills, to use a familiar expression. A way back in the ages, when civilization was still in embryo, centuries before Christ, Alfalfa was grown by the tribes and nomads, who populated the elevated plains of Central Asia, where the "cradle of humanity" is supposed to have stood. Later on we find it mentioned in the day of the Roman empire, and after crossing Europe during the middle ages, it was brought to South America by the Spaniards, from where it was brought to California in the 50's.

Don't Get Excited.

Many newspapers and men are awfully afraid the Farmers' Union is going into politics. Don't become excited, please, there is no danger as the Union goes into politics; but we are going to do like all other people. We are going to make demands of those that represent us in the halls of legislation and if they fail to look to our interests as they do other class interests we will have something to say about their going back in office.—T. B. Taylor, in National Co-operator.

Small Fruits for Fall.

One of the objects sought in late years has been the creation of over-bearing varieties of the small fruits or those that will bear a second crop in the fall.

This has never been achieved, although claims have been made from time to time. The tree fruits, such as the apple and peach, have always possessed sorts that naturally fruited in the fall, but the raspberry, blackberry and strawberry and other small fruits have their one appointed season for bearing and it is in all cases in the spring, or at least the fruits blossom and start into growth at that time, though some varieties of the blackberry do not ripen till the summer is more than half gone.

Claims have been made for an ever-bearing raspberry, but it does not seem to have been a success. It is, however, common in the case of all these berries for them to bear a kind of second crop by putting forth fruit stems now and then after the main crop is gone.

The strawberry, too, often blooms in the fall after a long drought, followed by copious rains.

Recently, however, some varieties of genuine fall-bearing strawberries have been introduced, whose claims seem to be well substantiated. But here again they are admittedly not ever-bearing, but bear in the fall only when their blossoms have been kept picked off during the spring, otherwise they would bear all their crop in the spring, just as other kinds.

These fall-bearing strawberries promise to become very valuable, and of great commercial importance in at least the southern states, where the fall is warm and frost does not come till towards Christmas.

This would give them a long season and an opportunity to bear large crops. But even in the middle and even Northern states they would be welcomed if they are able to afford a supply of the delicious strawberry, even for a short time.

One of the best known of these—the Pan-American—was originated in New York, and annually produces its growers quite a crop during September and up till frost.

They can be made to fruit in August if desired by allowing the blossoms to remain thirty days before.

There seems to be no reasonable doubt that fall strawberries will soon be seen in all the markets, and it is not too much to expect that the same will eventually be true of the raspberry and other small fruits.

Time to Build Warehouses.

This is the time of year to build warehouses and gins. Get in a position to handle and control your own cotton. Be able to market intelligently. The mills require a year to manufacture and the world takes a year in which to consume it. Then why try to force it all on the market within one-fourth of this time?—National Co-operator.

If every cotton farmer understood trade, manufacturing and market conditions as well as he understands planting, tilling and harvesting, he would undoubtedly be a great deal better off. If cotton selling, with or without the warehouse plan, were made an all the year round business, like butter and egg selling, and cotton buyers were required to work twelve months to earn their salaries, it would certainly affect the stability of the price to the advantage of the producer. If it were necessary for the mills to look for stock every month in the year instead of four or five months, they might be better bidders.—Dallas News.

Kansas Hog Versus the Missouri Hen.

A Kansas paper says that if all the hogs raised in that state last year could be rolled into one hog it could dig the Panama canal in two roots and a half, and wants to know how long it would take the Missouri hen to scratch out the canal. We can't tell him about that, says the Humansville Star, who goes one better and continues, "but we do know that the Missouri hen can pay for the big ditch in one and a half years."

Farmers have discovered that the best types of corn do not contain fourteen pounds of cob per bushel, and the grower who has 1000 or 2000 bushels of corn to spare shells it and keeps the cobs for fuel. He sells the corn shelled at fifty-six pounds to the bushel instead of seventy on the cob, and finds that he actually marketed more bushels. This makes large corn shellers in demand in every neighborhood.

Be All You Can.

Let us do all the business we can. If we can't be a lighthouse, let us be a candle. Some one has said, "I can't be anything more than a farthing rush light." Well, if you can't be more, be that; that is well enough. Be all you can. What makes the Dead sea dead? Because it is all the time receiving and never giving out anything.—Dwight L. Moody.

Until recently, and even now, the farmer is the least understood man on earth. In the opinion of the masses, a farm is a place where potatoes, corn, hay, grain, cotton and other things are grown, and the farmer, sitting upon his independent doorstep, invites the city man who may obtain more money in a year, but who has a smaller balance at the roundup.

Do not feed too much white bread to young chicks as you will find it fatal to many of them.

LIGHTFOOT GETS BUSY

TEXAS ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL IS IN NEW YORK THIS WEEK.

SANBORN IS COMMISSIONER

Cases of the American Book Company to Be Heard First—Then the Standard Oil Company.

New York, Aug. 25.—Assistant Attorney General J. P. Lightfoot began arrangements to take testimony in the cases of the State of Texas vs. the American Book Company and the Standard Oil Company. The hearing will be held before Commissioner G. P. Sanborn. Mr. Lightfoot today had subpoenas and notices issued for the witnesses desired and will commence taking testimony on Wednesday of this week. Testimony will be taken in the case against the American Book company first, and, as soon as that is disposed of, the Standard Oil cases will be taken up.

The following Texas lawyers are here looking after the interests of their clients:

John M. Duncan of Houston, for the American Book Company; George Greer of Beaumont, for the Security Oil Company; Captain McKie of Corsicana, representing the Navarro Refinery Company, and H. C. Cooke, representing the Union Tank Line Company. The last three concerns are defendants in the suit against the Standard Oil Company, the State alleging that they are subsidiary concerns controlled by the Standard.

Two Men Attack Woman.

New York: Attacked by two men who escaped without detection, a woman about 45 years old, who has not yet been identified, was choked and thrown in front of a rapidly moving trolley car Monday morning. The wheels passed over her body and she was instantly killed. The woman almost reached the car track when two men of stalwart build who had been walking behind her, suddenly seized her. One caught the handbag, which was suspended by a chain from her wrist, while the other stifled her screams by clutching her throat with both hands.

Castro Makes New Order.

Port of Spain: News has been received here that President Castro has instructed the collectors of customs in Venezuelan ports not to clear any passengers for the West Indian Islands. The Venezuelan consul has been instructed to withhold passports from persons desirous of taking passage on the steamers to Venezuela. The action on the part of the Venezuelan government has caused great indignation and is a serious blow to the inhabitants of these islands, and will add considerably to the misery already existing.

Man Killed at Dallas.

Dallas: As a result of a duel in the street Monday morning D. A. Jarrett was shot and almost instantly killed. The weapon used was a double-barrel shotgun. Bullets or slugs were the missiles. One passed through the corded artery just under the collar bone, on the right; another passed through the heart and through the body. Jarrett had fired five times with a revolver. Shortly after the shooting Gordon Davis, a young man 20 years old surrendered to the officers and is charged with the shooting.

Flood Breaks City Dam.

Kaufman: Rain caused thousands of dollars' worth of damage to this city and vicinity again early Saturday, precipitation in three hours amounting to 12 3/4 inches, breaking the city dam at the waterworks, which held in check some 125 acres of water, and making property to be endangered through lack of facilities for fighting fire. Lightning struck the hay barn of W. A. Smith, located in the city limits; fire ensued. The structure was destroyed. The loss has not been stated, but will probably exceed $500.

More Birmingham Trouble.

Birmingham: Another act of violence occurred in the strike zone early Monday morning when a white union miner named Clayton was shot from ambush while on his way to work in the Sayreston mines. The attack was made between Sayreston and Mary Lee and Clayton was left lying on the ground with three bullet wounds in his body.

State Wants Money.

Austin: During this week the state treasury department will issue a general call for cash from the thirty-one state depositories. The depositories will be requested to send practically all the cash belonging to the state in excess of the limit of $50,000. This is necessary for the state to meet its many and varied obligations incident to the beginning of the new fiscal year which is on the first of September.

MANY TURKS DRIVEN FROM HOMES.

Fifteen Hundred Homes and Shops Reduced to Ashes.

Constantinople, Aug. 24.—Fire broke out this afternoon in the Stamboul quarter and within a very brief period a terrible conflagration was raging. A strong wind carried the flame at great speed and for six hours they swept over the section, destroying 1500 houses and shops. The fire was still burning at 9 o'clock tonight, but the wind had died down considerably. Stamboul is the Mohammedan part of the city. Within its walls are the seraglio, the principal mosques, the mausoleum of the Sultans, the baths, the bazars, the public government offices and the existing remains of the ancient Constantinople. It is divided for administrative purposes into two municipal circuits and into a large number of quarters. Separate quarters are allotted to the Armenians, Greeks and Jews.

In 1865 the quarters were destroyed by fire and these have now been laid into good streets. The general appearance of the older streets is that of a city built of wood. Many of the buildings are of much more solid construction—some of brick and some of brick and stone. Stamboul covers the whole area enclosed by the Theodosian walls of Constantinople and its main streets follow the lines of those of the ancient city.

Texas Oil Dust Layer.

Washington: It is a possibility of the near future that the streets of the ancient city of Athens will be made dustless by petroleum from the oil wells of Texas. Some of the cities of Texas and also of California declare geological survey experts, carry a large proportion of asphalt, as much as 35 per cent, and when sprinkled on road surfaces makes ideal roads. It also serves as an excellent dust layer. Coincident with a geological survey report on the uses of petroleum of Texas which have asphalt as their base, there comes from Athens to the Department of Commerce and Labor through the American Consul General there, an appeal for some method of abating the dust nuisance on the streets of the Greek capital.

Mob Pursues Negro to Prison.

Little Rock, Ark.: After being tried and convicted of attempt to assault a white girl, and sentenced to twenty-one years in the penitentiary at a hurried session of the court held at 2 o'clock Thursday morning, and after narrowly escaping from a mob at Augusta by traveling a part of the distance in a gasoline boat and the remainder on fast trains, Rudolph Young, a negro, of Augusta, arrived in Little Rock Friday morning in the custody of a deputy sheriff, and was immediately placed in the penitentiary.

Six Club Ladies Visit Workhouse.

Fort Worth: Pursuant to the request of Police Commissioner George Mulkey, six ladies who are members of the City Federation of Women's Clubs visited the city workhouse Friday morning and made a close inspection of the rock pile there having been criticisms of the police commissioner because women prisoners had been placed at work breaking rock. The ladies found the rock pile well shaded under a canvas awning and tried a few strokes with the hammers to determine the extent of the task imposed upon the prisoners.

"The Artful Dodger" Escapes.

Memphis, Tenn.: C. H. Doyle, known to police departments all over the country as "The Artful Dodger," lived up to his reputation here Saturday when he slipped from the clutches of the law in a bold dash for liberty, after C. J. Anlis, a Chattanooga hotel man, who was carrying him back to Chattanooga, had listened to his pitiful pleadings to be released for a moment from the grasp of handcuffs which had circled his wrists since the pair left Sherman, Texas, Friday.

Labor Leaders and Members of Injunction Reform League at a Meeting Saturday Night in the Office of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

The object of the organization is to inaugurate a "campaign of education" on the injunction question and to oppose the use of injunctions in labor disputes. The naval recruiting office which was opened in Tyler last Monday closed Saturday.

Big Blaze at Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn.: Fire, which for a time Saturday threatened to destroy an entire block of buildings in the most central section of the city, completely gutted the four-story building situated on Main street and occupied by the E. C. Atkins Hardware Company and badly damaged the adjoining building, occupied by the Braun Hotel, as well as slightly damaging several other buildings. The loss is estimated at $175,000.

TEXAS HEALTH OFFICER WATCHING YELLOW FEVER

State Health Officer Brumby Sends Physicians to Mexico.

Austin, Tex., Aug. 26.—State Health Officer Brumby has sent Dr. Lindsay Smith of Galveston to Vera Cruz and Dr. J. F. Eaves to Tampico, Mexico, to watch yellow fever conditions in the republic of Mexico with a view of protecting Texas. Dr. Brumby states that his present quarantine is not the strict embargo some people imagine; that he has introduced a modern double or return card system. It enables the department's inspectors at border entry points to list passengers coming to Texas from Mexico and Cuba and notify City or County Health officers and special correspondents over the State so as to continue the observation or espionage until all danger is past. In this way the passenger is not halted and there is a minimum danger. Regular return postal cards are printed and when a passenger crosses the border his address is sent on one of these cards to the interior officer or correspondent and in time this official reports to the State Health officer in this city on the return part of the card. Dr. Brumby has 522 such officials and correspondents organized in Texas. Passengers from Havana, Cuba, through Galveston, are thus listed, but from Santiago or infected points the vessel is detained for observation.

Bank President Dead.

St. Louis: Jacob C. Van Blarcom, who rose from a clerkship to a bank president, died Tuesday of Bright's disease at the Shelter, his country home in the Adirondacks, near Old Forge, New York. With him were his wife and son. He had been ill for a year and was at his post in the National Bank of Commerce only occasionally for many months. Mrs. Van Blarcom was the only lady in St. Louis who employed a social secretary.

Big Land and Cattle Deal.

Jacksboro: The largest land and cattle deal made in Jack county for a long time has just been closed whereby W. B. Stewart sold to T. H. Cherrybone, both of Jack county, his fine Sunnybrook Stock Farm, situated on the Rock Island, seven miles east of Jacksboro, consisting of some 2,800 acres of land and 400 head of fine full-blood non-registered Shorthorn stock cattle. Consideration something over $37,000.

Officers in Hospital.

Houston: Police Officers M. Monroe and C. W. Heck are patients at the Houston Infirmary and Joe Kemper is held without bail at the city jail on a charge of assault to murder as the result of shootings that took place in Houston. Monroe is believed to be mortally wounded, although Drs. Larrendon and Stewart, who have charge of the patients, stated at noon that both might recover.

One of the largest land deals ever made in this country was closed the other day when the Texas-Orient Development of Kansas City bought sixty sections of land in the Pecos Valley.

This company intends installing one of the largest and most complete irrigation plants in the United States. The consideration was half a million dollars.

Threatened by Letters.

Springfield, Ill.: Employers of negro labor in Springfield are being threatened by a flood of anonymous letters which has been growing in volume daily since the recent race riots. For the first few days it was thought the letters was the work of boys or irresponsible individuals, but Tuesday the condition of affairs was found to justify an investigation by Gov. Deneen. A delegation of negroes visited the governor and promised to co-operate with the law-abiding whites in investigating the letters.

Establish New Line.

New Orleans: Within the next thirty days the Texas City Steamship Company, backed by interests which built the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad and which now control the Wolvin Steamship line, the Brunswick steamship line and the Mexican-American steamship line, will probably establish service between New Orleans and New York in competition with the Southern Pacific.

Bad Luck for Bisbee.

El Paso: For the third time this summer Bisbee, Ariz., was swept by a disastrous flood, the worst of the three occurring at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning. Torrents of water ten feet high swept down the two main streets of the city. The jewelry store of L. L. Gilman was completely destroyed and other stores badly damaged. The Copper Queen store kept out the flood by a levee built of sacks of flour.

QUITE SAFE WITH HER.

One Secret "Tootsie" Surely Never Would Pass Along.

"John, love," said the young wife, "you oughtn't to have any secrets from me."
"Well, Tootsie?"
"You go to lodge meetings, and you never tell me anything about them."
"They wouldn't interest you, dear. I don't mind giving you the password, though, if you'll promise never to disclose it to a living soul."
"I'll promise never to tell it to anybody."
"Remember it's to be repeated only once and very rapidly."
"I'll remember. What is it?"
"Aldaborontiphosphorotosticos."
"What? Please say it again, a little slower."
"Have you forgotten the conditions already? I said 'only once and very rapidly.'"
(Tearful pause.)
"O, dear! I wish you hadn't told me!"

ECZEMA FOR 55 YEARS.

Suffered Torments from Birth—In Frightful Condition—Got No Help Until Cuticura Cured Him.

"I had an itching, tormenting eczema ever since I came into the world, and I am now a man 55 years old. I tried all kinds of medicines I heard of, but found no relief. I was truly in a frightful condition. At last I broke out all over with red and white boils, which kept growing until they were as big as walnuts, causing great pain and misery, but I kept from scratching as well as I could. I was so run down that I could hardly do my work. I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment, Resolvent, and Pills for about eight months, and I can truthfully say I am cured. Hale Bordwell, Tipton, Ia., Aug. 17, 1907."

"I cheerfully endorse the above testimonial. It is the truth. I know Mr. Bordwell and know the condition he was in. Nelson R. Burnett, Tipton, Ia."

"Do you mean typewriter erasers?"
"Well, maybe that was it, but what's the difference? Ain't they the same? I want a dime's worth of 'em."

SHE WAS NO HASBEEN.

Smoking Car Just the One Old Woman Was Looking For.

"Madam," said the brakeman as the train stopped at a village station and a little old woman started to enter the smoking car, "the car back is the one you want."
"How do you know?" she tartly asked.
"Because this is the smoking car." She pushed past him and climbed up the steps, and after taking a seat she pulled out and filled a pipe, struck a match on the sole of her shoe, and after drawing a few puffs she said to a man smoking a cigar across the aisle:
"That young feller out there don't know half as much as he thinks he does."
"How so?" was asked.
"He took me for an old woman that had never rode on the cars before, and told me this was the smoking car."
"And you wanted this car?"
"Why, I never ride in any other—not unless my pipe is broke, my tobacco all out and none of you men-folks will lend me a cigar."

Sporting Offer.

As he entered the restaurant the cut of his clothes betrayed him as a member of the sporting fraternity. Choosing a corner seat, he ordered oyster stew. When the dish was brought to him, he looked at it with a critical frown, and then he began excitedly to peel off his coat and vest.

"What's the matter? What's the matter?" said the landlord, hurrying to the table.

The man looked at the stew, then at the landlord, and said:
"Bet you a dollar I can swim from one oyster to another."

What a Poultry Man Says About 20-Mule Team Borax.

As I am in the poultry business, I had ten white chicks to wash and prepare for a show. I used "20-Mule Team" Soap for washing the birds, and I can say from years of experience washing white birds, never before have I found a soap or Borax that cleaned my birds so fine and easy. I had a great deal of comment on my birds being so white. J. A. Dinwiddie, New Market, Tenn. All dealers—1/2, 1 and 5 lb. cartons. Sample and booklet, 5c. Pacific Coast Borax Co., Chicago.

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N.C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes:

"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public. For twelve years I had been suffering with the worst form of female ills. During that time I had eleven different physicians, without help. No tongue could tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice. I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored my health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

Likes West Texas.

Dr. Martin E. Taber has returned from a trip to west Texas, where he made several excursions on automobile lines, which now traverse that country, having taken the place of the old stage coach.

"I made several ninety-mile trips across the country at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour," Dr. Taber said. "The country is smooth as a street all over and the roads are fine for auto speeding. Other vehicles keep off the auto routes and they have right of way without molestation. Ben Garner, formerly of Dallas, is running a line out there as an auto speeder. It is said of him that he has run down a wolf and an antelope with his machine, the country being level enough for him to follow the animals wherever they might go."

"Going back to Midland on the stage line I was driven by a 12-year-old boy and during that ride the youngster killed nine rattlesnakes. There are worlds of them out there, and this little fellow had all sorts of nerve. One big snake ran into a brushpile and he went up to it and pulled out a stick that had the snake on it and killed it. Not for me. I had my revolver ready to take a shot at it if it came toward me."

"The crops are fine and unless something happens they will make more cotton than we will in this part of the country."—Dallas News.

Dr. Taber spent several days here last week the guest of Ben Garner, and was so well pleased with what he saw of the Big Springs country that he took an option on eight sections of land in Dawson and Lynn counties.

J. O. Hartzog, A. J. Prichard, Sam Newberry and the writer were out in the northeast part of Martin county Monday. The country never looked better than it does now. Crops of all kinds are fine and the amount of feed stuff in the country is enormous.

Don't fail to read Horn Bros. & Brown's ad in this issue, $6000 worth of property given away with $12000 worth of lots. Every one gets a lot and 35 people out of 103 gets a premium worth from $100 to $2000. That you can cash besides your lot. See their ad.

Mrs. J. W. Ward left Monday night for Los Angeles, California, where she will be for a few days. She will be joined by Mr. Ward, who will leave here on Sept. 4th, at Sandiego. They will then visit San Francisco, Portland, Oregon, Salt Lake City, Utah, Denver, Colorado, and other points before returning home about Oct. 1st.

Prof. J. D. Shaw and family left yesterday morning for Fort Stockton where they will make their home, Prof. Shaw having been elected principal of the public school there. They are splendid people and have lots of friends among our people who wish them well in their new home.

The big rain which fell here Saturday evening and night will be of great benefit to the crops and range. It extended over a large scope of country and insures all late crops and will benefit the cotton a great deal.

WHEN MEN WORE SHAWLS.

Only Article Appropriated by Them from the Woman's Wardrobe.

On very rare occasions you now see some old lady wearing a shawl, but generally speaking this once universal garment has become obsolete. An Indian or a Persian shawl used to be considered one of the finest feminine possessions in the world, and they were handed down from mother to daughter as prized heirlooms. But now if you gave a young woman even a very elegant shawl, costing possibly hundreds of dollars, as many did, she would turn up her beautiful nose at it, and if she used it at all would make a portiere out of it for her cozy corner. She would never think of wearing it, even if it were the only thing she had.

The trouble is that shawls are out of style, and it is easier to drive a camel through the eye of a needle than to get a woman to wear anything that is out of fashion. When woman-kind took to mannish tailor-made and close-fitting clothes they cast shawls aside, and if they ever come into favor again it will only be for one "season," as a temporary whim, for they have an air about them that is too old-fashioned.

Those children that are say 40 years old or more can probably remember when even men wore shawls instead of overcoats. For about ten years they were considered just the thing. This was the decade beginning with about 1860. President Lincoln was very partial to his big Scotch shawl, which, according to the vogue, he wore, not folded diagonally in feminine fashion, but folded lengthwise. This folded shawl was passed over the shoulders, and around the front, where it was either held by the hands or pinned by a huge shawl pin. This case of the shawl is about the only one where the men have appropriated an article of wear from the women's wardrobe—though the instances where the reverse has happened are legion.

Even then, the shawl was originally not a woman's garment exclusively, for the Scotch Highlander has his tartan plaid, and the men of northern Italy still wear a cloak which is very little more than a shawl.—The Pathfinder.

Why He Called.

"You advertised that you had found a pocketbook, I believe?" he asked the man who had come to the door in answer to his ring, according to Judge's Library.

"I did."

"You say it contained a sum of money?"

"Yes."

"A very large sum of money, in fact?"

"Yes."

"And that the owner could have same by naming the sum found and describing the pocketbook?"

"Yes, Go on."

"That is all I wished to ask."

"But you will have to give a description of the purse you lost before you can put in a claim."

"I lost no purse."

"You didn't?"

"No, sir."

"Then why have you called?"

"Merely to see what a man looks like who will find a very large sum of money and then advertise the fact in the papers instead of hiding it down cellar. Good day, sir."

Too Many Big Names.

He was the new elevator boy and the brokers and bankers in the big skyscraper were not familiar with his name.

"Charles," called the first broker that entered the car, "the seventh."

The new elevator boy stopped at the seventh floor.

"Louis," said another, "the fifth."

The car slowed up at the fifth floor.

"Albert," persisted another, "the second."

The boy looked suspicious. Suddenly a tall clerk touched him on the arm and chirped:

"Joseph, the first."

This was too much. The new lad looked around in disgust. "Say, are you fellows trying to guy me?" he growled. "Or do you think this car is a bunch of Roman history? Huh! Joseph, the first, eh? First thing you will be calling 'Richard, the third,' and I'll go daft and holler: 'Me kingdom for a horse.' Out it out!"

Acquiring Philosophy.

A housekeeper who had rather a small stock of patience went into her kitchen one day to direct the preparation for dinner. She found George, her Japanese cook, poring over a book. "What are you reading?" she asked. "Schopenhauer," George replied. "Do you think you can understand such philosophy?" the mistress inquired. "Yes, honorable madam, I understand it; I apply it. When you come to tell me how to cook, it is good to remember what the white man says about women. I read here, then I not mind what you say."—Bellman.

Two Opinions.

"So you stopped calling upon Miss Peri," said Gaussip. "She has rather a pretty face, but I consider her nose too long, don't you?"

"Huh!" snorted the rejected one. "I found her nose entirely too short and emphatic."

Necessity.

"I see you always wear a smiling countenance."

"Yes," answered the candidate a little wearily. "I have to. There is no telling what moment a snapshot photographer may turn up."

OPEN DEALING IN PAINT.

Buying paint used to be like the proverbial buying of a "pig in a poke." Mixtures in which chalk, ground rock, etc., predominated were marked and sold as "Pure White Lead," the deception not being apparent until the paint and the painting were paid for. This deception is still practiced, but we have learned to expose it easily.

National Lead Company, the largest makers of genuine Pure White Lead, realizing the injustice that was being done to both property owners and honest paint manufacturers, set about to make paint buying safe. They first adopted a trade mark, the now famous "Dutch-Boy Painter," and put this trademark, as a guaranty of purity, on every package of their White Lead. They then set about familiarizing the public with the blow-pipe test, by which the purity and genuineness of White Lead may be determined, and furnished a blow-pipe free to every one who would write them for it. This action was in itself a guaranty of the purity of National Lead Company's White Lead.

As the result of this open dealing the paint buyer to-day has only himself to blame if he is defrauded. For test outfit and valuable booklet on painting, address National Lead Company, Woodbridge Bldg., New York.

Fine Y. M. C. A. Building Planned.

A Young Men's Christian Association building that cost to build and equip more than a million dollars is to be opened in Philadelphia this fall, with Walter M. Wood of Chicago in charge as secretary. An effort is to be made to recruit the membership to 4,000, so that the largest possible number of boys may have the benefits of the new structure. Philadelphia are proudly pointing to the eight-story building in Arch street as one of the three finest Young Men's Christian Association homes in the world, the other two being the Twenty-third street branch, in New York, and the central building in Chicago.

European News Disseminators.

A French statistician calculates that there is one newspaper published for every 82,000 inhabitants of the known world. In Europe, Germany heads the list with 5,600 newspapers, of which 800 are published daily. England comes next, 3,000 newspapers, of which 800 are "dailies," and then comes France, with 2,819 newspapers, of which only one-fourth are daily or published twice or thrice a week. Italy comes fourth, with 1,400 papers, and is followed by Austria-Hungary, Spain, Russia, Greece and Switzerland, the last having 450 newspapers. Altogether, Europe has about 20,000 newspapers.

Just a Plain Commoner.

Royal names for hotels are sometimes the cause of peculiar misunderstandings. An aged farmer from the home county decided to make a visit to Toronto. It was the first time he had been at a city station and when a hotel clerk hurried to him with the interrogation: "King Edward?" the newcomer simply smiled as he answered: "No sir—Thomas Cox of Eramosa."

FRIENDLY TIP Restored Hope and Confidence.

After several years of indigestion and its attendant evil influence on the mind, it is not very surprising that one finally loses faith in things generally.

A N. Y. woman writes an interesting letter. She says:

"Three years ago I suffered from an attack of peritonitis which left me in a most miserable condition. For over two years I suffered from nervousness, weak heart, shortness of breath, could not sleep, etc.

"My appetite was ravenous, but I felt starved all the time. I had plenty of food but it did not nourish me because of intestinal indigestion. Medical treatment did not seem to help. I got discouraged, stopped medicine and did not care much whether I lived or died.

"One day a friend asked me why I didn't try Grape-Nuts, stop drinking coffee, and use Postum. I had lost faith in everything, but to please my friends I began to use both and soon became very fond of them.

"It wasn't long before I got some strength, felt a decided change in my system, hope sprang up in my heart and slowly but surely I got better. I could sleep very well, the constant craving for food ceased and I have better health now than before the attack of peritonitis.

"My husband and I are still using Grape-Nuts and Postum." "There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in page.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

India's Savings Banks.

The postal savings bank of India was established in 1882, in which year the depositors numbered 39,121 and the deposits amounted to $32,243. In 1907 the depositors numbered 1,190,220 and the deposits amounted to $49,223,283, which, perhaps, should not be considered large in a country having a population of some 300,000,000, but the average Indian farmer, mechanic, servant or laborer never deposits money in a bank, but hides it away in a pot or box in the ground.—New York World.

"Nails."

"Nails are a mighty good thing—particularly finger nails—but I don't believe they were intended solely for scratching—though I used mine largely for that purpose for several years. I was sorely affected and had it to do. One application of Hunt's Cure, however, relieved my itch and less than a box cured me entirely."

J. M. WARD, Index, Texas.

A Beautiful Tribute

Senator Thomas P. Gore, the blind senator of Oklahoma, has expressed his personal appreciation of W. J. Bryan, and it is one of the finest tributes one great man ever paid to another. Mr. Gore said:

"It has been said of Mr. Bryan that he is the greatest citizen of America, if not in the world. His greatness is not due to patronage or the glamour of office, nor to a kingly throne or a presidential chair. He has the power neither to reward service nor punish opposition. His influence is due to the fact that he trusts the people and the people trust him better than any other man. He embodies the spirit of our institutions and interprets the thoughts, feelings, hopes and aspirations of the masses. He combines the patriotism of Washington, the statesmanship of Jefferson, the heroism of Jackson, and the universal philanthropy of Lincoln. He possesses the virtues of the conservative and the liberal without the voice of either. He is brave as the bravest, strong as the strongest. From the path of duty he cannot be allured, neither by threats of power nor blandishments of riches, nor the hope of the glory of official preferment. Truth, justice and duty form the lone star of his public and private life."

An Eye on the Future.

Tommy's maiden aunt had called attention to some of that young man's misdemeanors, thereby causing him to be punished. Tommy pondered a while, then asked: "Papa, will little sister Gladys be an aunt to my children when I am a man?"

"Yes, Tommy," answered his father, much interested. "Why do you ask?"

"Cause she might as well get married and have a home of her own, for I don't intend to 'low any aunts to stay around my house, making trouble for my children." — Woman's Home Companion.

The secretions acting too frequently, particularly at night and if I overexerted myself in any way, my back caused me great misery. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at J. L.
