Johnson Plan To Congress By June 1, Bureau Promises

Congressman Rutherford Reports On Progress Of Flood Plan

Bureau of the Budget officials in Washington have promised Congressman J. T. Rutherford of the Texas district, that the Johnson Draw watershed project will be sent forward to Congress as early as possible after it is approved by the Department of Agriculture, which has promised to take final action in submitting the plan to the Budget Bureau on or before June 1.

Through the efforts of Congressman Rutherford, Governor Allan Shivers and Senators Price Daniel and Lyndon Johnson, the plan is expected to be approved by the House committee to which it will be submitted, the Congressman from this district reported in a letter to this editor this week.

Congressman Rutherford enclosed a copy of a letter from the Budget Bureau promising prompt action when the project is submitted, and reported on other developments in the capital regarding progress of the plan which was developed by technicians of the Conservation Service under the sponsorship of the local Soil Conservation District and county commissioners court.

"This morning I was told by the secretary of Agriculture's office that the plans have been approved through all his sub-divisions," Congressman Rutherford wrote, "and I expect to send it to the Bureau of the Budget no later than June 1 or possibly before hand. In a telephone conversation with the Bureau of the Budget a few minutes ago, I was told that the June 1 date would still allow time for the Bureau to send the project to the Congress for the 45-day waiting period.

"As you know, the Committee on Agriculture in both the Senate and House must pass a resolution approving the project, and no other action is necessary by the full Congress. Congressman Poage of Texas, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, is to help steer the resolution through his unit. Senators Johnson and Daniel of Texas have indicated their approval in getting the matter through the Senate Committee headed by Senator Ellender of Louisiana.

"We do not anticipate any trouble in getting the measure through the Committees. The Agriculture officials say if the Bureau of the Budget approves, then that, for all intents and purposes, will solve the problems.

"I will keep you informed of any change in plans or progress, and let you will let me know if I can be of further service."

Oil Journal Cites Growing Interest In Val Verde Basin

Of interest to most people in Crockett and surrounding counties, particularly to land owners in south Crockett, Sutton, Val Verde and Terrell counties is a well item appearing in a recent issue of the Oil and Gas Journal, concerns the Val Verde Basin, an unexplored area which covers parts of these counties. The discovery gasser mentioned in the article is on the Marbury Morrison in Crockett and Val Verde counties. Following is the Oil & Gas Journal item:

Val Verde basin—This basin, of which the oil finders know very little, is thought to cover most of south Crockett, Sutton, Val Verde and Terrell counties. It is considered by many companies as a hopeful future oil province.

Wildcat interest in this basin has been given a boost by Magnolia Petroleum Co.'s recent gas discovery in northwestern Val Verde county. The well was not so much a gasser, but important in that it introduced the first Ellenberger production in that county."

The report shows two fox heads from Crockett county examined and found positive. Positive diagnosis of fox heads were reported from the following other West Texas counties: Kinney, Mason, Menard, Pecos, Schleicher, Sutton, Upton and Uvalde. A rabid calf was reported from Presidio county, two dogs and one fox from Uvalde county and one dog from Val Verde county.

So far in 1956, the State Health Department has furnished 728 fourteen-injection human rabies treatments to the people of Texas, the report said.

Dr. Flowers Points To Opportunities For Trained Person

John G. Flowers, president of today's world for the well educated and well trained individual, Dr. John G. F. Flowers, president of Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos, told the thirty graduates of Ozona High School in a commencement address delivered at the exercises in the high school auditorium Thursday night.

Music was provided by the High School Glee Club under the direction of James Rollins. Special awards, including scholarships to the honor graduates, was made by Principal P. O. Dallas Operators Spot West Crockett Wildcat

B. R. Somerford and Carl B. Schaefer of Dallas have filed application to drill a 2,500-foot rotary wildcat in Crockett County, six miles southeast of Iraan. It will be drilled as the No. 1 Noelke.

Location, on an 80-acre lease, is 330 feet from the most westerly north line and 990 feet from the west line of 22-GG.

The prospector is three miles west of production in the shallow Noelke field.

Mad Fox Bites Dog, Attacks Man In Ranch Home

Hugh Boyd Battles Animal On Dick Henderson Ranch

Another rabid fox attack, this time on the outskirts of Ozona, was reported this week, touching off another effort on the part of authorities to have all dogs here vaccinated and a countywide effort to devise some means of thinning the ranks of varmints in the county.

A rabid fox attacked first a dog on the Dick Henderson ranch a mile north of Ozona and then turned on Ranch Foreman Hugh Boyd when the latter went to the door to see what was disturbing the dog.

When the animal saw Boyd inside the screen door of his home it charged the door viciously. Boyd reported, Boyd stepped back and seized a shotgun and cautiously poking the muzzle around the partly opened screen fired at the rabid beast, but missed. The animal charged the door even more viciously and it took several shots, under the handicap of a barely cracked doorway, to finish the fox. The head was sent to the state laboratory in Austin and a report of positive rabies was received yesterday. Boyd said that the dog, chained to his kennel, made no attempt to fight off the fox, trying only to break his leash and escape.

Sheriff V. O. Earnest issued a warning to dog owners in Ozona to keep their pets in restraint and those who have not yet vaccinated their dogs are urged to do so at once. The increase in rabid animals and possible exposure of domestic animals and pets poses a threat to human life here, the sheriff said, and stray dogs will be subject to destruction by officers.

Joe North

Joe North, Ozona Auto Dealer, Is Drowning Victim

Business Leader Loses Life In Tragedy On Devil's River

Shocking news of the death by drowning of Joe W. North, 54-year-old Ozona automobile dealer, rumbled all Ozona early Sunday morning when his body was recovered from the waters of Devil's River a short distance from where his boat was swamped and sunk by high waves twelve hours earlier.

The body was found by J. B. Parker and George Banger, Jr., the latter a nephew of Mr. North's who were among the large number of searchers, including Ozona fire department personnel and volunteers from Ozona, Comstock and Del Rio, who had spent the night dragging the river bed in search of the body.

Mr. North, his brother, Hilton, Ozona grocery operator, and Jake Young, a brother-in-law, were on a Saturday night fishing trip to the North lease just below Baker's crossing on Devil's River. The trio had started to bait their trot lines when a high wind struck the area, kicking up giant waves on the small lake which the river forms at the spot. When the men attempted to cross the river to return to their camp, a big wave swamped the metal boat and the men were pitched into the turbulent waters.

Hilton North, thrown clear of the boat, started swimming for the bank while the others clung to the boat. He made it to safety and set out for a nearby ranch house to summon assistance. Young, who was rescued in an almost exhausted condition after clinging to the boat for nearly two hours, related that he and North, one at each end of the boat, talked to each other shortly after being dumped into the water and North, after calling his brother and getting no response, expressed belief that he had drowned. After a few minutes North said, "I feel bottom." Young reported, and immediately shoved off from the boat, swimming strongly in the direction which Hilton North had taken. Young, who could not swim, held to the pitching boat and in the pitch dark saw nothing more of North. He was bruised and battered by the boat, tossed about in the waters churned into high waves by the wind. He was pulled from the water nearly two hours later when Hilton North returned with two Mexican ranch hands and swam to the boat with a rope, held by the ranch employes, tied about his waist.

Funeral services for Joe North were held at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon from the Ozona Methodist Church, the Rev. Eugene Slater, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Amarillo, and a former pastor here, officiating. Burial was in Cedar Hill Cemetery with the Cody Funeral Home in charge of arrangements. Pallbearers were Massie, West, Boyd Clayton, Clyde Biggs of San Angelo, Clay Adams, Joseph Vander Stucken of Sonora, Bill Glasscock of Sonora, Byron Stuart and Bascomb Cox.

Mr. North was born April 1, 1902, in Sonora the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. J. North. Head of the North Motor Co. local Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Cadillac dealer, Mr. North had operated the business, which his father had founded, for the past thirty years. He was married to Alleane Banger, daughter of another pioneer Ozona business man and rancher here May 12, 1923.

Surviving are the widow; three sisters, Mrs. Wayne W. West, Mrs. Gertrude Perry and Miss Mildred North; two brothers, Hilton and Carl North, all of Ozona.

Ozonans Attend Baylor Commencement; Heard Pres. Eisenhower Talk

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Carson and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hoover of Ozona were invited guests and attended the Baylor University commencement exercises Friday at which President Dwight D. Eisenhower delivered his major foreign policy address.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson also attended a luncheon given by the University for visiting dignitaries, including Governor Allan Shivers, and several congressmen, educational leaders, federal officials and Baylor trustees. In a chat with Governor Shivers, the Ozonans said they found him well informed on Crockett county's flood control effort and expressed a willingness to give any further assistance which his office could provide in pressing the matter to a final approval.

GOC Unit Here Starts Operation; Need Volunteers

AF Request For Observation Post Is Met By Group

Ozona Ground Observer Corps went into service on a 24-hour basis Saturday morning following a final organization meeting attended by about 30 Ozonans who had volunteered to serve in the aircraft observation unit.

T. J. Bailey, local manager for the West Texas Utilities Co., is post supervisor and Joe Tom Davidson, chief observer. Nearly fifty Ozonans have signed up as members of the post to date but at least that many more volunteers are needed to assure availability of personnel at all times and to distribute the chore of keeping watch on aircraft during daylight and night hours. Most of the night observation for the present will be done by employees of all-night filling stations and the sheriff's department night deputies, Mr. Bailey said.

Daytime observation assignments for the next week are as follows:

Friday, June 1 — Tom Allen
Sat., June 2 — Bob Scott
Sun., June 3 — Joe Tom Davidson
Mon., June 4 — Alfred Garza
Tues., June 5 — Claude Montya
Wed., June 6 — Melvin Semmler
Thurs., June 7 — Evert White.

Records of the unit operation will be at the West Texas Utilities office. Forms are available to each observer to keep a record of reports made during his hours of service. Local observers will report by telephone to a filter center in San Antonio, special code words and numbers being devised to effect an almost instantaneous connection with the center to report aircraft movements.

The local post was organized just in time to participate in an area-wide exercise and test of the effectiveness of the GOC posts to be held Sunday, June 3. On that day all types of aircraft will be reported by observers at all posts, with the exception of planes landing or taking off from established airports.

A weekly column will be published in the Stockman giving assignments of GOC members for the coming week.

A GOOD CITIZEN PASSES

Death has taken another good citizen of Ozona, and in a fashion that has brought the cruelest shock to his family and friends.

The accidental drowning of Joe North, Ozona business leader and a man with friends scattered over the broad expanse of all Texas, has left a big hole in the business life of Ozona. A leader in the automobile business, he created and guided with a master hand a thriving business which weathered depression and drought and kept an even keel in booms, and added distinction to Ozona's business circle.

On the well-laid foundation, the business will continue, of course, but Joe North as a friend, as a counsellor to others in the business world, as a cornerstone of business acumen and as a citizen with the forward look, will be missed. Ozona is better for his having passed this way.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE FOR AN FHA LOAN?

Elsewhere in this paper is a news story to the effect that the Farmers Home Administration (F. H. A.) has again made available loans to "eligible" Texas farmers for the construction and repair of farm houses and other farm buildings, including farmstead water supplies.

What makes a farmer "eligible" under this program of low interest rate loans from the federal government is the interesting part of the story.

Interest on the loans will be 4 percent and repayment will be scheduled over periods up to 33 years. This sounds ok, but "the loans will be secured by a mortgage on the borrower's farm. That's ok too, because you wouldn't expect to borrow money from a fellow without giving him some security.

But to be "eligible" the farmer must, of course, own his farm — and, he must "be unable to obtain suitable credit for dwellings and other buildings from other lenders, and have enough farm income or income from other sources to meet family living and farm operating expenses and repay his debts." And, furthermore, the borrower must get FHA approval of the building plans and specifications before he starts and FHA will "inspect construction as it progresses."

That's all you have to be and do to get one of these loans—you own your farm or ranch and have enough income to meet your family and farm expenses and to pay back the loan. If you can qualify thusly, then, for heaven's sake, how could you qualify on the other count — i. e., be unable to obtain credit from other lenders. Just as a hypothetical case, ask your banker.

Now, if similar restrictions were placed on "loans" to foreign governments and the same "inspection" privileges demanded, Uncle

Sam probably would be several billion dollars less in debt, and maybe his nephews would have a little more spending money left after taxes.

FREEDOM IS AN ABSOLUTE

Dan Thornton, former governor of Colorado, had some wise words to say to the Oregon Cattleman's Association. He urged these producers to reject government subsidies. And he made his big point with a simple question: "Do we wish to remain a free enterprise nation or accept socialism?"

There is no real middle ground between those two extremes. "A little bit of socialism" inexorably grows, like live yeast, until we have a whole lot of socialism. Then the individual becomes a robot, responding to the strings pulled by the bosses — who are the politicians and the bureaucrats.

Groups of people may turn to government to help with some temporary problem. But, after the problem has been solved or has changed, government is still right there with its controls and its regulations and its rulebooks.

Moreover, government aid is always subject to the unpredictable winds of political expediency — as vast numbers of farmers must have learned by now. So far, according to all the evidence, a majority of livestock producers have been adamantly opposed to looking to government for solutions to their problems. They deserve all credit for that — and they will steadfastly maintain that position.

Livestock prices, like all prices, rise at one time and fall another. But freedom is an absolute that can't be subject to variation.

to Miss Shirley Ruth Scott, daughter of Mrs. W. B. Scott of Winters. Young Hicks, a 1955 graduate of Blackwell High School, is employed with the Winters Manufacturing Co.

More Than She "Bargained" For

Dad Baker retired from active dairying—seven or eight years ago—but still keeps a half-dozen pure-breds more or less as a hobby.

Dad goes all-out for these six. Temperature-controlled barn, expensive feed... the works. As a result his milk has a low bacteria count, a high butterfat content. And as a favor to neighbors, he sells it just two cents above the ordinary price.

Recently, a neighbor complained—asked if she couldn't get the milk "at cost." Dad agreed, sent her a bill for exactly what the milk cost: 75¢ a quart.

From where I sit, it's easy to misunderstand if you don't get all the facts. That's why we ought to consider the other fellow's viewpoint before we talk out. For example, you have your reasons for liking particular beverages. I have mine. And whether we're talking about buttermilk or beer... let's try to respect each other's point of view.

That intangible something known as the "human element" could be one reason President Eisenhower saw his foreign aid request chopped by $1 billion in the House Foreign Affairs Committee recently.

The story is this: Chairman Dick Richards (D-SC.) feels he has been ignored by the Administration. He contrasts this with the attention showered upon Senator Walter George (D-Ga.), Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations group. Not being kindly disposed toward foreign aid in the first place, Richards did not hesitate a minute to lead the way in slicing the billion greenbacks off the Administration request.

George and Richards, both top men in their respective Legislative bodies concerning foreign affairs legislation, are both declining to see re-election this year. George steps down after 34 years; Richards quits after 24 years.

Our citizens are apparently becoming more economy-minded. A Texas Congressman recently mailed a questionnaire to his constituents and one question asked: "Do you approve the transfer of unused immigration quotas to countries whose quotas are in short supply?" One citizen answered, almost indignantly: "Congressman, if there's any quotas left over, they ought to be returned to the Treasury!"

We will apparently have a high-way bill this session, but the final form is in doubt. The Senate is discussing financing, tax-structures and other points of the bill which passed the House. Most Senators predict attempted changes, but cannot say whether the final vote will show a material swing away from the House version.

The information I get on Capitol Hill is that you can hang onto your three-cent stamps for a while. While an increase in first-class postage rates could be voted this session, it now appears doubtful. Facing facts, few taxes are raised during an election year.

Also, I feel, and many Congressmen do, that "junk" and lower class mail should be increased before first-class and air mail rates are stepped up. The Post Office Department has asked to raise three-cent mail to four-cent and air mail from six to seven cents. It also asked for a Committee to study and recommend other increases, but the Committee turned this down flatly.

I do think, however, that if first class mail isn't raised this session it will be next year in order to balance the postal budget; i. e., force revenue to equal expenditures. I feel sure a survey at top-level would eliminate $1,000 stamp-dispensing machines and three-colored mail-boxes (as cropped up in the Department a few months ago), and thus provide a material saving!

I am deeply honored by the announcement that Odessa College will present to me its first honorary degree in its 10-year history on Friday, June 1st. I was particularly pleased, after learning of the Board of Regents unanimous decision to confer the degree on me, to hear it will be presented by my life-long friend, Murry Fly, President of Odessa College. Fly, a long-time Superintendent of Odessa Public Schools, served in that capacity when I was a student in the Odessa school system.

I intend to make a flying trip to Texas to be in Odessa to receive the degree personally. This will be the first time I have left Washington during a session since arriv-

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS From State Capitol

By Vera Sahlsted
Texas Press Association

HIGHLIGHTS —

Austin, Texas — Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower's visit to his native state, planned long ago, by chance came three days after the Democratic State Convention. There, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson was endorsed as favorite son candidate for President.

Thus, Texas has two native sons in the race for Chief Executive of the United States.

Gov. Allan Shivers, who has said he will support the presidential nominee whom he considers best for the nation, regardless of party, didn't attend the Dallas Convention at which Johnson was the main figure.

As Texas Chief Executive in 1956, however, welcome President Eisenhower at Waco, where he received an honorary degree from Baylor University.

Eisenhower leaders, including National Committeeman Jack Proctor, and other Texas Republican notables, conferred with the President briefly in Waco. And present was Mrs. Ozona Cary Stebbins, late of the President's cabinet and now co-chairman of the national Citizens for Eisenhower organization. Governor Shivers did not take part in the conference.

Johnson's death—Senator Johnson gained his personal gain at the Democratic convention. But his control of the convention was shaky all the way through.

Near the end, his personal requests were turned down. His proposed change for Democratic National Committeewoman, Mrs. Lloyd N. Benson, D., of Dallas, was substituted for Mrs. E. B. Karpovich of Houston. She replaces Mrs. Billie Westcott of Seattle. Also replaced was National Committeewoman For Kansas, Electra H. Kinsland was Erena Shadron of Temple.

A new state executive committee is not to be named until the usual time — the September convention. Meanwhile, the May convention is not adjourned — merely recessed. This is interpreted as a "foot in the door" to keep watch over the present committee during the summer.

Defeated conservatives say that Shivers conservatives and Johnson conservatives soon will be back in the same camp. They think it can happen in time to shift party control again in the September convention.

New tax suggested — When the 55th Legislature convenes next January, the biggest bugaboo will be a familiar one — need for more money.

Budget estimates indicate at least $25 million more a year will be needed for 1957-58 appropriations.

Campaign platforms of legislative candidates show that many think existing tax sources are paying as much as they can. Many suggest that new revenue sources should be found to equalize the load. Few are very specific.

A concrete suggestion came last week from a University of Texas economics professor writing for "Comment," the Bureau of Public Affairs monthly. A "business activities" tax was proposed by Carter C. Thompson.

Such a tax, said Thompson, would be based on value added to a product by manufacture and hence would hit "only newly-created wealth without attacking"

Michigan, he said, collects about $10 million a year by this means. Alternate proposals, such as income or sales taxes, widely used in other states, have always met strong opposition in Texas.

"Right-to-work" law hit — Labor leaders are elated, state officials grim over the crumpling of Texas "right-to-work" law.

U. S. Supreme Court last week ruled each state law cannot apply to the railroad industry. They are supported by the National Railway Labor Act which authorizes closed shop contracts.

Said Sen. Gen. John Ben Simpson: It means "railroad workers must join unions or go hungry. I may who is opposed the right to work unions to support certain

Integration of Schools Compared to Prohibition

Senator Robertson says it is now the South's turn to appeal to public opinion.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The present reaction of Southerners to the Supreme Court decision of 1954 prohibiting racially segregated schools has been compared by Senator A. Willis Robertson of Virginia to the reaction of Northern states to the prohibition amendment between 1919 when it was ratified and 1933 when it was repealed.

Sen. Robertson

Robertson spoke on the Senate floor answering criticism by Senator Herbert H. Lehman of New York which was directed against the "Declaration of Constitutional Principles" signed by nearly 100 members of Congress from the Southern states.

Explaining that he had enjoyed friendly relations in the Senate with Senator Lehman, although they had differed on economic and social problems, Robertson said it was without rancor or bitterness that he proposed to point out "how inconsistent it is for a distinguished member of this body to make a strong and determined fight on one phase of States' rights and attempt to deny a similar privilege to others who invoke the same doctrine but on a different issue."

The declaration signed by Southern members of Congress, Robertson said, condemned the Supreme Court decision as unwarranted under the division of powers provided by the Constitution and unwise not only because of the effect it would have on public schools but also because of the damage it would do to our constitutional form of government. The declaration advocated only "lawful" means to bring about a reversal of the Court's decision. Robertson recalled that after the Eighteenth Amendment and the enforcement act adopted by Congress had been approved by the Supreme Court in a test case, Senator Lehman's state had refused to cooperate in enforcement of the law. He quoted the U. S. District Attorney for the Southern District of New York as saying repeal of the New York enforcement act was "the hardest blow the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment had received."

What New York Did

Robertson also quoted statements of New York officials as to the thousands of speakeasies which operated in that state during the prohibition period and recalled that former Mayor LaGuardia of New York City had said it would take 250,000 policemen and an additional force of 200,000 "to police the police" to enforce prohibition in New York.

Recalling that Senator Lehman had been Lieutenant Governor of New York during this period and was Governor when the Eighteenth Amendment was repealed, Robertson quoted Lehman as saying that repeal marked "the end, so far as this state is concerned, of a fifteen-year long struggle carried on by thousands of devoted and patriotic men and women against sumptuary legislation which at no time represented the uncontrolled sentiment of a majority of the people of this country."

He said former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York had admitted, however, that those who fought against prohibition had been called nullificationists and enemies of the Constitution.

Robertson asked if Lehman would not recognize "that the decree requiring the Southern States to operate mixed schools instead of requiring separate but equal schools for the races is in our eyes sumptuary."

The Virginia Senator said that in 1859 the State of Wisconsin had opposed a Supreme Court decision requiring return of fugitive slaves and the legislature of that state had passed a resolution denouncing the Court and saying that its order was "without authority, void and of no force."

Lincoln Quoted

Robertson said it was with reference to this Wisconsin action that Abraham Lincoln in 1861 had said: "If the policy of the government upon vital questions affecting the whole people is to be irrevocably fixed by a decision of the Supreme Court the instant they are made, in ordinary litigation between parties in personal actions, the people will have ceased to be their own rulers, having to that extent practically resigned the government into the hands of that eminent tribunal."

The Senator also quoted Elihu Root as saying at the New York convention to ratify repeal of the prohibition amendment that the American people had learned two vital lessons. "One is that our Constitutional government rests upon two bases, national strength and local self-government, and that both are essential to the continuance of our free democracy. . . . The other lesson is of higher and broader importance, that human progress, that advance along the road of civilization from brutish animalism to the conceptions of justice and charity . . . has been made not by compulsion, but by the development of higher standards of conduct and nobler emotions among the people; a lesson that advance in all that is noble and good comes not from without, but from within."

Robertson said Franklin D. Roosevelt in a presidential campaign speech said prohibition had failed because "we have depended too largely upon the power of governmental action instead of recognizing that the authority of the home and that of the churches in these matters is a fundamental force on which we must build. . . . The experience of nearly one hundred and fifty years under the Constitution has shown us that the proper means of regulation is through the States, with control by the Federal Government limited to that which is necessary to protect the States in the exercise of their legitimate powers."

"The principles declared in those utterances," Senator Robertson said, "are the same ones which are advocated by the signers of the 1956 Declaration of Constitutional Principles. New York and other Northern states objected to national prohibition. The Southern states now object to a prohibition against separate but equal schools."

He said Senator Lehman had hailed the repeal of prohibition as evidence that public opinion could do legally what many had claimed could be done only through nullification.

"It is before the bar of public opinion that we of the South now hope to make our case," Robertson concluded.

Native Of China Is Visitor Here, Speaks To Three Ozona Groups

A house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Littleton of Ozona, Kashi Ku, a native of China and a student in Baylor Medical School in Houston, was in demand during the week as a speaker before Ozona groups. He was guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday noon, spoke to the Methodist Youth Fellowship group Tuesday night and at prayer meeting services at the Baptist Church Wednesday night.

Mr. Ku, whose father was a wealthy silk merchant in China before the Communist overthrew of the Nationalist regime, has been in this country about three years as a student and plans, upon completion of his medical training, to return to Formosa and establish a hospital. His family, stripped of all their property, escaped to Hong Kong and relatives of Mr. Ku will live in the British colony.

Farm Housing Loans Again Made Available To Farmers In Texas

Walter T. McKay, State Director of Farmers Home Administration announced today that eligible farmers in Texas may obtain farm housing loans from the Agency. Funds for the loans were recently made available by a supplemental appropriation. Applications for these loans may be made immediately at any of the 135 county offices of the Farmers Home Administration in Texas. Mr. McKay said.

Farm housing loans may be made for the construction and repair of farm houses and other farm buildings, including farmstead water supplies. Interest on the loans will be 4 percent per year on the unpaid principal. Repayments may be scheduled over periods up to 20 years. The loans will be secured by a mortgage on the borrower's farm.

Building plans and specifications for the improvements to be financed with the farm housing loans will be obtained by the applicant. Farmers Home Administration will review the plans and inspect construction as it progresses to assist the borrower in obtaining construction that meets generally accepted standards of soundness.

The local county FFA committee determines the eligibility of applicants for farm housing loans. To be eligible, Mr. McKay explained, an applicant must be the owner of a farm, be unable to obtain suitable credit for dwellings and other buildings from other lenders, and have enough farm income or income from the farm and other sources to meet family living and farm operating expenses and repay the loans.
