From State Capitol

By Vern Sanford

Austin, Texas—It will not take long to cast your ballot in the Democratic primaries on July 24. There are only six contested races, as certified by the State Democratic Executive Committee, making up one of the party's shortest ballots. There are but 26 names on the ballots for 14 statewide elective offices.

Governor's Race

Governor Allan Shivers, running for reelection, designated Ralph Yarborough and his backers as "dreamers" who see as a solution of all our ills centralization of our government in Washington.

As an example of his meaning, Shivers said his opponents were blaming him for supporting the Republican nominee for President in 1952.

"They say I'm a traitor," Shivers commented. "If getting the tidelands back for our school children means I'm a traitor, then I plead guilty." The governor added:

"Our opposition paid lip service to the tidelands. This two-time loser's biggest backers said the tidelands belonged to the federal government."

Yarborough had hurled the charge of disloyalty at Shivers because of the latter's support of Eisenhower.

Women in Politics

Two Texas women took over prominent spots in the state's political show last week.

Mrs. Pat Dougherty will manage the campaign of her husband, Dudley T. Dougherty, for the United States senate. Mrs. Charles Deval of Kilgore, whose husband is publisher of the Kilgore News Herald, was appointed state chairman of Texas Democratic Women for Shivers.

Demo Convention
A decision that will give big city counties who voted Republican in 1952 a strong voice in the Texas Democratic Convention was made by State Democrats in agreeing to count both parties' 1952 votes in deciding their convention strength.

The Democratic Convention convenes in September at Mineral Wells. The committee, meeting in Austin, agreed unanimously on the proposal after being told by its legal committee that the total vote was the correct basis on which to determine delegate strength.

Tax Exemption Asked
Two Texas turnpike corporations have asked the State Supreme Court whether toll roads built by private firms can have tax exemptions.

The Texas Turnpike Company and the Sam Houston Turnpike Corporation appealed from the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals.

Mother Goose In Texas

By Ray Wood

I had a little hen,
The prettiest ever seen;
She washed up the dishes
And kept the house clean.
She went to the mill
To fetch me some flour,
In less than an hour,
And always got back
She baked me my bread
And brewed me my ale,
Then sat by the fire
And told a fine tale.

It has been speculated that the "little hen" in this old country rhyme did not refer to a bird at all, but was a term of endearment for a woman or wife, and these words have been substituted in some editions of the classic Mother Goose Rhymes.

There is no exact parallel to this rhyme in American childlore, but the "Little Hen" has always been one of the favorite subjects for child rhymes in this country. Pioneer kids in Texas, now old and grey, will doubtless recall:

I had a little hen,
I called her Blue.
Every time she laid an egg
She laid two.
She laid in the oven,
She laid in the flue.
She laid a dozen eggs
In granpa's shoe.

Next Week: More about "critters"

Variants of these or similar rhymes will be recorded in the permanent collection of Mother Goose in Texas if sent to Ray Wood at Raywood, Texas.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR: Childress Man Wants Action For His Nickel

Following is a faithful reproduction (we swear it is) of a scrawly handwritten letter received by The Stockman the past week:

Childress, Texas, Gen. Del. June the 17th, 1954

"To the Editor of the Ozona Newspaper of Ozona, Texas, Gentlemen. Kind Sir I write you this to tell you that I am in closing five cents in stamps for a new late copy of your paper to see as I'd like to get it and see it now you see and so please do be shure and mail it on to me now at once to see to without fail, & say you all be shure & return my five cents back to me now to at once if you all don't mail me the new late copy of your paper to see like I have asked to do for me now you see... or I'll put the matter in to higher officials hands for some kind of service to me from you all about it now you see & so please do be shure to act on it at once for me now to one way or the other so I can eather get my five cents back now or the new late copy of your paper to see now, one or the other you see without fail & so please do be shure & act on it now at once for me now to one way or the other to save all of that trouble about it in feathure you see for me & you both now & so I hope to hear from you soon on this matter one way or the other at once without fail & oblige from yours truly,"

The editor sincerely hopes that Uncle Sam's postal service will not fail us at this critical time, and that prompt delivery will be made of a "new late copy" which was dispatched promptly by first class mail. But just in case, we are keeping that five cents worth of stamps in their original wax paper wrapping until this thing blows over. We'll go to any length—up to five cents—to avoid trouble, and we're especially anxious to keep this thing from getting into "higher officials hands."

Soil Conservationist Argues Case For Dams On Upstream Areas

H. N. Smith, State Conservationist for Texas, today declared municipal and industrial users of water have no cause to worry in connection with the evaporation of water from the small reservoirs in Soil Conservation Service upstream flood prevention.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the 40 flood prevention dams already built in the Trinity River watershed are preventing many thousands of dollars of flood losses every year along the small creeks where the dams have been built. In addition, farmers can now raise crops on several thousand acres of fertile bottomland which have been flooded too frequently for cultivation. Smith explained that critics have said that if many flood prevention dams are built in the headwaters of streams the water supplies may be seriously reduced by evaporation from the pools of the structures. Actually, Mr. Smith said, the evaporation loss from the pools of upstream flood prevention dams would be small compared to the evaporation loss from existing major reservoirs, and very small compared to the average flow of the streams.

The average yearly flow into Benbrook, Grapevine, Garza-Little Elm and Lavon reservoirs is estimated to be slightly more than one million acre-feet. The net amount of water evaporated annually from the conservation pools of these reservoirs is estimated to total 131,300 acre-feet, or 12.8 percent of the average yearly inflow. Mr. Smith estimated that the similar loss from the pools to all flood prevention dams built, under construction and proposed—upstream the four major dams—would be only 13,700 acre-feet annually, or 1.3 percent of the average inflow.

In addition to the annual flood damages prevented in upstream areas, the flood prevention dams will reduce the rate of sedimentation of the major reservoirs by more than 50 percent. It is obvious, said Mr. Smith, that the combined benefits of the upstream dams far outweigh any small effect which they may have on water supply.

TS&GRA Advocates That Texas Antiquated Feed Law Be Junked And New Law Be Written To Protect Consumers In Antibiotic Age

A resolution passed by the Board of Directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association at the quarterly meeting held in Alpine Texas on June 19, 1954 will recommend to the state legislature convening in 1955, that a complete new feed law be written to take the place of the present law. This action by the directors was taken after considering the report of a special committee that had studied the present law and had worked with state officials and feed manufacturers since the first of the year.

Feeding practices of ranchmen have changed considerably since the Texas feed law was first written. The various ingredients of feeding stuffs have seen even greater changes. Plain cottonseed cake and single grain are not the major feeds today. Ranchmen are turning to mixed feeds and are more concerned with balanced rations and giving their animals proper feeds at economical costs. The following summary of the TSGRA committee findings on its study was issued for the information of the public.

"These early lawmakers who wrote the first feed law in all probability had never heard of vitamins, antibiotics, mineral supplements and countless other drugs and materials that are mixed with modern feeds and could not have known to what extent they would be used by some processors of feed for sales propaganda.

"The present Texas feed law was first passed in 1905 as a measure for the protection of the general public against fraud, deceit, and ignorance and was directed toward promoting honesty among competitors in the feed industry.

This basic concept of the feed law is as sound and practical today as it was fifty years ago. The legislature also provided for the Feed Control Service under the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station to administer the feed laws.

"All of the provisions of the Texas feed law cannot be discussed in a short article but the major features will be noted. The full text of the law and the regulations pertaining to its administration are covered in Circular 134 of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station entitled "The Texas Feeding Stuffs Law." Fundamentally the law provides for the labeling of feed; attempts defining various terms such as "feeding stuff" and "adulteration"; requires the registration of feed formulas and specifies an inspection tax. The penalties for violations are set out as in all such laws.

"In an effort to keep up with developments in the feed industry the legislature from time to time amended the law but the fact remains that the physical structure of the law has not been changed in a manner calculated to meet the ever rapid progress made by industry in nutritional science and mechanical improvements in plants operation. Recently enacted amendments to the law giving special privileges to certain classes of feed producers and limiting the authority of the Feed Control Service to institute appropriate control measures are proving to be detrimental to the interests of consumers.

"Before it was amended one article of the law made the minimum penalty a $100.00 fine for failing to tag feed and for selling feed below its guaranty. The amendment abolished the minimum fine altogether and as a result some soft hearted courts have assessed fines of only $1.00 after a plea of guilty.

Another article deals with adulteration of feeds. It covers only some of the types of adulteration and does not prohibit substitution of lower grades of feed which is a form of adulteration. The addition of drugs to feed formulae very often constitutes adulteration because of the worthlessness of the drug. Neither the amount quality nor stability of drugs is printed on a tag. If one may draw conclusions from the number and variety of remedies, growth stimulants, digestion regulators, worm inhibitors and appetite activators finding their way into feed formulae, then we are seeing the livestock remedy law circumvented to an alarming degree and feed being converted to a mere vehicle for the administration of medicine to livestock and poultry. We are made to wonder how on earth we ever got along before the advent of these "wonderful drugs". Veterinarians are still probably more qualified to diagnose and treat animals than high-pitch feed salesmen. In this same line minerals and mineral salt mixtures are not included under the present feed law, and producers of these feeds are not required to have a Feed Control Service tag guaranteeing the contents of the bag they deliver to you.

"It should be kept in mind that probably the majority of feed producers are honest and that their feeds closely approach the guarantees printed on the tags, yet we still have those operators that are only interested in their own profit and need strict supervision. After considering all of the facts it cannot be denied that the feed law under which we operate today is inadequate for coping with modern practices in industry. The recent attempts at modernizing the law in a piecemeal sort of way resulted in worsening the situation. The best and only effective way to insure adequate protection to feeders and processors of feed is by writing a complete new feed law."

 At Fort Worth well finished beef was scarce, and fed steers and yearlings were firm. Plain and medium quality offerings were in general weak. The between grade slaughter calves closed lower, but the others were about steady with the previous week's close. Bulls ruled firm. High grade stockers were steady, some of the plain quality being easier.
 Fat Spring lambs topped again at $19 to $20 at Fort Worth Monday. Feeder lambs drew $15 downward. The feeder top was 50 cents above sales late last week, but was considered no more than a fully steady price the kind considered.
 Shorn yearling lambs were weak to 50 cents lower and old wethers and old ewes were also weaker.
 Eastern meat trade centers reported some unevenness still on lamb and mutton, but under severe pressure was the old crop shorn yearling lambs. These encountered a hit-or-miss market in all divisions on this account.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

No Sale!

Right in front of Granny White's beautiful old house on Maple Avenue there's a brand-new sign: "Antiques. Inquire Within."
 Now—don't get excited. Granny explained it all the other night—after we settled down in her parlor, me with my temperate beer, Granny with her tea.
 I asked her if she was really going in the antique business. "Oh, no," says Granny. "I wouldn't sell anything. I put that sign up so folks would come in and talk—and look around. If they insist on a price, I tell them some outrageous figure! I guess I just like people," she said.
 From where I sit Granny can be excused for her little ruse. She may be in her eighties, but her mind is young—and open. She's the kind of person who's made this town so wonderful. Granny not only likes people—but she respects them and their preferences and opinions. Come to think of it, "liking" and "respecting" mean much the same thing, don't they?

Accurate and Complete

RANCH RECORDS

Are More Important Today Than Ever

Government regulations and heavy tax programs are destined to be a part of the American way of doing business for a long time. For that reason, it is more important today that every business keep accurate records of its operations.

The ranch business is no exception. With the stiff federal taxes, you will want to take advantage of every saving item in your expense account and at the same time have clear and convincing records available for inspection by tax agents to prove up any item on your income tax return.

Start now to keep a complete record covering all operations in your business with the Stockman's RANCH RECORD BOOK. Your cancelled checks or your present records can be transcribed to this handy record book, together with your income and inventory records and you can have your entire record in a simplified form contained in one volume.
