DOWN BY THE OCEAN

Looks now as if the Texas coast at last is being developed as a first class playground. All elements have been there all time. Other states have taken time not any better than advertised and developed and lured thousands of people to them. Ours has lain largely neglected, save for a few spots Galveston and Corpus, until last week we spent a couple of beautiful days in and around Port Aransas. We were lucky to have weather the whole time. Port Aransas is a picturesque little town and resort village on Mustang Island. There is nothing on the coast of Maine any more colorful. All kinds of small craft ride in the turning basin, and the big channel ocean going pass. Twenty years ago when I first visited Port Aransas, not much there. A dozen people on the beach was a good crowd. Now on a hot summer day there are hundreds. And one notices that most of them are families. Port Aransas is the whole Texas coast are becoming family playgrounds. Cars of people of all ages from baby to grandma roll up on sandy beach. The kids take to wet sand, grandma sits in shade of a tarp, and everyone in the party either swims fishes. There's a free fishing pier. In there's two of them. One is a wooden contraption which is you a couple of hundred feet out into the bay, and the other is a jetty, is a pile of big rock. All kinds of fish, from perch up to tarpon, are caught both places.

I say "caught," but I mean someone. Port Aransas has a road that says, "They bite every day," but some days that's true of perch and hardhead cats only. When a hundred or two people are fishing in a place, someone will catch something nearly every day. Some days nearly everyone catches them. But it takes a bit of doing.

People get themselves up in the usual costumes to go out to the pier. You can find men wearing up in shorts or covered coveralls, and you can find women who are interested in keeping the sun away from their skins, draped up like rag dolls. But everyone seems to enjoy himself, whether anything bites or not, sit patiently hour by hour waiting the water.

There are plenty of motels along the coast now. We had a nice one at a very reasonable rate, and a number of others with available accommodations. We found that the price of food was reasonable there, cafe meals ranging a little cheaper than here and during all sorts of seafoods. Some years ago the state finisher what is called the Hug-Thomas Highway, which follows the coastline about as closely as possible. Now they are making one around the islands. You can get on at Port Aransas, cross over on a causeway from Mustang to Padre Island, and travel either to Corpus or Port Isabel. No doubt in a few years it will be possible to go pavement by this island route to Brownsville. That will be a wonderful drive, featuring sea dunes, glimpses of blue water, sea gulls and sea-grasses. There will be no drive in the United States more interesting.

At the pier where the commercial fishermen unload, we watched an emptying a cargo of bait shrimp. The hold of the ship was full of ice and shrimp, which they brought up by bushel basketfull. Over at the pleasure pier we were gazing the sleek lines of private boats, with their brass mahogany fittings. It takes continual scraping, wiping, and painting to keep one of them in shape. I asked the owner of one attractive boat how much it cost. He said he had $14,000 in it. It (Continued on Last Page)

Contributions To East Flood Relief Fund Sought Here

Red Cross To Take Voluntary Donations For Transmission

Ozona people, who a little more than a year ago saw their community paralyzed by flood and witnessed a magnificent job of relief and rehabilitation performed by the American Red Cross with money donated by sympathetic Americans, this week were inquiring how they might make contributions toward relief funds for victims of the catastrophic floods which hit the northeastern states last week.

Ozona Red Cross chapter has announced that it will accept voluntary contributions to the flood relief fund and will see that all such contributions are sent directly to the American Red Cross for flood relief in the stricken area.

The National Red Cross has already appropriated from its funds two million dollars for relief and rehabilitation work in the five-state area hardest hit, but E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the national organization, later estimated that the cost would run to "at least $5,000,000." Reports by American Red Cross show that 34,600 families are involved and it was estimated that 7,980 of those would require Red Cross help. Six hundred homes were destroyed and another 3,750 suffered major damage.

There will be no organized drive here, but Ozonans are expected to make a substantial contribution to flood relief funds on a voluntary basis. Contributions may be mailed to the Red Cross, Ozona, Texas; handed to Mrs. W. H. Chandler, secretary, at her office in the courthouse; or left at The Ozona Stockman or the Ozona National Bank.

New Metal Work Units Added To Ozona High Industrial Arts Dept.

Several phases of metal work are to be offered for the first time this year in the industrial arts program of the Ozona High School, R. K. Wimberley, head of the department has announced.

Included in the courses to be offered, Mr. Wimberley said, will be both gas and electric welding; some phases of sheet metal work wrought iron and art metal. Art metal is a unit dealing with copper, brass and aluminum, Mr. Wimberley explained.

Junior High School students will follow a program of an exploratory nature, having work in all areas of the field except welding, the instructor said. High school students will have their choice of a year's work in either mechanical drawing, woodwork or metal work.

A student may take as much as two years in any one of the three fields or a combination of two.

Mr. Wimberley has been working in the shop for several weeks setting up the tools and equipment for the new metal work courses. He extends a cordial invitation to Ozona people to visit the shop and see the new equipment.

Methodists Try Out New Hour For Morning Worship Services

In the spirit of trying to find experimentally the best hour for morning worship in July and August, the Methodist Church voted to hold the morning worship of Sunday, August 28, at 9 o'clock a. m. A splendid congregation responded to the service at that hour last Sunday. After Sunday, August 28, services will be resumed at the old morning hour, 11 o'clock. The results of this summer's experiment will help determine the church's policy for next summer, according to the pastor, J. Troy Hickman.

Crockett Wool Growers Favor Promotion Plan

Close Vote Endorses Deduction From Incentive Payment

In voting concluded August 19, Crockett county wool producers favored by a slim margin the deduction of one cent a pound on wool and 5 cents per hundred pounds on lambs from the government's incentive payments under the National Wool Act to pay for a promotion campaign to increase the consumption of wool and lamb.

The referendum was conducted through local ASC offices in Texas. Claude Russell, ASC office manager here, reported that 39 producers voted in favor of the deduction while 34 opposed it. The 39 producers favoring the proposal listed a total of 108,319 sheep while the 34 opposing listed 66,265 sheep.

The county ballot count will be forwarded to the state office and thence to Washington where the national count will be tabulated. The vote will be decided on the number of grown sheep voted in favor of or against the proposal.

If the plan is adopted, and the final national result will not be known for some time, an agreement between the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., and the United States Secretary of Agriculture will become operative. The Council will be the agency to handle the fund to be made available through deductions from incentive payments and will be charged with "developing and conducting advertising and sales promotion programs on a national basis for wool, sheep and lambs and the products thereof." The agreement covers a three-year period and the deduction to be made will be decided by the Secretary and the Council but will never exceed the amount set out for this year. The agreement will not become operative unless approved by producers who own at least two-thirds of the sheep and lambs owned by all producers voting in the referendum.

John L. Fogarty Dies In Houston After Operation

Crockett Rancher Succumbs After Heart Surgery Thurs.

Funeral services were held at 9 o'clock Monday morning at the Catholic church in Junction City, Kans., for John L. Fogarty, 60, Crockett county ranchman for nearly 30 years, who died at 2:30 p. m. Thursday in a Houston Medical Center.

Mr. Fogarty underwent major heart surgery in Houston Thursday morning and it was thought at first that he was on the way to recovery. He had been in ill health for the last four or five years, and had recently undergone examination in Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. He had been in Houston for the last ten days.

A veteran of World War I Air Corps, Mr. Fogarty operated a 40-section ranch in the Shannon estate ranch holdings. He was also interested in oil production in Schleicher, Upton and Coke counties.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. J. J. Donelan of Salina, Kans., Miss Angela Fogarty of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. J. D. Humphray, Jr., of Junction City, Kans.

Mrs. Beall Barbee underwent major surgery in a Dallas hospital last Friday. She is reported making satisfactory recovery.

To Occupy Radar Station Here By Midsummer 1956

Nine Buildings To Be Constructed On Site Four Miles East

The United States Air Force Air Defense Command expects to occupy the Aircraft Control and Warning station, to be built four miles east of Ozona, by midsummer of 1956, according to more information on the proposed installation furnished by the Stockman by the Air Defense Command headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Nine buildings are to be erected on the site, according to information furnished by Major Charles H. Franks, USAF, director of public information, Office of Information Services, at Ent Air Force Base at Colorado Springs, ADC headquarters.

"Regarding your recent letter to the Commanding General of the Air Defense Command, we are forwarding you the following information on the proposed Aircraft Control and Warning site at Ozona, Texas," Major Franks wrote.

"The Air Defense Command will construct an Aircraft Control and Warning site at Ozona, Texas, with the primary mission of aircraft surveillance. Bids will be let this fall, with the actual construction to be supervised by the Army Corps of Engineers.

"The site will consist of approximately nine buildings, including airman housing in addition to operational, mess, and recreational facilities. There will be no family-type housing built, at least none is planned at the present time.

"The squadron assigned to the site will consist of approximately 16 officers and 179 airmen.

"Cost of this project will not be determined until final plans are approved. This command anticipates beneficial occupancy of this site by mid-summer 1956."

Some of the preliminary surveys and planning have already been made by the Fort Worth district office of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Heavy Rains In Crockett Bolster Reviving Ranges

South And West Areas Get Heavy Falls; Draws Flooded

Heavy rains again visited the Crockett county area the past week-end, bringing flooded draws in some sections and new hopes of continued recovery from drought in favored areas. The rains were spotted, as all have been this summer, but the falls covered a considerable area of the county in two days of thunderstorms.

Ozona received 1.85 inches of rain in intermittent falls early Sunday morning, following a Friday shower which dumped one-eighth of an inch.

The Friday rains brought flooded draws to the west of Ozona where falls up to 3 and 4 inches were recorded, roughly from northwest to southeast over the west half of the county. The Saturday night and Sunday rainfall was concentrated over about the same area with even heavier falls in some sections of the south part of the county. Highway 163 south of Ozona was closed for a time Sunday and Monday because of high water over crossing on Devil's River and Johnson Draw. Both Johnson and Gurley draws in Ozona carried flood waters through Ozona as a result of the rainfall.

Lt. Ralph Carden, stationed at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio, is spending part of his leave here with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Watson. Their daughter, Mrs. Henry Carden and granddaughter, Wanda, of San Antonio also have been visiting here the past week.

LEGAL EXTORTION

General Motors has been required to notify some 18,000 workmen that they will have to join a certain union by a specified date or lose their jobs, except in the 17 states which have passed the right-to-work laws. This is in accordance with the Taft-Hartley act. Under it, when a company signs up for a union shop a non-union man can be hired, but he must join the union in 90 days and pay dues or be fired. The law does not even limit assessments that can be charged him.

The issue here is neither pro-union nor anti-union — it involves the basic principle of the right of choice and the right to work without coercion.

What becomes of a free country when a man is forced to join and pay in order to earn his bread and butter?

Would anyone advocate a law forcing or allowing General Motors to fire a man if he did not resign from a union within 90 days after it hired him? How would that be different from the present situation where it has to fire him if he doesn't join?

Here is a good example of might being right. A powerful private labor organization can legally extort money (dues) from a man on the penalty of having him fired.

Apparently the only solution is for the balance of the individual states to pass right-to-work laws as 17 have already done.

"GOVERNMENT SHALL NOT SUPPORT THE PEOPLE"

In 1887, Congress passed a bill appropriating $10,000 to buy seed and distribute it to drought-hit farmers. President Grover Cleveland acknowledged that the motives behind this were benevolent. Yet he vetoed the measure, in a message which contained this statement: "Though the people support the government the government should not support the people." The country sorely needs adherence to that principle today.

BLIND TO THE FACTS

The advocates of public (socialized) power had their ears pinned back by Congressman Mailhard of California, who pointed out that 70 per cent of all electric power produced by TVA is generated in steam plants at a cost to American taxpayers of some $19,000,000 a year — $9,000,000 of which comes out of California wallets.

Commenting on this situation the Elsinore, California, Leader-Press said: "In other words the 'cheap' power developed under government ownership is cheap only to those who use it. It is mighty expensive to the rest of us who get nothing for the money we pay to run TVA turbines. Furthermore, in rebuttal of the continuing cry that private utilities exist only to gouge the consumer, the group of Ohio valley electric companies that supplies power to the Atomic Energy Commission, has just announced that, because of technological improvements, they will be able to cut cost to the government by at least $1,000,000 a year under the charge originally accepted by the AEC.

"In spite of these and other revelations of the fallacy of public ownership, the socializers continue their chant of 'giveaway' and 'gouge' every time a sound, economical partnership between government and private industry in the power field is suggested. The facts seem neither to impress or faze them."

AN AMERICAN CREED

I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon — if I can.

I seek opportunity — not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me.

I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole.

I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of Utopia.

I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat.

It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself, to enjoy the benefits of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, this I have done.

All this is what it means to be an American.

DELIGHTFUL PET TO DANGEROUS BEAST

This paragraph, from an editorial in Christian Economics, could be profitably read and memorized by all of us: "There is little danger that the people of our country will ever adopt communism. We know it for what it is and we do not want it. Our danger arises from the fact that most of our citizens are not yet aware that socialism, when fully developed, becomes communism or some form of totalitarianism. Baby tigers are said to be delightful pets but they grow into dangerous beasts."

Keep that in mind when you hear it argued that government should operate some business or other, or steadily enlarge its authority over the lives and destinies of individuals and enterprises. Look out for the dangerous beast!

After-Dinner Speaker Gets His "Deserts"

"Red" Thomas tells about a dinner party he and his Missus went to in Center City last week. He said it was a wonderful party—except for one guest who was a real "know-it-all" right from the start.

Whatever the subject, this fellow considered himself an "expert." Wasn't quiet about it, either. He told different people what automobile to buy, what books to read—even told some who they "just had" to vote for.

When it came time to leave, this fellow must've felt a pang of conscience. He turned to the hostess and said: "I suppose I was a bit outspoken tonight." Quickly she replied, "Of course not. No one could have out-spoken you." From where I sit, it's all right to have opinions as long as you don't try to force them on neighbors. Take those who would dog me an occasional glass of beer simply because they prefer something else. They're welcome to their choice but shouldn't try to force me to be a "party" to it!

OZONA — TEXAS

Father, 88, Four, Subject Columnist widely quoted column "Big D" of the Dallas Morning News, devoted Tuesday to T. Grandfalls, 88-year-old M. White of Ozona, Egypt and the Crume, by the way, recently, with Mrs. Crume, a cousin of Ted Crume, who had stepped off for a while after the Whites after ator, T. M. White out in West Texas, of Dallas Monday age of 88, he was sent through Italy, and the Holy Land and intention of climbing Mount Sinai.

Crume's column of West Texas old to climb Mounts in the Holy Land:

Big D

white-haired man, a quick wit, he had the plane with travel equipment as handsome carrying a compass and several maps. He meant to pass on a few little also to check some of the which archeologists say are the site of another ancient city, Ai. He has an idea they may possibly be a little in the wrong direction.

He wanted the pages of Josephus, a first century historian, to refresh his memory about how Herod lost out to Cespasian, although he already knows in minute detail what transpired from day to day in that ancient world.

He will see most of the country in the driest season, but says he will like it. "After I've lived in West Texas all these years," he said, "I can't be disappointed."

At Grandfalls, where he appeared to teach the school in 1898 and has lived ever since, it doubtless surprises nobody that Grandfather White has gone world traveling. He has traveled every chance he got, though only in the United States and Mexico up to now.

He is known as a man of stout heart and staunch convictions. Two or three years ago, at the age of about 85, for instance, Grandfather White went back into business. He took over a small feed store, which meant janitorial and handling feed sacks as well as being owner. The matter of Social Security arose.

He had never given Social Security too much thought before, but he found that as a self-employed businessman he was supposed to register. He got in touch with the government people and said he didn't want any pension but he would like to know what he was expected to do. The government seemed to take a dim view of his stand that he had lasted it out 85 years and possibly didn't need to be secure in his old age.

He ended up with a monthly check which he hadn't planned on and an extra 2½ per cent tax slapped on his income to help pay for it.

A mildly scandalous state of affairs, he said, in a generally pretty good world.

Before leaving home, Mr. White paid all the bills he would owe for three months ahead of time. "When I get back," he said, "I'll be out of debt."

Mr. White doesn't see why a man of his age shouldn't climb Mounts Sinai and Nebo. Moses, he points out, was in his 80's when he climbed one and over 100 when he climbed the other.

The Egyptian government has said it is going to honor him when he reaches there, and he is pretty sure that he is going to like all the people over there. He always does. His main worry as he departed was how, away from his favorite newspapers, he was going to keep up with world affairs.

"This is a changing world," he said with some satisfaction. "There are great things going on in the world today."

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS From State Capitol

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Texas — Whether a special session of the legislature is called on school integration apparently hinges on a Texas Supreme Court decision still to come.

Filed by the anti-integration Texas Citizens Council in a district court at Big Spring, the suit seeks to bar payment of state funds to bi-racial schools.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd says the court decision holds the key to whether Texas laws must be changed immediately or already integrated schools must backtrack. Decision by the district court can be carried directly to the Supreme Court and possibly be settled by the time school starts.

Should the court hold payment to integrated schools can be made under existing laws, there apparently would be no urgent need to change them, at least in that regard.

Shepperd said he welcomed the Big Spring suit since it promises to clear up the difficult legal situation.

Gov. Allan Shivers says he will call a special session "if necessary." He apparently was awaiting three developments:

He asked his newly formed citizen's advisory council on school integration to investigate and report to him on several questions, including the need of a special session.

He asked Shepperd to prepare an official ruling on legal questions.

And the decision in the Big Spring court case may set up conditions to determine need of the session.

In July the Board of Education voted to continue regular payments to local districts, whether segregated or not. It left racial policy up to local officials.

Since then, some 30 districts have announced whole or partial desegregation plans.

A University of Texas student committee also has taken on the segregation problem with a poll of student opinion on acceptance of Negro students outside the classroom. Graduate courses have been open to Negroes since 1950. Regents have ordered full desegregation in September, 1956.

KKK Talk Challenged
Attorney General Shepperd's claim that efforts are underway in Texas to revive the Ku Klux Klan brought a challenge last week.

Sen. Jimmy Phillips called on Shepperd to name names, but Shepperd declined. Names will be given prosecutors and grand juries when sufficient evidence is gathered for convictions, Shepperd said.

Giles Pleads Guilty
One of the biggest news breaks of last week was Bascom Giles' plea of guilty in criminal district court at San Antonio to two charges in connection with a Bexar County block land deal.

Giles' guilty plea concerned charges of consenting to accept a $30,000 bribe. He pleaded not guilty to a third count, of accepting the bribe. The state waived this charge and Judge Buck Jones imposed a six-year prison sentence. It is to run concurrently with a three-year sentence given Giles earlier at Austin on a charge of theft of $6,800 from the veterans' land fund.

Giles has appealed the case, which affords at least 90 days' delay in final disposition of the sentence.

Awaiting trial in San Antonio were Arthur McKenzie and C. V. Wynn, San Antonio land operators, indicted for offering the $30,000 bribe to Giles.

Other suits now pending against the former land commissioner are a civil suit at San Antonio, seeking recovery of $35,000, and nine additional charges in Austin, on other transactions. He also faces trial in Zavala County on another land case.

Too Much Money
Overpayment of drivers license fees has created a problem for the Department of Public Safety.

DPS staffers reminded the public that increased charges voted by the 1955 Legislature do not go into effect until Sept. 6. At that time charges will jump from $1 to $2 for an operator's license, $2 to $3 for commercial licenses, $3 to $4 for chauffeurs.

Meantime, the lower rates apply, and the department has quite a task returning excess money.

Cattle and Calves Steady

FORT WORTH — There was the usual effort on the part of the buyers to lower livestock stock prices on the market at Fort Worth Monday, and the usual resistance on the part of the salesmen. The result was about a steady market compared with the close last week.

Fat steer and yearlings, stockers and feeders, and canner and cutters cows were most active.

Comparative prices: Slaughter steers and yearlings of good and choice kinds $19.00 to $23.50. Common and medium beef cattle $12.00 to $18.00. Fat cows $10.00 to $12.00. Canners and cutters baby beef yearling weight creepfeds $19.00 to $20.00. Common and medium $12.00 to $15.50; culls $9.00 to $12.00. Stocker steer calves $16.00 to $21.00, yearling stockers $19.00 down. Stocker cows $8.00 to $12.50.

Ewes Open 50c Up
Slaughter ewes 50 cents higher and sold mostly at $4.50 to $5.50 at Fort Worth Monday. Other kinds of sheep and lambs were steady. Fat lambs topped at $18, but something strictly choice or prime could probably sell above that easily enough. Feeders sold readily at $14 to $16, and load lots of choice feeders could bring more. Old wethers drew $7 to $12. Yearling muttons were quoted from $8 to $16. Old bucks around $4.50.

The West Texas sheep country continues to get rains and some observers there say some sections look "like Spring." Restoring is already very active, and will increase as the cooler weather approaches.

Stocker cow dealers on the yards report activity in their pens the greatest in a long, long time. Despite the continued relatively low prices on finished cattle, the stocker and feeder demand remains good.

The improved pasture and water conditions in the Southwest has put most sheep and cattle in calves on the ground are like MONEY IN THE BANK

It costs a lot of money to keep a cow. A lot of that money is lost if she fails to settle or drops small, weak calves that die or develop into "tail-enders."

BIG CROPS of husky calves are a must, if a fellow is going to make money ranching. This is especially true when the price of cattle is off.

Your range needs help. It takes more than grass alone to give your cows what they need to grow and drop the kind of calves that will bring top prices next fall.

PURINA RANGE CHECKERS have proved their worth in research tests and on thousands of ranches. This favorite range supplement has what it takes. Cattle love Checkers, do well on them. Cows stay up in good shape at calving time, have lots of milk for the calves, too.

More and more Southern cattlemen are planning their breeding program so that calves come in the late fall. These calves are ready to eat early grass—hit the early market, which is usually best.

Feed for big calf crops the Purina Way. Purina Range Checkers can help you keep your operation on the profit side of the ledger.

COME IN. We'll visit about Purina Range Checkers and profitable ranch management. Make it soon!

Wool Grading Shows for Ranchmen an Experiment

Wool of last year's wool-gram in Reagan Coun-ty was graded in the September Progressive Farmer

Wool Grading "Way" explained that more than paid for helping the wool sell for more money on a lot. More important, it is participating sheep-owners what percentage of wool his flock producing program was cooperative for better prepara-tion for market.

County Nevills, county about 10 specially trained men to help super-vised operations. They all-ways fleeces were proper-ly tied, off wool bag-ged from finer wools, the wool bags were kept and wool kept clean, the wools a real head-er buyer acceptance.

Program has inspired a com-mit among many ranch-ers will be trying to out-grow. Neville is striv-ing selection program going county flock. He believes that with proper culling, and bar-ring drouth, a ranchmen here can expect his range flock of Ram-bouilletes to shear 10 pounds of wool per head as compared to the county average of 8.

was not the finest there, either. I estimated there must have been around half a billion dollars worth of pleasure craft tied up at the wharf.

For $30 you can hire a professional guide to take you out in his boat for the day. Each person after the second costs $5 more. You furnish your own bait and tackle, or rent it from the wharf stores. Some of these boats came in around 5 p. m. with the occupants pretty sunbaked but happy. One lady had a nice sailfish and her husband had an impressive array of king mackerel, perhaps 200 pounds of them.

All in all, we saw lots of interesting things, and lots of other people were enjoying them, too. It looks like the Texas coast is on its way to being everybody's big playground now. It did us good to see so many people enjoying themselves.

One of the big things was the family angle. For a safe, pleasant, economical vacation, nothing can beat a few days down by the ocean.

LADIES GOLF ASSN.

The ladies of the Golf Association met Tuesday morning at 8:30 for golf play at the Country Club.

Points for balls were won by Marge McMullan, Dorothy Pierce, and Lois Hodges. Others playing were Katy Jones, Velma Marley, Elizabeth Williams, Gladys Pierce, Pauline Montgomery, Donna Beth Davidson and Jane Black.

The great beds of rock and gravel in Johnson Draw are pictured in the September issue of The Progressive Farmer magazine. The article, "A Year After, On Johnson Draw" tells of the damage of last year's flood and of the rebuilding program of farmers and ranchmen in the area.

Fences, shearing and shipping pens, windmills, and roads have mostly been rebuilt. There has been a community effort to stamp out poisonous plants spread by the floodwaters. Ozona ranchmen have had to fight bitterweed brought in by the flood. The Crockett Soil Conservation District is helping in the project.

Once lush grazing in the draw is now covered with gravel that is 1/2 mile wide or more in places. Wayne and Massie West, south of Ozona lost four to five sections of grazing land under deep gravel deposits along 12 miles of draw. A neighbor, Jake Mayfield, lost 500 to 600 acres.

Many ranchmen plan to fence off the draw to give it a chance at eventual recovery. However, they expect it will be another generation that will see it come back again, the article concludes.

Eddy Lewis, III and sister, Lisa, have returned to their home in Plainview after a visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Hannah. While here, Eddy attended the encampment at Camp Louis Farr, sponsored by the Churches of Christ in San Angelo.
