Preparing Insurance Key For Ozona

Rate Book Plan Clean-Up in Business Section Urged

Insurance key rate for Ozona prepared by the State Insurance Division on the basis of a recent inspection made by the division's engineering staff on the community can be used and a new rate book property owners likely will save when their insurance premiums next come due.

Crockett County Water Conservation Improvement District this week issued a report from the division advising that the new rate book being prepared and listing the conditions which it covers, thus furthering the rates.

Letter, written by G. C. Schaefer, chief engineer of the Division, pointed out that the town's water mains were found to be in "fairly good condition" but that the water board pass a resolution directing the maintenance of the water mains at least every 90 days and paint the distinctive color at least every year, sending this office a copy of such written order. The order will provide the Insurance Division with evidence of necessary servicing of the mains.

Insurance division engineers suggested that the Ozona fire department begin an immediate cleanup campaign in the town's mercantile area by appointing fire marshals to immediately institute a cleanup campaign in the mercantile area, paying particular attention to the grounds back of the buildings and removing all cuttings and moving all debris, as well as boxes and other debris, the engineer said.

All create a definite condition hazard, especially because of the numerous and iron-rust buildings and the action of grass and weeds that are a hindrance to the fire department organization since the community has no alleys.

Citizens should be informed that charges from 10¢ to 25¢ can be levied in the rates for their property unless the above hazard conditions are removed and property can be clean at all times in the future.

cannot emphasize this matter strongly and will ask that those who see that this situation requires immediate attention."

Soil Conservation Supervisors Launch Work on Co. History

Supervisors of the Crockett County Soil Conservation District laid plans for writing of the history of the soil conservation district which embraces all of the county, as a part of its program and plan of work when the supervisors met with several of the appointed members of the history committee Wednesday night.

The program and plan is to be a comprehensive study of the entire area embraced in the district and a compilation of facts concerning the district which will serve as a guide in long range planning for improvement of the agricultural phase of the community's economic life.

Various other committees to handle segments of the document will meet at later dates with the supervisors to discuss content of the work. Cy Richmond, soil conservationist from Fort Stockton, met with the group last night.

Rubinoff To Use Famed Violin In Concert Here

Violin Maestro to Play for Ozona Music Lovers Sept. 13

When Rubinoff appears in Ozona on Sept. 13 in a program of popular concert music, he will play on one of the most precious instruments in the world, the famed Romanoff-Stradivarius violin insured for $100,000.

The violin is famous for its silken, lustrous tone, its full range and almost unbelievable depth. Made in 1731 by the master of all violin makers, this particular Strad eventually found its way into the hands of the Romanoffs, one time rulers of Russia, and still bears the bejeweled crest of that family. During the revolution it was smuggled out of Russia and finally was purchased by Mr. Rubinoff.

Sensitive to heat, humidity, altitude and the risks that beset any treasure of such vast value the Stradivarius is guarded and handled with deference and extreme care at all times. The ancient instrument still retains the original varnish and is the acme of perfection in musical instruments.

Included in Rubinoff's program are "Warsaw Concerto," Chopin's "Polonaise," the ever popular "Rhapsody in Blue" by Gershwin; and the haunting melody of Debussy's "Clair de Lune;" all these famous compositions will have their premier performance as violin solos arranged and played by the maestro. Rubinoff will appear at the Ozona High School auditorium in two concerts on September 13. He will play at a matinee for students in the afternoon and at 8 p.m. in his scheduled concert. Admission prices will be 75 cents for students at the matinee performance and $2.40 to all for the night concert. Tickets are on sale at the Ozona Drug or may be had from any member of the Lions Club, which is sponsoring the Rubinoff concert here.

Humble Plugs Deep Wildcat On Alma Cox Land

New Location Staked; Conoco Todd Well Finished

Humble No. 1-C Alma Cox, Crockett county wildcat 3½ miles west and slightly south of Ozona, has been plugged and abandoned at 8,678 feet in the Ellenburger.

After finding the Ellenburger barren, the operator plugged back to 6,985 feet and tested the Wolfcamp through perforations from 6,936 to 5,962 feet. The failure was 760 from north, 660 feet from the most westerly east line of section 72-0P-GC&SF, one mile north of Humble No. 1 Alma Cox, and 8,221-foot Ellenburger failure.

Humble has staked location for a third deep test in the area. It is to be approximately a mile east of the No. 1 failure, south of Highway 290 and about two miles southwest of Ozona.

Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Co., No. 1-G University, slated 8,500-foot wildcat in the extreme north-eastern part of the county, was drilling at 3,270 feet in line.

Continental No. 32 J. S. Todd unit, on program scheduled of 172 barrels in the Todd Deep Field, has been recompleted in eight hours, rating 802.1 barrels of 41.2 gravity, pipeline oil daily. Gas-oil ratio was 174-1. Production was through a 20-64-inch tubing choke and open hole between 6,098 feet, where 5½-inch casing was set, and 6,211 feet, total plug back depth. The section was acidized with 500 gallons. The well is 1,980 from north, 660 feet from east line of the lease in section 28-WX-GC&SF.

Contract Prices on Fall Wool Reach New High of 65 Cents

Fall wool, still on the backs of West Texas sheep, went to a new high price this week with buyers in the field offering 65 cents per pound for the fall short fleeces. The price had advanced from contract offers of 63 cents, out the middle of the week, and some buyers withdrew when the price went to 65 cents.

The new high contract price was offered growers who sell through the Ozona Wool & Mohair Co., but Beall Barbee, owner, said that an estimated 95 per cent of his customers had already contracted, mostly at the earlier prevailing price of 60 cents per pound.

St. Louis Royalty Co. Sues For Todd Field Minerals

Federal Court Suit Involves Rights to Oil Under Sect. 30

Suit has been filed in federal court by the St. Louis Royalty Co. against Continental Oil Co. and others to invalidate "defendants' claim adverse to plaintiff's ownership" of an undivided one-twelfth interest in all oil, gas casinghead gas and other minerals under section 30, block WX, GC&SF Ry. Co. survey, in the Todd oil field in Crockett county.

Some maps indicate there are six producing wells and three dry holes on the section, which is in the south part of the field, about 16 miles northwest of Ozona. No figure on the amount of oil that has been produced or its value are given in the petition that calls for an accounting, which the St. Louis Royalty Co. claims has been refused.

The suit originally was filed against Continental alone in federal court at Fort Worth. Continental moved for dismissal on grounds that all defendants were not included. The royalty company on August 3 filed a motion for permission to file an amended complaint. This was granted, and when the suit was refiled Judge T. Whitfield Davidson transferred it to the San Angelo division of the northern district of Texas.

Defendants besides Continental listed in the amended petition are Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., the Superior Oil Co., Standard Oil Co. of Texas Phillips Petroleum Co., Cities Service Oil Co., Sun Oil Co., Tex-Gulf Producing Co., L. W. Wickes Agent Corporation, Corporations, W. P. Hanson, Harry A. Keithly, M. A. McDonnell, Glen M. Ruby, Jeannette F. Ruby, and Myron A. Smith. Attorneys for the plaintiff are Villard Martin, Garrett Logan and R. W. Kellough, all of Tulsa, Okla.

The plaintiff is listed as the St. Louis Royalty Co., a corporation with no stockholders' liability, organized under the laws of New Mexico and licensed to do business in Texas. The petition recites that on or about July 1, 1928, Charles F. Martin and others contracted to engage in buying, selling and dealing in mineral rights in oil lands as a syndicate under (Continued on Page Four)

Status Changes Must Be Reported To Draft Boards

Failure to Report Marriage, etc. Slows Draft Process

AUSTIN. — Filling of the Texas draft quota of 2,513 men for September is being jeopardized by the fact that many men, now classified in I-A, have failed to report marriages and other changes in their circumstances, Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state director of Selective Service, charged in a strongly worded statement today.

"If we fail to furnish the number of men desired from this state this failure of the part of many men will be the chief factor in that failure," General Wakefield said. The state director said that many of the local draft boards are reporting that when they issue orders to report for physical examinations, many of the registrants are coming in with evidence of marriages that took place "many months before."

General Wakefield pointed out that if these men who have married had notified draft boards immediately after the marriage took place, they would never have been sent an order to report for physical examination in the first place.

"We are operating with little time to get the job done demanded of us," the general said. "The local boards, unless they want to declare such registrants delinquent, have to turn around and get out an order to report for physical examination to the next man in order of age. All this takes time, and our local boards have a short deadline to meet."

Outline Policies for Student Participation in School Athletics

Broad policies governing participation of students in athletics in the Ozona Public Schools were reduced to writing and approved by the school board at its meeting Tuesday night.

The policies as outlined require permission from parents for students to participate in athletics, an agreement on the part of parents to assume financial obligations incident to injuries suffered by participating students, above that received by the school on insurance to be carried by the school covering athletics, limits traveling squads and specifies requirements for awards in the various sports.

Travelling squad sizes will be limited to 33 in football, 12 in basketball, 12 in girls volleyball, 6 in boys tennis, 11 each in girls and boys softball and 6 in girls tennis. Awards for players will be limited in cost to $15 for senior students and $10 for undergraduates. The rules also cover requirements for reserve letters and playing time for lettering in the various sports.

The school administration also drew up rules and regulations governing participation in band. Rental charge of $5 per year was set for use of school owned instruments. Fifth grade students will be required to take band for a period of one year in lieu of Public School Music, with instruments to be furnished fifth graders at $1 per semester to cover maintenance and repairs. After one year of band, pupils must furnish their own instruments.

A maximum band instrumentation of 60 pieces was set for the advanced band. Two credits in band will be allowed toward graduation. Uniforms will be issued to advanced band members only. Drum major and twirlers will be selected by the band director through individual tryouts and no student not a member of the band will be eligible to try out for these positions.

First of the Fine Cars in Value

YOU can see this man has made his mark in life, and while his heart's still young.

You can tell he likes action for his money—that he knows a fine car needn't be the most expensive to give the greatest value.

Yes, such are the things you know of any man, when you note that his car is a ROADMASTER.

Follow him on his spirited way as he pilots this lively motorcar through traffic. Even the light-weights are no match for this road-steady husky—not with the 152-horsepower straight-eight Fireball engine that purrs beneath its bonnet.

Maneuver beside him at the next stop light. Then just try to get away as smoothly, swiftly and silently as Dynaflow Drive gets his ROADMASTER going—and keeps it rolling without shifting, even automatically.

But don't waste time merely envying the man in this great car! Why not emulate him?

With all its outsize room, interior luxury and exterior grace—with all its front-rank prestige, rare performance and matchless ride—a ROADMASTER can be yours for less than some smaller cars cost.

In fact, even if you had a fortune to spend, you couldn't make a more fortunate buy in the fine-car field.

So we suggest you try a few minutes behind the wheel. We're confident they will convince you that ROADMASTER has everything you could ever ask for in any motorcar—although your Buick dealer asks a good bit less for ROADMASTER than you might pay for other top-line cars.

Brooks Hurls Charge Opponent Failed to Halt Govt. Cost Rise

Pierce Brooks, Dallas insurance executive who led a field of 11 opponents in the first primary, opened his run-off campaign for lieutenant governor with a charge that his opponent did nothing as a legislator to halt "the runaway cost of state government."

"My opponent was a member of the Texas senate from 1941 to 1948 when the cost of our state government increased about 500 per cent and he didn't or couldn't do anything about halting the runaway cost of state government. If he didn't or couldn't do anything about it then, what can people expect him to do about it now?" Brooks also charged that his opponent made no effort during his eight years as a senator to comply with the law providing for legislative redistricting after each federal census.

Brooks hailed the result of the first primary which he led, as convincing proof that the people of the state want a lieutenant governor who is completely free from entangling alliances and political obligations.

the management of Charles F. Martin, C. G. Willis, D. R. Francis, Jr., R. T. Shelton and George H. Williams until the organization of the St. Louis Royalty Co., and perfected organization on or about May 9, 1944.

The syndicate on Oct. 22, 1928, according to the petition, purchased from George H. Anderson, an undivided one-twelfth interest in the oil and gas rights in and under section 30, block WX, GC&SF Ry. Co. survey in Crockett county. The firm on or about Oct. 15, 1936, leased the section to Stanolind, reserving oil and gas rights above 3,500 feet, it is further set forth.

The syndicate claims that the lease to Stanolind was for three years from Jan. 1, 1937, and during its life no oil, gas or other mineral was discovered or produced and that the lease expired. It avers that during September, 1939, Continental Oil Co. started a test on section 30 and was engaged in drilling or reworking operations at the lease expiration date and that shortly thereafter the test was completed as a dry hole.

The St. Louis Royalty Co. alleges that the defendants claim to own the lease as extended by written agreements executed and delivered by persons owning the remaining mineral interests and are producing oil and gas from the land. It states it does not know what, if any interest, the defendants claim in the property, but declares each should be required to assert in court whatever title right, or interest they have or claim, and that all claims adverse to the plaintiff's ownership of a one-twelfth interest insofar as it purports to cover the defendants' share should be adjudged void.

The petition states that during 1941 Continental, as lessee of the owners of mineral interests in section 30 not including the plaintiff began drilling on the land for the purpose of developing it for oil and gas from formations below 3,500 feet, and has drilled numerous oil and gas wells and has removed and sold large quantities of oil and gas. The St. Louis Royalty Co. asks that Continental be required to account for one-twelfth of the production or proceeds from it with interest, and that it may recover costs.

Selective service wants to "be reasonable about this situation," the state director said, "but we know that the patience of our local board members is wearing thin. We just want to point out that it is not mandatory under the law that married men be reclassified into III-A under such circumstances.

"Such men who fail to report change of status, such as marriage, or a change of address legally are eligible to be declared delinquent for failing to comply with the law. A delinquent can be inducted immediately ahead of all others under this law, and if we are forced to do so in order to meet our calls. We will comply with the law to the letter," General Wakefield continued.

The state director concluded with the statement that notifications concerning marriage, change of address, and other changes of status are "the entire responsibility of the registrant," and that notifications of change must be sent to local board in writing over the signature of the registrant.

"Too much damage already has been done," he said. "The time is almost past for men to get things squared with their draft boards."

Men who have been called for physical examination from Local Board 110 for the 10th of August, are: Pedro P. Virgen, Sonora, Olge F. Halbert, Eldorado, Claude Gilmer, Rocksprings, Jesus R. Mata, Jr., Sonora, Ralph P. Mayer, Sonora, Earl L. Jennings, Junction, George P. Malbis, Ozona, and William M. Spurgers, Eldorado.

Twelve men will go for physical examination on the 17th of August and their names will be released at a later date.

Thought for the Week

By J. Troy Hickman

LIGHTNING RODS

Months ago in Chicago case workers, sent out to investigate the living habits of families on the public relief list, found a number of the homes equipped with television sets. They asked, "Why do you have relief money on television sets?" One housewife said, "In our neighborhood a television antenna on top of the roof is a kind of social standing — we feel like we are some-grateful to the inventor of such a blessing.

The real appeal of the lightning rod was not so much in the product as in the men who sold them. In a day when a stranger was a curiosity in the country districts, the salesman rode into the county seat town on the mail hack, dressed in a natty derby and checkered vest. After registering his name with big flourishes on the register of Mrs. Smith's Home Hotel, he went to the livery stable, delighted the loafers there with two or three of his best risques, then rented a horse and rig. The farm houses around were his happy hunting ground.

The first thirty minutes of his call were spent visiting with mother and the pretty eldest daughter. Then he froze the blood of the women folk with tales of people struck by lightning in the neighboring towns. Prodded by grandma's pleas, mother was soon convinced that the house was in imminent peril. She went over the contract with the salesman, so the matter could be explained to father when he and the boys came in to eat at noon.

"Sue," if the lady insisted, he would be delighted to stay for dinner. His round tummy testified that he had already eaten many a farm dinner of chicken, greens, cornbread with gobs of golden butter, and big pitchers of buttermilk fresh and cool from the springhouse.

Mother, whose days were spent between the kitchen and the well in the backyard, had an enjoyable hour listening to bright new bits of the outside world which were sprinkled through the salesman's easy patter, and delivered between puffs on a big cigar. In those days, here was the newspaper and radio rolled into one. No salesman was worth his salt unless he could give the ladies an hour or two of such enjoyment in return for a good meal — and a nice sale.

When the last dish went into the warming oven, daughter called up the menfolk from the field. Father and sons came up on the back porch, hung up their hats, rolled up their sleeves over grimy, muscular forearms, and plunged hands and faces into pans of cold water and honest soap, snorting like horses. With a little piece of comb fished from a ledge over the door, they parted and smoothed their hair, then stepped into the kitchen.

"Paw, this is Mr. Jones. He sells lightning rods. Ah ast' him to stay for dinner." After the diners were so full that even a quarter of custard pie didn't look good and a kind of mellow good will had descended upon them all, the salesman led up to his routine. His harangue was a little different for the men — using lots of statistics and stressing fire hazard to house and contents, rather than personal danger and hinting darkly at burnt barns and lost hay crops. Mother put in an eager word now and then. Grandma got up and waddled to the door to look out and see whether a cloud was coming up.

At last Paw rose, stretched himself till his galluses tightened, and allowed that if Maw wanted the rods, she could go ahead and get 'em. Calling the boys, who were stretched out on the back porch floor, he headed toward the lot.

Thus lightly did Paw sacrifice his cotton crop that year, because Maw dutifully ordered rods for both the house and the barn. The smokehouse, she said, would just have to take the risk.

In due time the rods came and were installed. Several neighbors drove by to admire them and covet the safety which the family now enjoyed. Clouds and squalls came and went, just as they always had. The house and barn stood firm — just as they always had.

Time ambled leisurely on, as it has a way of doing in the country. Grandma died first, steadfast in the faith that their lives had been saved by the lightning rods. Daughter married a neighboring farm boy and went to live with him on his eighty acres in a small house without rods. The eldest son brought his bride to the old place and dPaw lived with them until he died, never having known the comfort of really believing in the rods.

The house began to lean a little. A September wind blew the rods down.

Katharine Davis of Geo. Russell, Jr. Colorado Ceremony

DRADO. — The home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ora Davis, was the scene of the nuptial ceremony Saturday for Miss Katharine Davis and George L. Russell, Jr., of Ozona.

Rev. Roy Schilling, minister of the First Methodist Church of Ozona, officiated at the double ceremony.

The bride, attended by Miss Hunter of Santa Anna, wore a blue chiffon crepe dress with accessories and carried a white satin fan centered with red and white tube roses. The groom wore a pink organdy suit with accessories and carried a white carnation.

Kirby of Ozona served as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at home. White flowers and pink satin were used in the decorations. Mrs. Coates presided at the tiered wedding cake which was topped with a miniature bridal couple. Joyce Hunter also assisted in serving. At the bride's side was Mrs. C. W. Kendrick.

The bride is a graduate of Elgin High School and North State College in Denton, Texas. She was a member of the Glee Club, concert orchestra and the junior and senior St. Arden Clubs. She has been a member in the Sonora schools for the past two years.

George Russell, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Russell, Sr., of Ozona, is a graduate of NTAC and is a graduate of Ozona High School. The couple will make their home in Ozona where Mr. Russell is employed by the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George L. Sr., and Hugh, Mrs. D. Russell, Mrs. Lloyd Coates, all of Ozona, Mrs. Bertie Rutledge of Dallas and Mrs. C. W. Kendrick of Littlefield, La.

Ramsey Praises Hiway Program for Farm-Market Building

LLAS, Texas. — Texas $78.5-million program of highway construction — with emphasis on farm-to-market roads — was discussed here today by Ben Ramsey, San Augustine, who is acting as lieutenant governor.

"Every section of the state has been visited during my campaign, and I found farm-to-market roads needed or under construction," Ramsey said.

"More roads are needed to develop our agriculture, and I pledge my fullest support to the members of the highway commission who are working to continue this wise policy," he declared.

"It is also a great source of pride to me, as an economy-minded legislator, who for many years in the legislature has helped to maintain the policies and prestige of the fine highway department, and this vast system of ours is being maintained at a minimum cost, in spite of a tremendous volume of traffic, Ramsey declared.

Small Home Plans

THE ARUNDEL uses the utility room to solve a problem that comes about in basementless houses—that of finding more storage space on first floor. In this utility room, there are two closets, two feet deep and extending to the ceiling, along one wall, and a sixteen inch deep cabinet 5' 4" from the floor but reaching the ceiling along the other wall.

In addition, there is a large storage closet in the dinette, wardrobes in the rear bedrooms, a walk-in closet in the front bedroom, a linen cabinet, and a closet in the vestibule.

The first floor slab rests on a gravel fill and can be covered with a choice of linoleum, asphalt tiles, or carpets. High windows in the front bedroom are designed to add wall space and the picture window projects to form a ledge. The exterior finish is planned to be of siding and asphalt shingles.

The called-for dimensions of the Arundel are 36 feet by 28 feet. The floor area is 1,116 square feet. And the cubage is estimated at 13,950 cubic feet.

For further information about THE ARUNDEL, see us or write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Your Congressman's Private Life IS YOUR Business

First, it has a direct bearing on the type of representation he is able to give you.

Secondly, it gives you an insight into his character, his integrity, and his ability.

We Invite You to Investigate the Private Life of Paul Moss

You'll find it an inspiring West Texas saga of hard work, honesty and clean living

Paul Moss was born on a farm in Clay County, North Carolina, the son of parents in modest circumstances.

As a boy, he worked on the family farm and attended school in the nearby town of Hayesville. Later, he was graduated from Valparaiso University with degrees in law, speech, and education.

After practicing law for short periods in Greybull, Wyoming, and Denver, Colorado, Paul Moss packed his belongings in an ancient Chevrolet sedan and set out for Odessa.

His first home there was a tent pitched in a vacant lot. He had to borrow a law book and a desk to set up his legal practice.

As he began to establish himself as a lawyer, Paul Moss moved his family into a two-room house they occupied for several years.

Saving his money, he bought a ranch on the outskirts of Odessa. On that ranch, he made a major oil strike — a strike on which he risked his own money after the big oil companies said there was no oil there.

Paul Moss' philanthropies are too numerous to mention. But no group or individual that has entered his office in need has ever been known to leave empty-handed.

Judge and Mrs. Moss have been married more than 31 years. They have two children — a son William, and a daughter, Betty.
